U.S. COULD UNLEASH BLACK DEATH

In the jabs and hooks of the unorthodox left hand is the awesome new weapons system of invisible gases, chemical compounds that transform men into raving idiots for hours and crawling bugs that can bring the plague—Black Death — of the Middle Ages to the era of Mayo, Salk and Sabin.

Some military experts say the left hand carries the more devastating punch.

The hardware for delivering the new weapons system—germ-bomb canisters and radio-controlled air drones—are rolling off assembly lines at plants in Torrance, Compton and Downey.

In summary, here is what The Independent, Press-Telegram has learned:

1. Russia is ahead of the United States in research and stockpiles of gas and germs.

2. A crash program — in which the military has been assisted by university and private industrial researchers with the help of human "guinea pigs" from Ohio State Penitentiary and the armed forces—is rapidly closing the gap.

3. Support is growing for the use of non-fatal, knockout gases in "brushfire" wars despite public aversion to poison gas warfare stemming from World War I.

4. Progress made by the U.S. Army in these knockout gases, known as psychochemicals, give the first, even though remote, promise to man of a bloodless war.

* * * * *

THERE IS NO black magic in the U.S. chemical and biological arsenal. Hardnose research merely plucks a molecular structure from Mother Nature and scientists give the chemical agent a name. And, incidentally, military chemical titles have no connection with the formulas. Biological military agents are just old-hat to Mother Nature.

Under development or in actual stockpiles of the U.S. today are such exotic weapons as:

—Nerve gases (G agents), which made the World War I gases obsolete and are the deadliest known to man. They cannot ordinarily be detected by the sensory nerves and are so quick-acting that they can cause death within four minutes.

—Man-made epidemics from among the organisms that caused the approximately 160 catalogued diseases of man such as plague, rabbit fever, typhoid, anthrax, encephalitis and typhus. There is, the Army said, "the possibility that an enemy could develop mutant types of diseases for which there would be no known defenses."

—"Incapacitant chemicals" can temporarily blind a man, immobilize his body like a vegetable or derange his mind like a drunk. One of these psychochemicals can change a brave soldier into a quivering coward.

The U.S. has gone ahead with research, development and production of this new weapons system despite man's persistent dread of germ and gas.

HEROINE TUMBLES TO DEATH

BOSTON (AP)—A 65-year-old woman toppled 35 feet to her death Saturday after successfully passing her grandchild from the rooftop of their burning building across a four-foot gap to another roof.

Mrs. Lena Hall handed the baby she was caring for to a neighbor on the other roof but slipped and fell to her death when she tried to reach safety herself.

The grandchild, Linda Hall, 18 months, was not injured.

Fire officials said the fugitives were forced to the roof by the fire which started near the front door of the three-story brick residence in Roxbury.

Buddhists Ruling in Saigon Declare Old Chiefs Dead

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Sunday (AP)—A Buddhist-led provisional regime controlled a nervous Saigon today after a bloody coup that brought downfall and death to President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu.

The new regime declared the Ngo Dinh brothers dead, but did not explain the circumstances of their demise.

Associated Press reporter Roy Essoyan saw unofficial photographs of bodies identified as those of Diem and Nhu.

The picture of Diem showed him lying beside a personnel carrier with a soldier leaning over him.

His budy, dressed in a dark suit, was bullet-riddled and there was evidence he had been shot in the head.

Nhu's body, bearing bruises as though he had been bchten, was lying on a stretcher. He met his death by stabbing, informed sources said.

Judging from the nature of the wounds, it seemed unlikely that the two men had committed suicide, although that was the official explanation.

It was not known where the two bodies were.

Officially, coup leaders said they were looking for members of the Ngo Dinh family in order to hand over the bodies.

There were no family members known to be in Saigon, Mrs. Nhu's children were said to be safe at the family's luxury summer villa at Dalat.

There was a rumor that the two Roman Catholic brothers were shot while resisting arrest, after they fled the besieged presidential palace.

Jubilant Saigon crowds celebrated the fall of the Diem regime Saturday by exulting in the streets. But early Sunday they had returned to their homes. The city was quiet.

The wave of celebration was heightened by the release of Buddhist monks from jails. They had been arrested earlier this year in a crackdown by the Diem regime on Buddhists.

In the background, Gen. Doung Van Minh and his revolutionary junta named Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a slender 55-year-old Buddhist, as premier of the provisional government, but had not yet made an official announcement. He was vice president under Diem, but had little power.

Diplomatic sources said they believed the United States will recognize the new government as soon as it is officially formed.

Whether Tho becomes a real administrator or a figurehead under military control, U.S. officials expected South Viet Nam to drop preoccupation with its po-

NARROW BRUSH WITH DEATH

A passenger on a smashed Torrance Municipal Lines bus watches as ambulance attendant, aided by Marine shore patrolman, lifts wounded man on stretcher preparatory to siren-screaming dash to Long Beach Memorial Hospital. All nine injured in the twilight mishap were transported to emergency rooms as a precautionary measure although no serious injuries were incurred.

Set Talks on Strike Monday

By ANDY PARK

More than 600 telephones in a residential section near Lakewood Boulevard and Stearns Street were out of service for several hours Saturday morning when a cable was cut with an ax at 4260 De Ora Way.

A half-dozen cable-cuttings Saturday in the Long Beach area plagued the General Telephone Co. as a strike by the Communications Workers of America entered its third week.

* * * *

AT 10 a.m. Saturday, the first meeting between company and union negotiators since the strike was called Oct. 19 took place in Santa Monica. Both sides reported "no progress."

Federal Mediator E. Marvin Sconyers said that both company and union agreed to a full-scale meeting Monday at 2 p.m. with the full bargaining committees of both sides present with all four mediation commissioners.

Points where damage was done to company facilities Saturday:

—4515 Bellflower Blvd., a cable severed interrupting service to 10 telephones in an apartment building.

—5518 Dei Amo Blvd., Lakewood, a cable cut at 1:40 p.m. with 11 business telephones out until 4:15 p.m.

—73 Alamitos Ave., 14 telephones out for an hour.

—12625 Beaumart Ave., Norwalk, 26 telephones out due to a cut cable.

—Harding Street and Walnut Avenue, a major cable damaged late Saturday but no service interruption.

The Saturday morning meeting at the Surfrider Inn in Santa Monica marked the first face-to-face confrontation between the dis-

'Miracle' Saves 9 on Bus

A bus, swerving to avoid a collision, smashed into a parked plastering truck at 5:45 Saturday on Pacific Coast Highway near Canal Avenue in Long Beach, ripping the bus "open like a can."

The driver and eight passengers, including three preschool children, escaped serious injury by what Long Beach police officers called "a miracle."

Traffic investigators Ronald Dvorak and Ron. Tanner said the bus, a Torrance Municipal Bus Lines vehicle, was headed east on PCH on a regularly scheduled run to downtown Long Beach when the mishap occurred.

Four Killed by 4-Car Freeway Crash

The driver of a car which reportedly triggered a four-car collision on the Long Beach Freeway Saturday, died several hours later, bringing the total to four dead.

Arthur Youngberg, 61, of Indio, whose wife, Flo, 60, died in the collision, succumbed in Bella Vista Hospital.

Other casualties were Lynda Mgrdichian, 17, of Monterey Park and Mrs. Fayette Hendrix, 47, of 10606 Parrot Ave., Downey.

The Highway Patrol said the cars piled up after Youngberg's car sideswiped the center divider, then ricocheted across into the opposite lane on the freeway at Brooklyn Avenue in East Los Angeles.

Policemen Injured at CORE Rally

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — About 50 policemen struggled with a crowd of Negroes trying to block traffic on a major street Saturday at the end of a demonstration by the Congress of Racial Equality.

Before the tumult subsided, two policemen were injured, six persons were arrested, and bottles were hurled at police cars and buses that were trying to pass.

GOLDWATER 85-PCT. CHOICE IN GOP POLL

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the runaway choice in a nationwide poll of Republican presidential preferences for 1964, taken by the Associated Press among Republican state and county leaders.

Of the 1404 who answered a questionnaire, 1,194 or 85.1 percent voted Goldwater the party's 'strongest candidate" aganist President Kennedy as of today.

Fewer, however, believe Goldwater will be nominated. Here his vote was 901—a 64.2 percentage of those who replied.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York received 56 votes as the "strongest candidate" and Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential candidate, received 44.

On the outlook for the nomination, Nixon had 72 votes to 65 for Rockefeller. Moreover, a sizable number of those who favor Goldwater for the nomination predicted that, if a deadlock develops in the nominating convention, Nixon will emerge again as the GOP candidate.

The convention, scheduled to open in San Francisco next July 13, has a tentative apportionment of 1,308 delegate votes.

The survey was started in early October.

By mail and telephone, Associated Press correspondents in 50 states polled 2,961 Republicans, including some city and town leaders. In Alaska, which has no counties, the national committeeman and committeewoman participated in the poll.

Of the total queried, just over 47 percent replied. Republicans in New Jersey and Hawaii declined to participate.

The questionnaire asked opinions on two points:

1. "Who is the strongest potential GOP candidate against President Kennedy on the basis of present conditions? Why?"

2. "Whom do you think the party will nominate in 1964? Why?"

Goldwater received 1,194 votes on the first question and 901 on the second.

Three other Republicans were named several times in answers to both questions—Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania. Cited as potential "dark horses" were Henry Cabot Lodge, the 1960 vice presidential nominee, and Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of former President Eisenhower.

Goldwater topped all the potential candidates on both questions in every state except New York. There, Rockefeller received 13 votes to the senator's four on the strongest candidate question, and 10 to two on the probable nominee.

Only 20 of 62 who received questionnaires in New

L.A.C. Says:

No Christmas Trees but Commie Speakers

The Los Angeles school superintendent has raised the question as to whether Christmas trees—or Christmas carols—can be permitted in our schools. The question was also raised as to the continuance of the Pledge of Allegiance—as long as it included the term "under God." At the same time, we read that Dorothy Healey, head of the Communist party in Southern California, spoke to a 1,500 overflow crowd in the UCLA Students Union. The Young Republicans at our local State College are again demanding that a Communist be invited to a debate on our local campus.

Here we have a situation that gives some credence to the complaint that we are playing down religion and playing up communism. The Supreme Court has outlawed compulsory prayer in schools. The State College Regents approve use of our schools by Communists whose attitude is that religion is the opium of the masses—and whose policy is the violent overthrow of this government if they find this necessary and possiible to achieve a Godless society.

One often hears questions as to whether Communist influences are a part of this questioning of the "under God" in our Pledge of Allegiance—or the objection to our Long Beach kindergarten pupils saying a few words of grace at their luncheons—or the University of California and state colleges permitting Communist speakers on public school facilities.

In my opinion, it is not only the Communists who inspire these activities. It is, I fear, a moral letdown and opportunistic attitude of some individuals and organizations who like to think of themselves as "liberals." It is like the California Democratic Council (CDC) advocating the abolition of the Loyalty Oath and Un-American Activities Committee.

Debating the issue of communism with people who deny God and subscribe to the "We will bury you" principle—does not involve the issue of free speech. It involves the question of encouraging and dignifying those who are dedicated to the overthrow of this government and the religious foundation on which so much of our society is based. We have no compulsory religious ceremonies in our public schools. But, when the long-established practice of singing Christmas carols—and having Christmas trees is questioned, it seems to me we are on a dangerous path.

If this interpretation of religion were to stand, it would mean an end to Christmas decorations on our streets at Christmas time—the end of prayers in the opening of Congress or service clubs. It would be destroying something that comforts the great majority of our people—while leaving nothing in its place—but the satisfaction of a small minority who were successful in destroying it.

The danger of these incidents is that the great majority of the people in this country are "moderates." This is true of members of both parties. As moderates, they believe in a live and let live attitude. But the extremists who would change our traditions and encourage those who would destroy us are not moderates. They are extremists in that they insist that a minority group shall have the right to tell the majority what they must do. Unless the moderates awaken to this menace, they will find themselves governed by those who would destroy all of the things we have come to believe in as the American Way.—L.A.C.

Church Alms Dish Stolen

GLYMPON, England (UPI)—A 17th century pewter alms dish has been stolen from the Anglican parish church here for the second time in 300 years.

The first time it was stolen by Oliver Cromwell's troopers and recovered 200 years later at a London auction.

The latest theft, said the Rev. A. C. Cox, is the work of "a crank or a lunatic."

Rocky Suddenly Cancels Speech

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller caused some surprise Saturday by canceling a luncheon speaking engagement at Newburgh-Beacon bridge dedication ceremonies.

The governor said only that there had been a "development."

Later, Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert L. McManus, said in Albany that the governor left Newburgh to sign a proclamation ending a drought-induced closing of forests in seven counties.

* * * *

ROCKEFELLER'S wife had been expected by local officials to cut the ribbon for the new $23-million span, but did not appear.

The governor, a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination next year, cut the ribbon himself and spoke briefly in ceremonies at each end of the 1½ mile bridge that crosses the Hudson River.

With the luncheon only half an hour away, Rockefeller said, "I regret very much to say that a development has come up in the state which compels me to leave after this ribbon cutting."

A spokesman for the New York State Bridge Authority said the governor had given assurance Tuesday that his wife would cut the ribbon.

* * * *

HE SAID, however, that Mrs. Rockefeller had sent a telegram Friday saying circumstances had arisen since Tuesday which would prevent her attending.

Rockefeller injected some humor into his ribbon-cutting. He said that in the 1958 gubernatorial campaign he had criticized Gov. Averell Harriman for spending his time opening former Gov. Thomas Dewey's projects. But after his own election, Gov. Rockefeller stated, he found himself spending his time opening Harriman's projects.

"This is the first project that was started under this administration and finished under this administration," said Rockefeller. "so this is a legitimate ribbon-cutting."

Goldwater Quoted in Germany

day (AP) — A West German newspaper today quoted U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., as saying the West could knock down the Berlin wall without the risk of war and achieve the reunification of Germany by economic and diplomataic pressure.

The newspaper also quoted Goldwater as linking reduction of American troop strength in Europe to equipment of NATO allies with tactical atomic weapons.

The Washington correspondent for Welt am Sonntag (Sunday World), an influential German weekly, reported Goldwater said in an interview the Berlin wall "can be directly blamed on the weak foreign policies of (President) Kennedy's administration and its continual concessions to the Communists.

* * * *

"THE BUILDING of the wall was a direct attack against guaranteed rights of freedom of movement in the city which, according to my understanding, were firmly nailed down in five different agreements with the Soviets."

"The wall is Berlin can be knocked down without the risk of war," the newspaper reported Goldwater said. "I also believe the unification of Germany can be achieved if policies of 'peaceful coexistence' are surrendered."

* * * *

THE ARIZONA Republican, considered the front-runner among possible candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, was quoted as saying:

"Because of our superiority in weapons and atomic bombs — a superiority with which the Soviets are well acquainted—we can allow ourselves firmness without risk of war."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., is preparing to take out some political insurance on his expected bid for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination by filing for re-election to the Senate.

This maneuver, as explained by the senator's strategists, would be designed to provide Goldwater with a relatively secure landing field if he should be shot down at the San Francisco convention.

Avenue forcing him to hit the truck to avoid colliding with the car. The car did not stop.

The truck, registered to the McPherson Plastering Co., was parked in front of a construction site on the southwest corner of the intersection.

Force of the impact ripped open the right front of the bus, shattering glass all around, and tore a 10-foot hole in the right front of the 45-passenger vehicle.

Treated at Pacific Hospital and released were Judson Klein, 42, of 918 Park Circle; Julia Escondon, 27, of 24118 Marvella Ave., Wilmington, her three children, Ricky, 2, Michael, 4, and Delores, 6.

TREATED at Memorial Hospital and released were Lantz; Jula S. Irey, 50, of 148 Esperanza Ave.; Ada C. Harris, 63, of 3527 Pine Ave.; and William F. Whipple, 48, of 1322 Lime Ave.

Jula Irey received a fractured finger, the most serious inpury in the group.

Police said that Lantz told them an unidentified man was sitting in the right front seat of the bus "until a block before the accident."

"He said he was going to downtown Long Beach when he got on in Torrance," Lantz was quoted. "Then he came up and told me he had changed his mind and wanted to get off. If he had stayed on, he'd be dead."

CENSORSHIP imposed in Saigon at the outset of the uprising was eased. Censors permitted transmission of a backlog of news stories, some long delayed.

Detachments of the army, marines and air force headed by the junta battled down resistance of Diem's palace guard and elite special forces in an 18-hour fight that ended shortly before dawn. A cease-fire was called.

The generals told newsmen Diem and Nhu slipped out of their hands during the cease-fire, apparently boarding a departing truck while casualties were being hauled from the blasted grounds of the palace.

* * * *

THE BROTHERS sought refuge at a church in a Chinese quarter of suburban Cholon. Though the Roman Catholic church condemns suicide, Radio Saigon said the two took their own lives after being arrested.

Indicating they had been free several hours, the junta said they killed themselves at 10:45 a.m.

There was speculation they had actually been slain by revolutionary troops and that the generals were presenting their death as suicide to avoid embarrassment.

The military men had said Friday night Diem and Nhu would be allowed to leave the country if they surrendered peacefully.

* * * *

THE JUNTA announced casualties on the revolutionary side had been only about 5 killed and 20 wounded. Casualties of the loyalist troops were not known, but they also appeared fairly light.

Crowds around the shattered palace cheered tank drivers, marines and other troops who spearheaded the Saigon revolution.

Wild scenes of enthusiasm greeted Buddhist leaders when they returned to their pagodas after release from jail.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Viet Nam Ambassador Tran Van Chuong said Saturday he will speak in Southern California today as scheduled and see his daughter, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu "if she needs me."

Chuong had notified authorities of Chapman College Friday that he would prefer to cancel the engagement in Orange County, near Los Angeles, because of the South Viet Nam coup. But he said in an interview he did not wish to disappoint the college and would deliver the talk.

"But I do not want to criticize the past," he said.

Chuong resigned in August in protest against the Diem government's repression of Buddhists. He has since conducted a nationwide speaking campaign on the situation in South Viet Nam.

As for seeing Mrs. Nhu, the ex-ambassador said, "There is no reason not to see her, especially if the reports of her husband's death are true.

"She is my daughter and if she is unhappy and needs me I will see her."

THE MEETING lasted for an hour, with both sides reporting "no progress" but agreeing to the full-scale meeting Monday afternoon.

A "strikers' picnic" Saturday afternoon in Long Beach's Recreation Park drew some 200 CWA members of Long Beach local 9571. Tickets to the picnic, paid for by the CWA, were given to members who have participated in picket lines in the first two weeks of the strike.

Liquor Store Robbed of $300

A lone gunman carrying what appeared to be a Luger automatic pistol Saturday robbed owner John C. Buss of about $300 at Dan's Liquor Store, 2826 E. Anaheim St., police reported.

The bandit who said, "Hand it over, I want it all, every bit of it," fled after forcing Buss to lie on the floor.

He also warned Buss, "I'll blow your head off if you call police."

Taipei Awaits Visit

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp will arrive here Thursday on his first official visit to Formosa since he assumed the post of commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet Sept. 30, it was announced Saturday.

Mme. Nhu Denies Suicides

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu Saturday angrily denied that her husband and brother could have taken their own lives in revolt-torn South Viet Nam — and then, a few hours later, summoned a priest to her hotel room.

An aide said she was seeking comfort.

She sent for the priest as Saigon reports were describing photos of bodies identified as those of Mme Nhu's husband, who was the nation's police chief, and his brother, President Ngo Dinh Diem.

* * * *

INSURGENTS, now in control, say both are dead, victims of suicide.

An aide in Mme. Nhu's party said she was distraught and fearful for the lives of her three younger children, whom she believes were in the presidential palace during the blazing battle which toppled the Diem regime.

At a news conference earlier Mme. Nhu, her voice choked with emotion, had declared, "Any crime committed against the Ngo family cannot be hidden under the label of suicide."

"I can confirm that suicide has always been considered as incomptible with our religion," Mme. Nhu said at her hotel shortly before going to mass at the nearby Roman Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd.

* * * *

IN A PREPARED statement she said many Asians had told her: "Whoever has the Americans as allies does not need any enemies."

"I did not believe them," she continued, "but if the news is true, if really my family has been treacherously killed with either the official or unofficial blessing of the American government, I can predict to you all that the story in Viet Nam is only at its beginning."

Her three younger children, left behind in Saigon, were reported safe and taken to the coastal city of Dalat, according to reliable sources, who said they were placed in the care of a Catholic priest.

* * * *

MME. NHU said, "No one can seriously believe in the disclaimer that the Americans have nothing to do with the present situation in Viet Nam.

"Because of this, anything which would happen to my family would be an indelible stigma against the U.S. One cannot forget either that my family includes three other children of 15, 11 and 4 who all had to bear at least three or four murderous seizures provoked by coups incited and backed by Americans."

The slender former first lady of South Viet Nam countered rumors that she might seek asylum in this country by saying: "Surely, I shall return to Viet Nam."

She opened the conference by reading a prepared statement, helped at times by her 18-year-old daughter, Le Thuy, who has accompanied her mother on a world tour.

Fair Retains Gandy to Get OK of BIE

Joseph E. Gandy, president and chief executive of the 1962 Seattle World's Fair, has been employed as consultant to the California World's Fair, officials here announced Saturday.

His first assignment is to seek a special endorsement for the 1967-68 fair from the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris.

* * * *

THE BIE is an international organization which grants endorsements to expositions that meet its qualifications. Gandy obtained a general endorsement for the Seattle Fair, which attracted about 10 million visitors and cleared more than $1 million in profit.

The California exposition is expected to be four times as large as the Seattle Fair, officials said Saturday, encompassing 550 acres and attracting more than 40 million visitors.

* * * *

MEANTIME, the fair organization announced Joseph B. Scholnick, former newspaperman and magazine writer who has been the fair's public relations director, has been elected vice president of public relations and communications for the organization.

Scholnick will accompany Gandy to Paris. They are due in France Wednesday evening.

German Town Set Off Limits to Yanks

GELNHAUSEN, Germany (AP)—This city of 8,000 residents was put off limits Saturday for the 4,000 members of the local U.S. Army garrison because of increasing tensions among the townspeople.

The action by the Army in forbidding officers and men of the 3rd Division's second brigade to enter the community was the latest in a series of moves in what is coming to be known as the "Battle of Gelnhausen."

It broke into the front pages of the German press with accusations of gangsterism on the part of American troops stationed here, the majority of whom are participating as "aggressor" forces against U.S. troops flown to Germany last week in operation big lift.

* * * *

LAST WEEK, the garrison's commander, Col. James Terry, said the allegations "insult the hundreds of young men who are in Germany because they were ordered to come here and who are playing a vital role in the defense of Western Europe."

He said his men, whom he termed "disciplined and trained soliders," could not be collectively accused of misbehavior.

The press campaign against Terry's troops was sparked by the claims of a 37-year-old woman that she had been raped by two soldiers.

U.S. military police and security agents are investigating the case but as yet have not come up with any leads.

* * * *

GERMAN civilians who claimed to have seen the women's attackers were unable to pick them out from hundreds of troops lined up for their scrutiny.

Several German papers then warned that if the local American soldiers did not learn to conform to what they called German standards of decency, German civilians might take action into their own hands.

Later, an American soldier was assaulted by five German civilians who left him bleeding by the side of a deserted road. The man is still hospitalized.

German authorities apprehended the five attackers but as yet have not announced disposition of the case.

Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder has been asked by members of the Bonn parliament to lodge an official complaint with the U.S. Embassy over the alleged misbehavior of the American troops in Gelnhausen.

BUSIER THAN 49ERS

Historical Society Digs Busily

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

Busier these days than a bunch of 49ers searching for gold "in them thar hills" are members of Long Beach's one-year-old Historical Society.

Their Diamond Jubilee assignment is a rough one.

Digging through mountains of files, clippings, old directories, books and pictures, they're unearthing all the information they can find on Long Beach's founding families and their living descendants.

So far, 134 such individuals have been discovered — and contacted.

* * * *

ALL ARE BEING invited as honored guests to the Diamond Jubilee Founder Families luncheon to be held Pioneer Day, Nov. 16, at the Lafayette Hotel.

The illustrious event will pay tribute to those pioneers who helped weave the tapestry that is Long Beach; who were instrumental in transforming yesterday's ranchos into today's metropolis.

It's all part of Long Beach's 75th anniversary celebration. The dinner, to precede the Pioneer Day parade, is open to the general public.

* * * *

MUCH OF THE research burden has fallen on William A. Lockett, president of the Historical Society, who, the past few weeks, has spent more hours looking up early-day builders than he has contacting their present-day counterparts for his own architect business.

Shuffling through mounds of letters and files Saturday, he had much interesting information to relate about bygone days in Long Beach.

All was gleamed from letters and chats with founder-family members.

The "starter" list for the founder-family research, Lockett said, was the city's first telephone directory (one sheet) dated Oct. 24, 1903. "From there we fanned out, one family led to another, then another," he said.

The one-sheet directory was given to Lockett by Frank Harnett, who, recently retired, was associated with the Long Beach Recreation Department from its beginning. His parents (Ernest and Julia Harnett) came to Long Beach from England in 1889. He has four sisters (Kathleen, Ivy, Ann and Josephine) who still live here.

(The telephone directory, incidentally, listed 11 rules on how to use the Alexander Graham Bell, what to do when the operator answered, etc. Rule No. 7 read: "IMPORTANT. Under no circumstances hang up the receiver until through talking, as this will give a disconnecting signal at Central.")

* * * *

LOCKETT NOTED that the founder list tells one thing—quite forcibly: "Once a Californian, always a Californian."

On the 134 listed, only one is now living out of the state—in Olympia, Wash. A few are residing in other California cities, but more than 90 percent still are in Long Beach.

The list of first families includes 91 women and 51 men, strengthening the theory that women do, indeed, live longer than the so-called stronger sex.

* * * *

THE FIRST Anglo-Saxon born in Long Beach city was Courtney Teel, a practicing Los Angeles attorney who is very much on the scene (he is dove hunting this weekend).

Teel's parents (James A. and Lula Teel) came across the plains from Denton County, Texas, and settled in Garden Grove in 1870. His sister, Ethyl Van Houghton, has some interesting notes on Long Beach of yesteryear.

Like this one: "Saturday night was the big night of the week in the early days. The Long Beach Band played at the old Pavilion . . . and there was a cafe called the "White House" which had no ice-cream sodas or other such refreshments. Instead, the delight of the time was a "Tilby" sandwich, which consisted of a fried egg with a generous slice of onion. The cost: 10 cents."

She recalls relay races that were great events on the beach in 1900. They were from Pine Avenue to Devil's Gate (where Belmont Pier is now). The girls' costumes: ankle-length swimsuits.

* * * *

LOCKETT pointed out that stories related by the founder families are filling many gaps in Long Beach's historical records. "The stories are fascinating—and numerous."

He said a file is being set up for each family and will become resource material in the Historical Society's archives at Rancho Los Cerritos.

"We need help from the public to furnish information, pictures, news clippings, stories and old books," he said. "We are also recording interviews with Long Beach pioneers, which should prove invaluable in preserving the city's heritage."

Much of Long Beach's rich heritage will be reflected in the program and honored guests at the Nov. 16 luncheon, Lockett said.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, 121 Linden Ave., or the Diamond Jubilee office, 130 Pine Ave. They may also be purchased by sending a check ($2.50 each) to Bud Holton, 614 Locust Ave.

An speaking of history, here's another case of its repeating itself:

Eugene Tincher, a practicing attorney here since 1914 and son of James W. and Elizabeth Tincher, who came to California in 1882, will be master of ceremonies for the luncheon.

He did the same thing when the city was 50 years old.

"We've already reserved him for the Centennial," said Lockett.

Spain Will Hold City Elections

MADRID (UPI) — Spain takes a small and cautious step toward municipal government by the people next week when limited popular elections of city councilmen take place throughout the country.

A total of 54,360 councilmen are to be selected, 36 in Madrid, during the week. One-third of this number will be picked by direct popular vote, one-third will be named by the official government-run trade unions, and the final one-third then will be chosen by the councilmen elected in the first two categories.

The elections are the first of the kind in Madrid since 1955 and the first in the rest of the country since the beginning of the Franco regime. Only councilmen are involved. The offices of mayor, police commissioner and the like will continue to be filled by government appointment.

* * * *

IN SPAIN, voting rights are held by "heads of families" or in the broad sense the heads of households, whether men or women. If a husband votes, his wife does not. But widows or spinsters, as heads of their own households, may vote. Generally speaking, all payers of property taxes are entitled to vote.

The councilmen chosen will take office for a period of six years, according to the law, although the national government has the final say about when new elections should be held.

Besides the councilmen, the only other elective posts in the whole Spanish government are administrative posts within the "Syndical Organization," the only legal trade union in Spain. The leader of the "Syndical Organization," however, is a minister appointed by Head of State Francisco Franco.

* * * *

THERE HAS BEEN little campaigning — one reason being candidates' lists are not published until one week before balloting begins. The law also forbids partisan political activity. Two weeks before the elections, a group of candidates to the Madrid city council complained in a letter to the foreign press that they had no guarantees protecting them or their supporters from government sanctions.

Thus, they said, "on expounding their ideas about themes relevant to the elections they might make oral or written statements that could displease some of the authorities."

Council's Calendar

City Council agenda items for Tuesday:

Request from mayor for confirmation of Councilman William S. Grant as member of Charter Amendment, Civil Service, Finance and Salary, Legislative, Building and Grounds and Rules Committees.

Request from Councilman Bert B. Bind for early extension of Studebaker Road south from Seventh Street.

Petition from 400 parents for improved safety measures at corner of Palo Verde Avenue and Willow Street.

Endorsement of California World's Fair by Apartment House Association.

Letter from Richfield Oil Corp. supporting city's position in controversy with state over proposed form of contract for off-shore oil development.

Copy of Southern California Water Co. request for authority to increase water rates.

Letter from Local Agency Formation Commission enclosing copies of its rules.

Final tract map for area east of Roycroft Avenue and north of Colorado Street.

Tentative tract map for area on north side of 68th Street between Cherry and Walnut Avenues.

Letter from Harbor Department regarding cooperative agreement for water injection operations.

Letter from Public Relations Committee regarding Long Beach entry in Tournament of Roses.

Request from city attorney for authority to settle condemnation action against Pacific Electric Railway Co. for land at Seventh Street and Riverside for price of $17,945.

Resolutions endorsing California World's Fair in Long Beach; urging designation of Los Angeles-Long Beach World Trade Center.

Ordinance for authorization of stop controls on Seventh Street at entrance to Procter & Gamble plant; changing title and increasing salary of public utilities engineer; changing name of portion of Ball Road to E. Wardlow Road.

Continued hearing on annexation of submerged lands south of municipal limits; request from city attorney for further continuance because state has not yet fixed a valuation for the area.

Proposed contract with Redevelopment Agency to furnish certain technical services, studies and reports.

Proposed agreement between Cities of Long Beach and Lakewood for modernization of traffic signals at Clark Avenue and Del Amo Boulevard.

Plans and specifications for Alamitos Bay Yacht Club and related improvements; specifications for construction of gas mains in area north of Spring Street and east of El Dorado Park; for furnishing four-door sedans.

Contract awards to International Harvester Co. for furnishing tractor equipped with loader; to Joe Gill Motor Co. for furnishing two truck chasses; to Crook Co. for furnishing hydraulic hammer.

Proposed amendments to prohibit right turn on red signals at Ocean Boulevard and Golden Avenue; to change one-hour parking limit to two hours on east side of Virginia Road between Bixby Road and Marshall Place.

City Manager's reports on request for additional traffic controls at Atlantic Avenue and 37th Street; on petition for drainage and street improvements on Pine Avenue north of 31st Street.

Home Dares Where Bonnie Prince Charlie Failed

By PATRICK J. MASSEY

CRIEFF, Scotland (AP) — Where Bonny Prince Charlie failed, Sir Alec Douglas-Home is confident he can pull it off.

By winning a victory in the romantic Scottish highlands he expects to become the man who runs Britain.

Whereas the prince met a glorious defeat after campaigning through this part of the country in the 1745 rebellion, Sir Alec contemplates no such fate.

All he needs to confirm his position as prime minister is to win next Thursday's election of a House of Commons member for Kinross and West Perthshire. The form book says it's a one-horse race.

Cinch or not, Sir Alec is fighting hard on the hustings. Stomping around misty glens and mountains ablaze with heather, the 60-year-old successor to Harold Macmillan is carrying the battle to cottage doorsteps.

* * * *

IN THE PROCESS, he has partway demolished the notion that his aristocratic breeding ill fits him for the hurly-burly of a modern democracy.

After three years as foreign secretary, Sir Alec proclaims that he relishes a crack at parish-stump politics. His diplomatic duds have been traded in for a set of battered tweeds and a cloth cap. Instead of grappling with cold war politics, he is tackling the almost equally taxing complexities of a thing called winter keep—a burning issue here. It's a government subsidy for raising winter crops. Farmers are angry because they think it isn't enough.

Sir Alec has shown himself adept at parrying their grouches.

When an awkward question comes up he fires back a burst of statistical buckshot which usually leaves his interlocutor sufficiently dazed for the next question to arrive.

IN THE MARKET PLACE rallies, wayside whistlestops and chats by the farmyard gate, Sir Alec has displayed an audience-winning charm.

Roaring into some sleepy hamlet at the head of a mud-spattered motorcade, Sir Alec shakes hands with housewives, beams at kilted yokels and scratches autographs on scraps of paper thrust out by little boys.

The whole campaign is something of an unprecedented spectacle in modern British history. By tradition, a prime minister must sit in parliament. On becoming prime minister, Sir Alev relinquished the earldom of Home and thereby automatically left the House of Lords. If he lost his fight to get into Commons he would almost certainly have to resign as prime minister.

TERROR FLIES IN THIS DRONE

infidels. The infidels, it must be reported, fled more from fear of the new thing than from its actual killing effects.

In 1862, John W. Dougherty of New York came up with the dandy idea of lobbing shells filled with chlorine gas (later used in World War I) against the Confederates. President Lincoln turned thumbs down on the proposal.

When everybody got together for the first Hague Conference in 1899, nearly every representative nation—except Britain and the United States—voted to prohibit gas warfare. One of the signers: Germany.

Sixteen years later—April 22, 1915—at Ypres, Belgium, the Germans cut a five-mile swath through the French-British line with chlorine gas.

The surprise attack caused 5,000 causualties and completely demoralized 15,000 troops. But the Germans were equally surprised at the effects and did not exploit the front line gap.

Six months later, the angry British lobbed back chlorine gas and the first chemical war in history was on.

* * * *

IN 1936, Italian troops protected their flanks in Abyssinia with mustard gas bombings and sprayings. Fighting barefoot, the Abyssinian infantry was scourged with hideous blisters from the gas.

Though it has never been authenticated, the Chinese government claimed the Japanese hurled gas attacks at their troops during the late 1930s and early '40s.

This fear of chemical warfare drove Prime Minister Churchill of England and President Roosevelt to warn the Axis in 1942 that if the Germans and Japanese used gas, the Allies would retaliate "on the largest possible scale . . ."

Unknown to the prime minister and the president, a German scientist already had stumbled on the discovery of the deadliest gas in the world.

Monday: Nerve Gas.

Chemical and biological warfare survival will be discussed at a meeting of the National Survival Association at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Union Oil Co. auditorium, 461 Boylston St., Los Angeles.

U.S. Marines will lecture and demonstrate survival procedures. Speaker will be Roy Hoover, Los Angeles County disaster services coordinator.

485 Plead for Safety Measures

A petition demanding better traffic control at Palo Verde Avenue and Willow Street has been given City Councilman James Hayes by residents of the area.

Hayes said he would present the petition to the City Council Tuesday and add his support to the demands. Hayes said the petition contained 485 signatures.

* * * *

THE PETITION was prompted by an accident Monday when first-grade pupil Eric C. Wilde, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilde, of 2810 Vuelta Grande Ave., was struck by a car as he walked on a sidewalk near Emerson School. The boy suffered a broken left leg and severe head injuries.

The intersection, according to petition leader Mrs. Cynthia Hogan, is guarded by signals "but Palo Verde to the north is obscured by a bridge over a flood-control channel." She said traffic moves fast through the intersection and better controls are needed to protect school children.

Brown Names Committeemen of Exposition

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Brown appointed Saturday three members of the State Fair Board to the executive committee of the newly created California Exposition and Fair.

Donn B. Tatum, Pacific Palisades, executive vice president and director of Disneyland; Marvin E. Cardoza, San Francisco, vice president of the Bank of America, and H. C. Magnin, San Francisco, contractor and financier, were named by Brown.

The chairman of the committee will be named at a later date, Brown said.

The 1963 legislature approved an investment of $33.7 million for the planned year-around fair, to be built on a 1086-acre site owned by the state four miles from the capital.

CHEERFUL OCCASION

Capt. W. R. Barnes, chief of staff to the commander of the Pacific Training Command, and Don Phillips, vice president of the Independent Business Men's Association of Long Beach, exemplify the face-to-face, Long Beach-Navy good relations program which the IBMA promoted this weekend in a command luncheon for Navy and Marine officers in San Diego.

L.B. Liking for Navy Praised by Admiral

A weekend San Diego "scouting patrol" by 23 members of the Independent Business Men's Association of Long Beach in the interests of better relations between Long Beach and the Navy drew praise from Vice Adm. E. P. Holmes, commander of the Pacific Amphibious Force.

"This is a little bit of an invasion," said Adm. Holmes, "and that's the kind of thing my force and my Marine compatriots understand."

The occasion was the IBMA's annual visit Friday to the Kona Kai Club, Shelter Island, to play host to and honor Navy and Marine Corps Officers at a Command Luncheon. Long Beach's delegation included Mayor Edwin W. Wade, charter and three-term president of IBMA when it organized 13 years ago to improve Long Beach's relations with the Navy establishment.

* * * *

PRESIDENT Irving Solomon introduced Mayor Wade, who told some 25 officers that this city counts the Navy's officers, men and their wives as very important citizens whose value to the community outweigh dollar considerations.

The Mayor noted the $5.5 million Navy Landing, the $1 million Armed Service YMCA, the projected Navy Hospital and replacement of the ponton bridge as past and continuing local considerations which the Long Beach people have underwritten with their votes and sympathies.

Adm. Holmes said he admired the "Independent" part of the local group's title—"not independence in the sense of being alone, but in its connotation of strength. You can't be independent without strength, the type of strength we all respect and the kind that people in the military understand."

Rear Adm. Almon E. Lewis, commandant of the 11th Naval District, expressed his "great respect for your efforts and your successful operation in the greater Long Beach area in our support. The Navy needs your continued support . . . IBMA has created not only a better understanding between the community and the Navy and Marine Corps but has created an example for other communities to follow."

SACRAMENTO—The state Alcoholic Beverage Control appeals board has affirmed an ABC decision to force the Chatterbox, 22 Pacific Ave., Long Beach, to dispose of its liquor license.

ABC previously ruled that the Chatterbox had violated state law by allowing solicitation of alcoholic beverages, using female bartenders and serving intoxicated persons. The Chatterbox had appealed.

* * * *

ABC first ordered the Chatterbox license suspended for a period of 10 days on each of 24 counts—a total of 240 days. Later, the discipline order was modified to provide that the license be suspended for 30 days and indefinitely thereafter until the license is transferred to acceptable persons.

The license will be revoked if it isn't transferred within six months.

"Continuance of the license would be contrary to public welfare and morals," said ABC.

Police Find No Trace of Missing Coed

ALBANY (UPI) — Police Saturday continued their investigation into the mysterious disappearance of an attractive University of California coed but reported no progress and no leads.

Judith Gail Williamson, 18, left her home Tuesday morning to go to school and has not been seen since.

In addition to questioning all her friends and acquaintances, authorities also conducted an intensive search in the rugged hills behind the Berkeley campus. A girl resembling the missing student was reported seen in the hills Tuesday. About 50 students aided in the search.

Police conducted a house-to-house inquiry along the route the girl usually traveled on her way to school, where she was a sophomore taking pre-medical courses.

Study by LBSC Professor

NUDE LEWD? CROWD SAYS NO

It was a play like any other play.

Amateur cast . . . opening night jitters . . . a well-dressed, culture-conscious audience.

But instead of tickets, the prominent citizens of Lawrence, Kan., had received engraved invitations—and a promise.

After the curtain rose, the leading actors and actresses — as advertised —strolled on stage completely nude.

The late August performance was the first scientific experiment of its type ever conducted among a paradoxically shy cult known as the American nudists.

* * * *

THE GUESTS were asked to fill out a questionaire prepared by Dr. William Hartman, 44, Long Beach State College sociologist who was not present. Hartman has completed analyzing the results.

Nudists say that 85,000 visit their camps each year. California, with its outdoor climate, lures 25,000 of these. Participation, they say, has increased by at least 20 per cent each year since 1946.

Most are "weekend" or "vacation" nudists. For obvious reasons they conceal their identity and are reluctant to admit clothed persons to their camps. Most of all, they "just want to be left alone."

* * * *

BEYOND this—if true — almost nothing is known.

Hartman ran into this stone wall in 1959 when the sociologist was making a study of juvenile delinquency.

"Many people attributed it to pornographic magazines — the nudist magazines in particular," he says. "I found that almost nothing authoritative had ever been written about nudists."

The professor was successful in enlisting the aid of the largest U.S. nudist organization, the American Sunbathing Association. One result was the play last August.

ONE HUNDRED and fifty-six of the "young, highly intelligent" audience returned the questionnaire. The queries were designed to test reaction to the play—a gentle pitch for the cult—and to test reaction to nudists and to nudism in general.

Of these, reports Hartman, "[illegible]6 per cent said they reacted favorably to the experience, either "highly" or "somewhat." This means they were not offended."

Ninety per cent said they would accept another invitation. However, 25 per cent said that nudists were "below average" in social status. Ten per cent thought they were "above average."

The sociologist gives a "low priority" to his nudist investigations, hopes a forthcoming book by two Yale professors will "fill the gap."

Anyway, he feels that knowledge is on its way at last. "Nudists," he said, "have finally indicated they are ready to be studied by clothed investigators."

FEPC CHIEF REPORTS ON RUMFORD ACT

Few Fair-Housing Complaints Filed

By CHARLES SUTTON

A Negro girl, out apartment hunting, stops in front of a building with a vacancy sign in front. Minutes later, when she meets the landlady face to face, she's told very politely, "Sorry, but we're all filled up."

A middle-aged postman and his wife, the only Negroes in a complex of apartments, are suddenly informed one day that their rent is being raised from $120 a month to $200.

A young Negro couple with two children is told by an apartment-house manager that she would gladly rent to them, but "we just don't take children." Later they discover that the place is infested with kids.

Discrimination?

Perhaps. And then again, perhaps not.

* * * *

BUT UNTIL Sept. 20 of this year, when California's Fair Housing Act went into effect, there really was no sure way of telling whether it was discrimination or not—at least not officially.

Today, Negroes and other minority groups who feel they've been denied housing because of their race, color or creed can take their grievances before California's Fair Employment Practices Commission and expect to receive an impartial review of their complaints.

Yet, contrary to what some of the law's critics have prophesied, the act has not triggered off a flood of complaints against builders, real estate agents and apartment-house managers, says John Anson Ford, chairman of the FEPC.

* * * *

"NOTHING of the sort has happened, nor is it in prospect," says the former Los Angeles County supervisor. "Economic forces alone prevent most minority families from moving into other and more expensive districts," he adds.

Lawrence Lucks, Southern California area supervisor for the commission, says that, all told, 17 grievances have been filed with the FEPC since it began enforcing the act about six weeks ago. This compares with over 60 complaints of employment discrimination in the same period, he says.

Nevertheless, Lucks concedes that the law still is new and that it may be too early yet to tell exactly what response it will evoke. It takes time, he explains, before the public becomes acquainted with a new law.

OF THE seven cases pending in Southern California—the others were filed in the commission's San Francisco office—six involve instances of alleged discrimination against Negroes, and one against a family with a Spanish surname, says Lucks. Moreover, most of the complaints concern apartment rentals, not home purchases.

Beyond these generalities, however, the commission cannot give any details without jeopardizing the privacy of those whose complaints are in the process of investigation or conciliation.

Should the conciliation process fail, adds Lucks, the cases could be taken to adjudication in the courts, where they would then become a matter of public record.

* * * *

COMMISSION members are quite optimistic about the law's chances of correcting racial abuses in the field of housing throughout California. They point to the fact that in the four years they've been charged with enforcing the state's fair-employment act, they have investigated some 2,800 charges of discriminatory practices and had only a handful reach the courts.

Both Lucks and Ford are quick to point out, too, that the commission's role is purely an objective one. Of the 2,800 aforementioned employment complaints, for example, two-thirds have been dismissed as being unfounded, they say.

* * * *

GENERALLY speaking, the act covers about 70 percent of the housing in California. And while it covers a variety of both public and private housing, its really novel aspect is that it allows complainants to seek redress without having to go through the time and expense of a court trial.

As the commission sees it, its job is largely one of conciliation. And its members point out that they would much rather settle disputes amicably than issue orders or go to court.

However, if, after investigation and conciliation, a landlord refuses to accept its recommendation, the commission can order him to either rent his property or pay a fine of up to $500.

Whether the commission will get a chance to establish a pattern of enlightened race relations in California housing, as its members believe it can, is a wide-open question, though.

* * * *

REALTY groups throughout the state, having failed thus far to abort the act's passage, still are fighting tooth and nail to strike it from the lawbooks. Their plan to petition for an initiative amendment that would make fair-housing legislation unconstitutional is just getting up a head of steam, and promises to make the housing issue one of the hottest in California history.

Opponents feel that the Rumford Act grants Negroes the privilege of renting or purchasing simply because of their color, and "regardless of qualification, record as a law-abiding citizen or capacity to live compatibly with new neighbors."

Its backers just as strongly deny this, and say an initiative amendment could well "set California back a quarter of a century in race relations."

Ford says the proposed amendment would literally "freeze discrimination into the constitution of California."

And he warns that a battle over the amendment could plunge the state into a racial controversy of unprecedented dimensions.

National Poll of Republican Leaders 8-1 for Goldwater

er will give us a real choice between liberal and conservative philosophies for the first time since Alf Landon ran on the Republican ticket

* * * *

THIS REASON—the "clear choice," the belief that Goldwater would not be a "me, too" candidate — was expressed in hundreds of replies. It was far and away the most frequently cited statement in every state for supporting the senator's candidacy.

Some New Hampshire committeemen said that, while they believed Goldwater would be the strongest candidate and will be nominated, they are not necessarily among his admirers.

"I'd like to think there is a third man somewhere," one said. "The worst thing about Goldwater is his friends."

Two others—one for Goldwater, the other for Rockefeller—frankly said they didn't think either could defeat President Kennedy.

A number of committeemen said they believe Rockefeller's divorce and remarriage have taken him out of the race.

* * * *

MRS. EDNA WHITE, co-chairman in Portsmouth, N. H., said "It's really none of our business what Rockefeller does in his personal life, but I think women voters will make it their business."

As in New Hampshire, the divorce and remarriage were frequently cited across the country as reasons why Rockefeller cannot be considered the strongest GOP candidate. The feeling appeared particularly prevalent in the Middle West. One Kansas chairman said, "He wed himself right out of the picture."

However, a number of chairmen said their primary reason for not favoring him is the belief that his policies do not represent a clear choice for the voters. Typical of this position was the statement of Judge G. T. Teague, GOP chairman in Whitley County, Kentucky:

"His political outlook is too much like Kennedy's. The people here want a change, and they wouldn't be voting for one with Rockefeller."

* * * *

A KANSAS chairman disagreed. Said Richard A. Swallow, of Oskaloosa:

"I prefer Rockefeller because of the splendid record he has made as governor of New York; because of his grasp of governmental affairs and his business ability, and because of the vote-getting ability he has shown in New York and his requirement for financial responsibility in New York."

In Wisconsin, 30 out of 72 county chairmen replied to the questionnaire.

Of these, 26 named Goldwater as the strongest candidate. Rockefeller and Romney each had one vote. As to the probable nominee, 25 picked Goldwater and two mentioned Nixon.

* * * *

MILWAUKEE County Chairman Sam M. Hay said Goldwater would generate enthusiasm among party workers. "If it's Goldwater, it's going to be a crusade next year," Hay said.

Similar opinions about the senator came from Florida and Indiana.

Tom Fairfield Brown, head of the Florida Republican executive committee said, "Even if Goldwater did not beat Kennedy nationally — and I think he can — the Republi-York returned them.

The response in California also was inconclusive — 19 out of 58 polled. Most of these, 16, went to Goldwater. Nixon, however, reportedly still has considerable support in his home state even though he now lives in New York City.

New York has 92 delegate votes, California 86.

On the "strongest candidate" question, Goldwater was the unanimous choice of those who replied in Alabama, Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas.

HIS VOTE in Oklahoma was 50 to 1. It also was lopsided in Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In some of these states, however, the returns were inconclusive, running less than one-third of the total polled.

In a presidential year, New Hampshire and Wisconsin hold the first primary elections—March 10 and April 7, respectively, next year—and therefore are closely watched as potential political weathervanes for the whole nation.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, although he still was stationed in Europe, won a smashing victory in New Hampshire in 1952. In 1960, Wisconsin, often called "the graveyard of candidates," gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a powerful boost by choosing him over a midwesterner, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, in the primary.

* * * *

WHAT DO they say in New Hampshire and Wisconsin today?

Of 39 New Hampshire county committeemen, 32 replied to the questionaire. Of these, 22 picked Goldwater as the strongest candidate, and 17 said they thought he would be nominated. Two others said they lean toward Goldwater.

Nixon and Rockefeller each received two votes as the strongest candidate, and Romney had one. Three said they thought Rockefeller would be the nominee, and Nixon had one vote in that column.

The basis for Goldwater's popularity?

Said Creeley S. Buchanan of Amherst, N. H., "Goldwat-can Party in Florida would be in much better shape than if someone else were the candidate."

In almost identical words, an Ohio River, Indiana, admirer of Goldwater said, "Even if Goldwater cannot carry the White House, he can carry in more congressmen, senators and local office-seekers."

In Louisiana, Charlton H. Lyons of Shreveport is the GOP nominee for governor. He said, "Even if I thought supporting Goldwater would cause me to lose the election, I would support him. But the nomination of Goldwater will open many doors for Democrats to switch parties."

* * * *

SIMILARLY, Dr. Martin Goodwin of Curry County, N.M., said there "appear to be a lot of registered Democrats" in his county who will not change their registration, but who would vote for a Republican if he reflected their feelings. "In our area, we feel Sen. Goldwater would be the easiest one to carry," Goodwin said.

Reads of Auto Death, Surrenders to Police

man who told deputies he was unaware his car had struck and killed a pedestrian until he read it in The Saturday Independent surrendered later in the day at Lakewood sheriff's station.

Booked there on suspicion of felony hit-run driving was Alfred Howard Graham, 38, of 5344 Coldbrook Ave., Lakewood.

He reportedly admitted to Traffic Sgt. R. W. Staggs that he was driving a car that struck and killed Frank Lee Wilson, 64, of 11841 167th St., Artesia, Friday night.

The suspect, a foreman for a clay pipe manufacturing firm, told Staggs that he "had stopped and had several beers" before driving home along Pioneer Boulevard. He said when he felt a bump at 167th Street, he stopped his auto, got out, looked around without seeing anything and continued on home.

Graham said after reading the story of Wilson's death he talked it over with his wife, Elva, and decided to turn himself in. He had a clipping of The Independent story in his possession when he walked in to the station.

NEWSMAN IN SPACE JOB

Astronauts Get New, Soft Voice

The job of speaking for the Gemini and Apollo astronauts belongs to a soft-spoken man who has the questionable honor of bulwarking 30 astronauts against a demanding public.

He is Paul Haney, 35-year-old former newspaperman who must now dish out rather than collect news about the American space effort and the astronauts.

By contrast with his predecessor, Haney would be a Milquetoast.

The Mercury "voice," Col. John A. Powers, was nearly as much in the news in his job as the astronauts were. "Shorty" Powers is a diminutive, flamboyant, bubbly showman with a short wick on his patience.

* * * *

HANEY IS a matter-of-fact man whose background in news is said to give him an advance in guessing what newsmen's reactions and questions about space will be. He is generally quiet and firm. But an associate says his vocabulary can be "most choice" when he gets really mad.

Powers, former public affairs officer for the manned spacecraft center, is now a consultant for exhibits off the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

NASA moved Haney up from the public affairs office at Washington to his post as spokesman at the spacecraft center.

Before that, he worked for newspapers in Erie, Pa., Akron and Memphis. Before he joined NASA in 1958, Haney was assistant city editor of the Washington Evening Star. He holds a journalism degree from Kent State University at Kent, Ohio, and studied for a while at Georgetown University Law School.

* * * *

AS PUBLIC AFFAIRS officers, Haney is many symbols. He is a figure-head as "voice of the Gemini and Apollo astronauts." He is called upon to play a big part in maintaining America's image of open distribution of space news. But he does not like symbols of that type.

"I don't go much for this image-building business," he said. "If you are running a good solid operation, your image takes care of itself. I'm not much taken with figureheads."

Even though the astronaut team is increasing and Haney's job is more complex than was Powers', Haney can foresee the day "when the space effort will not be the national television and news spectacular it has been'" as Americans become more blase about blastoffs.

Haney himself is still excited about it.

"I have an unabashed love for the space program," he said.

State Opens Forest Camp for Youths at Oak Glen

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Outdoor Editor

ROBERT E. GREEN
Camp Director

The California Forestry Youth Training Program, which may be one solution to school dropouts and the general unemployment problem, got under way Friday at Oak Glen, 10 miles north of Beaumont.

The program is designed for boys and young men (16 through 21) who are having difficulty in finding employmen because of lack of experience, education or direction.

The CFYTP, or Youth Camp as it probably will be called, is not a copy of the old Civilian Conservation Corps, established in the '30s, although it will follow the same general lines.

* * * *

THE PROGRAM was authorized by SB 1064 in the last session of the legislature in the hope it might relieve the situation for some unemployed boys.

The legislature made a provision for one camp only, the one at Oak Glen, and specified that it be run for two years, with 100 boys, as a pilot model.

The bill also set up a board of directors composed of the chiefs of the Departments of Conservation, Employment, Industrial Relations, Education and Youth Authority.

* * * *

THE CALIFORNIA Division of Forestry will bear the main burden in training and operating the camp. For that reason, Robert E. (Lefty) Green, one of the CDF's ace rangers, has been switched from Susanville to Oak Glen to direct the camp.

The Department of Employment already has screened enough boys for the camp. The camp opened Friday with 25 boys. Each week will see 25 more boys added until the quota of 100 is reached.

Green said that a youth trainee will be given on-the-job training in many fields, such as fire-fighting, forest truck trail construction and maintenance, insect control, automotive maintenance, cooking and baking.

* * * *

THE TRAINEES are signed up for a six-month hitch. They will be provided work clothing, food, housing and emergency medical and dental care. All will be paid $60 per month except the youth leaders who will receive $70.

James K. Mace, deputy state forester for Southern California, said that all departments concerned with the program will have to share heavy responsibilities to make the plan a success.

George Toll, director of the Long Beach office of the Department of Employment said that the move was one of the most significant that ever had been made in California.

* * * *

"I FEEL sure that one camp won't be enough, but at least this is a start," Toll said. "If this model works as all of us hope, others should be added as quickly as possible.

"Our job in this department was to screen out two boys. Later, we were permitted to increase the quota to four. The boys are being drawn from all parts of the state.

"They are given mental and written tests and their moral character must be of the best."

* * * *

MRS. NELL GABLER, of the Long Beach Employment Office, did the screening of applicants here.

One of the first to pass his tests was Gordon Nelson, 329A E. 19th St., Long Beach, who hopes for a career in the outdoor field. Another was Bernard Shorie, 3105 Long Beach Blvd. Bernard, 17, also has ambitions to enter the outdoor field.

CDF officials point out that the training boys receive does not necessarily mean that they must become employes of the Division of Forestry. From this basic training they can enter many fields.

Britain Won't Set Independence Date for Guiana

LONDON (UPI) — Britain has refused to give British Guiana a date for independence.

Instead, a new constitution will be imposed which could result in a defeat of Marxist Premier Dr. Cheddi Jagan at the next election.

Commonwealth and Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys announced he was imposing a new constitution at an angry meeting of the British Guiana constitutional conference.

SEE WEDNESDAY'S PAPERS FOR THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF BETSY ROSS MAPLE'S ANNIVERSARY SALE

2 Bookie Suspects Face Added Charge

Two of five persons arrested in raids on a big harbor-area bookmaking ring that police say handled up to $100,000 a week in bets were booked Saturday on additional charges of receiving stolen property.

In simultaneous raids on three key locations, including a top-secret headquarters known only to a handful of agents, police arrested four men and a woman Friday and charged them with conspiracy to commit bookmaking.

Francis J. (Monk) Martella, 31-year-old unemployed salesman, named as leader of the alleged syndicate, and Mrs. Norma L. Ireland, 31, an unemployed beautician of 1724 Fries Ave., Wilmington, were rebooked on the receiving charges after investigation showed some items seized in the raids were loot from burglaries, said Det. Sgt. Eugene Dossi.

* * * *

DOSSI, of the Los Angeles Police Department harbor vice detail, said a calculator worth about $200 and two TVs, including a color set, were identified as stolen.

He said two more TV sets and other articles still were being checked to determine if they were stolen property.

Mrs. Ireland and Martella were arrested in a secret "back office" at the Fries Avenue address. Police said Martella was convicted in 1961 of charges in connection with a bookmaking operation.

Officers believe the current ring may have been operating since shortly after that arrest and they theorized it employed a total of about 20 agents.

* * * *

ALSO arrested were William A. Sisto, 34, of 302 W. Sandison St., Wilmington; Christopher A. Martella, 38, who lived with his brother, Francis, at 303 W. Q St., Wilmington, and Joseph Robert Spinazzola, 47, of 1346 N. Fries Ave., Apt. 8.

Sgt. Dossi said the arrests climaxed more than a month of surveillance by vice officers, during which police tailed agents from a Wilmington bowling alley where bets were relayed.

Reds Murder Caracas Police

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Pro-Communist terrorists assassinated two policemen Saturday, bringing to 55 the number of policemen slain by terrorists in Caracas in the last three years.

The assassins, described by police as members of the Armed Forces of National Liberation (Faln), shot down the policemen with a machine gun.

The policemen, in a patrol car, returned the fire and wounded one terrorist. His companions dragged him into a car and fled.

Sir Winston Dubbed U.S. Indian Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill became an American Indian chief Saturday.

The National Congress of American Indians dubbed him "Chief Leader of Men" at ceremonies here which the former British prime minister, now 88, was unable to attend.

Spotlight Focused on Viet Nam Revolt

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

The politico-religious crisis in South Viet Nam exploded last week.

Military rebels took control of the government after bitter street fighting and widespread bloodshed.

President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were reported dead. Some accounts said they committed suicide; others that they were shot to death.

A military junta was set up and recognition was expected soon from the United States government.

* * * *

THE INSURGENTS, who included most of the South Viet Nam's generals, said they revolted to "save the country from a Communist takeover." No injuries were reported to any of the 16,500 U.S. troops acting as advisors there, or to the 3,500 U.S. civilians in the country.

Nhu was described as the power behind Diem's Catholic regime, which had refused to form a coalition government and had suppressed Buddhist leaders over President Kennedy's strong protests.

The United States had made no secret of its distaste for Diem since suppression of both the Buddhists and student demonstrations. Kennedy ordered U.S. Naval forces in the Pacific to start moving toward Viet Nam to protect U.S. lives, if necessary. The troops there were ordered on the alert to protect U.S. installations.

President Kennedy had told a press conference last month that the United States would continue supporting Diem's anti-Communist war, but that he would like to "see a change in policies and personnel."

The State Department denied categorically that the United States was invoyled in any way in the coup which was led by 14 generals and anti-Communist pro-Western civilians.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador in Saigon, was keeping the White House apprised of all developments. Lodge had been unsuccessful in trying to reason with the Diem government.

On another front, President Kennedy advised Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev indirectly last week that U. S. combat troops in West Germany will remain at "full strength."

* * * *

HIS PRESS conference declaration not only gave West Germany and other European Allies flat assurances that no troops except a few supply forces will be withdrawn, but answered Khrushchev's latest demand for an Allied pullout as the price of a Berlin settlement.

The West Germans have had the jitters over reports the U.S. force would be sharply reduced. Kennedy said "we intend to keep our combat forces as they are; that is, more than six divisions." He also added that combat units rushed to Germany in the 1961 Berlin crisis "would remain as long as there is need for them."

Speculation that there would be a big reduction went the rounds after Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric told United Press Iinternational editors in Chicago that techniques such as the recent successful "Big Lift" operation to Germany should make possible "useful reductions" in U.S. overseas military spending. In "Big Lift," an entire armored division was flown from Texas to West Germany in less than 70 hours.

The President conceded that "we are becoming increasingly mobile, as 'Big Lift' showed." But he made clear that this was no reason, as of now, for weakening U.S. defense forces in Europe.

* * * *

IN OTHER news spheres, Kennedy warned against interpreting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent statement on the Russian Space effort as meaning Moscow was abandoning the race to the moon. The President said the statement was curiously worded and that he "would not make any bets" on Soviet intentions. In any event, he added, the U.S. moon effort will be pressed vigorously as essential to national defense.

Only hours later, the Soviet union launched a new and sophisticated space craft which it said not only can maneuver in the cosmos, but had already boosted itself from one orbit into a new and larger one. Khrushchev said Moscow was "studying" the President's United Nations proposal for a joint Russo-American moon landing. But he said concrete steps to ease international tensions must come first.

FBI agents arrested an American engineer — John William Butenko, 38—and a Russian chauffeur at Englewood, N.J., on charges of passing classified airplane contract data to three members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

* * * *

THE LATTER enjoyed diplomatic immunity and were ordered from the country.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, ranked ahead of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as the most likely GOP presidential nominee, got a big reception in New Hampshire, where he may contest Rockefeller for the state's electoral votes in a spring primary. Goldwater said he would announce in January whether he is a candidate.

Meantime he is campaigning assiduously, with Kennedy his chief target.

He stirred up a major storm in the Tennesse congressional delegation by proposing that the $2.5 billion, seven-state Tenessee Valley Authority (TVA), vast flood control and public power project forged by New Deal Democrats, be sold to private power interests.

The President made a flying visit to Philadelphia to attend a Democratic fund-raising dinner and give his benediction to Mayor James H. J. Tate who faces formidable GOP opposition in his bid for reelection Tuesday. Three years ago Kennedy campaigned on a pledge to get the country moving again. That was his principal theme in Philadelphia only this time he said "America is now on the march."

* * * *

BACK at a Washington press conference, the President said it was possible the Philadelphia election would demonstrate whether white voters would switch to the Republican Party because of his racial rights campaign but, "We'll have to wait and see."

As to Goldwater's attacks, he said with a smile that the senator "had had a busy week — advocating sale of TVA, giving NATO commanders greater authority to use atomic weapons, and attacking Bolivian President Victor Paz Estenssor during his recent state visit." He added that he would answer Goldwater in good time, but that now was too early since he had not announced his own second term intentions and that this "was a good many months away."

Members of Congress—except those in the economy bloc—seemed ready to vote themselves, cabinet members, the vice president, federal judges and a million or so other federal employes another big pay raise.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee cleared a $600 million-a-year bill for action. Increases would range from 2 to 22.5 per cent. Congressmen now get $22,500 a year, plus many fringe benefits. The bill would jump the salary to $32,500.

S.F. OPERA OPENS THRILLINGLY IN L.A.

Great Artists Sing 'Tosca'

By RACHEL MORTON

What a thrill it is to attend the opening night of the San Francisco Opera at the Shrine Auditorium!

And what an opening it was Friday night when the company began its 27th Los Angeles season! There was a tingle of excitement in the air which began with the arrival of the beautifully gowned women with their formally attired male escorts. And the excitement gained in momentum right up to the final curtain.

"Tosca," by Puccini, was the opera given and there never has been a finer performance by the San Francisco Opera. Three fabulous singers appeared in the leading roles: Leontyne Price as Tosca, Sandor Konya as Cavaradossi, and John Shaw as Scarpia. The conductor was a newcomer to Los Angeles audiences, a Frenchman by the name of Georges Pretre, who conducted with restraint.

* * * *

THERE ARE few voices in the world today greater than that of Leontyne Price. It is big and voluptuous and velvet. The high Cs were wide open and effortlessly produced. Her range has extended, so that now there is a rich medium voice, creamy in texture.

Her acting in the first act was constrained and confined largely to the prompter's box. But in the righly dramatic second act she rose heroically to the strenuous action the part demands. Her singing of the famous aria "Vissi d'Arte" was vocal perfection, and the ovation afterward was tremendous. One might question her musical taste in over-prolonging some of the high notes.

* * * *

IN THE last act she was at her very best, vocally and histrionically, and the audience greeted her with tumultous applause.

Sandor Konya has gained tremendously since first appearing here with the opera. Always a very beautiful tenor voice, it is now powerful, smooth and luscious in quality. His high Cs rang out clarion-like in the great auditorium, but even more than the gorgeous voice, Konya has a deep sensitivity and an innate artistry that reaches to the heart of his listeners.

The ovation he received after singing "E lucevan le stelle" stopped the show and the same tidal wave of shouting acclaim kept him long before the curtain for his solo bow. Konya is a great singer and a great artist.

* * * *

HOW opposite in character was the elegant, suave, cynical, brutal Scarpia, as sung and enacted by the Australian baritone, John Shaw. Never once going near the prompter's box, or to the conductor for aid, he dominated the stage in the second act with a polished artistry born of Covent Garden experience.

His voice, a high baritone, had resonance and biting power which he colored in subtle nuance to fit the mood. A very tall, handsome Scarpia, he could be, at one moment, a gallant, persuasive gentleman, and in the next moment—a treacherous villain. His acting was consummate art and he too shared in the wild applause.

Elfego Esparza was the scapegoat sacristan, and Joshua Hecht made much of the part of the escaped prisoner, Angelotti. Rarely have I heard the part sung so well.

OFF TO JAPAN

Mayor Edwin Wade (right) and Irving Solomon, chairman of Long Beach's Armed Services Commission flew to Japan Saturday to attend the Seventh U.S.-Japan Mayors and Chamber of Commerce meeting in Kobe. Wade and Solomon, with 100 other U.S. mayors and chamber representatives, have been invited to confer with their Japanese counterparts Tuesday through Friday.

Donkeys to Eat Pancakes in Desert

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Outdoor Editor

Have you ever seen a jackass eating flapjacks? The four-legged kind, I mean. Well, partner, until you do, you ain't seen nothing so funny in all your life.

Take a bewhiskered prospector just as stubborn as the burro and let him try to cram that flapjack into the donkey's mouth and it's a scream.

Such a sight—not just one burro and his partner but several—will be a feature of the 14th annual Death Valley Encampment, Nov 7 through 11 at Death Valley National Monument.

* * * *

IT'S POSSIBLE that 15,000 persons will attend the encampment this year and there is far more to the event than just the burro flapjack contest.

There are three special breakfasts, one for authors of the West, one for photographers and one for artists, oil and water color.

The encampment also will feature the dedication of two historical markers, guided tours through the Valley, art exhibits, campfires and all kinds of dancing. There's a bit of nostalgia about the Old West in connection with the encampment, which is exactly what the directors of the event want.

* * * *

THE FLAPJACK contest will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday in an open area across the road from Stovepipe Wells Hotel.

Rules require all contestants to line up with their packed burros and, at a given signal, race 150 yards, unpack, start a campfire and cook a pancake.

The first participant to get his pancake into the burro's mouth wins the event. If he doesn't get a kick in the pants, presumably he wins a prize. The entire event has been arranged to glorify the dwindling old-time partnership of the desert country.

* * * *

ONE LONG BEACH artist, Robert Wagoner, of 2184 Daisy Ave., will exhibit paintings at the Death Valley Museum. Wagoner has 15 canvases ready for the showing.

Twenty-three other oil artists also will be exhibiting, as well as five water-color artists.

Special exhibits of old firearms, minerals and Indian culture will be featured at Furnace Creek Ranch. The Ranch also has added a large dance floor adjacent to the swimming pool. That will give the dancers a second floor. The other is at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel.

* * * *

RALPH A. FEAR, president of the Death Valley 49ers, predicting that more than 15,000 will attend the encampment, cautions all campers to bring their own food, dishes and camping gear. Trailers can be accommodated at Texas Springs Campground, Stovepipe Wells and Furnace Creek Ranch.

There are enough freeways into the area that Southern Californians can bypass San Bernardino and Barstow and go most of the way to Death Valley without even seeing one stop light.

There's one other warning: Don't go to the encampment, expecting to find hotel space. All that was reserved months ago.

'CIA Spy' Tells of Missions to Cuba on Havana TV

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Three men described as U.S. Central Intelligence agents captured by Fidel Castro's forces, appeared on Havana television Saturday night and spilled apparent secrets about CIA operations against Cuba.

The three Cubans talked freely about CIA commando raids and infiltration of men and arms into Cuba.

They said they were captured Oct. 22 in operations from what they said was the CIA mother ship Rex based at West Palm Beach, Fla.

* * * *

CASTRO, who told about the Rex in a TV and radio talk Wednesday night, did not appear on the telecast monitored in Key West.

The telecast was interrupted for five minutes, apparently because of a tape break. This indicated the program was previously recorded. The prisoners were questioned by Cuban army officers and answered readily and fully.

Luis Montero Carrazana, tall and wearing a white sportsshirt, said he had worked for the CIA since 1960.

He said he worked in Miami with the Christian Democratic Movement, an anti-Castro organization.

* * * *

"I CONTACTED Dr. Ignacio Rasco, of the Christian Democrats, who asked us to join their organization and they said we could work with them by ship. We made three or four voyages.

"The first, in November, 1961, disembarked in Oriente (eastern Cuba) after leaving from Marathon (in the Florida Keys)," he said.

Appearing with Montero were Clemente Inclan and Roberta Lizano Rodriguez.

Montero said he was the quartermaster of the Rex, identified previously by Castro as a CIA vessel based at Palm Beach, Fla.

* * * *

"THE SHIP traveled as a merchant vessel for a Nicaraguan company," the prisoner told his television audience.

"I landed many times in Cuba. I delivered packages there. We moored five or six miles from the Cuban coast, then used two launches. We would leave six men and 25 or 30 packages in Cuba. I did not know the mission of these men. Then we would return to the ship."

He did not explain what the packages contained.

The young Cuban, who appeared about 30 years old, continued calmly: "The artillery of the ship (Rex) consisted of five 20-caliber cannons, four 50-caliber machine guns, and other weapons.

* * * *

"BEFORE daybreak we returned to Key West or Miami. We always returned to the American coast," Montero said.

"When they wanted us to go on a mission they informed us by telephone. The man who gave the orders for the CIA was an American whom we called Capt. Ward.

"I participated on many missions. One was sabotage at Santa Lucia. This mission was carried out by 12 commandoes whom we picked up on a key near Miami," he said.

Tuesday Funeral Set for Mrs. Myrtle Lark

Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Lark, 85, who moved to Long Beach as a bride in 1896, will be Tuesday.

Mrs. Lark, of 40 E. 53rd St., died Friday. She and her husband, Oscar, operated the Eureka Livery Stable where the Wise Building now is located. Mr. Lark died in 1940.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Edna A. Tinney; a sister, Mrs. Mabel Goheen, and three grandchildren. Service will be at 2 p.m. in the Hunter Mortuary.

Golf Clubs Stolen

Daniel J. McHugh, of 723 Euclid Ave., told police Saturday that a thief broke into the trunk of his car parked in front of his house and stole a bag of golf clubs worth about $500.

Jubilee Host to Legislators

State Senators, Assemblymen and other officials and their wives will converge on Long Beach Nov. 22 to celebrate State Legislators Day as part of the city's Diamond Jubilee.

Letters of invitation from Assemblymen Joseph M. Kennick and George C. Deukmejian and Senator Thomas M. Rees have been sent to the entire Senate and Assembly to be guests of the jubilee organization.

The day will begin welcoming ceremonies at the Edgewater Inn, 6400 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., where the legislators and their wives will stay. Mayor Edwin W. Wade and other Long Beach city officials will be on hand to welcome the visitors.

A three-hour tour of the Long Beach Harbor is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. The MV Shearwater will pick up the visitors at the Marina dock at the Edgewater Inn for the shoreline and harbor tour and return them at 5:30 p.m.

* * * *

THE LEGISLATORS will be guests of Herman H. Ridder, publisher of the Independent, Press-Telegram, for dinner and entertainment at 7:30 p.m. Friday night at his home at 4601 Long Beach Blvd.

The senators and assemblymen will also be guests of the jubilee committee for all the events of Saturday, Navy Salute Day, including the formal Navy Ball that evening. They will be guests aboard various naval vessels during the afternoon.

Purpose of the day is to acquaint the legislators with the facilities of the city of Long Beach and the harbor here.

L.B. Makes Phew More Scents!

The City of Long Beach will get a little more per ton for the garbage it sells under a new contract just signed, but the gain will probably be more than offset by diminishing quantity.

Once a sizable source of municipal income, garbage now yields only a few hundred dollars per month. Under the new contract, however, the price paid per ton will go up from 68 to 79 cents per ton if the price of hogs remains constant within the current range of 15 to 20 cents per pound.

The two sets of prices are coupled in the bidding because the purchaser, Sherman & Jaycox of Riverside, uses the garbage to feed hogs.

Under the contract the city will continue to make the collections from door to door. The buyer picks up the garbage at a central hopper at Willow Street and Temple Avenue.

Tonnage collected by the city trucks has continued to decline in recent months. In July of this year the quantity was 790 tons, against 1,054 in the preceding July. Figures for August of the two years showed a decrease from 1,010 to 735 tons.

Omarr Reads the Stars

By SYDNEY OMARR

FIRECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Take care during journeys. Tendency to rush should be curbed. Don't commit yourself to rigid schedules. Strive to relax. Obtain privacy. Make decisions based on meditation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Easier now to make wishes turn into realities. You will now have practical methods of accomplishing goal. Don't hold back because of money. Financial improvement due.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Cycle continues high. But you may have tendency to be impatient. Check details. Finish projects. Otherwise, valuable time could be lost. Read Aries message. Be thorough, safe.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Be concerned with practical measures. Back up deals with facts. Prove your point via graphic illustrations. Heed counsel of spiritual advisor. Take new steps in fresh directions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Your intuition serves you well. You seem able to sense truth about important questions. But knowing the answer is only half the battle. Doing something constructive is the next step.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You will be expected to be "life of the party." Others look to you for humor, inspiration. No day for moody demeanor, stress cheerful attitude. You gain most in this manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Good moon aspect highlights travel, reading, gaining fresh knowledge. Get to heart of matter. Much to be gained if you take your time. Attend church of your choice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Time now for finding answers. Read, probe—ask questions. Piece together bits of information. Be a detective! Fine day for amusement, new contacts, attending lectures.

SAGITARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be ready for quick changes. Take in stride emotional outbursts by associate. Your role must be that of diplomat. Keep mind and heart open. You can earn respect . . . and love.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Important that you obtain sufficient rest. Avoid extremes. Gain strength. Much in common today with Aries and Gemini persons. Exercise caution while traveling. Put off final decisions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good lunar aspect highlights romance, excitement at social affair. Press forward; obtain promises. Gain indicated through members of opposite sex. Key is confidence.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Make plans for future. Check details. Be sure you obtain money's worth. Don't be in too much of a hurry. Pay heed to advice offered by older individual. Experience proves your great ally.

* * * *

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you have a remarkable sense of humor, but display a tendency to scatter your forces.

* * * *

GENERAL TENDENCIES: All signs could benefit from Aries and Gemini messages.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

Long-Play Bible Records Offered I, P-T Readers

In an age that largely neglects the family custom of daily Bible readings, the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram has arranged, as a public service during the pre-Christmas season, to offer a set of long play records of the best-loved stories of the Old and New Testaments.

The records have been praised by religious leaders.

A coupon for your order appears elsewhere in today's paper.

Dramatizations of such stories as Daniel in the Lion's Den, Noah and the Ark, Joseph and His Brethren, Moses and the Promised Land, the Good Samaritan, the Last Supper, the Birth of Christ and others are on the records narrated by Alexander Scourby, backed by full cast and orchestra.

With each record there is a four color illustration suitable for framing.

The records can be ordered singly for $1 or the set of eight for $7.50.

State Session of Foreign Language Teachers to Convene Here Nov. 9, 10

Dr. Oliver J. Caldwell, acting associate commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education, will be the featured speaker at the two-day state convention of the Foreign Language Teachers Association of California.

The convention will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 9 and 10, at the Lafayette Hotel. Frank J. Ochoa of Long Beach is president of the organization.

Caldwell will discuss "The Importance of Polycultural Communication" at the banquet at 7:15 p.m. Saturday.

The third biennial convention will open with registration at 8 a.m. Saturday and feature a general meeting starting at 9:45 a.m. Section meetings will be held Saturday afternoon.

The convention will close Sunday morning with separate meetings for the elementary-intermediate and secondary school levels.

Caldwell, affiliated with the U.S. Office of Education for 10 years, has visited more than 60 countries, including Russia.

Justice Takes Horse on Circuit

DERBY, England (AP)—Justice Sir Kenneth Diplock is holding court on the Midlands Circuit accompanied by his horse.

The 55-year-old judge normally presides over an Appellate Court in London. But just now he is substituting in the Midlands.

He's driving his own car and towing his horse in a trailer. Every morning he rides for an hour before court.

"Riding puts me in a good humor," said the judge.

Sobering Influence

PRETORIA (AP) — Women and children should be invited to Christmas office parties in order to promote sobriety, an official of the South African Road Safety Council suggests.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Saharan War Firing Ceases

ALGIERS, Sunday, Nov. 3 (AP)—Shooting stopped late Saturday in all sectors along the contested Algerian-Moroccan frontier, Algerian field headquarters announced today.

The end of hostilities was announced 24 hours after the official cease-fire went into effect at midnight Friday. The report said an artillery duel in the Figuig-Beni Ounif sector ended by early evening and no engagements had been fought since.

The report came from Algerian headquarters at Colomb-Bechar after both sides in the undeclared frontier war traded artillery and machinegun fire in violation of the Bamako cease fire agreement.

Each side accused the other of violating the agreement within minutes after it came into effect.

Morocco had dispatched troops to its eastern frontier and military duels shattered a brief calm Saturday in the sector bordered by the Moroccan town of Figuig on the north end and the Algerian town of Beni Ounif on the south end.

Tricky Quick but Caught

LONDON (AP)—Michael Patrick Murphy Woodfall is a memorable man, even without his moustache. When cornered, as he was Saturday, he reacts as quickly as a rabbit.

MICHAEL WOODFALL
Recaptured

Held in connection with a $12,000 swindle, he escaped from police custody Friday but was recaptured Saturday by two detectives. But Woodfall never gives up.

He whipped out a pair of handcuffs and, true to form, he cried out to a passersby: "In the name of the queen, help me arrest these men — they are wanted criminals."

Before the passersby could answer Woodfall's call, uniformed police appeared on the scene and put an end to his trick. But it was the kind of thing the law says Woodfall has been up to ever since Mrs. Effie Ora, a lonely widow of substantial means, fell into his snare. He is charged with swindling her.

Ice Show Death Toll Rises

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The death toll in the State Fairgrounds Coliseum ice show explosion rose to 66 today with reports of two deaths in hospitals.

Mrs. Stella Mahr, 65, and Harry F. Nolen, 67, both of Indianapolis, died of injuries suffered Thursday night when a thundering blast accompanied by a column of flame ripped through a section of grandstand.

Jack Benny's Wife Robbed of Gems

NEW YORK (UPI)—A shabbily dressed gunman walked into the plush hotel suite of Jack Benny's wife, Mary Livingston, Saturday and robbed her of an estimated $110,000 in jewelry.

The comedian's wife fainted, but otherwise was not injured. The gunman escaped before she revived and called police.

The robbery took place at the Hotel Pierre, where Benny and his wife have been staying. Benny had left 40 minutes earlier for a concert in Pittsburgh.

Meningitis at Honor Rancho

CASTAIC (AP)—The county's Wayside Honor Rancho has been closed to visitors for ten days because of an outbreak of infectious meningitis.

The quarantine was ordered Saturday by County Physician Dr. Marcus Crahan after an inmate's case was diagnosed at General Hospital as purulent meningitis.

Cyanide in Illinois Stream

NEWTON, Ill. (UPI) — Deadly cyanide poisoned the Embarras River in southeastern Illinois Saturday and shut off the water supply to this farming community of 3,000 persons.

Authorities, armed with dramatic evidence of the poisoned river, warned farmers along the winding stream to keep their families and livestock away from the water. Five hereford cattle were found dead along Kickapoo Creek southeast of Mattoon, Ill., Friday and the state health department confirmed today that the cyanide killed them.

25th Polaris Sub Launched

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Its blimp-shaped bow draped in bunting, the Ulysses S. Grant, 25th Polaris submarine in the Navy's arsenal, was sent down the ways Saturday into the choppy, rain-flecked Thames River.

The 425-foot, 7,000-ton sub, named after the 18th President of the United States, was hailed by Adm. Harold P. Smith as the kind of weapon that "gives our country a credible deterrent to unlimited nuclear war."

Rain Breaks Eastern Drought

By United Press International

Welcome snow and rain fell from the Ohio Valley to the Eastern Seaboard Saturday, easing a record-breaking Indian summer drought.

Cool air sent temperatures below the freezing mark as far south as Alabama and Texas. Three inches of snow fell in Virginia's Shenandoah National Park and some sections of the state received nearly two inches of rain.

Governor's Pay Raise Called Moral Wrong

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Republican assemblyman said Saturday a "loophole" in state law would allow Gov. Brown a $4,100 pay raise, but that Brown would be "morally wrong" in taking it.

Brown said last week he had changed his mind about a pay raise and decided to take one after promising in the election campaign to forgo the salary hike.

Brown told his press conference last week he made the promise "without thinking," adding "I'm embarrassed by it." He also said his promise amounted to a gift of community property "and my wife says that she did not consent to it."

Assemblyman Bob Monagan, R-Tracy, said Saturday the legislative counsel advised that it would not be "technically illegal" for the governor "to withdraw from the state treasury the $4,100 in dispute" although it was not included in the budget.

"If he (Brown) elects to do this, however," Monogan said, "it will be morally wrong in light of his promises to the people of California."

Monagan said acceptance of the raise "would be in violation of both the spirit of the constitution of the state and the intent of the bugetary process of the legislature."

Monagan said Brown had said in a footnote to his 1963-64 budget proposal to the legislature that his salary would remain at $40,000 a year.

Monagan said the "legislative process" made it incumbent that "the integrity of the budget as submitted by the governor be followed ... except where the legislature makes specific changes."

Sen. Carlson Says Gold Outflow Biggest Problem

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What is the single most serious problem facing the United States today? Civil rights? Unemployment? Communism?

An American who selects any one of those possibilities as the nation's No. 1 crisis will find a sizable number of his countrymen who agree wholeheartedly.

But a highly respected, senior Republican in the United States Senate disagrees with all of them.

To Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas the greatest cause for alarm—and one of the least understood—is that gold is flowing away from U.S. shores faster than it is collecting here. This causes what is known in economic circles as a "balance-of-payments" deficit.

"Balance-of-payments" is a nine-dollar phrase which simply means that the United States spends, lends, invests and gives away more to foreign countries than foreign countries spend, lend, invest or give to the United States.

* * * *

"OUR BALANCE of payments situation is the number one problem as far as the future of the country is concerned," Carlson told United Press International in an interview. "If we don't reverse the trend — quickly — we're likely to face a depression that will make all our other problems pale into insignificance."

At the outside, he says, the country has two years to get its foreign fiscal affairs in order, or face possible economic catastrophe.

Carlson speaks from a preeminent position. He is ranking Republican, behind Sen. John Williams of Delaware, on the Senate Finance Committee. He is third ranking GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. In those posts he is privy to the nation's prime economic information. The jobs also make him partly responsible for solutions of both domestic and foreign economic problems.

His most recent assignment in the international field was representing the United States, along with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., at the International Monetary Fund Conference in October.

* * * *

CARLSON has been heartened a little—but just a little—by the modest improvement in the balance-of-payments deficit in recent months. In the second quarter it was running at a $5 billion annual rate and was reduced to a $2.5 annual rate, estimated, in the third quarter.

"Even so," he predicted, "this will still be our worst year. We'll probably wind up about $4 billion behind."

For several years the deficits have been averaging around $3 billion. They have drained U.S. gold stocks by about $15 billion.

How did the United States get in such a situation?

To find the answer to that, one would have to unravel a complex combination of circumstances that have been years in the making. The more pertinent question, according to Carlson, is how to get out of the situation.

Conceding that there are no easy answers in today's world, he said nevertheless that answers must be found. He suggested a few:

—Cut back American troop commitments overseas.

—Increase U.S. sales efforts on a nation-to-nation basis in the free world.

—Boost trade in non-strategic commodities with the Communist bloc countries.

—Raise U.S. interest rates to a point where they are on a par with or very close to European rates.

Of all these approaches, he said, the troop cutback is the most important.

American military forces overseas are the greatest single conduit through which U.S. gold flows abroad. They will account for about $1 billion during this year.

* * * *

"I AM HOPEFUL we can reduce our overseas soldier commitments," the senator said. "We have nearly 400,000 troops in Europe alone. With our ability to transport whole divisions by air, as the recent exercise Big Lift proves, we should be able to cut back significantly."

As for trade, the United States exports more than it imports and has had a favorable balance in this respect for years. But the balance is narrowing. And this trend must also be reversed if the overall payments deficit picture is to be improved.

Carlson's suggestion: "I think we are going to have to send some people out with brief cases to trade bilaterally. We are simply going to have to compete on a bigger and broader scale."

As to trade with Communist bloc countries, the senator thinks the United States might have to reexamine its whole philosophy about such exchanges. He favored the sale of wheat to the U.S.S.R., and not, he says, just because he represents the nation's largest wheat-growing state. In a recent Senate statement, Carlson declared:

"Our nation lost $23 million worth of gold from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 1963. Our gold reserve has dropped from $24 billion in 1954 to $15.7 billion in 1963.

* * * *

"THERE ARE some who will argue that the sale of wheat to Russia strengthens communism. But the facts are that Russia is obtaining not only foodstuffs, but industrial products from our allies in ever-increasing quantities.

"For instance, statistics for 1962 show that West German trade agreements with Russia alone totaled about $700 million. Germany is now the third largest industrial nation in the world.

"Italy has a four-year trade agreement with the Soviets for $1.11 billion worth of goods. France has signed a three-year trade pact with Russia which provides annual trade of $440 million. Japan has a three-year trade pact with Russia that calls for $365 million. The United States and Russian trade last year was $16 million each way.

"I am not advocating the sale of strategic materials to Russia, but I do urge that our nation give every consideration to expanding our trade with Russia and her satellites in non-strategic items."

* * * *

RETURNING to the wheat question, Carlson said the United States sells wheat to Germany, France and other European countries.

"Much of this wheat is processed into flour and foodstuffs by these countries and then sold to Russia. Therefore, Russia gets our wheat whether we sell it to them or not," the senator said.

Another leading factor in the gold-outflow problem, Carlson said, is the interstate situation. Overseas, opportunities look mighty tempting to American investors, particularly in stable West European countries. Interest rates there are higher than they are here. This led President Kennedy recently to raise the rediscount rate for short-term borrowing. This, in turn, so the theory goes, will lead American investors to put more of their money in domestic issues.

Coming as close as he ever did to a partisan statement in the interview, Sen. Carlson noted this was the classic Republican position. "They (the administration) hated to do it, but they found there was just no other way. They had to raise the rates," he said.

Earth Crust Bore Job End Seen by 1968

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scientist working on a federally financed program to drill a hole through the earth's crust under the ocean predicted the job will be finished by 1968.

The scientist was William H. Tonking, deputy manager of the Mohole Project, employed by the Brown and Root Co. of Houston, Tex.

Tonking made the estimate in hearings before the House Oceanographic Subcommittee, which is getting a progress report on the multi-million-dollar undertaking.

'67-68 World's Fair Won't Be Long Beach's 1st; City Staged Pacific Southwest Exposition in '28

By VERA WILLIAMS

Long Beach will have a World's Fair in 1967 and 1968.

But it won't be the first one.

Do you know about the Pacific Southwest Exposition which ran for 39 days and nights — July 27 through Sept. 3, 1928—on 60 acres of harbor land at the end of West Seventh Street?

Twenty-three foreign countries and most of the Western states participated. More than a million persons attended. The exposition cost $650,000—and paid its way.

* * * *

THE PACIFIC Southwest Exposition had another unusual characteristic: It was ready on opening day. Every building, every corner of the grounds had been finished, every exhibit was in place before the gates swung open to the public.

Tunis supplied the atmosphere for the exposition. Why Tunis? World travelers often say Long Beach reminds them of a Mediterranean city. Its climate is almost exactly the same as that of Tunis in north Africa.

So Moorish architecture: white walls, domes, towers and minarets, the architecture of Tunis, was chosen for the world fair at Long Beach.

* * * *

TO GIVE the impression of an oasis in the desert, towering palms were planted, full-grown; it was the season for oleanders and roses and the fair grounds were bright with bloom. There were many grassy plots, gravelled walks and splashing fountains.

There may have been a hard, practical reason, too, why Moorish architecture was chosen. The buildings were hardly more than stage sets, Masonry walls were out of question, so the buildings were of plasterboard with an outer coating of stucco, the interiors supported by studding. Roofs were of canvas stretched like tents.

Pacific Southwest backers took a chance that it wouldn't rain during that period, and it didn't. They took a chance that there wouldn't be a heavy windstorm, and there wasn't one. Where else could men be sure that it wouldn't rain, and hopeful that it wouldn't blow from July 27 to Sept. 3 except in Long Beach?—and Tunis?

* * * *

THE GENERAL plan was simple — and beautiful. Main buildings were placed about a great quadrangle or plaza, intercepted by a roofed and arcaded colonnade. Smaller courts branched off the main areas of the quadrangle. At the far end a bandstand was set in a tranquil pool of water.

Buildings, towers, stairs, balconied windows, arches and columns were designed to cast interesting shadows. Colored lights were played on them at night, and they were reflected in the pool.

At noon and at sunset each day, an Arabian muezzin ascended the steps to the muezzin tower atop the Palace of Industrial Arts, the highest point in the exposition grounds. Silhouetted against the sky, he bowed in the traditional way to the four corners of the globe, then summoned faithful Mohammedans to prayer.

* * * *

THERE WERE many "Palaces" at the fair: Palace of Industrial Arts, Palace of Education and Fine Arts, Palace of Transportation and Radio, Palaces of Oil, Mining and Manufacture, and "Palaces" of exhibiting foreign countries: Argentina, Belgium, Bolivia, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Ecuador, France, Guatemala, Hawaii, Holland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, East Indies, New Zealand, Norway, Persia, Philippine Islands and Spain. There was a Marine Building and a California Building. There was a theater which seated 600, a stadium which seated 8,000 and in athletic field with room for 5,000 spectators.

A "Pageant of Friendship" which told the story of the West, Redmen through 20th century, was presented every night. Each performance ended with a "disappearing ballet" — the ballet actually dropped from sight.

The eighth annual regatta of the Southern California Yachting Association and the Southern California AAU Swimming and Diving Championships were Pacific Southwest Exposition events.

* * * *

PRESIDENT Calvin Coolidge sent greetings. Gov. C. C. Young was the first patron admitted to the exposition and received an engraved "No. 1" admission card.

Herbert Hoover, campaigning for president, visited the fair and was presented with a plaque designed by Roger Noble Burnham.

When Lt. Arthur Goebel flew nonstop to New York, he carried greeting from the exposition to Mayor Jimmy Walker. On the fair grounds Goebel was presented a Distinguished Flying Cross for his nonstop flight from Oakland to Honolulu. Charles A. Lindbergh came in one night, unannounced, paid his admission the same as any other citizen, toured the fair and spent an hour at the aviation exhibition.

* * * *

MME. ERNESTINE Schumann-Heink sang at the fair, and had a day named in her honor. Carrie Jacobs Bond, who wrote "The End of a Perfect Day," played a group of her compositions. Charles Wakefield Cadman, who composed the "Land of the Sky Blue Water," played a group of his compositions.

Upton Sinclair, writer, strode through the grounds bare-headed and was astonished that people recognized him.

Entertainers included Alice Gentle, mezzo soprano; Arthur Friedheim, pianist; Elsa Alsen, Wagnerian sprano; Rene Tumanova, singer who came from the Imperial theater, Moscow, accompanied by her Balalaika orchestra; Mischa Koltunoff, Russian tenor, and the Volga Boys Ukrainian Chorus; Alma Real, dramatic soprano; Sonia Cordova, dancer; Samuel Pedraza, tenor, "singing ambassador" from Mexico.

* * * *

CAPT. GEORGE H. Wilkins, North Pole flier; George McManus, cartoonist; James Rolph Jr., who then had been mayor of San Francisco for 17 years and later become governor of California, visited the fair.

So did Sens. Hiram Johnson and Samuel M. Shortridge, and Rep. W. E. Evans.

James Warner, radio operator on the Southern Cross, which had just flown from Oakland to Australia, looked over the fair and approved: "California is always doing something — something new and aggressive."

* * * *

HERBERT L. Clarke, famed director of the Municipal Band, composed "The Pacific Southwest Exposition March" especially for the fair.

Merrell Gage's "Madonna of the Plains," sculpture, first was exhibited at the Pacific Southwest Exhibition.

A Bedouin marriage, and Catholic, Jewish and Protestant services all took place at the fair. It was said to be the first Catholic Mass inside an American fairgrounds.

Exhibits included Napoleon's private carriage; a a rug smuggled out of the emperor's palace in the Boxer uprising; purses used by Tzu Hei, the Dowager Empress of China; the manuscript of the Five Books of Jami, Persian poet, written in Nastalik style and illuminated by Behzad early in the 16th century.

* * * *

J. DAVID Larson, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, credited with originating the idea of the exposition, was its general manager. The "power behind the throne" was Arnold Kruckman, who as a young newspaperman had covered the Wright Brothers flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C. and couldn't get newspapers to take his story because editors wouldn't believe flying machines would fly.

L. E. Behymer was impressario. Paul Graham was chairman of the board of controls of the exposition; James K. Reid was president of the Chamber of Commerce, moving spirit behind the exposition. Dr. Henry C. Niese, consul of Argentina, was in charge of obtaining foreign exhibitions. James V. Savery headed art, and Harry Buffum headed special days and events.

Hugh R. Davies, architect, achieved the miracle of erecting a "Tunisian city" on sand dunes with 10½ weeks notice. Walter R. Fleming, director of the Department of Public Service, and James F. Collins, civil engineer, had charge of preparing and planting the grounds.

HARRY J. Moore, vice principal of Poly, directed the Palace ef Education. John W. Ryckman directed installations and awards.

Julius R. Young and Henry Finch Burmester headed the publicity bureau. Bess Settle (Webster) was one of the talented writers.

Perhaps Mayor Oscar Hauge best summed up the Pacific Southwest Exposition:

"Here you will find life, beauty, music, education and enjoyment. Expositions are timekeepers of progress. They record the world's advancement. They broaden and brighten the daily life of the people. They stimulate energy, enterprise, intellect. They open storehouses of information . . . These buildings will disappear, but the infuence of this exposition will remain with us always."

Barbershop Units Sing Saturday

An Evening of Barbershop Harmony will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday at Wilson High School Auditorium, Seventh Street and Ximeno Ave.

Units affiliated with the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will participate. On the program will be the Cavity Four of Reseda; Merry Chords, Spare Time Quartet and Buzz-Alongs of Downey; the Downey Revelairs, twice Far Western District champion choral group; and The Vagablondes, Region 11 Sweet Adelines quartet champions.

The show is sponsored by the Newman Students, Catholic organization, of Long Beach State College. Tickets may be reserved by calling GE 9-9862 in Long Beach; JA 7-5362 in Buena Park or at the box office. Adults, $2 and $2.50; children, $1.50 and $2.

Baboons to Take Science Spotlight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—The baboon, butt of many a joke, will be in for some serious discussion this week as the subject of an international symposium.

The four-day meeting, the first international symposium on the baboon and its use as an experimental animal, starts Tuesday.

San Antonio's Southwest Foundation for Research and Education is sponsoring the meeting. Almost 200 scientists are expected from the Soviet Union, Germany, England, Africa and the United States.

Until a few years ago almost no one—except the Russians and South Africans—used the baboon as a research animal. The medical favorite was the Rhesus monkey.

But researchers at the foundation, Louisiana State Medical School and Tulane Medical School, discovered by accident that a baboon gets atherosclerosis similar to humans.

This made it imperative to use the animal for research, especially so since he hardly ever eats any kind of meat.

Scientist, Writer on GAD Lecture Schedule

First of four lectures by noted scientists and the opening of a new series on "The Literature of Ideas" by author John Robert Clarke are announced for this week by the General Adult Division of Long Beach City College.

Dr. Norman H. Brooks, professor of civil engineering at the California Institute of Technology, will speak on "Our Coastal Waters: Benefits and Hazards" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City College auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Ave.

Associated with Caltech's W. M. Keck Laboratory since 1954, Dr. Brooks has done extensive research on the problems of waste diffusion in the ocean, ground water flow and hydraulic structures. Three additional speakers are scheduled for the weekly series on "Man and His Fluid Environment."

CLARKE, who lives and works on a 55-foot sailing vessel currently moored in the Long Beach harbor, will speak on "Socrates and the High Cost of Living" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Rogers Junior High School auditorium, Monrovia Ave. and Appian Way. Later topics will be "Hamlet and the Idea of Tragedy," "Jung and the World of the Unconscious" and "Schweitzer and Human Communication."

Clarke's teakwood ship, the "Panacea," is a floating library and art gallery in which he has traveled to many parts of the world, and aboard which he wrote such best-sellers as "The Importance of Being Imperfect" and "Women Who Have Changed History."

Meet Slated on Prayer in Schools

A "Right to Pray in School" committee will hold a public meeting at 2 p.m. today in Seal Beach City Hall, Eighth Street and Central Avenue.

The committee announced intent of the meeting is to "voice concern and strengthen determination to stop the sweeping effort to remove every reference of a Supreme Being from public life."

The committee is backing petitions calling for an amendment to the Constitution making possible the "recitation on a voluntary basis of non-denominational type prayers in the public schools."

Petitions, based on the Seal Beach City Council resolution calling for the constitutional amendment, are available at 124 Main St., Seal Beach.

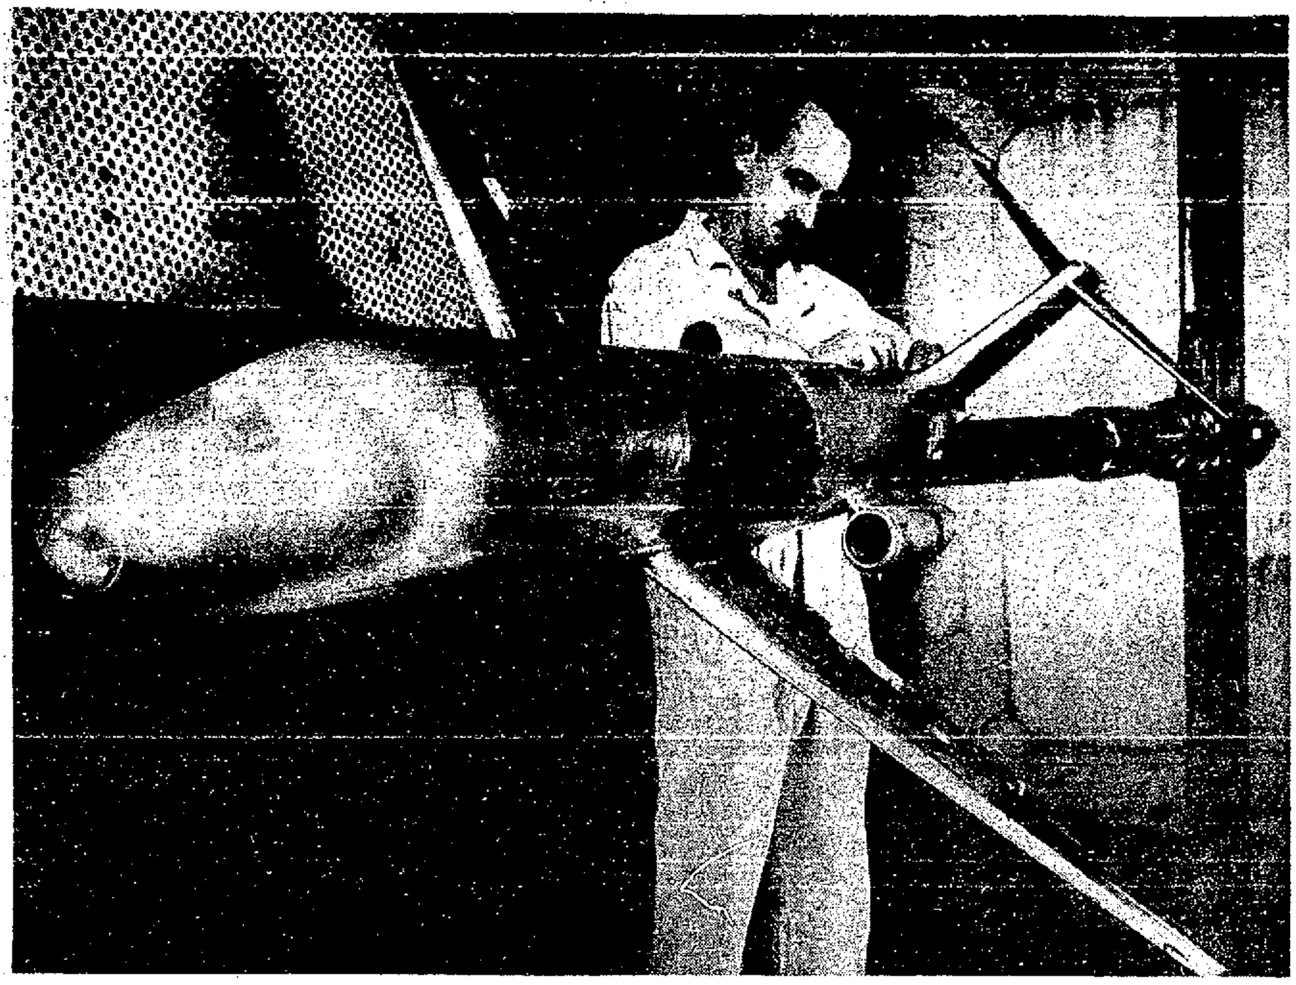
Baby Brother of Douglas Aircraft's DC8 Jet Due to Meet or Exceed Expected Performance



SIX PER CENT SCALE MODEL OF DOUGLAS DC9 . . . Passes Wind Tunnel Test

By LEE CRAIG
Aerospace Editor

The baby brother of Douglas Aircraft Company's Long Beach-built DC8 transports has passed another milestone on its way to fulfill the jet-age promise of swift and efficient transportation for trips of less than 1,100 miles.

Wind tunnel tests indicate the junior-size DC9 twin-jet transport will meet or exceed performance expectations, company executives say.

Although only one fourth the size of its four-jet big brother, the compact DC9 is expected to equal its predecessor in speed and comfort and exceed it in convenience.

* * * *

THE NEW transport will complement the long-range DC8s by replacing propeller aircraft now serving many cities on short-haul routes throughout the world, bringing them jet service for the first time.

Wind tunnel tests on six models of the DC9 were conducted at the Douglas Aerophysics Laboratory, the Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratory at Caltech, the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, the NASA Ames Research Center and the low-speed tunnel at the Douglas facility in Long Beach.

Company executives also announced the DC9's cockpit arrangement has been approved by the Federal Aviation Agency, subject to flight demonstration.

More than 60,000 man hours a week are being applied to the DC9 program, including 40,000 in detail engineering. This work is agumented by work under way by seven major subcontractors with design and manufacturing responsibility.

Assembly of the first transport is scheduled to start in January, with roll-out of the completed airplane set for a year later. First flight is scheduled for March 1965.

BEACH COMBING
with Malcolm Epley

AS veteran tolerators of this dept. well know, I have campaigned occasionally against the horrible practice of reading speeches.

Sometimes, I've thought I was gaining in this effort, but recently there has been a new and discouraging development.

Whereas speech-reading may have declined a bit, now I notice more and more people reading prayers, such as the invocations at the opening of civic events.

Evidently, people are getting so they don't trust themselves to speak extemporaneously even to the Almighty.

THOSE who do their part in making this a hospitable community will get real encouragement from a letter received here yesterday from Arleigh Burke, former chief of naval operations and one of the nation's top military experts.

Burke wrote to Harry Buffum, chairman of the Diamond Jubilee celebration board, in response to an invitation to attend the "Celebrities" event which is part of the Jubilee program. He can't come, but he spoke of the years when he was on duty with the Navy here as happy ones. Then he went on:

"I am reminded especially of the many times we lived in Long Beach when I was a junior officer, and citizens of Long Beach were always very thoughtful on making Long Beach a wonderful place for naval officers to live.

"For example, during the bank holiday when I was at sea, and one of your very excellent hotel managers loaned Mrs. Burke enough money to buy food until I came back to Long Beach. And during the earthquake, I learned for the first time what conscientious citizens can do to assist one another in times of stress. I even appreciated the park bench where Mrs. Burke and I spent that night, since our apartment was seriously damaged.

"The efforts the transportation companies made to have schedules suitable for sailors going to sea in the early morning in the days when few of us had cars, were also appreciated."

Burke was writing about the way things were here 30 years ago. Are we still doing as well?

ANOTHER "Operation Big Lift" was pulled off in Long Beach in connection with the Jubilee opening banquet Thursday eve.

Bill Boyd, the director, was faced with an emergency when a last-minute change of plans made it necessary for him to arrange to transfer 250 guests from parking places at the Arena to the Lafayette Hotel, and then back again, in a matter of minutes.

So, though the party was a "live" one, he called on the mortuaries of Long Beach and their limousines to accomplish the lift. Twelve shiny limousines were lined up in front of the Arena and handled the transfer without a slipup.

BY the way, this event — the banquet — brought about the discovery of one of the finest rooms for an event of this kind to be found in the entire region.

It was held in the lobby of the Arena — an immense glass enclosed area with starlight illumination fixtures that is one of the truly great features of the immense building. The combination of reflections from the interior fixtures, plus the harbor lights, and the harbor light reflections on the water, provided an atmosphere of unique charm.

There were 250 there. The room could have held twice that many and it's too bad so many missed it.

Architect Ken Wing, who designed the building, sat near me and admitted that when he dreamed up the grand lobby, he never imagined it would be used for banquet purposes.

That's a plus at the Arena that wasn't contemplated by the designer. Now it figures as a fine new community asset.

TERMINAL ISLAND FCI INMATE . . . Santa's Unpaid Helper

Correction Facility Inmates Aid Santa

By ED KENYON

Some of Santa Claus's most enthusiastic toyshop workers have been turning out Christmas bicycles and dolls for the past month.

They work behind the green-walled Federal Correctional Institute on Terminal Island.

It's a volunteer spare-time job for those of the prison's nearly 1,000 inmates who take part in the program.

The sewing of fancy clothes for dolls is an activity started many years ago by the women inmates who annually dress a hundred or more dolls in a variety of imaginative and colorful outfits.

* * * *

LAST YEAR FOR the first time, men inmates joined the Kris Kringle crew.

Old bicycles, toy automobiles and wagons collected by the Volunteers of America are being taken apart for repairing and refurbishing in sparkling greens, reds and yellows.

Continuing a program started last year, inmates also will help kindle the Yuletide spirit by inviting youngsters from needy families into the prison for a Christmas dinner.

The event last year melted the hearts of even the hardest cynics in the prison blue denim, says Warden Raymond May.

* * * *

AFTER ONE little girl had applauded a group of inmate entertainers, collected a Christmas gift bought with inmate contributions and eaten a dinner of turkey and all the trimmings, she looked at an inmate seated next to her and said:

"Gee, you know I wish I lived here."

"I never felt so near to crying in my life," the inmate later told the warden.

Off-Street Park Battle Resumed

Council Will Hold Hearing

By GEORGE WEEKS

A five-year-old controversy over proposals to require more off-street parking for new residential construction will resume Monday before the City Council's ordinance committee.

Committee members will hear pro and con arguments at 9:30 a.m. on the latest recommendations of the City Planning Commission, which has campaigned in vain for more stringent regulations since 1958.

Representatives of building contractors and related groups said last month they will oppose some of the requirements approved by the commission in July. Final decision will be up to the council.

Most hotly-disputed of the proposals are those related to apartment construction, the most active category of current residential building.

* * * *

PLANNING commissioners are backing ratios as high as 1½ parking spaces to one apartment unit for larger units in some districts. Present requirements range from 1-for-3 in the downtown district to 2-for-3 in outlying areas.

The new proposals would require:

District A (core area), 1-for-2 for all units.

District B (south of Pacific Electric right-of-way and Pacific Coast Highway, 1-for-1 for one-bedroom units, 1½-for-1 for two-bedroom, 1½-for-1 for three-bedroom and over.

District C (remainder of city), 1-for-1 for one-bedroom, 1½-for-1 for two-bedroom and over.

* * * *

OTHER COMMISSION proposals are a 2-for-1 ratio for single-family dwellings throughout the city and a 1½-for-1 minimum for duplexes.

Garage construction is required for single-family and duplex units. Open parking, on the same lot as the building, is permissible for multiple-unit apartments.

Milder recommendations for increasing off-street parking minimums have repeatedly failed to win council approval, mainly because of arguments that the result could be prohibitive pricing of new construction.

Playhouse Manager Retires

Retirement of Mrs. Walter Case as administrative business manager was announced Saturday by Long Beach Community Players. She will continue as a member of the Board of Trustees and Board of governors.

Dedicated to the development of this pioneer little theater from the time of its organization in 1929, Mrs. Case was charter member, served as parliamentarian, vice president, and business manager during the first years. She resigned as president in 1957, but retained her position as administrator.

Under her leadership Community Players won national as well as local recognition for sustained production through 34 years and built its own theater in 1951.

WELFARE PROGRAM

Yuletide Giving Is Coordinated

Coordination of Christmas giving for needy families in the Long Beach-Lakewood area has begun under auspices of the Community Welfare Council, it was announced Saturday.

Council Chairman Fred Dow reported that welfare agencies have begun to list the needy families who will need extra help with food, clothing or toys at Christmas. Representatives of welfare agencies have met to plan central clearing of cases so that duplications of aid will be avoided.

Bruce Monroe, Junior Chamber of Commerce, was appointed by Dow to head the Christmas clearance committee. Aid will be provided by the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, Catholic Welfare Bureau, the Long Beach Elks Club, and organizations or individual donors who adopt families registered by social welfare agencies.

NAMES OF PERSONS listed by agencies as needing Christmas help will be registered in the Community Welfare Council office, 3515 Linden Ave. Monroe said he hoped that the majority of the needy cases could be listed by Nov. 25 so that churches or clubs could telephone after that time if they wished to aid a family and desired to know if it was already listed.

Assisting Monroe on the clearance committee are Mrs. Gladys M. Squaires, director of nursing, Long Beach Unified School District; Mrs. Mabel Johns and Maj. Kenneth Anderson, Salvation Army; Mrs. J. G. Herrmann, Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers; Miss Claudine Radisich and Gerald Mabey, Bureau of Public Assistance; Rev. W. R. Hall, Council of Churches; C. Ross McKelvie, Elks Club; R. Scott Jones, Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Capt. Fred Wessel, Volunteers of America.

175 Units to Parade Nov. 10

One hundred and seventy-five units will march in the Veterans Day parade here Nov. 10, including units from all divisions of the Armed Forces.

Thirty musical groups will participate, with the official band being the Sixth Army Band of San Francisco. Host band will be the Marker Junior Concert Band.

Among the marchers will be the uniformed Shrine units of Long Beach El Bekel Shrine Temple.

Long Beach is one of five cities in the United States designated by the Department of Defense and Veterans Administration to hold Veterans Day celebrations and parades, according to Fred Nessler, parade director. Other cities are Indianapolis, Ind.; Birmingham, Ala.; Oakland and La Salle, Ill.

Gen. J. K. Waters, commanding general, U.S. Continental Army, Fort Monroe, Va., is grand marshal; Edmund M. Gulewicz, of Detroit, Mich., national commander of the AMVETS, will be honorary marshal.

The parade will start at 1 p.m. at Ocean Boulevard and Alamitos, go west on Ocean to Pine Ave., north on Pine to Broadway, and west on Broadway to Chestnut Ave.

Cancel Lease, City Gets Cafe Fixtures

Improvements and fixtures valued at $100,000 will become city property in return for the cancellation of a lease for a restaurant that was no longer operating.

City officials have approved an agreement to this effect with Captain's Inn, Inc., lessee of the Sea Winds Restaurant and Coffee Shop in the Navy Landing Building.

The company, which operates a successful restaurant in the marina area, closed the Navy Landing business last March. The Sea Winds had been open only two years before giving up in the face of a shift of Navy activity to the harbor. Its lease was to have run for 10 years.

In return for getting title to the building improvements and modern restaurant fixtures installed by the company, the city will cancel rental payments past due in the amount of $17,184.

Officials are studying new uses for the landing area, including a possible small-craft harbor. City Man. John R. Mansell invited offers for a new lease conditioned on the city's providing the equipment acquired under the agreement.

LBSC Art to Be Shown at Cerritos

Cerritos College's Art Gallery opens Monday with a major showing of works by the faculty of Long Beach State College. The event is the third of a series of exhibitions that will continue throughout the year on the Norwalk campus.

Featured works will be sculptures by Kenneth Glenn, Dick Swift's graphics, Orval Dillingham's paintings and the designs of Alvin Paine.

The show will be open to the public daily from 12 noon until 4 p.m.

SS Orcades Due With 1,149 Aboard

The 28,000-ton P&O-Orient Lines passenger ship SS Orcades is due in Long Beach at 8 a.m. Tuesday with 1,149 passengers aboard.

The liner, arriving from London, via Le Havre, Lisbon, Florida and the Panama Canal will dock at Pier D, Berth 34. She will depart at 5 p.m. the same day on the South Pacific leg of an around-the-world cruise.

Timely Action Can Forestall Quake Disaster

AT THE INDIANA COLISEUM in Indianapolis there was gaiety and music one minute as the audience watched skaters in a Halloween ice show pirouette in their final number. The next minute, there was horror and death as human beings were catapulted onto the ice and buried under concrete by the explosion of escaping gas. Sixty-six died; 341 were injured.

Reading the tragic details this week, the country was impressed once again by the vulnerability of mankind to the sudden and the unexpected. In a few seconds an accident or natural disaster—an explosion in a coliseum or a tidal wave behind a dam above a mountain village—can deal heartbreak and destruction to a community.

Often there is no way for man to anticipate and prevent these tragic fractures of his peace and happiness. The best he can do is prepare for the contingencies suggested to him by experience and foresight.

SADLY, HE DOES NOT always do so.

Even as the Indianapolis story clicked over the press wires, the Governor's Conference on Disaster Preparedness at Sacramento was hearing a disturbing report on conditions which could contribute to disaster in many of the cities of this state.

Declaring that 90 per cent of the fatalities and more than half the property damage in California earthquakes have been "unnecessary and preventable," Dr. C. F. Richter, seismology professor at California Institute of Technology, warned:

—Hundreds of buildings known to be unsafe are being used for schools and other public purposes.

—An even larger number of privately-owned buildings are obsolete and weakly built.

"Unless something is done to eliminate the old and dangerous buildings still in use," said Dr. Richter, "we may expect more and more serious damage and loss of life as our population increases."

CITIZENS OF LONG BEACH, a community which learned its lesson in the 1933 earthquake and has taken special pains to make itself earthquake-proof, may not realize the truth of Dr. Richter's statements about the condition of buildings. But anybody who has occasion to travel about the state realizes that the famous seismologist is justified in his concern.

How tragic if such warnings are to be ignored!

It might be argued that costs prohibit the rebuilding and the improvements suggested by Dr. Richter. However, the 1933 earthquake cost Long Beach $50 million. In Dr. Richter's words: "It begins to look like simple good business to lay out expenditures for prevention."

Both government and private owners should give that statement some thought—weighing, also, the value of the human lives that can be saved by action taken in time.

CAPITAL CAPERS

It's Been Long Year in Capital

I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—It has been a long year in Washington. It was a hot summer, and while fall is upon us it has come without its usual cheer, counted on each year to restore the spring to the step and whistle to the lip. And everyone is irritated.

The newspapers are irritated at former Sen. Majority Secretary Bobby Baker because he made a lot of money. To have known Bobby is to be presumed guilty by association, of what is not fully clear as yet.

The Congress is irritating the Kennedys, and the Kennedys are proving to be more and more irritating to the Congress. Congressmen are growing irritated with one another. As you may have read the other day, there was a one-punch fist fight in the Speaker's lobby, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, Texas Democrat, taking offense to remarks by Rep. Ed Foreman, Texas Republican.

Back to Bobby Baker, members of the Quorum Club are irritated because everyone is leering at them, in print and on the House floor, because Baker was an organizer. The doors of the club were thrown open Thursday for everyone to take a fast look, and it resembled almost any medium grade bar-restaurant. A couple of gray haired lobbyists were there, in the act of downing $1.40 cocktails, but there was no scene of merriment, revelry or unbecoming conduct.

AND NOW THE BAD NEWS about Congress. As has been feared, it just isn't going to close up its books and go home. There will be 22 days of recess—for Thanksgiving, and over the Christmas holidays, but the Congress will resume its session on Jan. 3, before anyone has had a chance to recover from anything.

The leadership hopes to pass the civil rights bill before Christmas, hope being all but gone for the tax bill. And that's if the Senate ever gets finished with the foreign aid bill. The House has passed nine of 12 regular departmental appropriations bills, the Senate but six.

REPUBLICAN SOURCES are feeding a rumor that Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy will resign—to devote his full attention to the re-election of his brother—with this interesting new twist: Following the election, all things going well for the Kennedys, Bobby, so the story goes, will take over direction of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It doesn't make too much sense, but then everyone laughed—including Bobby—at the rumors that he would be appointed Attorney General.

WHAT WASHINGTON NEEDS most at the moment, along with the whole Middle Atlantic region, is something neither Congress nor the President nor the numerous federal agencies can give it—rain. Good old-fashioned rain. We say old-fashioned because it seems like years since a drop fell on this now parched land. We've gone 31 days without any moisture, a new and unwanted record. So far the water supply has not been drastically affected, but officials are keeping their fingers crossed.

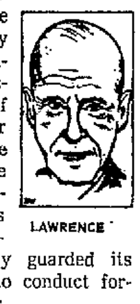
Fulbright Slap at De Gaulle Unprecedented in Diplomacy

WASHINGTON—An unprecedented method of attack has beeen employed to influence Gen. De Gaulle to change the policies of the French government so they will be more pleasing to the United States government.



LAWRENCE

Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate, has just made a speech that expressed views which, it might have been expected, would be uttered only by the President or Secretary of State. For the executive branch of the government has heretofore jealously guarded its prerogative to conduct foreign relations.

It is conceivable, of course, that the Fulbright speech was cleared in advance by the Department of State. For it would seem incredible that a speech of this importance, attacking an allied government, would be made without the knowledge and consent of the executive branch of our government. But is President De Gaulle now to regard the Fulbright speech as the expression of the United States government?

Sen. Fullbright's words were bluntly expressed. He said, for instance:

"It is on this level of practical co-operation that French policy has been deeply disappointing to France's allies. It is a policy which, if long continued, could lead to the disruption of the western alliance, not by open repudiation but by abnegation in detail."

This is a very serious charge to be leveled at the head of a government allied with the United States. But more surprising is the statement that France's policy has been disappointing not only to the United States but to France's other allies. This will be disputed to some extent in Europe, but in this country it will be wondered why the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate is privileged to speak in behalf of any of the allied governments.

When the leader in the French or British parliaments makes a speech, he is talking as the head of both the government and the legislative branch. But in the United States, where Congress and the executive are separate institutions, it has always been taken for granted that communications to other governments would be handled only by the President or the secretary of state.

Another surprising thing about the speech is that it was given on Oct. 30, but discussed statements made by President De Gaulle at a news conference on July 29 last. It thus has the appearance of a carefully prepared attack, which may have been assigned to Sen. Fulbright to carry out.

This will not assist in the solving of difficulties between the United States and France. In fact, within the last week, word has come from Paris that President De Gaulle has abandoned any idea of visiting the United States during the next several months, as had been reported.

Perhaps the most extraordinary part of the Fulbright speech is that in which he directed his remarks at President De Gaulle personally. Chairman Fulbright said:

"I don't believe that President De Gaulle is disposed at present to take such a dispassionate view of American policy. One perceives in his remarks of July 29 that he is still looking at America through the distorted prism of wounded pride."

It is significant that in this same speech the Arkansas Senator made a reference to France's unpaid debt from World War I to the United States. The total still unpaid, together with interest, amounts to more than $6 billion, of which $4.3 billion was due as of June 30, 1963. Mr. Fulbright referred to it as a "default since June, 1933."

This reminder that France owes the United States money was followed by Mr. Fulbright's remark that the United States "has not demanded payment of the World War I debts of France and other European countries. But it was not indicated whether the demand may yet be made. The exact purpose of mentioning World War I debts is not clear, though Sen. Fulbright argued that meeting the debt due would help the "balance of payments" situation.

The whole purpose of the Fulbright speech was ostensibly to persuade Gen. De Gaulle to liberalize his trade policies. But it remains to be seen whether this form of attack will be persuasive with the strong-minded head of the French government.

Sen. Fulbright declared:

"If our partners pursue protectionist trade policies and decline to carry a pruproportion of the military and foreign aid burdens commensurate with their resources, the United States will be left with no choice but to reduce its commitments."

* * * *

THIS IS, to say the least, a most unusual commentary on the policies of an allied government and specifically on the attitude of the head of that government. For certainly it dosen't make negotiations easier, and it is an undiplomatic way to conduct the foreign relations of the United States. The question also arises whether it makes superfluous the two American ambassadors in Paris—one accredited to the French government and the other to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

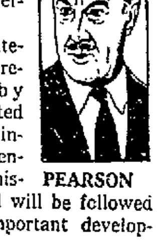
'Lift' Was Effort to Cut Budget

WASHINGTON — There was a lot more than meets the eye behind that assurance of Secretary of State Rusk to West Germany that the United States would pull no troops out of Germany.



PEARSON

The statement was preceded by some heated arguments inside the Kennedy administration and will be followed by two important developments:

1. There will be little pruning of the Kennedy budget next year, despite his fervent hope to do so.

2. There will be no easing of tensions around Berlin despite both Kennedy's and Khrushchev's hope that there might be some.

Here is the inside story behind the Pentagon indications that troops would be withdrawn from Germany, followed by Rusk's categoric statement that they would not.

About six months ago, the President discussed with Secretary of Defense McNamara the problem of cuts in the military budget. He was determined not to go before the voters next year labeled as a wild spender, yet knew that no substantial economies could be made except by slicing the huge military appropriation.

So McNamara's IBM brain got busy and calculated that our military outlay in Europe, with its heavy drain on the dollar, could be curtailed with no loss in firepower by bringing some of the Army home but keeping their weapons abroad.

The Secretary of Defense reasoned that combat equipment could remain ready for action in Europe but that the troops needn't stand by at the front during the jet age. So he scheduled "Operation Big Lift" to dramatize how fast a battle-ready division could be rushed to Europe in case of emergency.

Grizzled, efficient Gen. Joe Kelly, the MATS commander, has now whisked the Texas division to Germany in Operation Big Lift in a record 63 hours without a hitch. Just as this took place, Deputy Secretary Roswell Gilpatric spoke in Chicago about possible troop withdrawals, suggesting delicately that the defense cutbacks would make more money available "to meet important needs in both the private and public sectors."

When Secretary of State Rusk, the imperturable diplomat, saw an advance copy of Gilpatric's speech, he almost lost his composure. He warned that any American pull-out might wreck the NATO alliance. It would be directly contrary to years of U.S. preaching that the allies must live up to their NATO commitments.

For the United States to renege on its commitments, he argued, would give our European allies all the excuse they needed to desert NATO.

Rusk also objected to the timing of the Chicago speech right in the middle of "Operation Big Lift" and on the eve of his visit to the new West German Chancellor, Dr. Ludwig Erhard.

In the backstage hassle that followed, President Kennedy personally overruled Rusk's objections. In the end, the Gilpatric speech was watered down somewhat but still delivered.

Knowland Shows Moderating Skill in Goldwater Mission

I, P-T Political Editor

SECRET BALLOT at the Americanism rally in Disneyland Hotel last Wednesday night—the affair sponsored by Orange County Young Republicans—was no secret, and nobody cared.

Barry Goldwater's name was at the top of the long cardboard ballot. Balloting took place after former Sen. William F. Knowland and former Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell assured the more than 1,000 rallyites that Barry would win the GOP nomination on the first or second convention ballot and that California's 86 votes would give him 146 of the required 655 after only five states had been called.

HOUSER

So, rally voters laid the ballot on their laps and boldly marked for Goldwater. Most neither shielded their selection nor bothered to fold the ballot to hand it in.

Prediction: Goldwater will win this vote by more than 90 per cent.

Vice presidential possibilities included Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield, N. Y. Sen. Jacob Javits, California Sen. Thomas Kuchel, National GOP Chairman William B. Miller, Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton, Vermont Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and Texas Sen. John Tower. Tower should win in a walk.

Gubernatorial choices included Joe Shell who should win this section of the ballot. It should be no contest either between Senator Knowland and Senator Kuchel as choice to head the California convention delegation, since Kuchel's name was met with derision at the rally.

PARTISAN POLITICAL gatherings are titillated by the broad swipe at the opposition and this was no exception. Examples:

Harry Johnson, Orange County YR president: "I understand one of the administration's objections to Mme. Nhu is that a member of her family is in charge of the secret police!"

Congressman James B. Utt: "The federal debt limit is being raised this year to $315 billion—but it's only temporary. It'll be raised again next year." Also—"The big problem in Washington is the concentration of power in 'One Man's Family'."

Joe Shell, (Asked whether he thought Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh would seek Clair Engle's Senate seat): "First, we all wish a rapid and complete recovery to Senator Engle—this doesn't seem to be the case on the Democratic side. As far as the seat is concerned, you'd need two chairs for Jesse."

Knowland's fielding of audience questions in this deeply conservative Goldwater country demonstrated two signal points — (1) Goldwater partisans rebel at the thought of compromise but (2) Knowland seems unusually well equipped to moderate them.

Knowland set the theme first in stating his dedication to Goldwater but cautioning his audience against an intransigence which would render them unable to accept some other choice of the GOP convention.

He disputed a questioner's contention that the 1962 Cuba crisis was engineered by the Kennedy administration as a political expedient. "I don't agree it was a political expedient even though, no doubt, it benefitted the administration; any president would have taken firm steps."

ANOTHER ASKED, if Goldwater should be out of the race, "Do we chuck our principles and follow Rockefeller?"

As an independent citizen, Knowland answered, anyone has the right to sit out the primary to wait and see who he'll vote for, but as a party delegate you have an obligation to support the party's nominee.

Would Rocky be better able to restore constitutional guarantees than Kennedy? asked one.

In a choice between Rockefeller and the New Frontier, Knowland said he felt Rockefeller would be better for the country. Negative groans filled the room, to which Knowland snapped back. "All right, you can pick Kennedy if you want to—I don't want him!" Cheers.

Knowland also did his best to defend this state's senior senator, Tom Kuchel, who often refers to Knowland affectionately as "Billy."

IN VIEW OF KUCHEL'S record of support for medicare, the test ban and other administration measures, can we tolerate him? was the essence of another question.

Knowland laid it on the line that California had reelected him and had plenty of chance to reject him if they wanted to rectify the situation. We can never agree 100 per cent, he said, but as long as a man keeps a reasonably good batting average ("Noooo," they heckled)—"Well, Knowland retorted, "the voters had an opportunity to make a change. And as far as the last election is concerned, Tom Kuchel was at least a moderate conservative compared with (former State Sen. Richards)."

Applause—and a fair country example of Knowland's stabilizing qualities.

18 Declining Years With U.N.

EDITOR:

Gov. Brown called on Californians to commemorate the founding of the United Nations 18 years ago in San Francisco.

What irony! Eighteen years ago the United States stood at the pinnacle of power and prestige among the nations of the world. Communism was kept alive by aggression, theft, foreign aid and massive propaganda during this time. During the same period, the United States has retreated and compromised with the forces of Russia following a United Nation's foreign policy.

The United Nation's goal is a world system headed by a World Court with all armaments in possession of a U.N. command. Under this setup if we had a chance to vote for those who would govern us, which is extremely doubtful, the Russians, the Chinese, the Castros would so greatly outnumber Americans we would have little, if any, representation. Our nation, our wealth, our rights, our property, our freedoms and our religion would be at the mercy of non-Americans.

Do we want the U.N. to accomplish this goal? Well, it will if we continue its sponsorship as urged by Gov. Brown. Without our active aid we cannot be subverted. The destruction of the United States, if it comes, will be from within.

Traffic Tickets a Big Business

EDITOR:

The other day while going to court in Santa Monica, I passed an intersection in Los Angeles where the sign "Turn Right; No Left Hand Turn" was behind a large clump of bushes. Every driver of an automobile is supposed to know that that sign is there and if you do not see it and violate the traffic laws or regulations, you will surely get a ticket because the collection of traffic tickets in this city and county, whether you know it or not, is BIG BUSINESS and very lucrative business, notwithstanding the fact that the Supreme Court of this state several years ago in an opinion said: "The practice of handing out traffic tickets for revenue only is reprehensible and against public policy."

I agree with this decision but the police departments of the various cities in this county either do not know of such a decision or do not care. The primary thing they are interested in is revenue; get the money in the county treasury regardless and then they expect the people and the general public to have respect for law and order.

Of course, we have the finest police in the United States because they are the best ticket collectors; but how many of them instead of concentrating on ticket collecting can catch bank robbers and other felons?

Crash Kills Downey Girl, Sister Hurt

A Downey girl was killed, and her sister injured, in a three-car crash that took two lives and injured eight near Lindsborg, Kan., Saturday.

Killed was Marsha Esping, of 9635 Gallatin Road.

Injured was a sister, Marla Esping. The girls, with their brother, Mark, are students at Bethany College in Lindsborg.

The girls were in a party of seven college coeds in an auto that collided head on with another vehicle after hitting a third car on U.S. 81, near the Kansas town.

Construction in County Sets Record

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Boosted by a total of $41,675,034 in October, volume of construction in areas served by the County's Building and Safety Division already has soared past the record for any prior year, according to County Engineer John A. Lambie.

The October figures brought the total for the first 10 months of 1963 to $455,122,698, Lambie said.

The previously high figure, set last year, was $428 million, and this was for the full 12 months, Lambie said.

* * * *

TOTAL volume in the unincorporated area was $22,096,469, including 1,153 housing units. There also were four public schools contracts totaling $3,638,704. The department does not issue permits on public schools.

In the 29 cities served by the Building and Safety Division, construction volume totaled $15,293,961, which included 883 housing units and two schools valued at $645,900.

October marked the seventh month this year in which there were more than 2,000 new dwelling units issued permits, Lambie said.

* * * *

—Artesia — 17 permits for $84,200.

—Bellflower — 107 permits for $1,477,820, including 19 apartment buildings valued at $1,084,500 and totaling 145 units, six duplexes valued at $101,500 and a $54,000 office building.

—Dairy Valley—10 permits for $72,100, including a $49,500 store.

—Lakewood — 92 permits for $610,059, including a $120,000 office building, two stores totaling $192,000 and a $60,000 recreational building.

—La Mirada — 56 permits for $482,595, including a six-unit, $70,000 apartment building, a $200,000 church and a $60,000 store.

—Norwalk — 126 permits for $892,505, including six apartment buildings valued at $360,000 containing 55 units, a $51,000 church building.

—Paramount — 65 permits for $1,050,300, including seven apartment buildings totaling $724,000 and containing 100 units.

—Rolling Hills—11 permits for $117,450, including a $78,500 dwelling.

—Rolling Hills Estates—24 permits for $159,560, including a $90,000 store.

—Santa Fe Springs — 43 permits for $316,530, including a $40,000 industrial building and three stores totaling $140,900.

Nuclear Power Station Hearing Set for Nov. 19

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission Saturday set Nov. 19 as the date for a hearing on a proposed nuclear generation station at the Camp Pendleton Marine Base.

The hearing will be conducted in Santa Ana.

The AEC also declared that the 90-acre facility would be thoroughly tested after it was built. The commission's division of licensing and regulation has approved design for the plant, a 1,210-megawatt (thermal) nuclear facility.

Southern California Edison Co., San Diego Gas and Electric Co., Bechtel Corp. and Westinghouse Electric applied for a permit for the plant Feb. 1.

'Old Smoothies' Back With Ice Capades

Back on skates after more than six months in a hospital with a broken hip, 72-year-old Orrin Markhus, male half of "The Old Smoothies," returns with his partner, Irma Thomas, 61, to the Ice Capades opening Nov. 19 in Long Beach Arena.

The show is scheduled for a six-day, eight-performance engagement here.

Markhus injured himself while teaching his grandchild how to stop quickly on ice.

"The Old Smoothies" have been skating together for 21 years.

Free Film

Walt Disney's documentary film, "Bear Country" will be shown free at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Mark Twain Branch library, 1325 E. Anaheim St. A film on glass making in Holland, "Glass" also will be shown.

Red China Warns U.S. 268th Time

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China Saturday issued its 268th "serious warning" against the United States after charging that a U. S. military plane intruded into China's territorial air space off the coast of southern China, the New China News Agency reported.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the alleged plane flew over the area of Yunghsing and Tung Islands of Kwangung Province, earlier Saturday.

How to Change the Weather

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —It's going to be warmer in Anchorage this winter.

The U.S. Weather Bureau plans to move its thermometer from the airport to downtown Anchorage, a spokesman said. Temperatures recorded at the airport generally are several degrees lower than those taken in the city.

SENSATIONAL INK SPOTS

Ex-Doorman Back Home to Sing

Charlie Owens, once a doorman at a Long Beach hotel, is returning — but this time as the featured star in the show lounge of a competing hotel.

Charlie's big grin notes his satisfaction.

And you don't need to ask him what he's doing nowadays. Not when he joins with three other singers and you hear the same falsetto tenor, the same bass voice "talking" the music and that harmonizing on "Iffff I Didn't Careeee . . . "

The Ink Spots.

* * * *

AND YOU DON'T need to ask him his age or weight. "I'm 39, like Benny," he said. "And I weigh . . . well, what else is new?"

To please an inquisitive reporter, however, and ease his own conscience, Charlie will talk about diets. "Stay on fish foods, that's good," he said. "Too bad I don't."

And, anyhow, he said defensively, "that weight does help my singing." Then he talks some more about dieting. "I can't do it while I'm sitting down in my home in Los Angeles watching television."

* * * *

A NATIVE of Birmingham, Ala., Charlie was attending Long Beach City College at nights and door-opening for a local hotel in 1939. Shortly after, he left to study music in Hollywood and for show part appearances.

In 1954, he joined the Ink Spots, as reorganized by Charlie Fuqua, the baritone with the original group. When Fuqua took ill four years later, Owens gathered the boys and launched them as the "Sensational Ink Spots." The original name "Ink Spots" became public domain in 1957.

Since then, Charlie and his boys have appeared in such places as the Dunes in Las Vegas, LA's Crescendo, the Seattle World's Fair, Anaheim Bowl, and the Marineland Restaurant.

* * * *

THE FOUR WILL appear nightly except Sundays Nov. 9 to 30 in the new Sans Souci Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

World Travel Show, Film Festival Set for L.B. Arena

The West's only all-travel industry exhibition — World Travel Show and Film Festival—will be held in the Long Beach Arena Feb. 7 through 16.

F. H. (Skip) Creger, director, said a continuous program of entertainment is being arranged for the expected quarter of a million show visitors.

Airlines, railroads, ship-lines, buslines, tour operators, hotels, resorts and allied travel organizations exhibits are planned for the main arena area.

On each of the 10 show days, a different nation or part of the world will be featured. Music and dances of various countries will be presented in the arena.

Show offices are located at 3363 Lime Ave.

'Henry IV' Well-Staged by LBCC

By ELISE EMERY

Troubled events in England from the Battle of Holmedon Hill in 1402 to the Battle of Shrewsbury in 1403 swirled across the stage Friday and Saturday nights when Long Beach City College presented "King Henry IV, Part I."

With direction by David Emmes and production design by J. L. White, the drama was handsomely staged and costumed. Early English court music and effective lighting added to the mood of this ambitious production by the college's Theater Arts department.

Although Shakespeare wrote of the 15th Century monarch's struggle to hold his throne against rebellious lords, his words find contemporary echo in news from Viet Nam, Morocco, Algeria, the Congo. The theme, authority versus individual liberty, burns in our minds today.

Steve Arena, as Henry IV, was at his best in scenes with Fred Stokes as Prince Hal, and with James Carson who played the rebel Hotspur.

* * * *

THE CHARACTER development of Prince Hal from playboy to the responsible Prince of Wales reaches a moving climax when the young man vows to stand by his father in battle.

Carson sustained his portrayal of the valiant, fiery Hotspur to bring dramatic impact to his challenge and death in the dueling scene with Prince Hal.

The audience, made up largely of young adults, gave greatest response to Joe Matarazzo for his robust portrayal of the rascal Falstaff, companion to Prince Hal and one of literature's greatest comic figures.

Matarazzo interpreted his role with broad humor, jesting at the foibles of man which have changed not a whit since Shakespeare's day.

Randi Cohen was a spirited and decorative Lady Percy, La Vonne Chambers a charming Lady Mortimer and Pat Gordon a lusty Mistress Quickly of Boar's Head Tavern.

* * * *

The Theater Arts Department is to be commended for undertaking this production. It is admittedly difficult for any amateur company to do justice to Shakespeare.

All the young actors lost some of their effectiveness by too rapid delivery of their lines, which sometimes robbed key scenes of their force.

But in staging the drama, both actors and the production staff learned valuable lessons of the theater and brought Long Beach audiences the first Shakespearean production of the season.

Compton Dean Resigns Post

Dr. Gordon D. Aumack, dean of student personnel services at Compton College, Compton, has resigned to accept a position with the new West Valley Junior College near San Jose.

The resignation is effective Jan. 1, 1964. Dr. Aumack joined the Compton College faculty in 1939. He became head counselor in 1954, dean of guidance in 1955 and dean of student personnel in 1962.

He has been active in civic affairs in Compton and Long Beach. Dr. Aumack, his wife and two sons live at 3853 Cedar Ave., Long Beach.

New Editor for The Spectator

LONDON (AP)—The Spectator, the weekly magazine of political and literary comment and one of the oldest and most distinguished in Britain, has a new editor.

He is Iain Macleod, the Conservative Party leader who refused to serve in Prime Minister Sir Douglas-Home's cabinet.

Macleod also gave up his post as leader of the House of Commons and joint chairman of the Conservative Party following the power struggle for the prime minister's post.

FREEDOM IS PLAY'S THEME

Drama of 'Jefferson's Daughter'

By VERA WILLIAMS

"What's it like to be free "

That plaintive question by a fleeing slave climaxes "Clotield, the President's Daughter" which Friday night opened a three-weekend engagement in Morgan Hall, co-directed and produced by Samuel A. Boyea, drama critic of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

It is an ambitious, distinctly different production by a group evenly divided between Negroes and whites. The play, based upon a banned novel, "Clotel" by William Wells Brown, himself an escaped slave, presents the story of a slave girl, purportedly fathered by Thomas Jefferson. The playwright, Pearl M. Graham of Sunset Beach, was a guest at the opening.

* * * *

ALMA NELSON, as the American conscience, presents questions of right and wrong, justice wrong, justice and injustice, for each hearer to decide for himself.

Sandra Evans, as the beautiful Clotield, plays the role with winsome charm. Sonya Turner as Hester, her mother, gives a vivid portrayal.

One of the most appealing scenes in the play is a conversation between the mother and her young daughter on the value of learning.

* * * *

JAMES GOSA is Thomas Jefferson, governor of Virginia when the play opens in the midst of the Revolutionary War. Larry Worch is his friend Patrick Henry. Alma Nelson is a spirited and free-thinking Mrs. Patrick Henry, who teaches the slave girl to read—and the reading lesson is the Declaration of Independence penned by Thomas Jefferson.

Jack Lackman is convincing as the courtly Hon. Edmund Fitzgerald who continues Clotield's education by teaching her manners, Latin and Greek.

Richard Moore has an excellent bit part as the auctioneer who sells Clotleld on the block. Rounding out the cast are Leon Brawley as Pomp, a slave; Jim Dougharty as Horatio Green who buys the girl and then casts her aside for a white bride; Sally Cary as a cousin; Pamela Collins and Larry Worch as Mr. and Mrs. James French, Clotield's new owners, and Ernest Horn as Juan, who rescues her.

* * * *

STIRRING spirituals are sung by the Spirit Chorus, a New Hope Baptist Church quartet, directed by Hazel Henderson. Besides Hazel Henderson, the singers are Lillie Lee, Juanetta Kirkpatrick and Carrie Bryant. Among the best are "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," "Do, Lord, Remember Me" and "Soon I will Be Done With the Trouble of this World." The last number is a modern "Jesus, I'll Never Forget What You've Done for Me."

Mr. Boyea, will you permit a reporter who isn't a drama critic to make two suggestions? Shorten the first act and get your characters to project their voices over the footlights. We missed some of the best lines because we couldn't hear them.

Wants No Note of Ice Caves

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Most Chambers of Commerce want to put a place on the map. Not Chelan, Wash., Chamber.

The State Highway Commission said the Chamber had asked to have ice caves, north of Chelan, erased from the map. It reasons:

No one cares where it is and even if they did it's almost impossible to get there.

Huskies Bowl Over USC, 22-7

By JEROME HALL
I. P-T Staff Writer

SEATTLE—Conservatives will say the Huskies took a long stride toward the Rose Bowl, liberals will say they have the inside track and the radicals will say they sewed up their third trip to Pasadena in the past five years.

The radicals are right.

The University of Washington football team pulled the plug on that deep pool of grid talent at USC and posted a 22-7 triumph here Saturday, the first win over the Trojans on the Husky home field in eight years, the second in 18 years.

And today the newspapers here are saying the scent of roses is sifting across the Seven Hills of Seattle.

It is not clear how they did it. Probably it will be credited to a strong Washington defense. Maybe superior conditioning. Yet the statistics indicate it was an even game.

It wasn't.

At no time did the Trojans look like a championship team. They gained 247 yards in spasmodic gasps. They got their touchdown on a 24-yard drive after a Washington fumble. They failed to take advantage of numerous breaks.

Early in the game they had a first down on the Husky seven-yard line, forged ahead to the three and wound up on the 10.

In the third period, trailing by nine, the Trojans were presented with a giant gift—a first down on the Husky 23 after Washington messed up a field goal try with a soaring center snap that lost 31 yards and the Trojans completed a short pass on the next play.

But the 23 was as far as the Trojans got.

All that's left in the path of the Huskies now are California (next week at Berkeley), UCLA (at the L.A. Coliseum Nov. 16) and Washington State. They'd have to lose two to miss the bowl.

Maybe the real difference in the game Saturday was that Washington's quarterback had a good day and USC's quarterback had a bad one. A sellout crowd of 55,800 and a West Coast television audience watched Husky signal-caller Bill Douglas mix his plays in deceptive fashion.

The Huskies this year have copied the USC offense of last year and Douglas did what Pete Beathard did in '62. He ran the option 11 times and got more mileage out of his 44 yards (32 net) than it seems possible. He passed 14 times and connected eight times for 122 yards.

The Washington star, fullback Junior Coffey, was given the ball only 12 times, compared to 30 last week. He gained 68 yards, compared to 112 last week.

Troy QB Pete Beathard suffered a cracked rib at some unknown juncture during the game and was taken to a hospital immediately following the final gun. His rushing total was minus seven. His passing total was plus 75. His understudy, Craig Fertig, did better. He was minus three and plus 84.

The muddy field (but it didn't rain at all Saturday) kept Willie Brown in check. He had minus one yard on two carries and didn't get a chance to run back any punts.

The game was one quarter plus three minutes old before Washington got its second first down, but the Huskies put together a blocked-punt touchdown in the opening minutes and a record-setting field goal plus a 73-yard march in the second period for a 17-6 intermission lead.

That blocked punt was the thing the Huskies' coach, Jim Owens, was praying for. It came on the fourth scrimmage play of the game. Troy was forced to punt from its 22-yard line but the snapback from substitute center Hudson Houck, playing for injured Larry Sagouspe, to Ernie Jones was high. Koll Hagen broke through to block it and Mike Briggs, another middle lineman caught it on the five while leaping through the air. By the time Briggs landed, he was in the end zone.

One hundred and four seconds had been played.

Troy's shaky start almost led to disaster in the opening minutes. After taking the ensuing kickoff, Troy started upfield. On second down a Beathard pass almost was intercepted by Dave Kopay. It would have been a Husky touchdown if he hadn't dropped it.

On the next half-dozen plays, the Trojans fumbled twice, both by Beathard. Both times the Huskies recovered but each time the ball barely was out of bounds.

Troy moved to the Washington five when Mike Garrett streaked up the middle for 42 yards on a twisting, sidestepping run. But SC couldn't get any further and on fourth down Beathard was thrown for a loss trying to pass.

McKay didn't want any field goals.

But the Huskies did. They wanted all the points they could lay their hands on. They got three points midway through the second period when lineman Jim Norton put his foot into the ball from the 35-yard line. The 45-yard kick easily cleared the crossbar for a school record, which previously was held by George Fleming set in the 1961 Rose Bowl win over Minnesota at 44 yards.

The Trojans got their touchdown in the first minute of the second period. After reserve fullback Eddie King recovered a fumble by Washington's reserve halfback Dick Wetterauer on the 24, reserve QB Fertig took the Trojans

Cal Crushes Bruins, 25-0

By DAVE LEWIS

California's Golden Bears blasted across 18 points in the final 14 minutes and 21 seconds of play Saturday night to complete a 25-0 rout of UCLA in a key AAWU battle and bury the Bruins' longshot hopes of making a run for the Rose Bowl bid in the sod of the Coliseum before 32,711 fans.

The Bears took advantage of a long list of Bruin miscues to carve out their first victory over their "kid brothers" since 1958, and also register their first win over UCLA in the Coliseum since way back in 1949.

It was California's celebrated junior quarterback, Craig Morton, who finally cracked the game wide open in the fourth quarter with a spectacular 70-yard scoring strike to end Dick Williams to make the score 16-0.

Up to then, the Bruins had held Cal's passing wizard to just five completions in 17 attempts. But the "bomb" proved to be a record-breaker for Morton. It was his 11th touchdown pass of the year . . . a new single-season school record.

* * * *

IT WAS A frustrating setback for the Bruins, who actually entertained Rose Bowl notions going into the contest.

Although 1-5 for the season, they were 1-0 in conference play where it counts, thanks to a victory over Stanford. And it had been hoped that their five losses to powerful intersectional foes, three of which were rated in the top 10 the past week, would serve to give the young UCLA team the experience it needed for a rally down the stretch in AAWU competition.

But they made far too many mistakes against a team primed to turn virtually every error to its advantage.

The first of three costly fumbles by the Bruins—two by Johnny White — led to Cal's first touchdown early in the third period.

White fumbled the ball away on the UCLA 27 at the outset of the second period

22 POINTS IN 2ND HALF

Vikings Drub S.D., 36-14

By KEN PIVERNETZ
I.P-T Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO—On the night Homer Williams came close to becoming the greatest scorer in Long Beach City College history, the Vikings showed the class to make a definite threat for the Metropolitan Conference title.

Deadlocked 14-14 at halftime, the Vikings played ball-control football at its best in the final two quarters to win going away, 36-14, over San Diego City College here Saturday night before a crowd of 8,263 at Balboa Stadium.

San Diego was able to run off only 19 plays in the second half as compared to LBCC's 41. Therein was the story of the game as the Vikings won their fourth conference game without a loss.

The Knights had scored twice in the final three minutes of the first half to earn a brief tie, but the final two quarters was LBCC.

It was by far the Vikings' best showing of the year. Bakersfield had earlier won a 35-20 decision over San Diego.

The turning point in the game came with only 1:46 to go in the third quarter when Doug Blanchard signaled for a fair catch on his own three, only to fumble the ball. Charles Williams fell on the ball in the end zone for a Long Beach touchdown. That put the score at 28-14 after Lou Tetley had caught the PAT pass from Jim Dunn.

Dunn had his best night ever in directing the Vikings. The former Wilson High star hit on 10 of 14 for 151 yards.

H. Williams scored eight points, giving him 168 over a two-year period. Dee Andrews holds the school record at 170. Homer wound up with 134 yards on 21 carries while Joe Pearson gained 98 on 21.

* * * *

IN THE END, however, it was Dunn who turned out to be the offensive star. His calling of plays in both halves was the best any LBCC quarterback had looked since Dave Groff three years ago. Touchdown passes were thrown by Dunn to Charles Young for 14 yards and Jack Tucker for seven.

Numerous penalties set the Vikings back in the final two quarters but it didn't seem to hamper them.

H. Williams' TD run came with eight minutes left in the game and was a 30-yard slant off right tackle to end the scoring for the evening.

49ERS ROUT MUSTANGS

By AL LARSON
I. P-T Staff Writer

SAN LUIS OBISPO—Long Beach State College shredded Cal Poly's line with surprising ease in the second half to whip the Mustangs for the first time ever in their own corral, 28-6, here Saturday night.

Leading only 7-6 going into the last stanza, the 49ers exploded for three touchdowns in 15 minutes to wrap up its third win in a row after four losses.

The loss was Cal Poly's fifth straight and the partisan crowd of 3,133 was even more discouraged in that the setback came on the third anniversary of the air tragedy which decimated the Poly team in 1960.

By winning, Long Beach bolted back into the CCAA title picture, at least momentarily. San Diego State whipped Fresno State Saturday night, leaving the Aztecs at 3-1 and the 49ers and Bulldogs, who meet Saturday, each with 2-1 records.

Long Beach caught Cal Poly by surprise. The Mustangs geared their defenses for Jerry Otterson's passing, but the Prospectors stayed on the ground and piled up 253 yards—a season high.

* * * *

THE 49ERS added another 91 through the air as Otterson completed 6 of 12 passes for 94 yards. His 55 season completions is a high-water mark in LBSC history, and his three aerials to Pat Brosnan gave the star end a record 22 for one season.

Dee Andrews enjoyed his biggest night of the year as he gained 114 yards on 13 carries. He entered the game as the fifth leading rusher in the CCAA with a 4.5 average.

Fullback Jim White gained additional respect as he punched out 77 yards on 13 carries—all on power plays up the middle.

Cal Poly opened the scoring when Howard Taylor passed to Wayne West for 10 yards to cap an 88-yard march early in the second period.

Long Beach stormed back with the ensuing kickoff and moved 75 yards in nine plays. Andrews reeled off 67 of that figure on just six attempts and got the clincher by diving

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

Boxing Not Only Slaughter

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . With all the hue and cry about slaughter in the boxing ring, this might be an appropriate time to repeat statistics on football deaths for the first half of the 1963 season. The mid-season report attributed 11 deaths directly to football injuries, but no figures yet were available on the indirect toll (which usually is about two-thirds the other figure). Eight of the 11 deaths thus far were in high school ranks!

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

. . . Sports deaths are nothing new, but boxing always wins the public wrath poll, although football and auto racing—as two examples—annually claim more lives. The only fair blast at boxing was the one heaped on the Wayne Bethea-Ernie Knox fight a few weeks ago in Baltimore. Knox, you might recall, was found by the coroner to weigh considerably less in death than the actual poundage listed at fight time. In effect, the 150-pound Knox was thrown in against the 210-pound Bethea. This was inexcusable and should be followed up by criminal action against the persons responsible.

. . . I see no reason, however, why boxing should be singled out as a "slaughter" when MORE deaths occur in other sports.

. . . By the way, the Western world outcry against boxing is NOT being echoed in Russia. The Soviets do not see the sport as necessarily a threat to health. Medical and boxing officials in Russia insist that, with the right training and medical control, boxing enhances physical development.

. . . Of five proposals made by the joint USSR Medical-Boxing Committee, one was particularly interesting to this writer—that no boxer should be more than 30 years old. This obviously would end the careers of Archie Moore, Ray Robinson, Bobo Olson and MANY OTHERS who should have been retired some time ago. It's a rule we'd do well to adopt in this country.

. . . While on a health kick, we'd better report the woes of Jordan Olivar. Poor Jordan spent 25 consecutive years of coaching, left Yale, retired to making money at his insurance business in L.A.—and finally came up with his first ulcer! "If I ever should have got an ulcer," wailed Jordan last week, "it was when I coached at Loyola or my first few years at Yale. THOSE were the difficult days."

WHY AREN'T THERE more Negro tennis players? UCLA's Arthur Ashe Jr., first Negro to make the U.S. Davis Cup team, cites two reasons: The notion that tennis is a sissy sport and finances. "I'm sorry that most Negroes avoid tennis because they prefer contact sports and consider it a sissy game," said Ashe. "I would like to get anyone who thinks this way into a tennis game for two hours under the sun and see how long they would last." On finances, Ashe says: "You need money for equipment and travel expenses. Most Negroes can't afford it."

. . . Ashe, who could be America's top ranked male very soon, has this complimentary remark about tennis people: "I have not heard, or been subjected to, a single racial rebuff at any tournament although I am the lone Negro in most of them." A bow from this corner to tennis.

. . . The Angels are going all-out to develop their own players from scratch. They've got youth teams in all sections of Southern California winter play, including three in the Long Beach area alone. Bob Lemon, Rocky Bridges and Tom Morgan either are managing or trouble-shooting the clubs. By the way, it's going to be a long summer without either Lemon or Bridges around. Lem will be enjoying the Hawaii breezes as a PCL manager (unless he falls heir to Belinsky), while Rocky will boss at San Jose. Morgan's new job is to "educate" the Angels' minor league pitchers.

THE REMARKABLE Oakland Raider coach, Al Davis, thinks the best young runner in pro football today is San Diego's Keith Lincoln. "You hear talk about the Bears' Ronnie Bull being the coming young runner, but he can't compare with Lincoln in any department," claims Davis. "Lincoln is a superior runner, better blocker and better pass receiver. And that's no bull." (Same old ex-Trojan coach Davis.)

. . . By the way, who reported that the Chargers want to leave San Diego? Since they arrived in the border city in the spring of '61, Charger players have fathered 28 babies. I think they like the town.

. . . Sid Gillman thinks he has an "in" with a college football player who is certain to be the Heisman Trophy winner either this year or next. Sid's youngest daughter, Terry, who now attends Cal, went to Cincinnati grammar school with a sailor—Navy quarterback Roger Staubach. "I still hope Roger considers me a father," sighed Sid a few weeks ago. Naturally, Sid's fatherly advice would be to sign with the Chargers.

. . . Bud Adams, the eccentric Houston Oiler coach who once bought a graveyard as a present to lure Billy Cannon into his fold, is on a new kick—buying ranches. He's up to six now, with the latest holding in California!

BEAVER FINDS A HOLE

Oregon State's Booker M. Washington finds opening in Stanford line and picks up five yards for first down. Beavers won, 10-7.

Tribe Fumbles Help Beavers

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Senior specialist Steve Clark's first-period field goal stood up for a 10-7 Oregon State football victory over fumbling Stanford Saturday.

Clark's 21-yard kick opened the scoring and proved decisive as Stanford was unable to hold onto the ball in the second half.

A 66-yard punt return by sophomore halfback Craig Ritchey accounted for the Indians' touchdown. It came on the last play of the opening period and put his team ahead 7-3.

But the Beavers came back to forge ahead to stay on quarterback Gordon Queen's 2-yard second-period touchdown pass to end Len Frketich.

* * * *

THE PASS climaxed a 64-yard Oregon State drive that was helped along when Stanford was penalized 15 yards for tripping end Vern Burke.

The Beavers almost had another touchdown near the end of the first half. Queen fired a pass to halfback Leroy Whittle, who went out of bounds on the 1-yard line with four seconds left. But the Indians' line held on the next play.

Stanford, held to only three first downs in the first half, began moving the ball on the ground in the third period. But fumbles killed the Indians.

* * * *

STANFORD fumbled three times in Oregon State territory in the third period and the Beavers recovered all of them. Two of them were gobbled up by halfback Danny Sieg, a one-time Medford, Ore., high school teammate of the Indians' Dick Ragsdale.

It was Oregon State's fifth victory against two defeats.

Warriors Topple Crippled Lakers With Early Spurt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Warriors, behind Wilt Chamberlain's 55 points, moved into second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association Saturday night by defeating the Los Angeles Lakers 118-99.

The Warriors never trailed after the first few minutes of the opening period and at one time midway in the second they had a 25-point advantage.

Los Angeles was completely bottled up in the second period and could only get four points in the first six minutes.

Rudy LaRusso, the Lakers' strong rebounder and defenseman who was hurt in the Cincinnati Royals game Friday night, did not suit up for the game. Elgin Baylor left early in the first half when he was bothered by a bad knee, but returned and wound up with 23 points.

* * * *

JERRY WEST, who got off to a slow start in the first half, was high point man for the Lakers with 33.

The Lakers charged back in the final period and closed the gap to three points with five minutes remaining. But the Warriors caught fire again and ran away to the final whistle.

SKATE INTO FOURTH

Blades Clip Canucks, 4-3

By RICH ROBERTS

The sport may be foreign to the sunny climes of Southern California, but it wasn't a day to be particular.

Ice hockey's Blades produced the Southland's only major sports win of the day, 4-3, over the Vancouver Canucks at the L.A. Sports Arena.

And with any less effort, it could have been a mighty black Saturday. The Blades were never behind but had to beat off their Canadian rivals all the way to climb into a tie for fourth place in the Western Hockey League with Vancouver and Portland, 4-2, winner over Seattle.

The crowd was below Blade par—5,406—what with UCLA football fans watching their team gas out only a puck's throw away at the Coliseum. USC's fans, it is assumed, were still at home staring unbelievably at their television sets.

But the sparse turnout was treated to a splendid performance with the usual extra-curricular antics thrown in. The teams collected 13 penalties, Blade Norm Johnson collected three stitches in the back of his head from a skate wound and a middle-aged lady spectator collected a nasty bump on her forehead when the puck sailed into the seats.

* * * *

BLADES' left-winger Marc Boileau was named "star of the game," but the fans went away equally impressed with the play of defense man Jack Bownass, the former coach who turned into a red-headed terror Saturday night.

Bownass several times stole the puck outright from the Canucks' advancing line or otherwise messed up the assault, especially in the final period when the Blades kept puck-pressure on Vancouver's goal.

"This was a real club effort," coach Alf Pike said. "We wanted this one badly."

* * * *

NOBODY TALLIED more than one goal, but the shot of the night gave the Blades their initial lead at 5:52 of the first period. It came only three seconds after a Vancouver penalty when Bob Solinger took the faceoff at the blue line and shot it back to the net where Johnson's stick deflected it past goalie Marcel Paille. Johnson led all scorers with that goal and two assists.

The Blades led by a goal after each period and wrapped it up at 4-2 with 2:19 to play when Paille fell forward to block Johnson's shot and the puck dropped behind him. All Willie O'Ree had to do was come along and flick it in.

The Blades' next home game will be Tuesday night against Portland.

First period—1, Los Angeles, Johnson-Solinger, 5:52. 2, Vancouver, Duke-Maloney and Hutchinson, 11:05. 3, Los Angeles, LaBine-Johnson, 11:22. Penalties—Hunt (V) 5:49; Kabel (V) 6:58; Boileau (LA) 9:39; Hunt (V) 12:36; Burega (LA) 14:57, McCallum (V) 19:09.

Second period — 4, Los Angeles, White-Bedard, Hodgson, 10:35. 5, Vancouver, Baird-Matthews, Kabel, 15:16. Penalties—Barnett (LA) 7:24; McCusker (V) Minor and major 9:21; LaBine (LA) 13:00; Hunt (V) 16:14, Burega (LA) 19:33.

Third period—6, Maxwell — Johnson, O'Ree, 17:31.7, Vancouver — McCullen — Maloney and Boone 18:19. Penalties—Ross (V) 6:00.

LARRY WOMACK converted and Long Beach led 7-6 with 10:38 left in the half. The 49ers never trailed again.

Poly drove to the five, but Rex Burrell picked off Fred Richelieu's pass on the one and sped 99 yards for an apparent touchdown. A clipping nullified the TD, however.

Two costly fumbles short-circuited 49er drives in the third period. One was stymied on the Cal Poly five and the other on the Mustang 29.

But the last quarter was another story as Wayne Mickaelian started the 49ers moving by slashing nine yards for one score and minutes later Chuck Anderson romped 70 yards for a TD on a pass interception.

Long Beach added an insurance score when Otterson combined with Brosnan on a 57-yard aerial bomb with 47 seconds left.

Rough Time but Cougars Edge Idaho

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI)—Sophomore halfback Willie Gaskins, whose early-season play earned him the nickname of "Bumbling Billie," took a kickoff on his own eight-yard line and ran it back for a touchdown Saturday to give Washington State University a 14-10 win over Idaho.

Whatever else Gaskins had done this year, he was a hero Saturday as he pulled out the come-from-behind win over the Vandals, who had given WSU its first scare since 1958 in a game the Cougars annually figure to win handily.

Idaho was leading 10-7 in the fourth period after Mike Mayne's 21-yard field goal when Gaskins picked up the ball on his eight, cleared through the Vandals at midfield and outran his pursuers to the goalline.

The win was the 49th for WSU in the rivalry which dates back to a rugby match in 1893.

Ivo Captures Drag Honors Before 6,000

Tommy Ivo made good his Lions Drag Strip homecoming Saturday, defeating Don Purdomme for top eliminator honors in a dramatic final duel before 6,000.

A new class C fuel roadster record was set by Cooley-Shipley of Riverside at 156 mph — 9.70 elapsed time.

Ivo recorded an elapsed time of 8.27 to edge Purdomme's 8.28. Ivo also posted the evening's fastest time — a 190.26 mph dash.

SAN JOSE STATE HITS EARLY, STUNS DUCKS

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Three-touchdown underdog San Jose State scored twice in the first period and made it hold up for a stunning 13-7 victory over Oregon Saturday.

The Spartans scored in the opening period on a 91-yard punt return by halfback Jerry Colletto and on a 75-yard pass interception runback by halfback Dennis Parker. Parker intercepted a pass thrown by quarterback Jack Sovereign.

It was San Jose State's first win in an eight-game rivalry with the Ducks.

Oregon collected its touchdown in the third period on a 3-yard run by halfback Dennis Keller. The home team marched 88 yards in eight plays for its score.

San Jose State, which upset Washington State earlier this season, recorded its third win in seven decisions.

Oregon dropped its third decision against four wins. The Ducks played without all-America halfback Mel Renfro.

Bears Cash In on Bruin Mistakes

and as the Bruins set their defense for a Morton pass, the Bear quarterback sent his fullback, Rudy Carvajal, roaring up the middle on a draw play for the 27 yards and the TD. Tom Blanchfield's kick made it 7-0.

And that's how things stood until the fourth quarter.

The Bruins came fighting back in the final moments of the half with two scoring threats, but one died when Larry Zeno fumbled the snap from center on a 4th-and-2 play from the 8-yard line, and the other was snuffed out when linebacker Jim Phillips intercepted Zeno's 10-yard pass on the goal line just seconds before the intermission.

Neither side did much in the third period until White again fumbled the ball away, this time with a minute and a half left in the stanza.

* * * *

HALFBACK Loren Hawley recovered on the Bruin 44, then took a 29-yard pass from Morton on the 15 as the period drew to a close.

The Bears moved to the 10 on the first play of the fourth quarter, then sent Blanchfield back to the 17 to boot a field goal that boosted their lead to 10-0 after just 39 seconds of the final period.

Five minutes later Morton tossed his big bomb to Williams . . . and it was 16-0. A minute later, the score was upped to 18-0 when guard Bruce McDonald trapped Carl Jones in the end zone as the Bruin QB was trying to get off a desperation pass.

After the "free kick" by the Bruins from the 20, the Bears put the ball in play at midfield and drove 50 yards in 15 plays for their final touchdown as time ran out. Jim Hunt, sophomore understudy to Morton, boomed inside end on a "keeper" from two yards out for the score with just 1:19 left in the game.

A dejected Bill Barnes said "The story of the game is that we made 10,000 mistakes."

The Bruin mentor said "for us to play a good game, we have to be emotionally ready, and I guess we were just down tonight. They out-blocked and out-tackled us in the second half. Just plain out-hit us. And, of course, those fumbles killed us."

Winning coach Marv Levy said "This game was very important to us and I was proud that the boys put out their greatest team effort of any club in the four years I've been at California.

"I wasn't surprised at the way we dominated the second half. We've outscored all combined opponents in the second half this year.

"Meanwhile, UCLA has played a succession of very rough teams. That beats you down over a period of time, so if they had a letdown, I think it was only natural, but they still showed us a good effort."

WYNN

TARKENTON

By JERRY WYNN

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS—If you see a white streak jitterbugging across your television screen this afternoon, do not call a repairman.

It will be Fran Tarkenton, the nimble-footed quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings, playing his patented game of Scramble Football with a half dozen Rams in befuddled pursuit. If Red Grange was called the Galloping Ghost, then call Tarkenton the Scrambling Spook.

The extremely personable, intelligent son of an Athens, Ga., minister, Tarkenton has become one of the most feared and respected quarterbacks in the National Football League largely because of his ability to pass and run successfully under the duress of dodging enemy monsters.

Cliff Livingston of the Rams says you have a sixth sense, Fran. What is it?

"I think certain players have a feel for dodging. Jon Arnett is a fine example. I have a big advantage because the pass rushers are so much bigger than me. It's like playing tag when I was a kid, and I was always pretty good at it."

Is a so-called scramble the result of a breakdown of a play?

"Most of the time, yes. I don't like to scramble. I do it out of necessity. But sometimes you have to do it. In our game against the Rams on the Coast two weeks ago, Norm (coach Van Brocklin) told me I'd have to scramble to get our offense going. You can call that planned desperation. And the way I was rushed by the Rams, Norm said he was thinking about putting in an audible for the scrambling play. It was 'help!' "

Do your receivers have alternate patterns to run in case you are forced to scramble?

"Yes. When the receivers see me go into a scramble, they usually will stop, come back and keep their eyes on me. Jerry Reichow, our right end, does this extremely well. He's the one who caught that touchdown pass in Los Angeles on that long scramble."

What has it meant to you to have a great quarterback (Van Brocklin) as your coach?

"It's meant everything. He has given me a cram course in a couple of years what he learned in 9 or 10 years. He's taught me defenses, disciplined my thinking and given me confidence. I knew he had a great arm as a player, but he must also have been smarter than the others."

How is Ron VanderKelen progressing?

"Real well. I was skeptical before the boy went to camp. You know he had the one-year wonder tag. But now I know he has a great future ahead in pro ball. He has a good arm, good sense and intestinal fortitude. He is going to be great."

When you were a youngster, did you have an idol among quarterbacks?

"Yes, I lived in Washington, D.C. until I was 12 and spent every Sunday listening to the Redskin games. I thought Sammy Baugh was the greatest man alive."

Who do you consider the greatest quarterback playing today?

"Coach has taught me a standard on how to rate opponents, and that is how many games they win. On that basis, you have to pick Starr and Tittle. I think Starr does well for the Packers but Tittle is the greatest. He gets so much out of the Giant offense and he is a great leader. What else is there?

What has been the greatest thrill of your career?

"Two weeks before my first league game as a pro, the Bears beat us, 37-7, in an exhibition. In the league opener, we beat the Bears, 37-14. I was very fortunate. I threw four touchdown passes and ran for another. It wasn't the size of the score that thrilled me as much as the feeling that I was good enough to play in this league. That had always been my ambition."

You have had some of your greatest days against the Rams. Will you be happy to see them again today?

"The Rams have a terrific defensive line. It may be the best in our division. The way they got to me two weeks ago, I don't know why I should be happy to see them again. Especially that Pardee. He's too much."

That is also the description the Rams have for Fran Tarkenton. Too much.

Rams Shoot for 3rd in Row

By JERRY WYNN

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS — Are the Rams really on the comback trail?

That is the big question today when the Rams tangle with the Minnesota Vikings at Metropolitan Stadium in a battle for fifth place in the National Football League.

The game will be televised by KNXT (2) at 11:30.

Coming off successive victories over the Vikings (27-24) and the San Francisco 49ers (28-21), the Rams approach this first lap of a three-game trip in peak mental condition. There is a feeling among the players, unspoken but unshakable, that at long last they have found the formula for winning football games.

The Rams have not won three games in a row since 1958 and a victory over the always-dangerous Vikings and their Ram-tormenting quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, would be a firm indication of better things to come.

But Minnesota has a parcel of justifying of its own. Considered the surprise team after a 4-1 exhibition record and an impressive 2-1 league getaway, the rowdy ragamuffins of Norm Van Brocklin have dropped their last four games in succession.

Channel 2, 11:30

So doesn't it figure that in this weekly mayhem of pro football, the team which has lost four in a row would be favored by 6 points over the team which has won two in a row? Or does it?

Or maybe the oddsmaker has heard that Van Brocklin has approached this game with a crusading zeal in an effort to stop his club's skid and defeat his arch-enemy, the Rams. After their loss to Detroit last Sunday, the Dutch Master called a staff meeting on the plane ride home . . . believed to be an NFL first in preparation for a new opponent.

* * * *

THE NATIVES of the Twin Cities are becoming restless over the dwindling success of the Vikings and a crowd of only 29,000 is expected in the 41,000-seat stadium. Commented one cab-driver on Nicollet Ave.

"It's a shame. Just when the people were really getting excited about the team, they forget how to win."

For Harland Svare, Roman Gabriel and the Rams, the return to the Twin Cities brings back the happy memory of last year's encounter when Gabriel made his debut as a starting quarterback and led the team to a 24-24 tie.

They were thrilled with a tie then but won't settle for it today.

Waldrop Gets Drop on Enemy

CHICAGO (AP)—Ken Waldrop returned a punt 78 yards and set up one touchdown, then smashed 17 yards for the winning score with a 1½ minutes left, giving Army a 14-10 victory over the Air Force Saturday before a Soldier Field crowd of 76,660.

The senior halfback pounded across from the one-yard line in the third quarter, putting the Cadets ahead 7-3, after returning a punt of 78 yards.

Then, after Terry Issacson had directed a 70-yard touchdown march in the fourth quarter for the Air Force, Waldrop led the Cadets in a 65-yard do-or-die drive for the stirring triumph.

UNTIL THE second half explosion by Waldrop, Army had spent a frustrating first half, in which the Air Force took a 3-0 lead although held to only 43 yards gained, all on the ground.

Army staged three powerful drives in the first half but failed to score despite rolling up 202 yards, 157 on the ground.

Except for Waldrop's long punt return, Air Force contained the Army attack in the second half until the final winning drive.

Army's rushing line limited the Air Force to only 73 yards on the ground.

Never Been Prouder, Says Jubilant Owens

By JEROME HALL
I. P-T Staff Writer

SEATTLE — "I've never been prouder of any team," said jubilant Jim Owens after his Huskies conquored USC Saturday. "We had a little extra oomph in this one."

The upset victory by the Washington Huskies culminated a year-long preparation for revenge of that 14-0 beating absorbed last year in the L.A. Coliseum—the only loss of the 1962 season.

"We won't let down" vowed the tall Texan, who has brought his team along with four wins in a row after opening the season with three defeats. It was only the second win for Owens over USC in seven tries.

* * * *

BOTH OWENS and Trojan coach John McKay said the muddy field was not a factor in the outcome.

"This makes me a great prophet but a poor coach," said McKay in the morgue-like Trojan dressing room. McKay, writing for a national magazine early this season, tabbed the Huskies for the Rose Bowl.

"This cleared up the Rose Bowl picture," he added.

* * * *

McKAY REVEALED that quarterback Pete Beathard, who was hampered in practice all week by an ankle twist, suffered a cracked rib during the game and was treated at Washington University hospital. "We don't know when it happened and I don't know how long he'll be out."

McKay said, "I thought we would come back with two or three touchdowns. But Washington always is tough on defense. This game shows that statistics don't mean anything. They got 10 points on only one first down.

"It's been a long time since we've had a blocked punt. I can't even remember the last one."

A Washington official revealed that the team again will train at Long Beach — "IF". But he begged off from further discussion of the Rose Bowl.

The Washington bandmaster wasn't so careful, however. Long after the game was over and after the crowd was gone, the band still was marching around the field playing "California Here We Come."

STAUBACH SETS RECORD

Middies Humble Irish, 35-14

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Quarterback Roger Staubach set a Navy season total offense record and, with an Irishman named Pat Donnelly, led the Middies to their biggest football tally over Notre Dame Saturday, 35-14.

When the superb Staubach hit fullback Donnelly with a 30-yard pass in the third period, he broke the Navy total offense mark of 1,348 yards set by George Welsh in 1955.

Four plays later, Staubach shot an eight-yard scoring pass to Donnelly, breaking a 7-7 deadlock and igniting a 21-point third period rally.

* * * *

THE BIGGEST previous Navy score in 37 meetings with the Irish was a 33-7 victory in 1956.

Staubach had a poor afternoon of a brilliant season, but still produced nine of 15 pass hits for 91 yards and two touchdowns and 23 yards rushing on 19 carries for a 114 total.

This gave the junior from Cincinnati a season total offense total of 1,420 yards in Navy's parade to a 6-1 record.

Donnelly, 200-pound junior from Maumee, Ohio, rolled up 127 of Navy's 191 rushing yardage on 14 carries. Donnelly outrushed the entire Irish ball-carrying corps, which netted only 109 yards.

Donnelly scored Navy's fifth touchdown with a 41-yard scamper early in the fourth period. It was Donnelly, too, who set up Navy's touchdown for a 21-7 lead still in the third period.

Pitt Pelts Orange, 35-27

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Flashy quarterback Fred Mazurek, running for two touchdowns and passing for another, brilliantly engineered a determined Pitt football team to a 35-27 come-from-behind victory over Syracuse Saturday.

Trailing 21-6 at halftime, the aroused 10th-ranked Panthers marched for three touchdowns in the third quarter with Mazurek at the helm.

Mazurek scored on a two-yard run in the first quarter and on an electrifying 41-yard dash in the third period while picking up 119 yards on 22 carries and completing 13 of 21 passes for 136 yards.

Taking the second half kickoff, Pitt proceeded to march easily through and over the Orange, who had a four-game winning streak halted. Mazurek raced 41 yards for the first touchdown.

Spartans Shock Badgers, 30-13

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State, despite sidelining injuries to halfback Sherman Lewis and quarterback Steve Juday, dazzled sixth-ranked Wisconsin offensively and defensively Saturday for a 30-13 win that kept the Spartans tied for first place in the Big Ten.

Lewis, who scored the Spartans' first touchdown on an 87-yard pass from Juday, missed the last 15 minutes because of a minor leg injury. Juday may be lost for the rest of the year because of a shoulder separation.

The Spartans, after getting an early lead, had to come from behind to win. Wisconsin went in front 7-6 in the first period when Lou Holland caught a four-yard pass from Harold Brandt and Dave Fronek added the point.

MICHIGAN STATE went ahead to stay when Dick Proebstle, Juday's replacement, scored from the two to cap a 30-yard second period drive. Fullback Roger Lopes, diving over from the three in the third period, got the clincher.

Both the second and third touchdowns were set up by Spartan defensive stands that had pushed the Badgers deep into their own territory.

Reserve Ron Rubick set up an insurance tally with another sudden strike, zig-zagging 57 yards through the Badgers to the Wisconsin 3. Lopes scored this time from the 2 and Earl Lattimer climaxed the Spartan attack with a 44-yard field goal.

Holland, the Big Ten scoring leader in 1962, also got Wisconsin's second touchdown on a 5-yard run.

THE BADGERS who came into the game as the Big Ten offensive leaders, got only 29 yards rushing against MSU. The Spartans, whose 3-0-1 conference record ties them with Ohio State and Illinois for the Big Ten lead, rushed almost at will, piling up 273 yards on the ground.

UPSET WIN FOR ARIZONA

TUCSON (UPI) — Defensive-minded Arizona stunned favored Wyoming with a fourth-quarter safety and a 69-yard kickoff return for a 15-7 win Saturday.

Arizona's safety came the first play after it drove to the Wyoming 1-foot line and yielded the ball.

On the ensuing kickoff, halfback Floyd Hudlow raced 62 yards to paydirt. He also had Arizona's first touchdown.

Illini in 1st Place Tie, 41-21

CHAMPAIGN (UPI) — Illinois, ranked second in the nation, turned sophomore fullback Jim Grabowski loose for three touchdowns Saturday in a 41-21 lashing of Purdue, which kept the Illini in a tie for the Big Ten lead.

It was the third victory against a tie in Big Ten play for the Illini, who rolled up a three touchdown lead in the first 20 minutes with a slashing ground attack.

Grabowski led a bevy of bruising Illinois backs, scoring touchdowns on runs of 6, 18 and 1 yards. It was the most points scored by an Illinois team since its 41-20 victory over Ohio State a decade ago. And it was the most points scored against Purdue, now 2-2 in the Big Ten, since its 49-6 shellacking by Notre Dame in 1946.

ILLINOIS rolled up 325 yards rushing while Purdue could muster just 48 ground yards. Passing yardage was heavily in the Boilermaker's favor, 206-61.

Grabowski led the Illini with 97 yards in 18 rushes. Substitute quarterback Fred Custardo set up one touchdown with a 55 yard run, the longest play of the game, and substitute fullback Al Wheatland added 54 yards in 12 tries.

Illinois scored on drives of 45, 52, 52, 64 and 83 yards. The other Illini scores were racked up by Wheatland, Jim Warren and Ron Acks.

Ron DiGravio, Purdue's polished quarterback, connected on 14 of 27 passes for 180 yards and one touchdown. But he also fumbled twice and had one intercepted.

* * * *

PURDUE scored all its touchdowns on breaks. The first two followed fumble recoveries in the second period as the Boilermakers cut the halftime margin to 21-13. Their final tally came in the fourth period after a blocked Jim Plankenhorn field goal.

Two of Illinois' touchdowns also followed fumble recoveries.

BEST WIN SINCE '46

Hustlin' Hoosiers Rip Gophers, 24-6

By JERRY WYNN
I-PT Staff Writer

MINNEAPOLIS — Indiana's hustling Hoosiers pulled a dilly of an upset in the little game in the Big 10 Saturday.

Paced by sophomore wingback Don Dilly and powerhouse fullback Tom Nowatzke, the nine-point underdogs from Indiana jolted once-mighty Minnesota, 24-6, before 51,657 at Memorial Stadium.

There were no roses at stake, not even dandelions . . . just a grudge duel between former Tennessee roommates, Indiana coach Phil Dickens and Minnesota coach Murrary Warmath. It was the Hoosiers' most decisive victory over the Gophers since 1946.

* * * *

DILLY TALLIED two touchdowns and Nowatzke cruised through the big Minnesota line for 138 yards in 24 carries and collected six points on three conversion kicks and a 42-yard field goal.

"He's a great one," Terry Baker of the Rams praised Nowatzke, a 6-3, 220-pound junior from Michigan City, Ind. "I think he has definite pro potential and will be a headache for us next week."

The "us" for Baker is Oregon State, which plays Indiana Saturday. Terry helped scout the Hoosiers for his alma mater.

Ram coach Harland Svare also attended the game in a scouting role. His assignment was Carl Eller, Minnesota's 6-5, 245-pound senior tackle who is rated a cinch first-round draft choice this year. But Indiana wisely guided most of its plays away from Eller, and he contributed only seven tackles.

* * * *

DILLY'S FIRST touchdown run was from five yards and gave Indiana a 7-0 halftime lead. His second was a 29-yarder which put the Hoosiers into a cozy 21-6 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Another standout for the Cream and Crimson was defensive back Bruce Ellwanger. Minnesota had no Tarkentons on its side Saturday. That local pestilence attacks today.

Wolverines Deflate Cats' Hopes, 27-6

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan exploded for three second-half touchdowns and scored a lopsided 27-6 Big Ten football victory over Northwestern Saturday.

Bob Timberlake passed for three Michigan touchdowns and end John Henderson got the other after intercepting a Tom Myers pass on the Northwestern 23.

The inspired Wolverines, who had not won since an opening victory over Southern Methodist, completely dominated play and allowed the Wildcats to pass the mid-field stripe only once in the second half. Northwestern posed only two serious threats outside its lone scoring drive in the fading seconds against Wolverine reserves.

N. CAROLINA PASTES GA.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) —Quarterback Junior Edge scored two touchdowns and passed for another as North Carolina shocked Georgia and ace passer Larry Rakestraw, 28-7, before a chilled crowd of 34,000 Saturday.

Edge turned in perhaps the greatest game of his career as he riddled Georgia's defense with passes. He scored one touchdown from the Georgia 1, went over from the 8 for another and fired a 15-yard scoring pass to halfback Ronnie Jackson.

Lothridge in Dazzling Tech Display

ATLANTA (UPI)—Georgia Tech's Billy Lothridge set a national field goal record Saturday in a dazzling triple-threat performance that led the Yellow Jackets to a 30-6 homecoming victory over Duke.

The Tech senior quarterback kicked field goals of 31, 38 and 33 yards to raise his collegiate career total to 19—two more than the previous record set by Auburn's Ed Dyas from 1958 to 1960.

But place-kicking was just one of Lothridge's many talents. He threw two touchdown passes, kicked three extra points, turned in numerous long runs and punted for an average of 46 yards.

Auburn Has No Trouble With Gators

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Jimmy Sidle put on a dazzling exhibition of ball handling and Woody Woodall equalled an Auburn field goal record Saturday in leading the fifth-ranked Tigers to a 19-0 football victory over Florida.

A homecoming crowd of 47,000, largest in Auburn's history, howled with glee as Sidle, one of the nation's leading rushers, put the undefeated, untied Tigers deep into Gator territory time and again.

It was the running and passing of the 21-year-old junior quarterback which put the ball close enough for Woodall to kick two field goals and raise his collegiate total to 17. That equaled the school record established in 1961 by Ed Dyas.

EDGE IOWA, 7-3

Ace in Hole Nets Bucks Jackpot

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Sophomore Tom Barrington, who came out of the hospital only two days ago, spearheaded a third period touchdown drive Saturday that gave Ohio State a 7-3 Big Ten victory over Iowa.

Barrington, regarded as Ohio State's most promising sophomore until sidelined by an industrial accident last summer that almost took his life, was Ohio State coach Woody Hayes' ace in the hole for the second consecutive week.

Idled by an attack of the flu until Thursday, Barrington switched from quarterback to halfback late in the third quarter to pick up 44 of 74 yards in a drive that ended in the game's only touchdown before a crowd of 83,163.

* * * *

WITH OHIO State held to only one first down and but 58 yards rushing through the first half, Barrington seemed to give the Buckeyes the lift they needed after Iowa had gone ahead on a field goal early in the third period.

It was a dull battle of the defenses until Iowa took the second half kickoff and drove to the Ohio State 10 in eight plays. Jay Roberts kicked a 34-yard field goal into a tricky wind to put the underdog Hawkeyes into a 3-0 lead.

It looked as if that field goal might hold up until Barrington got the Buckeye offense moving.

The 200-pound quarterback-halfback ripped off gains of 12, 6, 17 and 12 yards in the winning drive, climaxed by a three-yard smash over center by fullback Matt Snell. Big Ten recordholder Dick Vanraaphorst kicked the extra point to make it 7-3.

Ole Miss Skins Tigers for Fifth in Row, 37-3

BATON ROUGE (UPI) — The Mississippi Rebels leaped toward the Southeastern Conference football championship Saturday by routing old rival Louisiana State 37-3 before 67,000 shocked fans at Tiger Stadium.

Fullback Fred Roberts scored three touchdowns for the undefeated Rebels as the big Mississippi line stopped LSU's highly-rated running backs all afternoon, Ole Miss scored almost at will to make up for years of frustration in Tiger Stadium.

The victory was the fifth in a row for Ole Miss this season and gave it a 4-0 record in conference play.

Roberts, a 205-pound senior from Morton, Miss., scored touchdowns on runs of two, three, and two yards. Ole Miss quarterback Jim Weatherly accounted for the other two touchdowns with a 23-yard pass to Billy Carl Erwin and with a two-yard end sweep. Erwin scored the other Ole Miss points with a 22-yard field goal and four extra points.

Alabama Given Scare by Miss. State, 20-19

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Seventh-ranked Alabama had to come from behind with a touchdown in the final quarter to defeat Mississippi State 20-19 Saturday.

With 11 minutes remaining, quarterback Joe Namath got 20 yards through the middle and tossed to end Charlie Stephens for 19 more, putting the ball on the 1. Namath went through the middle for the score and Tim Davis converted.

Namath completed 10 of 16 passes for 142 yards and a score. His deceptive faking to halfbacks Benny Nelson and Ray Ogden and fullbacks Mike Fracchia and Eddie Versprille added to State's confusion.

The sterling performances of quarterbacks Sonny Fisher and Don Edwards and halfbacks Larry Swearengen and Don Bland put the homecoming invaders ahead 12-10 at halftime.

Marciano Defends Liston

HITTIN' THE HIGH SPOTS: They're supposed to announce early this week the date and site of the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay bout.

Indications are that it will be held in mid-February with about a half-dozen cities still in the running for hosting what figures to be the richest fight in the history of boxing.

Miami Beach and Las Vegas are considered by insiders to be the favorites to land the bout.

Meanwhile, ex-heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano raised more than a few eyebrows in boxing circles when he came out in an article in Sport and stated that Liston, popularly regarded as the ring's arch villain, is actually good for the sport.

ROCKY MARCIANO
Villain Doesn't Exist

Marciano accused the press of seizing every opportunity "to paint Liston as the meanest man in America since John Dillinger."

Rocky admits that Sonny has provoked much of his bad press, but objects to "manufactured" stories about Liston's alleged rudeness and irresponsibility.

"As far as I'm concerned, these people are pointing to a villain who doesn't exist when they shake their finger at Liston."

Either Rocky is very naive or his judgment was swayed by the money he received for the article.

The press has been very good to Liston over all. If they ever cut loose and really leveled about the champion—well, what little popularity he does enjoy would completely disappear.

His advisors and handlers live in constant fear of still more nasty scandals.

IT COSTS the AVERAGE National Football League team in the neighborhood of $1,200,000 a year to operate. And it costs around $400,000 to field a major college grid team—"directly and indirectly."

Thus, attendance is always a big factor and the crowds in the Coliseum so far this season, especially for the Ram and UCLA games, have been most disappointing.

Speaking of attendance reminds us of Victor Borge's "hobby." He says that some people like to count heads, but he prefers to count feet.

"Twenty heads, 20 people," he points out. "Forty feet, 20 people. Same thing.

"However, recently I counted seven feet. I figured there must have been somewhere between three and four people.

"That's why I count feet. You can't do that with heads!"

A YEAR AGO, ROGER KOCHMAN of Penn State was regarded by pro scouts as a "can't miss" prospect. Many, in fact, thought he could become one of the all-time great backs.

The NFL was quite shaken when Kochman decided to cast his lot with the Buffalo Bills of the rival AFL.

But Kochman will never play football again, according to doctors following a knee injury suffered against Houston two weeks ago.

It finally was revealed that a team of doctors worked over three hours to ward off amputation of his leg above the injured knee.

"I was out to the track the other day and what a sight it was to see the horses parade to the post." And with that he limps across the stage!

ALABAMA'S CLOSE CALL AGAINST Mississippi State Saturday recalls the time earlier this season when Bear Bryant was so displeased with the Tide's showing against weak Vanderbilt that he called a squad meeting for the following Monday morning at 6:30.

He told newspapermen he was trying to get across to his athletes that football was a contact game.

But they must have slept through his lecture that early in the morning, because six days later Alabama was upset by Florida. It was only the Tide's second defeat in the last 36 games.

Sooner Thunder Rocks Colorado

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma used a thundering ground game to smash inept Colorado Saturday, 35-0, before 50,000 delighted homecoming fans.

The eighth-ranked Sooners pounded out 486 yards, 382 of it on the ground, and picked up 29 first downs in the rout. Colorado, held to 123 yards overall, got across the midfield stripe only three times. The Buffs' closest drive reached the Oklahoma 19-yard line where a drive ended just before the final gun.

Fumbles halted three Oklahoma drives and kept the score from going even higher.

Slender Jackie Cowan scored swice on a pair of 16-yard runs and gained 121 yards in 10 carries to spark a well-balanced Oklahoma attack. Lance Rentzel raced six yards for the Sooners' first score.

Shoeless Kicker Decider

DALLAS (UPI) — Tommy (Thunderbird) Ford stampeded top-ranked Texas 76 yards with the opening kickoff — the sixth straight game the Longhorns have scored at the first opportunity—and shoeless Tony Crosby's kicking kept Texas unbeaten in a tight 17-12 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Crosby's 34-yard field goal in the final second of the first half and his two conversion kicks provided the difference for the third consecutive Saturday as Texas was forced to desperate defensive measures to stave off a rallying SMU passing flurry in the final quarter.

STATISTICS

	SMU	Texas
First downs	16	10
Rushing yardage	115	131
Passing yardage	176	71
Passes	16-37	5-17
Passes intercepted by	1	1
Fumbles lost	3	1
Yards penalized	45	32

The victory kept alive Texas' hopes of a successful defense of its Southwest Conference crown and set up a showdown next Saturday at Austin against lead-sharing Baylor.

FORD, THE GAME'S leading ground gainer with 113 yards in 13 carries, got 75 yards of it in the initial Texas surge, including a 50-yard scamper on the game's first play from scrimmage. Wingback Phil Harris went on to cap that drive with a three-yard touchdown run, but Ford got his chance to score in the second quarter from two yards out when Texas recovered an SMU fumble on the Mustang six.

McKINLEY, RALSTON SWEEP INDIA ACES

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston scored crushing straight-set victories in the opening singles Saturday which sent the United States into a 2-0 lead over India in the Davis Cup interzone tennis finals.

First, McKinley, the bounding, rocket-hitting Wimbledon champion, blasted Premjit Lall off the court 6-4, 6-3, 6-0. Then Ralston, resorting to trick drop shots and lobs, completely confused India's world-ranking ace, Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-4, 6-1, 13-11.

Now the Americans need only to win today's doubles match to clinch a challenge round berth against Australia Dec. 26-28—the first for the United States since 1960.

Captain Bob Kelleher of Los Angeles was pleased with the Americans' opening day performance.

"McKinley was really sharp and he got better as he went along," the captain said. "Ralston played Krishnans own game—a game of touch tennis with delicate placements and drop shots. It was a bit of conceit, but it worked."

Gamecock Victor in Pace Classic

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

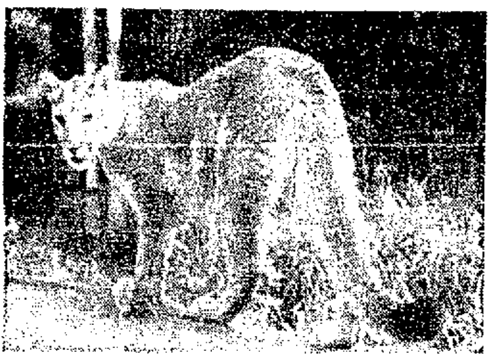
He Hunts WITH Mountain Lion

This is the story of Cougar Joe, a tame, 170-pound mountain lion who lives with a couple, sleeps in their bedroom, points birds like a dog, eats raw meat from his owners' hands and takes orders from a dog who helped mother him when he was a very small kitty.

Cougar Joe's home is 27 miles from Elk City, Idaho, and he lives with Howard and Dorothy Smith, naturalists who prefer life in a wilderness area to the rat race of the city.

Cougar Joe's mother was killed by a hunter two and one-half years ago and, at that time, Joe hardly had his eyes open. A neighbor—anybody living within 20 miles is a neighbor—gave the kitty to the Smiths. They used a milk formula very similar to that given to babies and fed the cat.

Also, Torey, part shepherd and part sheep dog, helped mother the cat so well that to this day the cat still looks at the dog as his mother. Ike, Torey's pup, grew up with Joe and the three get along very well together.



COUGAR JOE

Torey, however, remains the boss. When the cat gets out of line, she bares her fangs and growls and the cat takes to the woods. Torey, Joe and Ike have a mutual hate on coyotes and timber wolves and hunt together. And when the hunt is over, Joe has had a very satisfying meal.

The story of Cougar Joe was relayed to me by B. D. Ledbetter, 6301 Coronado Ave., Long Beach, who operates a painting service and who, being a close friend of the Smiths, camps on their property each year for the hunting seasons.

He uses Cougar Joe for a bird dog. The only trouble is that Joe grabs the killed bird and devours it, feathers and all—whoops, never the intestines. So the hunter has to kill enough birds to fill Joe before he starts getting his own limit.

Joe points like a dog and, when the hunter misses, he turns and growls at him as if to say: "What a lousy shot!" He has never been known to attack a deer, but will stalk one and, when close enough, stand on his hind feet and scream. You can imagine what that does to a deer's nerves.

THE SMITHS PRACTICALLY live off the land and so does Joe. When the going is rough for wild game, the Smiths buy their meat from a butcher shop. Strangely, Joe won't go for that processed meat, even a T-bone steak.

Once Smith shot a moose and, again, Joe wouldn't have any part of that animal.

Joe enters and leaves the cabin whenever he wishes. The Smiths put an army cot in their bedroom and he sleeps there, but if given a chance, he will curl up on the foot of their bed. One hundred and seventy pounds is a bit heavy on the feet!

But Joe wants to be near his master and mistress, so he lays one paw or his tail on their bed. His claws have not been removed or clipped and his teeth have not been filed.

When strangers appear at the Smith cabin, Joe pays no attention to them. In fact, he ignores them until he is ready to make new friends. Ledbetter said that Joe became friendly with him in a matter of hours, but that others, even natives, still are strangers to him.

ONE OF HIS FAVORITE tricks is to walk along on a person's right side and curl his right paw into such a position that the man will trip and fall.

Joe loves to wrestle and has never hurt either Smith or Ledbetter with his claws or teeth. He keeps his claws encased in the pads while wrestling. He has inflicted scratches with his dewclaw, which, of course, he can't control. Dorothy doesn't attempt any such playful scenes. She has a plastic hose handy and she straps Joe if he gets out of line with her.

Smith, who once started to be a dentist but quit college and went into the Forest Service, now is a free-lance welder in the Elk City area. He is writing a book about Cougar Joe and has taken several hundred feet of color movies. He hopes to finish his book next year.

Smith has this advice for would-be naturalists who want to duplicate his feat: "Cougar Joe is a strange cat, perhaps the only one that could become a pet. Treat all wild cats as such. In fact, any animal that lives in the wilds is WILD!"

Huskies Bound for Pasadena

to paydirt in four plays. The scoring play was a 17-yard pass to end John Thomas, who was a standout.

That made it 7-7 after Rich Brownell kicked the extra point, but that was the last time the Trojans were near the lead.

* * * *

WASHINGTON finally got some offense rolling late in the second period and went 73 yards in nine plays, scoring with a minute to go in the half. The touchdown play was a 21-yard pass from Douglas to end Ralph Winters. It was a short pass across the middle. Winters ran 15 yards with it.

On the play prior to the TD, Coffey was sent around end on a pitchout for 15 yards, his first sizeable gain of the day.

Since Beathard was having a bad day (minus 21 rushing and only 40 yards gained on four pass completions in the first half), McKay sent Fertig into the game when the Trojans got a big break midway through the third quarter.

The break came when the Huskies tried for another 45-yard field goal but the center snap sailed over the head of the kicker for a long loss. Troy took over on the Washington 41.

* * * *

FERTIG THREW an 18-yard strike to reserve end Dave Morton to the 23. Then Fertig threw three incomplete passes. The first two went to Moton, the third to Hal Bedsole in the end zone but he was well covered and it was knocked down. On fourth down Brownell tried a field goal from the 30. It hit the goal post below the crossbar.

As the third period closed, Troy guard Bill Fisk recovered a fumble that stopped a long drive at the Troy 33. It looked like the last chance.

Beathard started the drive with a nine-yard pass to Brown. Beathard ran a nine-yard keeper around end to the Washington 30 and there Beathard threw an interception.

It was intended for end Fred Hill, but Dave Kopay, who made headlines in a Seattle newspaper Friday by taunting "I hate USC and I always will" (he's from North Hollywood), grabbed the errant throw.

* * * *

THERE WERE 11 minutes left in the game, but the feeling of almost everyone in attendance was that it was all over.

One minute later Douglas and Kopay combined on a 63-yard pass play to the 10-yard line and even the few Trojan rooters knew it was all over.

Kopay got the final four yards on a tackle slant. He was untouched. The extra-point kick was ungood. The Trojans were unglued. The Huskies were undoubtedly the Rose Bowl team. What came during the five minutes thereafter (including a Husky drive to the Troy 10 yard line) was unimportant.

It was, to repeat, all over for the Trojans.

DOESN'T KNOW WHEN TO QUIT

Washington quarterback Bill Douglas is still looking for receiver despite having been tackled (his knee is on ground, so play is over) by USC's Bill Fisk (hidden) in first-half action of game in Seattle Saturday.

RACING ROUNDUP

Axe II Nabs Man O'War Stakes; Never Bend Trails

NEW YORK (UPI)—Greentree Stable's The Axe II won the fifth running of the $100,000 added Man O' War stakes at Aqueduct Saturday.

The Axe II, ridden by Johnny Rotz, was the pre-race favorite and lived up to the billing by covering the mile and five eighths turf course in 2:45 3/5.

Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend, expected to challenge the Axe II, finished out of the money. Will I Rule, with Ismael Valenzuela aboard, finished second and Guadalcanal was third.

The Axe II paid $4.00, $3.10 and $2.70. Will I Rule returned $7.80 and $5.40 and Guadalcanal paid $5.90 to show.

It was the eighth win of the year for the Axe II.

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Dorchester Farm's Carry Back caught the public fancy once more Saturday as he won the $59,400 Trenton Handicap by 2½ lengths at Garden State Park.

Carry Back negotiated the gruelling 1¼ miles in 2:01 4/5 and paid $16, $8.60 and $5.20. Mongo returned $4.80 and $3.60 to place and Smart paid $5.20 to show.

AGUA CALIENTE (UPI)—Alfonzo Herrera, 27-year-old jockey from Santa Fe, N.M., was thrown Saturday in a stretch spill in the featured 1 1/16 mile Sweepida Purse at Caliente.

Astride Yatagirl and running second in the stretch, Herrera fell heavily with his mount which had clipped the heels of the front-running favorite, Horseshoes. The rider was taken to Mercy Hospital in San Diego, but a preliminary track examination disclosed no serious injury.

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — More Megaton closed fast on the inside to finish first by a nose in the $10,000 added Albany Handicap at Golden Gate Fields before a crowd of 15,549.

More Megaton made his bid running third in the stretch while Royal Ground moved up to challenge leader Buckeye Bob.

All three finished noses apart with Buckeye Bob taking second and Royal Ground third.

The winner paid $4.80, $3.40 and $2.60. Buckeye Bob returned $4.40 and $3.20. Royal Ground paid $3.20.

It was the fourth straight stakes triumph for the son of Pie King.

Peerless O'Brien Steers Upsetter

By ERNIE MASON

Peerless Joe O'Brien, the little man with the magical touch, treated 20,558 fans at Hollywood Park Saturday to a virtuoso performance in which he displayed all of his consummate skill in steering aptly-named Gamecock to an upset triumph in an epic renewal $50,000 American Pacing Classic.

The grey-thatched Irishman, who came out of Nova Scotia some 25 years ago to amaze the harness racing world with his rare ability, enjoyed one of his finest hours Saturday as he won Western Harness Racing Assn.'s premiere event for pacers.

* * * *

O'BRIEN and Gamecock, a double-tough son of Tar Heel owned by Lawrence B. Sheppard of Hanover, Pa., whipped the greatest and largest field in the history of the pacing classic with a devastating surge through the stretch. At the wire the team was three-quarters of a length in advance of Adora's Dream, with courageous Henry T. Adios, the 2-1 favorite, third.

Strung out behind the first three were 13 of America's most accomplished sidewheelers, a sight that closely resembled the Oklahoma land rush. They were, in order, Rusty Range, Mike Pick, Thor Hanover, Meadow Newport, Mr. Budlong, Vineddy, Cold Front, Harold J., Star Gem, Rip Spangler, Stephan Smith, Midnite Hardy and last was Irvin Paul, the defending Pacing Classic champion.

Gamecock sped the mile and one-eighth in 2:13⅗, well off the world record of 2:11⅕ set by Adois Butler in 1961 and equalled last year by Irvin Paul. It was the third victory of the meeting for the four-year-old horse, who triumphed in the $25,100 Fall Maturity Pace two weeks ago.

* * * *

THE WINNER returned $15.20, $7 and $4.20, while Adora's Dream paid $15 and $7.80 and Henry T. Adios returned $3.60.

BOYS 6-18 CAN JOIN AMATEUR ICE HOCKEY

Amateur ice hockey teams are now being formed in Norwalk with openings for boys between the ages of 6 and 18.

John Kaupp, area playing agent for the Long Beach Amateur Hockey Assn., invites candidates to register during team workouts, staged each Friday night at 6 at the Norwalk Ice Skating Center, Shoemaker at Rosecrans in Norwalk.

Kaupp announced that boys must be accompanied by at least one parent for registration. Additional information may be obtained by telephoning Kaupp at KA 9-8669.

Art Brewster, manager last year of the professional Long Beach Gulls, is in charge of the Long Beach-sponsored teams.

Four traveling leagues are Pee Wees (under 12), Bantams (under 14), Midgets (under 16) and Juveniles (under 18). Home games are played at Norwalk Ice Skating Center. Away games are scheduled in Tarzana, Burbank, Pasadena, West Covina, Ontario and San Diego.

SOCCER TITLE PLAY BEGINS

The race for the national open soccer championship begins in Los Angeles today when St. Stephens meets Armenians in a 2:30 p.m. contest at Rancho Cienega Stadium.

In area games, Ticos takes on Santa Barbara at Daniels Field in San Pedro at 12:30, Holland faces Maccabees at Gardena High (2:30) and Paramount United meets San Pedro Hadjuk at Paramount Field (2:30).

City Basketball Begins Monday

Long Beach City League basketball begins Monday night with tripleheaders scheduled at three gyms.

Fifteen leagues, ranging in class from A to D, include 84 teams. Two other teams are scheduled to join the second round, beginning Dec. 9. Monday's schedule:

At Jefferson—7:15, Hazzbinz vs. B. F. Goodrich Chem; 8:15, L. B. Police vs. L. B. Post Office; 9:15, American Wholesale Hardware vs. Glories.

At Poly—7:15, Little Dippers vs. Parks Texaco; 8:15, Ukers Signal Service vs. Ye Old Men; 9:15, The Bonanza vs. Space Systems A-3.

At Wilson—7:15, First Nazarene vs. First Baptist; 8:15, ILWU Voice vs. Hawks; 9:15, No Names vs. Hares.

Jordan High open for practice, 7-10 p.m.

Today's City League Baseball Schedule

At City College—Noon, Coast Federal Savings vs. Brown's Sporting Goods; 2:30 p.m., Tyer Bros. vs. L. B. Naval Station.

At Wilson High—Noon, L. B. Oilers vs. EQOCO; 2:30 p.m., Local 148 UAW vs. Macks.

At Silverado Park—1 p.m., Kelly's Lounge vs. El Toro Marines.

L.B. Wheels Play for P-T.A. Fund

The Long Beach Flying Wheels will open their practice season Thursday night by combining a workout game against an Ed Nichols-led Lockyers team and the Franklin Jr. High School P-TA fund raising drive. Game time will be 7:30 in the Franklin gym.

The Wheels again appear to have the personnel to defend their national title they have held for the past four years.

Lockyers has been a Long Beach basketball power over the years and is made up of outstanding former high school and college players.

A ham dinner will be served in the school cafeteria commencing at 5:30 for $1 per plate, according to Mrs. Bert Bond, P-TA president. The public is invited.

TOP MAT PROGRAM SLATED THIS WEEK

The biggest wrestling show of the fall season is on the schedule this week, topped by a heavyweight championship bout between titleholder Bearcat Wright and Don Leo Jonothan.

Two tag team matches also are scheduled, including one between a quartet of midgets. Former champ Freddie Blassie is in the other tag event.

L.B. Rockets Entertain Grove Nine

The Garden Grove Yankees, formerly the Orange County Braves, invade Blair Field for a Winter baseball league game with the Long Beach Rockets this afternoon at 1:30.

The Yankees last year defeated the Rockets 3-0 in 10 innings and bring a 1-1 league mark into today's contest.

Rockets manager Jack Graham has a half-dozen pitchers on his roster. Terry Richards, Mike Linck, Bob Preston, Jim Strickland, Butch Hughes and possibly Don Rowe will be ready. The Rockets have a 2-0 mark in league play.

Games Today

Pasadena Yankees at Cerritos; Westwood Bruins at Huntington Park Dodgers; L. A. Angels at Gardena Giants; St. Mary's at North Long Beach Twins; White Sox vs. Orange Angels at El Modino; Tigers vs. Compton Barons Cressey Park 11 a.m.; Lawndale Broncos vs. Mary Star, Peck Park; Artesia Merchants at San Fernando; L. A. Hawks vs. Wilmington Dodgers at Dodger Field; San Marino vs. Anaheim Tigers at Roosevelt Park.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

1963 Expected to Reach a Record for Profits

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A tide of rosy third quarter corporate profit reports rolled across the nation's business scene this week.

By one reckoning, earnings of more than 500 large corporations ran 15 per cent ahead of the 1962 September quarter, and stamped 1963 as a record high year—barring a cataclysmic reversal in the final two months.

They were estimated at an annual rate of about $26.5 billion in the July-September period, well above the existing full-year record of $24.6 set in 1962.

Major contributions to the uptrend came from the steel industry, a weak sister last year, and from the automobile, airlines, chemical, electric-electronics groups, and several others.

* * * *

GIANT General Motors Corp., continuing to set a blazing pace, posted an historic earnings high for the first nine months, with profits topping $1 billion. Ford Motor Co. faltered a bit, however.

The earnings surge had many ramifications, including important ones in Washington, where tax cut and budget struggles inched along.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told the House Ways and Means Committee that healthy business profits helped swell federal tax collections and shrink budgetary deficit prospects.

Dillon said the present outlook is for a $9 billion deficit for the fiscal year ending next June 30, rather than the $11.9 billion deficit anticipated earlier. Tax revenues appear likely to be $1.9 billion higher than last January's estimate, he said.

Even so, the Treasury official pleaded for a $6 billion increase in the national debt limit to $315 billion to accommodate seasonal fluctuations.

* * * *

DILLON LOOKED for expansion of the economy in the first half of 1964 whether taxes are cut or not, but said reductions would accelerate the rate.

As Senate Finance Committee hearings on the $11 billion tax cut bill ground on, spokesmen for the American Bar Association and the National Association of Manufacturers complained it provided for an inequitable distribution of benefits, favoring very low and very high income taxpayers.

A note of dissent to widespread optimism over business prospects ahead was struck by department and variety store proprietors. Polled by a trade group, less than one-half looked for better Christmas season sales this year than last.

The pessimists blamed this year's five fewer shopping days between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and an unseasonably warm autumn.

Red Cross Featured on New Stamp Issue

Long Beach Chapter, American Red Cross, stocked a supply of five-cent United States postage stamp commemorating the hundreth anniversary of the Red Cross early Friday when the issue reached the main Long Beach post office.

Mrs. Loren McCannon, administrative assistant of the Chapter, made the purchase, the first sale of the new stamp. Approximately 100 million stamps have been printed.

The new stamp, printed in blue and red on white, has as design an adaptation of a photograph of the S.S. Morning Light, the eighth supply ship used by the American Red Cross in the Cuban prisoner exchange program. The legend, "1863 International Red Cross 1963," calls attention to the centenary.

The new stamp was launched ceremonially in Washington, D.C., with the postmaster general making the presentation to E. Roland Harriman, chairman of American Red Cross. The audiance included representatives of volunteers who worked in the Cuban prisoner exchange, and from embassies of the 102 nations who are members of the League of Red Cross societies.

MRS. LOREN McCANNON, administrative assistant, Long Beach Chapter, American Red Cross, buys Red Cross stamps from clerk Gilbert Scott.

Moon Bounce Pioneer Speaks

Willis Conkel, a man who has been bouncing radio signal off the moon since 1956, will discues the technique at the meeting of the Microwave Society of Long Beach at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at 6107 E. Ocean Blvd.

Conkel, of 4608 La Cara St., became interested in moon bounce communication in 1956 when he received one of his own transmitted amateur radio signals.

He currently is making preparations to try for a two-way amateur radio contact, via the moon, with a ham in Nakkila, Finland. This reportedly will be the longest moon bounce test tried from the West Coast.

Tape recordings of moon bounce communications made by Conkel will be played at the Wednesday meeting.

The Microwave Society is making plans for a moon bounce and satellite tracking station. Interested amateurs are invited to attend the meeting.

Mountain States Fastest Growing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mountain States of the west comprised America's fastest growing region in the last 10 years, says the National Industrial Conference Board.

The non-profit, business research group said population rose 38 per cent in the region that embraces Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming.

Next, at 37 per cent, was the Pacific region of Alaska, California, Hawaii, Oregon and Washington.

The slowest rate was recorded by the Northeastern region of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, up only 8 per cent.

President Helps With Homework

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (UPI) —Jacqueline Stinson, a fourth grader in Madison School, got help from President Kennedy for her homework. Jacqueline was assigned to make a rock collection as part of a science project and wrote the President asking his help in obtaining a piece of lava.

Within a few days, an envelope arrived from the White House containing a chunk of white lava rock and a brochure explaining the orgin of the rock.

Used Car Dealer Association

UCDA says:
Meet Your Used Car Manager
SAM CASAGA
John W. Osborn Co.
990 CHERRY AVE.
GE 9-9379

Seventeen years ago we started a little lot in our present location, selling hand-picked clean used cars at very low prices. People liked an opportunity to kick a tire, slam a door, take the car to their mechanic and make up their own minds. They especially appreciated the kind, courteous after-sales service of promise kept.

The word spread from buyer to buyer. Sales increased, facilities improved. We grew bigger and better, and so did our customer relations.

Now we are proud to say that over 80% of our sales result from repeat and referral customers.

We sell the finest cars made, and our showroom is the most delightful sight to prospective buyers. Here you may find a late model Cadillac, a Continental, Buick, Oldsmobile, Imperial, T-Bird, Bentley or Rolls Royce.

Last year we sold over 40 select Cadillac limousines and 8-passenger sedans to customers all over the West Coast. This year in addition to our regular business we sold eight Rolls Royce and Bentleys. During the month of October this year we have sold cars priced from $75 to $11,250.

Whatever your desires, before you buy, ask a friend about Osborn's; then come down and browse around, and you may prove to yourself the point of this story.

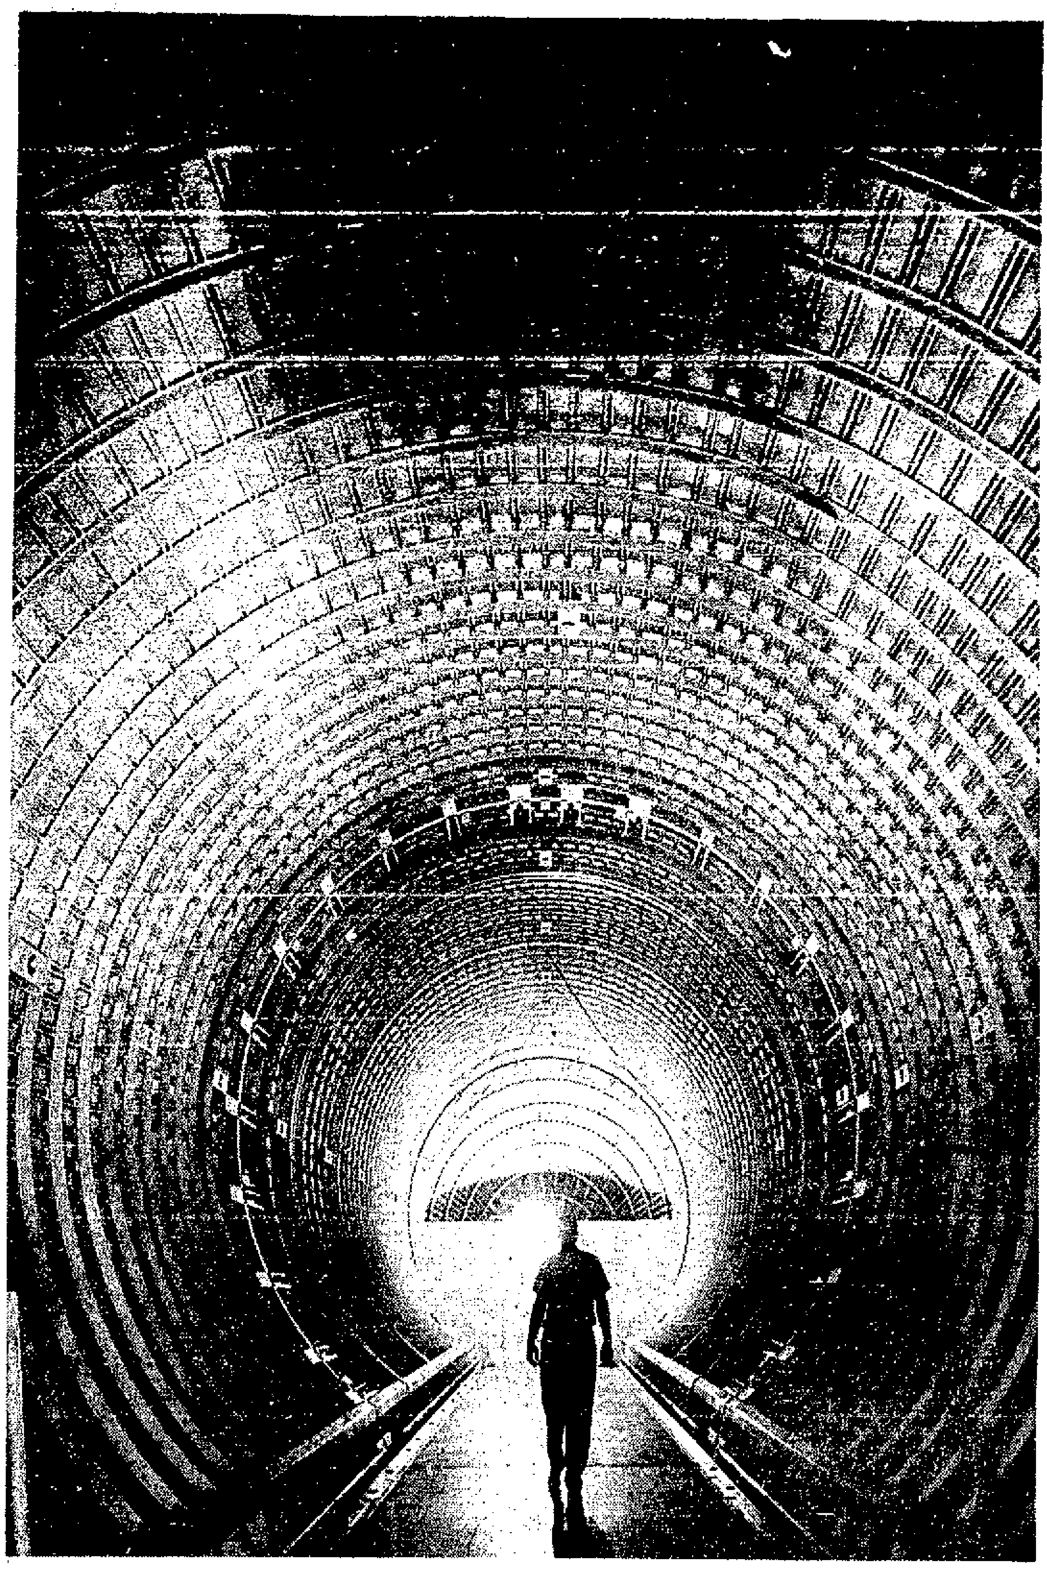
Inside an Aircraft Company With a Fresh Approach



—Staff Photos by Bob Shumway

By LARRY ALLISON

Across the airfield from Douglas Aircraft Co., which is girding itself to fight for a share of the medium-range jet transport market, is a company that has its eye on the medium-range air freight business. But instead of turning out high-priced, jet-powered merchandise, the firm is borrowing a page from the past and giving it a jet touch.

The result is that a once obsolete military aircraft is being made useful again, and the air freight industry has a "new" cargo plane that sells—relatively speaking—for peanuts.

The company, Steward-Davis, Inc., 3200 Cherry Ave., has been singled out by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce for recognition in its "Profiles of Success" program.

STEWARD-DAVIS started out shortly after World War II as a small charter airline operating out of Compton and developed into an aircraft engine overhaul and maintenance business in Gardena. Then, F. H. (Herb) Steward, president and chief stockholder of the company, set out to fill the need for a low-priced, easily maintained aircraft that could operate where high-speed, long-range craft prove impractical.

Steward devised a way to mount a jet engine atop the fuselage of a C82 military cargo plane and turned it from an underpowered, overly complicated candidate for the scrap heap into a safe, dependable, aerial workhorse.

The transition of the C82 involves, for the most part, simplifying and improving the plane's electrical and electro-mechanical systems and installing a center-line Westinghouse J34 jet engine.

Steward-Davis calls the finished product the Skytruck, and sells for $325,000 which is $1.5 million less than the nearest competitive plane on the market.

A similar version with fewer modifications, the Jet Packet, goes for even less—$225,000. Cost of the jet "kit" alone is $50,000.

THE SKYTRUCK has a cargo compartment eight feet by eight feet and 32 feet long and can carry, for example, 39 head of cattle (or about 24,000 pounds) at a direct operating cost of 6.3 cents per ton-mile for a distance of 500 miles. At 1,500 miles, the cost is estimated at 7.4 cents per ton-mile with a payload of 19,000 pounds.

The original C82, known as the "flying boxcar," was lost if an engine failed. Should this happen to the Skytruck or Jet Packet, the jet engine, which is on at low power during takeoff, automatically goes to full power when an engine is feathered, and the craft is capable of climbing at 640 feet per minute.

Steward, whose company owns 36 surplus C82s and modifies them on order, believes that in addition to domestic uses, the rugged aircraft can be a social and political tool for use in underdeveloped countries.

"We feel," Steward said, "that an aircraft adaptable to primitive areas can actually bring the tribes of those areas closer together and give them a common identity they would not otherwise have."

THE PLANE ALSO HAS military potential.

Steward-Davis installed 17 of its jet units on C119 cargo planes, a later version of the C82, owned by India after the India-Red China border clash broke out last year. The jet augmentation enabled the craft to carry heavier troop and cargo loads safely to primitive landing strips high in the Himalayas, and in several instances of engine faillure the jet unit averted certain tragedy.

W. C. Chambliss, a consultant for Steward-Davis, said the plane is sturdy and versatile enough to land on frozen snow or anywhere a bulldozer can be dropped to clear a dirt landing strip.

The jet-augmented C82s are operating in Alaska and in South America, and in one case a Jet Packet solved, in three months a hauling opration in South Africa that otherwise would have taken four years. A mining com-

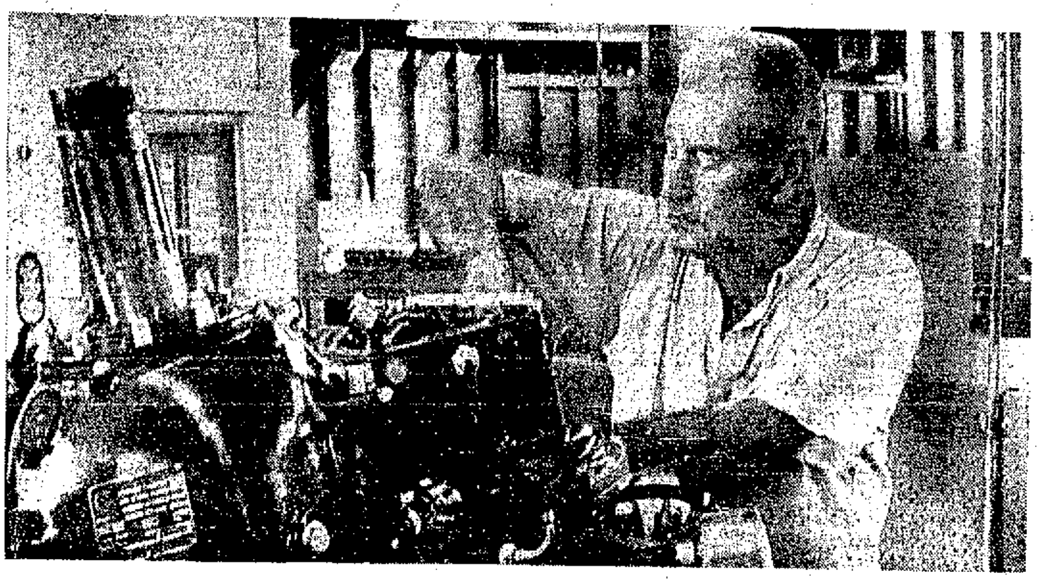
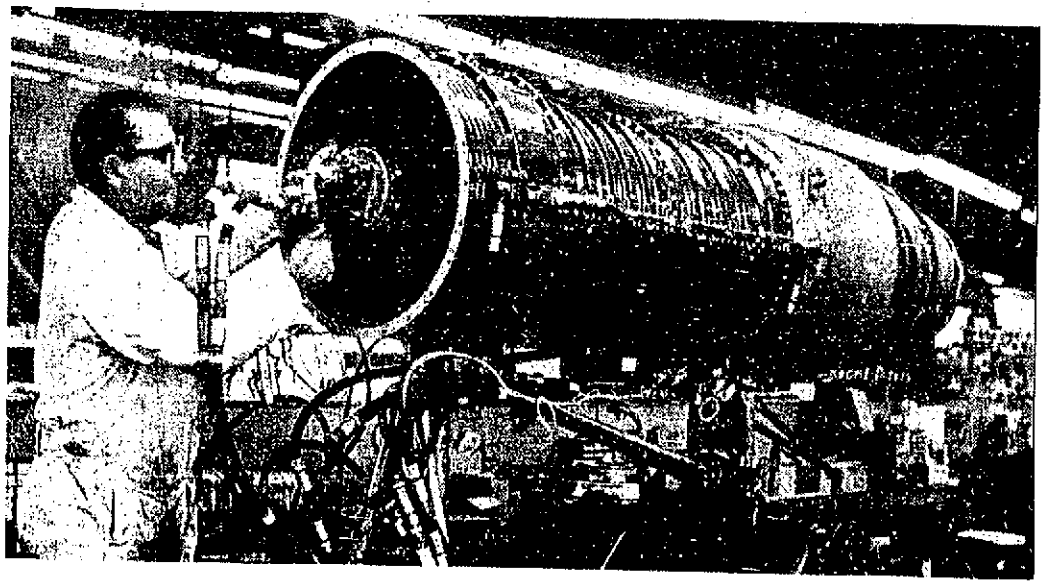
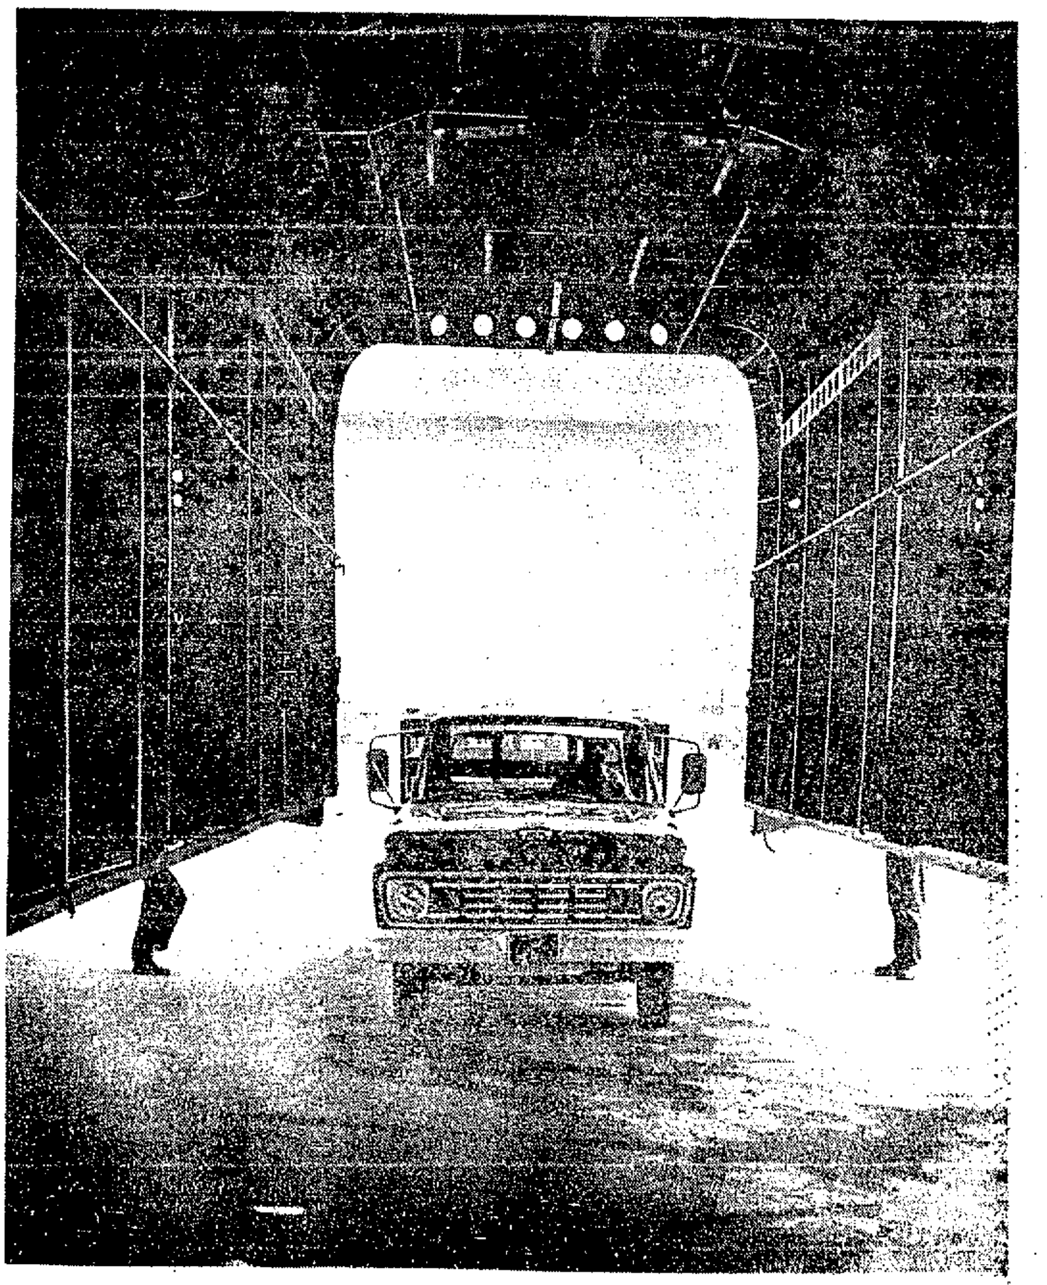
BULWARK of Steward-Davis is a jet unit for C82 and C119 "flying boxcar" cargo planes, shown on plane in background, which was conceived by F. H. (Herb) Steward, president of company.



OVERHAULING a piston engine at the two-acre plant of Steward-Davis at 3200 Cherry Ave. is Everett Gilmore, who started with the company 12 years ago, when such work was principal operation of firm.



FINAL CHECKOUT of a jet engine is made by Raymond L. Harrott, quality control manager of the engine overhaul department. The company has bought production rights to the J34 jet engine.



OPEN UNDERSIDE of this C82 leaves plenty of room for a truck to pull inside. This is an experimental project aimed at simplifying loading of the plane. A cargo pallet would close off the open fuselage.

Van Camp Ins. Acquires Revere and West Coast

T. C. Springfield, president of Gilbert C. Van Camp Insurance Agency, Inc., of San Pedro and Ed Struthers have announced Van Camp Agency's acquisition of controlling interest in West Coast Insurance and Revere Insurance Agency of Santa Ana.

West Coast Insurance, established in 1939, has been owned and operated by Struthers since 1959. Revere Insurance Agency was formed in May 1962. Struthers, now vice president of the Revere agency, will be general manager of West Coast and Revere.

The Van Camp Agency has been in business in the harbor area since 1924. It now employs forty-three people. It places all types of insurance for individuals, businesses, industries and government. In Torrance, the Van Camp Agency is associated with Lund Co. The Van Camp agency also has a branch office in San Diego.

Retailers Will Start Yuletide Sales Early

Retailers by the thousands around the country have decided, it seems, to do some shuffling of holiday periods they're planning to launch on the calendar. Specifically, Christmas promotions this year in advance of Thanksgiving—as early as Nov. 11 in some cases.

Christmas shopping, of course, accounts for vitally important volume of stores handling such lines as toys, small appliances, other home furnishings, distilled spirits, and men's wear. The special Christmas promotions ahead of Thanksgiving this year stems from a fluke of the 1963 calendar: there will be only 22 shopping days between Turkey Day and Santa Claus time (last year there were 27, about normal).

One study indicates that almost three-fourths of all stores checked plan to start advertising and promotion before Thanksgiving, with the week of Nov. 11-16 the most popular starting date. The same study showed that newspapers will hold their preferred spot as favorite advertising medium for retailers in the pre-Christmas period. Three out of four store managers said they expect to put 80 per cent or more of their outlay into newspapers.

And more than one-third of the sample plan to hike their over-all budget for advertising and promotion above last year's outlays.

Colorful Home Show in Sol Vista

A colorful home show display is taking place at the International Home Fair in Westminster. The Sol-Vista homes are being built by Alco-Pacific Construction Co. of Westminster.

Internationally known interior designer, Beatrice West, was flown in to color coordinate and furnish the model homes which reflect the far corners of the earth. The Continental has the traditions of France and modern Italy displayed, the Scandia has a modernistic approach to Swedish and Danish decor, the Americas is a four compass point representation of the United States and its neighbors with each room displaying its phase of America. The recently opened Mediterranean is a showplace with authentic colors, furnishings and decorations representing its own part of the world.

* * * *

INTERNATIONAL spirit is the flag display in front of the International Home Fair pavilion.

Inside the pavilion is an interesting product and material display.

The Home Fair is located at Bolsa Chica and Westminster Blvd. in Westminster. The homes sell for $23,050 to $29,600 on FHA, Cal-Vet and conventional financing.

Medical Building Set for Stanton

Eight building permits for construction totaling $42,329 were issued by the Stanton Building Department during the past week.

Permit for the construction of a $37,200 medical building at 10799 Western Ave. was granted to Harry Pinch, 2544 Winston St., Anaheim.

Other permits included those of Fredrick Quintanna, 7419 Dock St., swimming pool, $1,900; G. H. Van Vliet, corner of Villa Patri Estates mobile homes, 8111 Stanford St., room addition, $860; Lincoln Fidelity Corp., 10825 Magnolia St., commercial sign, $225.

END OF A DEPOT

Demolition work is under way at the Santa Fe Railway-Pacific Electric depot and freight yard at Ninth Street and Pico Avenue. The 12,000-square-foot depot, built in 1924, is being razed to make way for extension of the Long Beach Freeway to Long Beach Harbor. The million-dollar project involves relocation of the train tracks and construction of a new depot west of the present site.

Location of Regal Homes Is Appealing

Excellent location of Regal Homes in Buena Park undoubtedly is one of the magnets which is attracting buyers to this new subdivision, states Tod Simms, builder. The homes are only minutes from Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland. The beaches are only 20 minutes away, while Long Beach can be reached in 10 minutes. The freeway is two minutes away. Regal Homes, according to Simms, are surrounded by good schools for all ages and shopping center large and small.

Buyer reaction to the new financing terms has been excellent, Simms stated. Conventional financing is now available in addition to FHA term. Now, according to Simms, buyers may purchase with as little as $395 down plus costs.

Other features include furniture finish birch cabinets, tile shower with glass doors, also shower over tub, Del Piso entry floors, spacious master bedroom suites, forced air heating and other fine features.

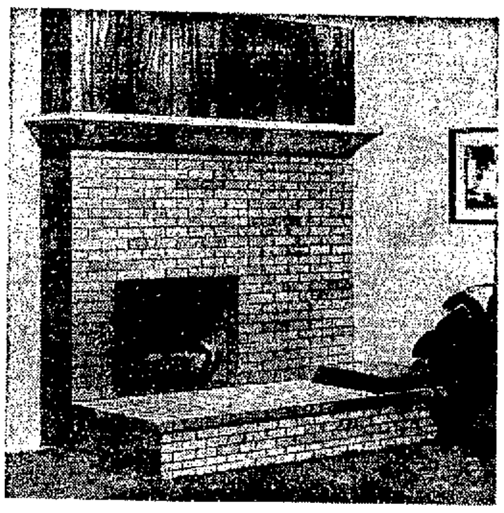
Fireplaces Appeal in El Dorado Park



ADDS TO HOME VALUE

Attractive fireplaces are a big feature of the El Dorado Park Estates now selling in Long Beach. Here is an interesting treatment of common brick used in one model.

"A well-designed and usable fireplace is a definite asset in a home of today," the builders of El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach contend.

"We feel they are so important in attracting prospective homebuyers, we offered a large selection of fireplaces—both in design and materials," they added.

In one plan a combination of genuine Palos Verdes stone and driftwood was used. The result was a dramatic focal point in the spacious living room. Bouquet Canyon stone was utilized in the large three-bedroom model, and the "Morning Glory Plan is stunning with a white jumbo brick vertical joint fireplace. This harmonizes with the basic contemporary motif. of the entire home.

* * * *

OTHER MATERIALS used in the fireplaces at El Dorado Park Estates are Norman brick, concrete block, common brick painted with slate hearth and used brick.

In one plan there is an optional choice for the buyer in fireplace design and material. Black marble, painted common brick or Palos Verdes stone is offered.

* * * *

OTHER FEATURES at El Dorado Park Estates' homes are modern all-electric kitchens, each equipped with a built-in range and double oven, completely automatic dishwasher and color-matched fan and hood and ceramic countertops.

One-story, two-story and split-level elevations are available. Designed with three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms, formal dining rooms and master bedroom suites with two or three baths, all the homes were carefully color-planned.

Furnished models are reached by driving east on Spring St. across San Gabriel River to El Dorado Park Estates, east of Studebaker Road at Claremore.

Inside a Firm With a Fresh Approach

pany wanted to transport a 550-ton dredge to a jungle site in at Surinam, and the only means of transportation for the last 150 miles was by native canoes. The Jet Packet airlifted a bulldozer to the site, the dozer cleared a landing strip in the jungle, and the aircraft then carried in the dredge in eight-ton sections.

STEWARD-DAVIS NOW is experimenting with a modification of its Jet Packet and Skytruck that would make it possible to pick up and deliver a cargo pallet without the pilot having to leave the cockpit.

Steward also has some radical ideas, still in experimental stages, on new ways to use the J34 jet engines —for which his company has bought production rights.

In addition to modifying cargo planes, building jet engines and jet parts, Steward-Davis still does its original line of work: overhauling and maintaining aircraft engines.

The company also has a contract with Aero Spacelines, Inc., for maintenance of a weird-looking plane called the Pregnant Guppy. The craft is a modified Boeing Skymaster that splits in the middle and was designed especially to carry North American Aviation's F1 rocket engine from Los Angeles to Marshall Space Center, Ala., where the rocket is to be tested.

The chamber's growth and diversification subcommittee selected Steward-Davis as a "Profiles of Success" candidate because of the company "foresight, imagination and diversity—the ability to sense change and make the most of opportunities."

For Steward-Davis, one of these opportunities lay in the potential the company saw in an obsolete aircraft that, instead of ending up as aluminum ingots from a salvage company, is winning a new place in the skies.

A REGAL HOME

Located near Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland, Regal Homes are rapidly attracting buyers. Here is one of the models of the homes where low terms are offered.

Student Wins Essay Award

Refugio Garcia, 16-year-old student at Artesia High School, has received honorable mention in the California Real Estate Association's Annual statewide essay contest on "The Home Is the Heart and Hope of the Nation."

Bob Prigmore, president of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors, said Refugio will be presented a gold trophy at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors Thursday at 7:30 a.m., at the student center, Cerritos College, at which Refugio, his mother, and principal Bill Atkins of Artesia High will be guests of the board.

First-place winner in the contest was Sheila Arnold, 17, senior at Pacific High School in San Bernardino, who was awarded $250.00 in U. S. saving bonds.

Eastman Oil Names Phipps Area Manager

Robert A. (Bob) Phipps, a 22-year-old employe of Eastman Oil Well Survey Co., has been appointed Eastman's Pacific Coast area manager, with offices at 1492 Caspian Way, Long Beach.

R. A. PHIPPS

Phipps is a third - generation oil industry man. His grand father was in the oil business in Franklin and Oil City, Pa., and his father, "Curley" Phipps, was a 50-year veteran in drilling phases. The younger Phipps was first employed by Eastman in 1942 as a derrick hand.

J. A. Hamman, formerly Eastman's Pacific Coast area manager, has been shifted to Eastman headquarters in Houston and assigned to special engineering projects.

9,000 Souvenir Coins Sold for L.B. Jubilee

ON SALE AT BANKS

These are the bronze coins, commemorating Long Beach's Diamond Jubilee, that are on sale in local banks. Proceeds will help finance the city's month-long celebration of its 75th anniversary.

Nine thousand Long Beach Diamond Jubilee souvenier coins have been sold, Committee Chairman R. H. (Roy) Showalter has announced.

The bronze coins, commemorating the city's 75th anniversary, are on sale in local banks. Proceeds help finance the month-long celebration that started Friday.

Because of public demand for the souvenirs, Showalter said, a new sales policy is now in effect. The coins will be on sale at one window in nearly every bank in the city, during regular banking hours. Formerly they were sold from special booths, open only a few hours a day. A sign in each bank will designate the coin window.

A total of 25,000 coins were minted for the occasion. The coins are stamped with the city's jubilee emblem, an etching of its skyline, and the motto "International City."

Banks participating, Showalter announced, include all offices of the Bank of America, Security First National Bank, Farmers and Merchants Bank, United California Bank, First Western Bank and United States National Bank.

Garden Grove Man Gets Bank Position

Appointment of Emmanuel Walth of 11582 Faye Ave., Garden Grove, to gricultural Garden Grove, to agricultural vision of the central credit department, has been announced by Security First National Bank.

With headquarters in the bank's Artesia branch, he will work with Don M. Kruse, assistant vice president, on loans to dairymen.

Long-Lasting Value Stressed for Lakewood Sunshine Homes

MANY LUXURY FEATURES

Wall-to-wall carpet is just one of the many luxury quality features found at Lakewood East Sunshine Homes, a new residential development by S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders-developers.

According to S. V. Hunsaker Jr., vice president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers, prospective buyers are more discriminating in determining home values and are checking feature for feature.

The fact that Lakewood East Sunshine Homes offer a complete package including the most popular of West Coast architectural planning, built-ins, and modern materials designed for lifetime satisfaction are important reasons for buyer preference.

Features that make for lasting value include forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, all-copper plumbing, wall-to-wall carpet, and plenty of built-ins. Kitchens are ultra-modern and have built-in Vernois range and oven, Insinkerator disposer, and natural finish cabinets.

* * * *

DESIGNED FOR the active family, Lakewood East Sunshine Homes are priced from $21,000 and may be purchased with from $295 down. Included in the purchase price is a fenced rear yard and landscaped front yard.

Lakewood East Sunshine Homes are centrally located and are only minutes from Long Beach's many employment centers. Shopping centers, schools, and churches are nearby.

Furnished model homes are open daily for inspection and may be seen between Del Amo Blvd. and Centralia Road one block west of Roseton in the City of Lakewood.

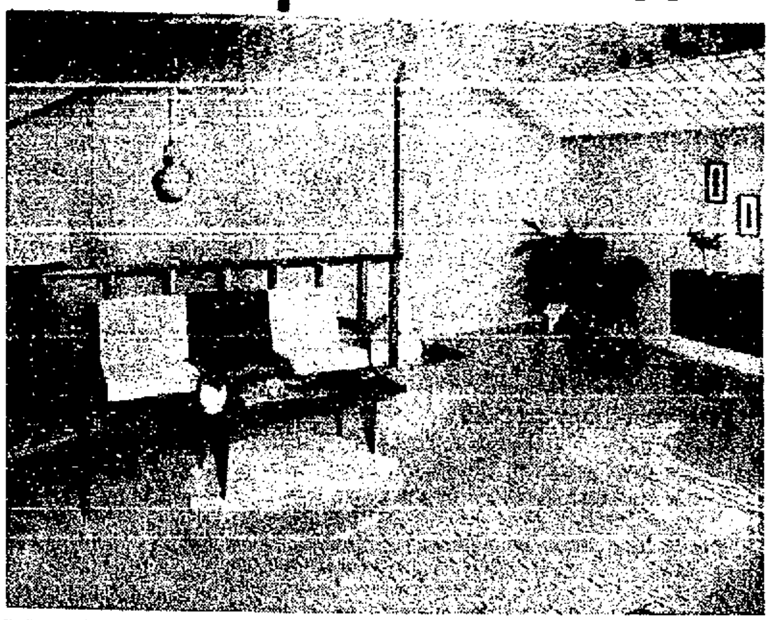
Westmont's Tenth Unit Is Now Open for Sales



BONUS ROOM OVER GARAGE

Spacious over-the-garage "bonus room," ideal for play area, rumpus room or as extra bedrooms is just one of the features at the new Westmont unit near Long Beach where wall, landscaping and sprinklers are offered to early buyers in the new section. Prices start at $21,500.

A new unit, hailed as Westmont's lucky tenth is now open at the Huntington Beach area community last week with four big bonus offers to buyers.

The premiums listed by the builders, George M. Holstein and Sons, include the over-the-garage bonus room," block wall at back and side of lot, carpet, and front landscaping and sprinklers. These are additions to the usual Westmont package that has and the 7200-square-foot deeded lot, the developers assured.

The new unit will offer a choice selection of three and four bedroom homes with a new floor plan featuring a oversized family room added to the list of the popular Westmont choices.

* * * *

ALL PLANS, including the popular breezway home are again available in the new unit with prices starting at $24,500. Easy bank financing is available to buyers in all units as well as FHA and Veteran terms, the Westmont builders declared.

The new unit has been opened almost 60 days ahead of plans due to the demand for the big "bonus room" homes, sales head Ray Haffdual explained. The bonus room, a Holstein exclusive, is ideal for rumpus room, den, bedroom, the sales chief stressed.

To reach Westmont from Long Beach, take Seventh St. east to Hiwy. 39. Turn right, and stay on Hiwy. 39 to Warner—about three miles. Then turn left and stay on Warner about one mile to the model homes.

WHERE PROJECTS BEGIN

The Bidding Center

By BOB BAUGHEY

Little known to the public but nevertheless a valuable asset to builder and client alike is the Orange County Builders Association, which operates a sort of clearinghouse for construction projects.

Founded in 1938 by a group of Orange County contractors, the nonprofit association provides a plans channeling service for the hundreds of area contractors, subcontractors and allied tradesmen who are meeting the county's record-smashing construction demands.

The formula of this service is simple but effective.

* * * *

BUILDING PLANS and specifications are brought to the association's headquarters at 941 Santiago St., Santa Ana, where they are given a file number and listed by project type on a bulletin board, together with competitive bid closing dates.

Contractors or their representatives then are permitted to withdraw sets of plans and retire to one of the three plans rooms for study and note-taking.

Users of the association's facilities are enjoined to abide by a code of "bidding" ethics. Architects and owners, it says, should "select for bidding only responsible contractors in whom they have confidence." Bids are to be kept confidential until after opening times, and each business transaction should be based upon "what is morally right, rather than that which may be legally enforceable."

Intentional violations of bidding ethics are dealt with by the association's Ethics and Grievances Committee, which may recommend action to be taken by the board of directors.

During 1962 the association handled a total of 496 sets of construction plans involving one or more building industry trades. In the first nine months of this year the total had reached nearly 500.

* * * *

THE ASSOCIATION is affiliated with the California State Builders Exchange, along with 35 other exchanges and trade associations throughout California. Through its manager, the OCBA also holds membership in the International Builders Exchange Executives, a function of which is the exchange of ideas and service program plans.

Present membership of the association now numbers in excess of 200 firms, 600 individuals in the construction industry—a rise of approximately 40 per cent during the last two years.

Start Country Club at Corona Project

Ground-breaking for the new Pepper Tree Country Club was held last week. Attending the ceremonies were the following members of the city government of Corona: Mayor J. Harold Harris, City Manager R. D. Pfiffner, and Planning Director H. E. Stottlemyer.

Located in the southwest section of the City of Corona at River Road and Rincon St., the new club will feature a 6,700-yard, 18-hole championship golf course with three lakes. According to the designer, Larry Hughes, the new course will be as interesting and picturesque as any his firm has designed.

* * * *

THE COURSE is part of the development of Royal Coachline Homes by Marjan Development, Inc. of Anaheim. The development embodies 1,030 acres and the golf course eventually will be surrounded by 572 homes, with an additional 2,000 homes to be built in the future.

According to Mark Pitman, president of Marjan, two schools will be built on the property in addition to two park sites. Also planned are several commercial shopping areas and special locations have been set aside for churches.

One of the features of the development will be areas for riding stables and bridle paths. The name of "Pepper Tree" was selected for the new club because of the numerous beautiful pepper trees found on the property.

Reports Surplus of Executives

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The economy ax in the business management ranks is apparently slowing demand for new executives. Management recruiter E. R. Hergenrather says 20 per cent more executives contacted his firm for job placements in September than a year ago, but the number of companies looking for executive talent dropped 50 per cent.

CONSTRUCTION STARTS

Need Only $100 Cash To Buy Pacifica Home

PRICED FROM $17,495

Large homes like this are offered in the Pacifica Series of Springdale South home development in Huntington Beach, with prices starting at $17,495. Only $100 cash is needed by the buyer.

The Pacifica Series, third and newest of the Springdale South home development in Huntington Beach, is very similar to its predecessors.

"The main similarity," notes Sy Bram, executive director of the Sunkist Plaza Building firm, lies in the speed of sales.' Bram's reference was to the fact that the Pacifica Series was opened less than one month ago and already construction schedules have been speeded up in order to accomodate demand.

Pacifica Series, which follows the now-sold Diamond Head Series, offers occupancy on a no-down-payment basis for everyone with only $100 costs.

Springdale South, Pacifica, whose models are at the corner of Bolsa Avenue and Edwards Street in Huntington Beach, features an array of four three-and four-bedroom floor plans with a variety of exterior designs. Prices start at $17,495.

* * * *

BRAM ATTRIBUTES the fast sales of the previews unit to the extra value included in these homes. "This is possible, he explained, "because of the mass buying power we have accumulated through the years enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Sunkist Plaza Builders have constructed thousands of quality residences in various locations throughout Southern California.

The homes feature kitchens that are equipped with an array of quality built-ins. Waste King Universal appliances. They include built-in range and oven in color; waste disposer; Modern-aire range hood and fan in matching colors; natural ash cabinets and separate utility rooms.

* * * *

ALL HOMES have Custom-Aire forced air heating systems, sliding glass doors, vinyl asbestos floor tile and decorator designed lighting fixtures. The sparkling bathrooms feature spacious stall showers, vinyl asbestos floor tile, luxury Pullmans with Formica counters and deluxe medicine cabinets.

As a bonus feature, the large rear yards are fully fenced with approximately 130 lineal feet of Redwood Fencing plus gate.

To reach the development go east on Garden Grove Ave. to Golden West; right (south) on Golden West to Bolsa; right on Bolsa to Edwards and models.

Industrial Building Is Given Permit

A construction permit for a 17,600-square-foot industrial structure has been issued by the Garden Grove building department.

Valued at $76,560, the building will be erected at 13882-13902 West St. in the city's Westminster-Harbor industrial district. The permit was issued to The Harry Hancredi Co., 1104 E. 17th St., Santa Ana.

Also during the past week, unusual twin permits for a total of 1¼ miles of 6-foot block walls were issued to S & S Construction Co. of Beverly Hills. The permits had a combined value of $23,328, for 3,210 feet of wall in the vicinity of the 12200 block of Blackmere St., and 3,270 feet of wall in the vicinity of the 5500 block of Huntley St.

National Auto Glass Co. was given a permit for a $27,500 glass installation business building at 13041 Belfast Dr.

Other major permits of $1,000 or more valuation were issued during the week to the following:

Dennis Boyd, 6511 Santa Barbara St., addition and patio roof, $3,500; Robert Paul McDaniel, 12282 Jerome Sq., residence addition, $1,150; Farrow Development Co., block wall, vicinity 13400 block Heather Circle, $1,764.

Menco Development Co., Anaheim, block wall, vicinity 11100 block Dino Circle, $2,988; C. Robert and Ethel Cummins, 11851 Lampson Ave., garage, $1,100; Dame De Angelis, 11602 Desmond St., bedroom-bath addition, $2,800.

Permits for swimming pools were issued to Emery Aldridge, 14371 Ward St., $1,800; Lawrence Wills, 13212 Partridge St., $3,000; Paul Boblette, 12392 El Ranchero St., $2,700; Richard Kesler, 11732 Timmy Lane, $2,800; Robert Cooper, 11752 Faund Lane, $3,000; Salvatore Marchella, 6641 Chapman Ave., $2,500; Benjamin Flore, 12682 Cadet Ave., $2,200.

New Mobile Home Park

Civic and community leaders joined in groundbreaking ceremonies for Paramount's newest commercial development, "Americana Mobile Home Park."

Located at 16600 Downey Ave. the 16-acre parcel will be developed into 170 oversize spaces to accommodate the largest type of quality mobile homes including the expandos and double width models. Each space provides for two off-street automobile parking spaces as well as a spacious individual patio area.

Other special features of this park are the air-conditioned clubhouse, featuring an auditorium, library and lounge. Outside the clubhouse will be a swimming pool, shuffleboard courts, and putting greens.

According to the Americana representative who is present daily at the park, it was developed with convenience and easy living in mind for adults only.

Incinerator

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Hoskinson smokeless, odorless incinerator, is now being made in America. Invented by Gordon Hoskinson of Missouri, the new type incinerator for refuse found its first market in England in 1960. Richmond Steel Co. of Richmond, Va., is producing it in the United States. It will be installed in buildings at the New York World's Fair and in several new skyscrapers.

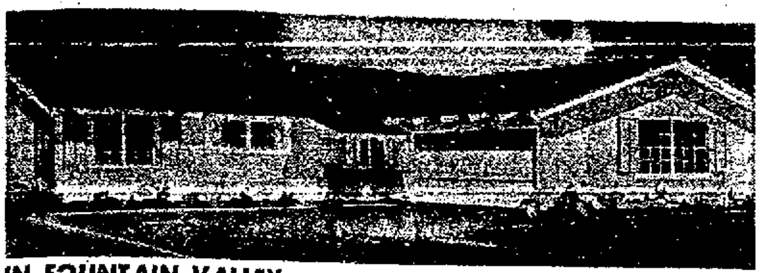
Lark Village Opening Third Unit Of Homes



IN FOUNTAIN VALLEY

Homes like this will be offered when the third unit of Lark Village opens for sale today. The homes in Fountain Valley are being developed by Charles W. Hester and are priced from $20,950 to $25,900.

Grand Opening of the third unit of Lark Village will be held today, it was announced by Charles W. Hester, developer of the popular Fountain Valley community. According to Hester the first two units sold out in record-breaking time and it is anticipated that the Third Unit will prove equally attractive to buyers.

Lark Village has one and two-story homes of three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms and two full baths. The homes are priced from $20,950 to $25,900 and can be purchased for as little as $195 down, plus costs.

* * * *

AMONG THE interesting innovations in Lark Village is a "future" room in the 2-story models. This mammoth 19'x26' room can be used as a rumpus room and as the family grows it can be converted into two bedrooms, or two smaller bedrooms and a playroom. This area has a bath plumbed for future use.

Lark Village lists among its outstanding features block wall fencing for the rear and side yards, underground sprinkler in the front, built-in Westinghouse range and oven, wall-to-wall carpeting, sunken living room, massive wood-burning fireplaces, mantle over fireplace and distinctive ash paneling. There is a wide variety of floor plans and exteriors.

Lark Village can be easily reached from Long Beach by going out Seventh St. to Brookhurst, right on Brookhurst to Edinger, then left to models.

Report Fast Sales in Enderle Gardens

The first unit of Enderle Gardens, the newest concept of individually owned homes in a 20-acre park in Tustin, is selling fast, according to the builders and developers, Nelson & Nelson.

The $2½ million dollar development of quality homes for adults and adults with older children has been four years in the planning stages and is the brainchild of J. A. Nelson, president of the development firm.

Enderle Gardens will consist of 62 homes when completed, set in a beautiful park with lagoon and with common greens surrounding the homes.

Winding streets and underground utilities are part of the beautification plan of the project. Hundreds of flowering trees, shrubs and plantings in the park, greens and around all the private patio have already been installed in the first unit of 16 homes.

Nelson pointed out that every one of the first 16 homes have entirely different floor plans and with many different types of stylings.

Extensive glass areas and sliding glass doors will open onto patios, and focus on the views and vistas of common greens and the park. Desired privacy of the covered patios with each home is being achieved with decorator stone walls and plantings.

Completely landscaped and maintained the year around, Enderle Gardens boasts of over 225,000 square feet or 5 acres of lawns and park alone under sprinklers. Over $80,000 will be spent on landscaping of the park, the greens and in installing plantings around each home, the Nelsons stated.

The exclusive community is located south of 17th St. on Yorba Ave. within the city limits of Tustin.

IN PARK SETTING

An Enderle Gardens home is shown here viewed through a fountain in the central park area. Enderle Gardens consists of individually planned homes in a 20-acre, completely landscaped park in Tustin.

Big Royal Home On Low Terms

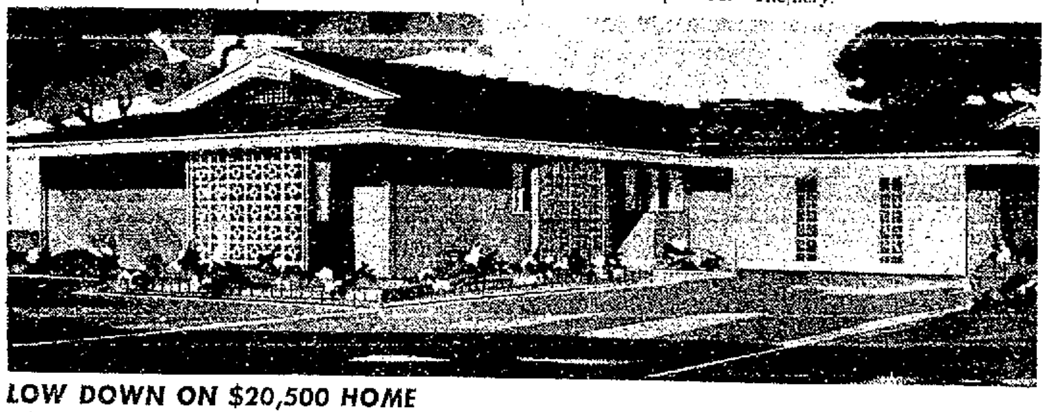
Excellent response to the new financing terms has been noted at Royal Homes, states Robert Rodman of the developing firm. According to Rodman buyers may purchase with as little as $295 down plus costs and pay no taxes or insurance premiums until January 1965.

Royal Homes, according to Rodman, offer the home buyer a "complete package." Buyers moving in find that the purchase price of their home includes such things as built-in range and oven, fence around rear yard with gate, dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpet, front lawns and shrubs.

THE LOCATION of Royal Homes is excellent, Rodman states, being the closest community to the beach in the new City of Fountain Valley.

The homes are three and four bedrooms with family room and two baths. The lots are extra large and will easily accommodate pools. The homes are priced from $20,500 and are available to qualified buyers with very low down payments.

Royal Homes are at Garfield and Cannery. From Los Angeles take the Santa Ana Freeway to Highway 39, south of Garfield and east to Cannery.



LOW DOWN ON $20,500 HOME

Royal Homes like this are offered in Fountain Valley at prices starting at $20,500 with low down payments. Carpeting, fencing and front lawns are included in the purchase price.

Will Offer Real Estate School Free

Kickoff meeting for a tuition-free real estate school will be Monday, 7:30 p.m., at 8307 Garden Grove Blvd.

The school, sponsored by the Moore Relaty Co., will be held Mondays and Wednesdays in Garden Grove from Nov. 11, and Tuesday and Thursdays in Fullerton, from Nov. 12. A staff of three instructors, headed by Jack Krueger, general manager of the firm will conduct the free classes.

E. Tennyson Moore, president of the company, said the free school, second offered by the company, is designed to train prospective salespeople to serve the real estate industry's growing business in Orange County.

TERMS, LOCATION APPEAL

The terms, which call for only $150 cash, and the location in Huntington Beach have been big factors in the rapid sale of the Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes. Here is one of the models offered.

Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes Nearing Sell Out

The sellout point at the Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes in Huntington Beach is approaching after only a few weeks since grand opening, according to Sy Bram, executive director of the Sunkist Plaza Builders, the developing firm.

"A survey by our sales personnel indicates that the leading factors in this rapid pace have been the terms, which allow for no down payment and only $150 costs to move in, and the prized location in Huntington Beach," Bram revealed.

High on the list of features has been the inclusion of Waste King Universal built-in appliances in the kitchen. This includes gas range and oven in color, disposal, range hood and fan in matching color.

* * * *

"THIS IS an example of the extra value found in our homes," commented Bram. "This is possible only through our mass buying power which we have accumulated through the years, enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Three basic floor plans can be incorporated in a choice of 25 exteriors that cover nearly every motif available.

"This is one of the reasons why, all things considered, it is one of the best home values in Huntington Beach," added Bram.

THE DEVELOPMENT is only eight miles from California's finest beach and is "next door" to the various excellent recreation facilities offered by the city.

The quality residences also include a separate utility room, genuine Formica counters, natural ash cabinets, forced air heating with thermostat control, brick fireplaces, aluminum and glass shower doors, sliding wardrobe closets and shades and aluminum screens.

In addition, the homes are on 6000 square foot lots and are on wide paved streets. They feature all brass hardware and weather stripped exterior doors.

Everett Davis Buys Land in Capistrano

Everett Davis Sr., president of Everett Davis & Sons and Associates of Corona del Mar, has announced acquisition of 411 acres of land in San Juan Capistrano.

Al Simmons, a partner in the firm, said the decision to buy the property was based on the potential growth of the San Juan Capistrano Valley, the ready availability of water, sewers, utilities and the natural migration of a percentage of the million persons in Orange County who have a desire to live by the sea.

Access to the San Diego Freeway and Highway 101 links the property to metropolitan centers.

The land was purchased from the owners of the Capistrano Saddle Club. The property overlooks two golf courses, hills and the ocean.

Gumbiner Heads New Division of Ellis-Schrader

Creation of a new property investment and development division of Ellis-Schrader, Inc., Realtors, and appointment of Mark T. Gumbiner as its manager, has been announced by J. Tyson Ellis, president of the firm.

Gumbiner, a native of Gard, Indiana, received his B. A. degree from the university and took his postgraduate work in the field of anthropology at the Universities of Washington and Chicago. He and his wife lived and worked among various Indian groups for several years in Mexican mountain villages. His work in anthropology was sponsored by the Universities of Washington and Chicago and by the National Indian Institute of Mexico.

GUMBINER

Gumbiner lectured for 10 years on anthropological subjects, and became a real estate specialist about two years ago.

Resales Draw Most Mortgages

NEW YORK (UPI) — Almost three times as many residential mortgages are issued in the United States as new houses started, the U. S. Savings & Loan League reports. The league says re-sale and re-financing mortgages thus are much the larger share of the business.

L.B. Chaplain's Son on Board of Union Carbide

Dr. James M. Hester, president of New York University and son of a retired Long Beach Navy chaplain, has been elected a director of Union Carbide Corp., it was announced by Birny Mason Jr., president of the corporation.

Dr. Hester, who at 39 has been cited as one of the country's outstanding young educators, becomes the first representative from the academic world on Union Carbide's board of directors. His professional interests have included international affairs, management consulting and advertising research.

First Unit of Showcase Home Development Sells Out Fast

PLAN UNIT TWO
Frank McFarland of McFarland & Mattocks, sales agents for Showcase Homes, and William Krueger, builder of the homes, contemplate the success of their sell-out of Unit 1 before the 101 homes were even completed for occupancy in Westminster. They are holding plans for Unit 2 of these homes which have an exclusive "growing room."

"The entire first unit of 101 Showcase homes was sold out 90 days before they were finished and ready for occupancy. People are willing to walt for this quality-value home even though many homes in the Westminster-Garden Grove area are available for immediate occupancy," stated Frank McFarland of McFarland & Mattocks, sales agents for the homes.

"People who have shopped the market for homes in this area," McFarland continued, "feel a Showcase home is worth waiting for. We have already begun construction for unit two of these spacious homes. Furnished models can be seen at Hazard just east of Highway 39. rices begin at $19,985.

* * * *

ONE OF the outstanding features of Showcase homes is a large "growing room" in the second story of the split-level designs. By using one of the three plans provided by the builder, William Krueger, a home buyer can finish his home as a six-bedroom, three-bathroom luxury home or install two extra-large bedrooms and a bath to suit his family's needs. He can also utilize the extra-large "growing room" for a spacious family activity center. Krueger also offers the home-buyer the option of buying his home completely finished.

These homes offer 18 widely varied elevations. Exteriors are enhanced with stone, used brick or colonial brick. Entry halls are slate and roofs are wood shake and shingle. All tile in kitchens and bathroom is ceramic. In addition, there are marble pullmans in baths and oversized linen closets.

Electric kitchens feature built-in ranges, wide ovens, garbage disposers. Fireplaces are architecturally designed. Only wall-to-wall carpeting is used. A feature of each home is a completely fenced rear yard and a professionally landscaped front yard.

Grocer Assn. Elects

John H. Irwin of the Greater All American Markets in Downey has been elected president of the California Grocers Association by delegates to the group's convention in Palm Springs.

Still Good Choice of Westwind Homes

A spokesman for the firm announced there are still choice elevations of three and four-bedroom homes, with two full baths, available at Westwind Homes, a new residential development located on Bushard Street in Westminster.

This residential development is a walled community of 38 customized homes priced from $8,995, requiring $117 per month including principal and interest and 6% financing is available.

* * * *

QUALITY features found in these attractive homes include wall-to-wall carpet, an oversize fireplace, spacious wardrobes and linen closets, and aluminum sliding glass doors. The ultra-modern kitchen has built-in range and oven with hood, dishwasher, dining area and entrance to the garage from the kitchen. Specifications also include a dressing room boudoir, and many built-ins, and storage space.

Located within easy driving distance to the finest beaches, Westwind Homes are close to schools, shopping centers and light industrial centers. Model homes are reached from Beach Boulevard (Highway 39) by going east on Hazard to Bushard.

Who made it possible for Security Title to cut title fee costs?

You did.

Passing savings on to the customer is one of the best old traditions in American business.

Security Title believes in it. So we want to thank you who buy title insurance for helping us bring this idea to our own business in the form of reduced title fees.

Because of you, 1963 has been by far the most successful year in the company's history.

Our constantly rising volume, together with the nation's most modern and efficient title plant, made it possible to pass substantial title savings on to you.

Our new low title fees are available in Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties.

Reduced title fees have surprised some people. But the response among those who buy titles hasn't been surprising at all. We see it expressed every day in still more new orders.

With assets of $19,000,000 and a staff of over 1700 experienced employees, Security Title still isn't the biggest title insurance company. But we do try to be the best.

She Shoots Her Own Fur Coats

by Mary
Ellis
Carlton

BEAUTY AND THE BEASTS—Mrs. W. G. Krieger wears zebra weskit, is surrounded by animals shot on safari. Weskit (also coat on page W-5) were designed by Phil Surfas, local furrier, who also processed skins.

Red-haired Mrs. W. G. Krieger is a well-packaged bundle of dynamite who explodes all theories that modern-day women have gone soft.

This Park Avenue style Annie Oakley, a beautiful grandmother surrounded by every luxury modern push-button living has to offer, is a do-it-yourselfer when it comes to fur coats.

She shoots her own.

Of course, they're harder to find that way—but it's all part of the Big Game.

For this beauty walks and stalks the beasts in the wildest of lairs. She's come face to face with lions, tigers, zebras, elephants, rhinos and cape buffalo ("cape buffalo have killed more hunters in Africa than any other type jungle beast").

Many of the ferocious animals she met in Africa—on three safaris with her avid-hunter husband, Woody—are now very much at home as throw rugs, chair covers, wall hangings and what-have-you in the couple's plush Lido Isle home overlooking fashionable Balboa Bay.

AT THE DROP of a travel folder, Thelma and Woody Krieger (he's past president of Douglas Oil Co., now chairman of the board) are off to trudge through jungles, ford streams, sleep in tents, travel thousands of miles in land rovers (African style jeeps), fight off mosquitoes, undergo hardships and suffer the ravages of long rains and humid weather.

Their favorite hunting ground is Kenya in lower East Africa, where diversified terrain offers up a variety of wild game.

They jet away to it all in space-age speed and luxury . . . four hours to New York, six hours to Rome, six more to Kenya's safari headquarters—Nairobi.

That's when their way of life changes. But drastically!

THE FIRST three days are spent getting acclimated, buying hunting licenses (one for each type animal to be pursued—an elephant license costs $250), studying maps, doing some target practice and getting outfitted with the proper shoes and supplies for the six-weeks' safari into the interior.

"You can take your wallet and buy most of the personal items you need right in Nairobi," said Mrs. Krieger. "If you're going, though, I recommend you take your own pants. The only styles available there for women are men's trousers cut short."

About the safari procedure: "The area—or areas—you will hunt are blocked out ahead of time, maybe a year ahead," explained Mrs. Krieger. "When you're assigned to an area—it's yours, all yours . . . there will be no other hunters within the block, which sometimes measures 50 miles. That way, you're not likely to get shot everytime you rustle a bush or hide behind a tree."

Each party must have a white hunter for each two shooters, also a crew of Africans (25 to 30) to set up camp, tote supplies, track and skin animals, cook meals and perform camp duties.

ALTHOUGH SAFARI life in Africa is rigorous, there are certain conveniences, Mrs. Krieger noted. Each outfit has a gas refrigerator and tents with zippers closings. Baths are taken nightly in folding canvas bathtubs filled with hot water heated in five-gallon drums ("the water may be swimming with leaves, but it's a bath.")

Delicious meals are prepared by the natives over a trench of hot coals (even hot loaves of bread) . . . and laundry is done daily (ironed, too) by the camp crew.

IN CAMP, nights take on eerie sounds—tigers growling, lions grunting, elephant's trumpeting, fish eagles giving forth with blood-curdling screams, hyenas laughing, bush babies wailing, the wind whistling through the big thorn trees.

Days are filled with the serious business of finding tracks (and recognizing them), stalking down the animals, and knowing what to do when you meet one face to face.

Mrs. Krieger has taken all in her stride. In one letter home she commented: "I'm getting to be a whiz at tracking! I can even recognize Woody's foot-

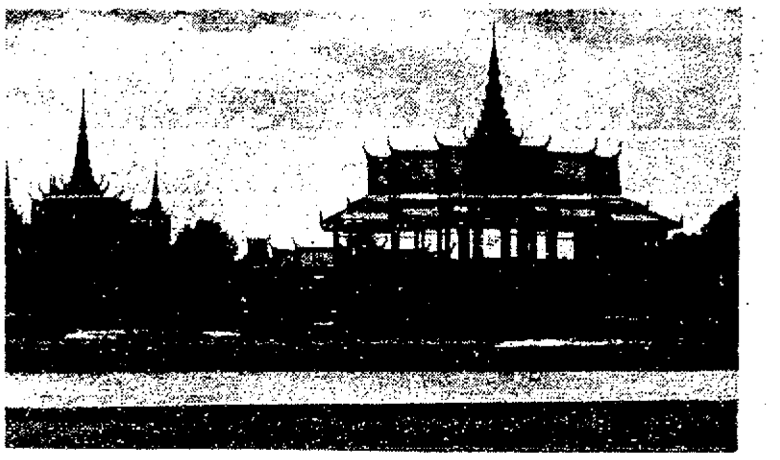
Exotic Cambodia Moves West



Khmur—Pagodas and palaces

. . . College Going Dad Says No to Nhu, Yes to U.S.

By MARY NETH

Sie Chhorn of State College is at swords points with rapier tongued Madame Nhu.

A quiet young Cambodian, friendly, but reticent in expressing personal views, Chhorn grows almost voluble at mention of Viet Nam's "Dragon Lady." Her talkative tour of the U.S. isn't pleasing him at all.

In fact, Chhorn, who follows the Buddhist faith as do 98 percent of his countrymen, wonders seriously if neighboring South Viet Nam has a chance to win the war against the Communists as long as the brash beauty reigns at the palace.

He believes that while the South Vietnamese hate Communism, they aren't fond of her brother Diem's rule, either.

* * * *

CHHORN, here with wife and tiny daughter, Bophar, is one of 28 Cambodians studying at Long Beach State College under auspices of a unique U.S. program. The program, which aims to staff a complete school at Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, hinges on efforts to secure our position on the strategic Malay Peninsula.

In 1965 Chhorn will return to his homeland to teach at the school now being constructed by the United States. The entire faculty will be made up of Long Beach and Los Angeles State alums, whose impressions of the U.S. are bound to be passed on to the 1,800 member student body.

What those impressions are could be important for right down the street the Russians are wasting no time in staffing an industrial school of their own.

This interview took place before the revolution took place in Viet Nam where the political situation is constantly changing.

* * * *

BUT, NONE of this is in Chhorn's hands. Though he keeps track of world events (he's an avid reader of Time Magazine), and greatly admires Henry Cabot Lodge, his main interest centers, quite naturally, on his own little family and in doing well in his studies.

"I had never seen Bophar until last June when my parents made it possible for my wife to join me," he says. "The baby was born after I left home."

Chhorn first studied in Canada for a year before enrolling at Long Beach State in 1961. "It was easier that way," he explains. "I speak fluent French, the time in Canada gave me a chance to get adjusted—work on my English a little longer."

While Chhorn was away, his wife, Neang Sokhom, stayed with her parents and worked as nurse. "It was lonely for both of us," he says.

The U.S. government pays the bills for Chhorn's living expenses here, but not his wife's. His parents art footing the bill for that. With this in mind, the young couple watch their pennies carefully.

* * * *

"WE PREFER our own Cambodian dishes with perhaps an occasional hamburger thrown in," says Chhorn. "We aren't tempted by frozen foods and canned goods but even at that, we're finding the food bill runs high."

The Cambodian menu, according to Chhorn, leans heavily to rice — is similar to Japanese cooking. "Sometimes we have a little trouble finding the right spices," he says.

Right now their expeditions to the supermarket are a real family affair. Neang is taking English classes, but as yet, hasn't progressed far enough to venture out on her own. In fact, were it not for the companionship of two other Cambodian wives, she would be living a very isolated existence.

* * * *

"THERE'S ONE thing I do wish," says Chhorn, "that Bophar had someone to play with. There is no yard here. She has to stay inside unless her mama takes her for a walk."

Along these lines Chhorn has checked into nursery schools but as yet found none close by that he can afford. He thinks it would be good for his little daughter to meet some other children for an hour or so a week—learn some English.

"My wife is looking forward to the day when she can speak the language and when we can take some trips and see more of this big country."

So far, they have both observed that "life moves very fast here." Cambodia, by contrast, is a quiet country. Their pictures show it to be a land of much natural beauty, decorated with shrines and beautiful temples. One city, Angkor, is noted for the ruins of great stone monuments built at the height of the medieval empire.

The country, run as a constitution-

Local Scores--from Opera to Golf

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

THERE WAS a lot more than high class vocal tra la la-ing going on Friday night when San Francisco Opera opened its local run at the Shrine Auditorium. There were gala throngs of tra la la ensembled localites present, through the efforts of the L.B. Auxiliary to L.A. Philharmonic, which helps bring the opera to So. Cal.

All set for opening night at the opera.

Pictured above, to prove the point, are participants Vera and George Kerns and Helen and Wesley Grisinger. Of the 90 people from L.B. in the opening night crowd, about 70 tickets were sold by Vera alone.

Except for a few individuals, the operaites went up in two chartered buses—one leaving from Florence and Orville Cole's and the other from the Petroleum Club. Florence and Orville entertained for about 60 persons at a pre-opera buffet, a kudo affair for those who worked on the auxiliary's Wine and Roses party in early Fall.

Bet those were the gussiest busses in the bus business buzzing the freeways Friday night. What did the gang see? Pardon. Puccini's "Tosca."

ALTHOUGH delighted grandparents have been busy blanketing the town with phone calls, some still must not be aware that cute Gail and Phil Clock have welcomed their second baby, another girl, born Monday at Memorial. She was a "big" little gal, weighed 8 pounds and 13 ounces. The delighted grandmeres et grandperes are Clara and Andy Andrews and Frances and Henry Clock. Most excited of all is great grandmother, Maude (Mrs. Ralph) Clock.

WHILST on the track of well-known grandparents, add Emily and John Cottrell. Their daughter and son-in-law, Janet and John Hancock "presented' them with a baby girl back there in New York City where they make their home. The Hancocks' other child is John Cottrell Hancock, now a lively handful of a 2-year-old. The baby's name is Lauren. Emily, due home in a few days or even any minute now, has been back with Janet and John since early October.

LONG BEACH turned "best dressed" in a variety of locations Monday. One spot was around the Assistance League's House when members wore best bib and tuckers to annual Founder's Day. Founder Winifred Campbell was there and beaming, despite the fact she recently had a set-to with hospital life.

Seen here and there—Emily Persons quietly accepting congrats for her new job editing league's "hello" newsletter—Loraine Miller arriving, but not able to stay long, with Clare Hossum, Norma Trammell and Vivian Davis.

With a kind of motherly interest, past presidents, smiling those everything-in-order smiles, noted were Ann Exley, Marian Ritner, Ann Yunker and Mildred Wing. And OF COURSE Tess Heusel was casting her infectious enthusiasm all around for our now in full swing Diamond Jubilee celebration.

GETTING Halloween scare crows off the ground early Thursday at League House were co-hostesses Alice Sievers, Hazel Robinson and Flo Newton who entertained at a brunch-bridge for about 120. Bridge prizes, the lucky, gals, were bottles of perfume purchased by Hazel in France during here just completed trek to Europe.

STEALING THIS one, lock, stock, barrel, trigger and buckshot, too, from Junior League's most recent issue of "High Tidings," is the pix and info below. The Debutante Committee Ball announced that Dr. Art Buell will act as master of ceremonies for the Dec. 28th high society affair.

Art is shown surrounded by, left, Pat Johnson and Marjory Clarke. Encompassed by smiles like that what could the poor guy say, "No?" Of course not. It will be no easy chore to be debonair in the glare of the bright lights but Art is long used to league ways and helpfulness since wife, Sue, went active in 1948.

Picture of man being coerced into doing a job.

Among Country Clubettes who were on the ball!

HAIL the winners—who certainly proved they were hale on the golf course—of the annual Dick Browning sponsored women's golf tourney at Virginia Country Club. Pictured above three of the top non-bogeyers (if such a term you please permit) are, from left, partners Marge (Mrs. Bob) Sprague and "T.D." (Mrs. Bob) Mahannah with Judy (Mrs. Milo) Ellik, whose partner, not pixed, was Ruth Easley. They shared winners honors with 210 net scores for the 54 hole play, first couple, 211 for next.

Other winners who were feted at a post-play celebration Friday at the club (luncheon and the awarding of Steuben glass prizes) were Daphne Munzer and Rose Northrup, 213; Ruth Drum, Marge Middleton, 214, to take second places. Third prizes went to Kay Smith and Tressa Slosson, 215; Edna Abrams and Pat Settles, 216.

Nine hole players winning were Mary Lou Collins and Virginia Owen, with a sizzling 211 (these gals should be in the 18 hole group), Lorita Oliver and Dora Hill, second place, with a net 230.

WHEREAS the scroll type invitations were dreamed up one night, a la an official document, while one hostess, Dorothy Willse, was reading the Congressional Record (get her) then, whereas and subsequently, the guests had a glorious time. The occasions were two brunches and beautifully, socially legislated by co-hostesses Betty Buffum and Betty Godwin at the Buffum's home in Park Estates last Monday and Tuesday.

Ruffridge Anniversary to Be Celebrated Here

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruffridge will be honored at an open house today in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

The event will take place in their home, 735 Freeman Ave., from 2 to 5 this afternoon and is being given by their daughters and granddaughter.

The Ruffridges are now home following a second honeymoon during which they visited Iowa and 16 other states.

In Iowa, they were honored at a party given by the Andrew Carneys of Charles City. On Oct. 27, 50 relatives joined them in celebration at a dinner in the California Room of Clifton's Cafeteria.

* * * *

THE COUPLE married Sept. 24, 1913, at the bride's home near Marble Rock, Iowa. They came to California in 1952.

He was a farmer and also a truck driver for a livestock company until retirement. He is now president of the Iowa Association here and manager of the Coast Federal Saving Baseball team in the City League.

Mrs. Ruffridge became a life member of the P-T.A. after coming to California and works on numerous fund-raising campaigns.

They have two daughters, Erma Ruffridge and Mrs. John Donlon, both of Long Beach and one granddaughter, Ruth Donlon, also of this city.

Pioneer Families Joined

Diane Michele London and Walter Melvin Killingsworth Jr., members of prominent Long Beach pioneer familis, were married in an afternoon wedding at California Heights Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. Walter Melvin Killingsworth and Charles P. London.

The bride wore a formal gown with a re-embroidered Chantilly lace bodice, satin skirt and chapel train. Her petal veil fell in four tiers from a crown of seed pearls and crystal.

Lanette Killingsworth attended the bride as maid of honor. The bridegroom chose Dennis Babb to serve as best man.

OTHER MEMBERS of the bridal party included Terry, Christy and Stephen London, Gail and Trudy Chilcote, William Peake, James Denny, Steven Dalton and Richard Schmidt and Douglas Farmer.

Mrs. Edward Killingsworth, aunt of the bridegroom, was soloist.

A champagne reception followed the ceremony at Virginia Country Club.

The new Mrs. Killingsworth attended Anoakia and Progress School. Her husband is a graduate of Polytechnic High School.

The couple is honeymooning at an undisclosed destination.

Party Games Are Not Always Fun for All Participants

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

At a Halloween party last week my little son of 9 had a terrible experience.

The mother of the little host had taken it upon herself to supervise the games. After the cake and ice cream, she said: "Let's play hide and seek in the dark." My little son always has been frightened of the dark and he begged her not to turn the lights off.

But she laughed and patted him on the shoulder, and the other children called him "coward." So the lights went off, the tip-toeing of little feet began, and there was breathing and tittering and moaning sounds. Finally one of the youngsters felt my son crouching under the stairs and he cried: "I'm a ghost and I'm going to carry you away."

When the lights came on my son had fainted dead away, and it took a long time and a doctor to bring him out of his trance. Ever since then he has been in a terrible emotional state. His fears have been multiplied. He jumps at every sound and insists on sleeping with lights on. The psychiatrist says it may take a long time to bring him out of this state.

I am writing this, Mrs. Mayfield, in the hope that mothers who are giving such parties not be tempted to indulge in practical-joke types of games. How cruel such games are!

—DISTRAUGHT.

DEAR DISTRAUGHT:

You could not be more right. The fine English author, Graham Greene, wrote a short story, "End of the Party," very much like the episode you have told, except that the lad died as the lights came up.

When I was young I went to such a children's party. We bobbed for apples—in the dark. Who thought up this crazy idea, I'm not sure. But one little boy was almost drowned when a bigger lad held his head under water. If someone hadn't turned the lights on, I'm sure he would be dead today.

In giving a children's party, it's always good to ask yourself: How will the party end?—M. M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

We have several sets of "wind bells" hung from the limbs of trees in our garden. When the breezes blow they render the loveliest music.

But we have mean, nasty neighbors who are constantly complaining that the bells "drive us crazy," or asking us if we can't stop "the infernal racket." They complain that they can't sleep because of our bells or that the bells wake them up.

How can people be deaf to such soft, lovely sounds? I feel that I am right in this and see no reason to remove bells that sound so softly and melodiously. Am I not right?—AGNES.

DEAR AGNES:

I, too, am very fond of wind bells, but I do feel strongly that one set at a time sounds vastly better than many sets mingling together.

I can well imagine your neighbors writing the following letter: "Dear Mrs. Mayfield: We have neighbors who have quite a few wind bells in their garden, and while we would not object to one set, we do find several make more "music" than we can possibly appreciate. Don't you think we have a right to complain?"

Agnes, I'm afraid my answer to them would be "Most certainly."—M. M.

'Magic in Motion' Thursday

Long Beach alumnae will attend Alpha Chi Omega's seventh annual "Magic in Motion" fashion luncheon benefit Thursday in the International Ballroom of Beverly Hilton Hotel.

New interest in the event has been aroused by recent announcement by the National Society for Crippled Children that the 19th District ranked first in the United States and Canada in 1962 in funds raised and service hours donated to the handicapped. Southern California executive board, sponsor of the coming benefit, was responsible for the greatest amount of financial assistance in the district.

* * * *

ALUMNAE from 14 Southern California areas will attend the benefit. Hundreds of white feathered birds escaping from white bird cages on green tablecloths and from a large aviary on stage will convey the thought that to a crippled child there is "Magic in Motion."

After luncheon, Georgia Bullock will present her latest Fall and Barefoot Collection. A fortunate guest will receive one of Miss Bullock's designs at the close of the showing, when many valuable door prizes will be awarded.

* * * *

AMONG HONORED guests will be Mrs. George Stevens (Ivy Baker Priest, former Treasurer of the United States and past honorary chairman of the National Easter Seal Campaign), and Alfred T. Alden, president of the Crippled Children's Society of Los Angeles County.

Mrs. John S. Nash and Mrs. Richard L. Oblinger are benefit co-chairmen.

* * * *

LONG BEACH members on the benefit committee include Mmes. Joseph D. Dennis Jr., Roy K. Andriesse, William S. Flower, Franklin D. Rider, Joseph J. Risinger and George Moore.

In addition to supporting the annual benefit, Long Beach alumnae contribute funds and volunteer hours to the Long Beach Regional Center of Crippled Children's Society.

An annual harbor cruise is sponsored for handicapped children and young adults and the purchase of wheelchairs and speech therapy equipment is made possible through the efforts of the local group.

Members serve as volunteer interviewers for the summer camp program, address Easter Seal envelopes, and beginning this fall will furnish volunteer help in the center's office one day a week.

75th Year Fete for Tri Delts

Founded in Boston in 1888, Delta Delta Delta, a national fraternity for women, is celebrating a 75th anniversary this year.

Tri Delt Alumnae of Southern California will meet with collegiate members from UCLA, USC and Long Beach Panhellenic Monday at 7 p.m. in the Viennese Room of the Huntington Sheraton Hotel in Pasadena to observe the event.

Mrs. Pierre J. Laustaunou, president of the Southern California Alumnae Council, is chairman. Speaker will be Mrs. Edward Natesteen, past national president.

Delta Delta Delta now has 108 collegiate chapters and 313 alumnae chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

* * * *

SOUTHERN California Tri Delts also support the research of hematology at Los Angeles Children's Hospital and have endowed a seat at Los Angeles Music Center.

Among those attending from Long Beach will be Dianne Corbitt and Mmes. Charles Smith, associate Tri Delta director; Marlene Johnson, Carl Frear, Kenneth Gaines, Aubrey Dean Williams and Joseph Reed.

Dance Studio Featured at Program

Gladora Dance Studio of Inglewood will present "A Salute to Football Heroes" at the Community Program sponsored by the Long Beach Recreation Department Monday in the Exhibit Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

The cast of 30 ranges in age from 3 to 20. The ballet group will dance 'An American in Paris, "featuring the Gladorettes in "That's Entertainment."

Carl H. Robertson will open the program at 7:30 p.m. leading the community singing, with Regenia Beam as accompanist.

The Tyo Orchestra will play for old time and square dancing following the show. Joe Marshall will be the caller.

The public is invited to this free civic program.

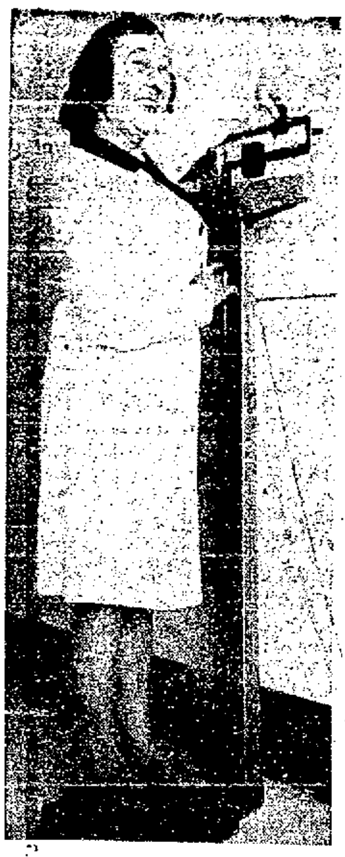
'New Model You' Series

Lost, 25 Pounds; Found, Glamor

Dear Fashion Editor: Five years ago, my husband bought me a fur cape — and I promised to lose 10 pounds. The next year he gave me a beautiful grey suit (a bribe to lose the original 10 and five more pounds gained in the interim). Last year — with 25 pounds added since the fur cape episode — he just shook his head. At 44 and 5-feet-1, my 149 pounds make people look twice these days — but NOT admiringly. Anyway you figure, I need help.



BEFORE—Katherine Cougle in May, when figure analysis at Stauffer System salon started her on road to new-found glamor. Hair, worn too long, flat on top shortens height.

AFTER—A wig, to match her own auburn hair, gives buoyant, more youthful look. Wig was designed especially for Mrs. Cougle by stylist at du Barry Glamor Tops.

—Staff Photoss by Joe Risinger

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
I, P-T Fashion Editor

What promised to become vegetation has —presto!—turned into vitality for Mrs. Katherino Cougle, our latest candidate for the I, P-T's "New Model You" series.

Viewing the mirrored reflection of her 125-pound figure, her more flattering coiffure (here a wig) and her wake-up with makeup, she commented enthusiastically:

"it's true . . . really true! Feeling you look attracive is the better part of security. I can now say, from experience, that knowing you look your best self gives renewed confidence . . . you work better, feel better, think better."

And we think no truer words were ever spoken.

MRS. COUGLE'S transformation started months before, when she wrote to the I, P-T asking if she could be one of our makeovers:

"At 44 AND 5-feet-1, 149 pounds makes people look twice at Yours Truly sometimes," she wrote, "but NOT for the same reason they looked around six years ago when I was 30 pounds lighter."

When we asked why she wanted to be made over, it was her husband, Ralph, she mentioned: "I'm really not much of an inspiration for keeping my husband a 'Middle Years Sweetheart'—particularly when my Better Half, who wears the same size he did at 22, is beginning to despair of what type dress to buy for his Mrs. 5x5."

OUR SUBJECT'S tranformation started —as all good transformations should—with a figure analysis. Chanting words like "I haven't gone anywhere for three years" . . . "I feel lik a blimp" . . . I roll instead of walk," she checked in at Pat Walker's Stauffer salon in Lakewood.

She tipped the scales at 149. Her dimensions: 42-34-42—a pretty broad outlook for her short stature. Diagnosis: at least 25 to 30 pounds had to go.

They have. After persistently following the passive exercise routine for a few months at the reducing salon, Mrs. Cougle has pared off 25 pounds and is still losing. With new 38-28-37 proportions, she's gone from a size 18 to size 12 dress, with size 10 the goal.

WHAT REMAINED to be done? She needed a sleeker, more well-defined look—a more flattering hair style, tips on make-up.

Next to her weight loss, the most startling change was her hair. In her after pictures, she's wearing a copper-toned wig that matches her own too-thin tresses. The wig-do was accomplished by a stylist at du Barry Glamor Tops, 250 Long Beach Blvd., who designed a brush-up coif with a whisp of bangs to give added height and soften her features.

Her own hair (which she had been wearing yards too long "because it's so thin") was restyled by Mr. Stanley at the Vogue Modeling Agency salon. Cropped shorter, it turned out to have a buoyant, fuller, more natural look. Her hair style was chosen on the same principles as her fashions were—it's simple, it's soft, it's youthful.

FOR HER wake-up with make-up, done by Elda Barry, owner-operator of the Vogue Agency, we gave her fake brown lashes (mink), a pale foundation and lighter lipstick. A darker foundation was used on the tip of the nose to give it less prominence. Rouge was blended high on the cheeks ("every woman should wear rouge—to give a more finished, a more youthful look," says Mrs. Barry).

Brows were raised with hair strokes drawn with an auburn-colored eyebrow pencil. The finishing touch: a water-base eyeliner, powder eye shadow.

All makeup was applied subtly—with restraint. Over-all result: a more youthful, natural look.

TO SHOW OFF her thinner figure and highlight her hair color, we chose an after-five dress of vibrant brown with simple lines.

And we gave these if-you-are-short rules for her daytime wardrobe: Think "tall" and wear vertical lines with the emphasis high —a broad white collar, a bright scarf. High hats and heels are good buildups. Slim skirts, single color outfits, accessories scaled to your size, short jackets and rather short skirts are good. Best if your belt matches—and keep it narrow.

AND, REMEMBER, a makeover begins when you decide to take the time to find your particular inimitable best looks.

What you're searching for is your own feeling about YOU, expressed in clothes, in make-up, in the way you wear your hair. When you've found it, it will be as personal and as consistent as your signature . . . and the way to find it is to experiment—there are few instantaneous revelations.

The foundation for it all: a well-proportioned figure. So check your scales and your dimensions first. Then go from there.

As Mrs. Cougle put it: "When I started getting my figure back, I got my personality back, too."

SHOWING OFF new size 12 figure (she formerly wore size 18), Mrs. Cougle's after-five dress from Vinson's, 4500 Atlantic Ave., has simple lines, is vibrant brown (to complement hair color). Mrs. Cougle lost 25 pounds, plans to lose more.

Shoots Her Own Fur Coats

prints. His basketball shoes make a little monkey-face track. I can now tell a rhino from an elephant, a dik-dik from a buffalo. Lions have big kitty-tracks. Hyenas really fool me; their toenails leave a funny mark.

MORE TROPHIES from Africa . . . zebra jacket, styled by Phil Surfas, Long Beach furrier . . . zebra covered chairs (she has set of four), elephant tusks, polished and gold-tipped . . . elephant-hoof wastebasket . . . lion rug.

ONCE SHE'S tracked down her prey, she gets him. With dead-eye proficiency, she's bagged what big game hunters call the Big Five—an elephant, rhino, lion, leopard and cape buffalo. And each with ONE shot—something of a record among females OR males, according to her African white hunter, Eric Rundgren.

How many others has she to her credit? She's lost count.

But she pooh-poohs her prowess with a rifle.

"Anyone can do it," says she, "anyone who can walk, see, shoot a gun, find something to rest it on . . . and if he (or she) knows the animal's vulnerable spot. It helps, too, if the animal holds still, and YOU don't fall apart," she laughed. "I do all my shaking afterwards."

MRS. KRIEGER isn't the only crack shot in her family. Her husband, an avid fisherman and animal tracker, has brought home enough skins, horns, heads and hooves to fill a museum.

And the couple's oldest son, Dennis, then 19, won the Air France Trophy Award on the family's first safari (1960) with his 114 and 123-pound elephant tusks. Their other son, Steven, also accompanied the couple on their first African trip.

Although the boys were not on the second and third African trips, they'll be on the fourth—next August. It'll be the most exciting of all—into Southern Africa's barren Kalahari Desert, hunting ground of the savage Bushmen, who still live as they did in the Stone Age.

It's the first year safaris have been organized for this almost virgin territory. As Mrs. Krieger put it: "This should be quite a challenge."

Gourmet Cookery Class Set

Gourmets on a budget should give the latest workshop offered by Long Beach City College General Adult Division top billing.

The workshop, a four-week foreign cookery project, will present ideas, recipes and typical menus for thrifty but exotic international style meals.

The weekly three-hour sessions (beginning Tuesday at 7 p.m.) are sponsored by heh Home and Family Living Department of the college and offered the public free of charge. The classes will meet in Room 431, Millikan High.

SPECIAL topics to be covered will be a "Gathering of the Clan" dinner Tuesday, a "South of the Border" buffet supper Nov. 12, a "Dutch Breakfast Party" Nov. 19 and a "Viennese Candlelight Dinner" Nov. 26.

Theme of Benefit Dance

"Pumpkin Promenade" is the theme which will be developed for the benefit dance to be sponsored by Saint Matthew's Parish Council on Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Toast Room of the Elks Club.

The Hi Tones will provide music for dancing and there will be door awards and games. The public is invited.

Mrs. Donald Jones is chairman. Assisting her are Mmes. Charles Magee, Raymond Murray, Albert Michels, Norman Leslie and Lawrence Sauter. For ticket information contact Mrs. Charles Magee, 675 Stanley Ave.

Comedy to Open Run at Community

"Strange Bedfellows," period comedy by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, will have its formal opening Friday and an informal showing Saturday at Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St.

The play will run Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays through Dec. 7 and will reopen Jan. 2.

An invitational showing for civic leaders associated with Long Beach Diamond Jubilee will be given this Thursday at 8 p.m. and will be a formal night.

* * * *

THE COMEDY, set in San Francisco in 1896, was selected as the Jubilee presentation because its theme centers around the fight for women's suffrage and other features of life in California during the period.

Claudene Atkinson and Patrick B. Phelan play newlyweds who have come to San Francisco to make their home with the bridegroom's parents, pioneer residents. To the horror of the oldtimers, the bride is a vigilant exponent of women's rights.

* * * *

KATHERYN OFFILL is cast as the mother, a salty character, and Gil Davis is the father, a blustering senator who trumpets his beliefs as truth without argument.

Darlene Chaffee and Ken Harkey have vivid roles as a daughter and son-in-law. Their two children are played by Mark Atkinson and Gayle Shadduck. Anne Reines is Tillie, manager of a Barbary Coast establishment.

Larry Johns is director. Costumes were created by Charlotte and Katheryn Shuman.

SHOCKING VIEWS
Claudine Atkinson and Patrick B. Phelan (left), as newlyweds, are being admonished sternly for their modern views by Kathryn Offill and Gil Davis, pioneer parents of the groom, in "Strange Bedfellows," which will open Friday at Community Playhouse. The period play is offered as a Jubilee special.

L.B. Artists' Display in Water Color Show

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Three Long Beach artists are represented in the 43rd annual National Exhibition of California Water Color Society which opens Thursday at Otis Art Institute, 2401 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles.

They are Fran Soldini, Robert Adams and Elsa Warner.

The exhibition of 96 paintings was selected from 772 entries by jurors Richard Haines, Emil Kosa Jr., Edward Reep, John Leeper and Delmer Yoakum. Seventeen prizes totaling $4,500 will be awarded.

Gallery hours are 12:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays; the gallery is closed Mondays. The show will continue through Dec. 22.

Mrs. Soldini's painting was chosen as one of 31 entries to go into a traveling show which will tour the United States next year.

California Water Color Society is a national organization, founded in 1921 with 11 members. Since then, it has grown to more than 300 members, many of national and international reputation.

Currently, the society has three shows on tour: the travel show of last year's annual exhibition, the Virginia Museum Traveling Exhibition and Travel '63, which was organized to meet the demand of local educational institutions and galleries. It will open Tuesday at Westside Jewish Community Center, 5870 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles, and includes 40 paintings.

A ONE-MAN exhibit of paintings by Herb Griswold will open with a reception Saturday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Veltman Gallery, 5604 E. Second St. and will be on view through Nov. 23.

* * * *

WILLIAM Sanson writes, "I have just finished an oil painting, the most exciting painting I have ever done."

Titled "History of Man," it depicts man from his beginning to the present time.

The large work is on view in Sanson's studio window, 441 E. Broadway.

THREE PROFESSIONAL artists will exhibit during the year at Purcell Art Gallery, Chapman College.

Paintings by Lorser Feitelson will be shown Nov. 11 to 22, sculpture by Henry Moore will be exhibited Feb. 3 to 14 and Bible illustrations by Marc Chagall will be displayed May 4 to 15.

* * * *

A NEW FEATURE will be added Monday to the continuing exhibit, "Treasures of India," at Lytton Center of the Visual Arts, 150 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood. Going on display and sale will be a collection of jewels, valued at more than $250,000, and donated by Indian citizens for the benefit of Prime Minister Nehru's India Relief Fund.

Exhibit highlights include 25 Indian color documentary motion pictures shown hourly; sale of thousands of India's finest handicrafts, rare embroidered textiles, saris, contemporary paintings, temple sculpture, metal work and puppets.

Admission is free. Hours are Mondays through Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Fridays, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

PAINTINGS and prints by Lily Shuff will go on view in Pepperdine College's auditorium foyer Monday and will continue through Nov. 22.

In 1944, Miss Shuff's painting, "The Purple Heart," was cited by a New York Times critic as the most poignant picture of World War II that he had seen. Her paintings also reflect her avid interest in athletics.

CALIFORNIA PAINTER George R. James will have a show during the month of November at the new Corot Gallery, 664 South Coast Highway, Laguna Beach.

James, who won first place purchase prize awards at the California State Fair and the annual Newport Show, will unveil his new seascapes.

The artist, now art chairman at Savanna High School in Anaheim, holds a master's degree from Long Beach State College and has studied at Chouinard's Art Institute and the San Francisco Academy of Advertising Art. He resides in Costa Mesa.

Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, including Saturdays and Sundays.

LBMA Exhibit Notes City Diamond Jubilee

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

The Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., is marking the City's Diamond Jubilee with a showing of artists who live or work in the Long Beach area. The exhibit runs through this month.

Thirty-four painters, six sculptors, two potters and a jeweler were invited to enter works. They included members of the Long Beach Art Association, artists in the Museum's last juried show and the faculties of Long Beach State College and Long Beach City College.

In the foyer are displayed a gossamer silver wire pendant necklace by Al Pine, a "magic-realism" pencil still life by Dr. Charles Thompson, a rampantly expressionistic oil landscape by Orval Dillingham and an aqueous harborscape by Fran Soldini.

* * * *

THE MOST remarkable work in the large West Gallery is Lucille Brown-Greene's "Talk Peace, Rattle Sabre." The horizontal painting is crossed with two long pieces of steel. The painting in strong areas of black, white and red, is textured, incised, studded with nailheads, and, in one area, adorned with gold leaf.

Another unusual work is a large portrait of a fashionable lady by Jack Van Eden, president of the art association. The bright orange and reds are balanced with soft green.

* * * *

AMONG THE sculptures are a haut relief marble mother and child by Ina de Can and the same theme in the full round in wood by the late Ed Rugels.

Tenold Peterson's oil is reminiscent but not referential to Archile Gorky in its resolving amorphous forms in high color.

Among the works in the East Gallery, Grace Dimmick's "River Overflows" is elegant in its use of only a deep green-blue and a yellow; its simplicity suggests enormous complexity. Three sculptors are here: Ken Glenn's rather alarming "Executive," Ralph Tarzian's "Bull from Altimira," and Bob Jablonsky's small bronze lovers.

* * * *

A GORGEOUS pedestal pot by Ward Youry supports a wealth of incised and applied design with the strength of its basic form.

An historical note is struck by the inclusion of a swimmer in a marine wonderland by Florence Gendron, one of the charter members of the art association.

* * * *

THE DIVERSITY of style, theme, and content among these artists reflects the Long Beach community with an absence of static homogeneity. It is interesting to contrast the sunset-on-the-desert landscape by Geoffrey Holt with the fauvist color and expressionistic brushwork of a nearby industrial landscape with palm trees by John Martin. Or, for that matter, to contrast the illusionistic seascape of James Peter Cost with Fran Soldini's very personal vision of water.

Opera in L.A.

San Francisco Opera Company, which opened its 27th Los Angeles season Friday, will run through Nov. 24 with 20 performances of 14 works.

Kurt Herbert Adler, general director, asks that audiences arrive in time for the curtain, since late comers will not be seated until the first intermission.

On Stage---

CHAPEL THEATER, 4164 Pacific Coast Hwy., Torrance, "Thieves' Carnival," 8:30 p.m., Friday, Saturday, Sunday, through Nov. 24.

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Strange Bedfellows," 7:45 p.m. Thursday, 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MAGNOLIA THEATER, 2400 Magnolia Ave., "Come Blow Your Horn," 3 p.m. Thursday and Sunday, 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, through Nov. 16.

MORGAN HALL PLAYHOUSE, 835 Locust Ave., "Clotfield," 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Sunday, through Nov. 17.

OFF-BROADWAY THEATER, 211 Lime Ave., "Orpheus Descending," 8:30 p.m., Friday, Saturday, closing Saturday.

Luka Roki, Talented Basso

By RACHEL MORTON
I.-P-T Music Critic

Major and Minor Notes

A few years ago I wrote in glowing terms about a superb basso I heard sing in a performance of "The Messiah" in the Municipal Auditorium under the direction of Rolla Alford. The voice was so magnificent and the interpretation so heartfelt that I never forgot it, so I was very pleased when the singer came to see me recently.

Luka Roki was born on the island of Vis in Yugoslavia. Yugo, he explained, means south.

A happy homeland it was, with much music everywhere. He entered the conservatory for four years study and at the age of 19 made his debut in opera in the city of Split, a beautiful place on the Adriatic. At 21 he joined the Navy for two years compulsory service.

After the war, Roki and his family sought other homelands. The parents, brother and sister went to Sydney, Australia, while Luka came to the United States, where he is now a naturalized American citizen.

ROKI TOURED the country with the San Carlos Opera Company, singing principal roles and finally reached Los Angeles. Three years ago he and his pretty young wife, an American girl and also a singer, visited his family in Australia—whom he had not seen since 1938.

"I loved Australia," said Roki. "In Sydney there is a magnificent opera house, right on the water front, where opera is produced the year round."

"How is it that there is so little opera in a country as rich as America?" he asked.

I could not answer him, but I deplored the fact as deeply as did he.

* * * *

SINCE COMING to California, he has appeared in opera performances with the Los Angeles Opera Company and the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, singing such roles as Count Monterone in "Rigoletto," Mephistopheles in "Faust" with Marilyn Niska, and Colline in "La Boheme."

Luka Roki loves church music and oratorio. A resident of San Pedro, he sings regularly as soloist in the First Methodist Church there. This tall, handsome man has a gentle manner and his unusually beautiful, rich voice bespeaks a heart. He moved the Long Beach audience profoundly when he sang in "The Messiah." With such a rare talent in our midst, it is to be fervently hoped that we will hear more of Luka Roki.

* * * *

HALF NOTE: It is heartwarming to note that my prediction in a review of Mary Costa has come true. In a recent issue of the San Francisco Chronicle, columnist Herb Caen writes: "Mary Costa, the darlin' of the San Francisco Opera has just been engaged to sing at the Metropolitan in "La Traviata," the role that made her famous on the West Coast.

Audition Albums for Gift Ideas

"Music for the Feast of Christmas" with the Choristers of Ely Cathedral and the Renaissance Singers, and "The Wonderful Night of Greccio," a story of St. Francis, are two Christmas albums recently added to the phonograph record section at the Main Library. Now is the time to audition recordings for Christmas programs and gift ideas.

"The Poetry of Dryden" is read by Paul Scofield. "Scenes from American Novels" include selections from "Moby Dick," "Ethan Frome," and 'Two Years Before the Mast." Jose Ferrer reads the Spanish version of "Pedro Y El Lobo" by Prokofiev.

* * * *

FINLAND'S famous male singers, Laulu-Miehet, a choir of 85, are heard in "Finnish Folk Songs." For the student of the flute, Mozart's "Quartets for Flute" have been recorded with the solo part missing. "Golden Years of the Boston Symphony" includes outstanding selections conducted by Karl Muck, Pierre Monteux, Serge Koussevitzky and Charles Munch.

Phonograph records may be borrowed from the Main Library for two weeks. There is a rental fee.

Melodyland to Present 'Drum Song'

"Flower Drum Song," one of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein's great Broadway hits, will open at Melodyland Theater in Anaheim Tuesday for a two-week run. Production is the last of Melodyland Theater's summer-fall musical series. "The Music Man," current occupant of the theater-in-the round, closes tonight.

Starring in the role of Wang Ta, will be Hawaiian-born singer, James Shigeta, while a perky young beauty, Lulu Porter, surprise winner of the 1963 International Song Festival in Poland last September, will play Linda Low. Tim Herbert and lovely Yau Shan Tung, both of the original London production of "Flower Drum Song," will portray the parts of Sammy Fong and Mei Li.

* * * *

RODGERS and Hammerstein have contributed some of their loveliest songs to "Flower Drum Song," which was first presented on Broadway in 1958. These include "I Enjoy Being a Girl," originally introduced and made popular by dynamic Pat Suzuki, and "Don't Marry Me," first sung by Miyoshi Umeki. Other significant musical numbers are "You Are Beautiful," "Love Look Away," and "The Other Generation."

"Flower Drum Song" is the last of 10 stage productions presented at Melodyland Theatre on the 1963 schedule, which opened July 2. Next on the agenda will be the joint appearance of Dinah Shore and Bob Newhart, set to open for a week's run on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

MTA Continues Festival Support

All persons interested in the 1964 Southwestern Youth Music Festival are invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the Halle Studio, 2106 E. Fourth St.

At its October meeting, Long Beach Branch of Music Teachers Association announced it would continue to sponsor the festival. The second annual festival, held for three days in August, attracted 600 entries from 45 cities. More than 90 music schools and studios were represented.

The event was supported locally by individuals, educators, business firms and professional people.

'Antigone' on LBFS Bill Today

"Antigone," directed by George Tzavellas, will be shown by Long Beach Film Society today at 5 and 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater at Long Beach State College.

Irene Pappas, as Antigone, has been lauded as "a magnificent figure, since her acting preserves the strength and nobility of a character which is driven by instinct and passion."

* * * *

ANTIGONE, daughter of Oedipus, defies the kingly authority of her uncle, Creon, when his orders outrage her feelings and sense of justice and obligation. The film is cited by critics for its faithfulness to the original plot and text of Sophocles' time-honored drama.

"An Oscar for Mr. Rossi," cartoon satirizing amateur movie-makers, is the accompanying film short.

Willis Butler

Travel to Austria Via Film

Willis Butler's "Austria in Four Seasons" will be presented at five high school auditoriums this week as the second program of the 1963-64 International Film Series, sponsored by Long Beach City College General Adult Division.

Showings are scheduled at 8 p.m. Monday in the Wilson High auditorium, Tuesday at Jordan, Wednesday at Lakewood, Thursday at Poly and Friday at Millikan. Both single-event and season tickets will be available at the box office.

* * * *

BUTLER, the photographer and narrator for the all-color documentary, has been making educational motion pictures since 1940 and has produced a number of films for television. He was previously on the faculty of Northwestern University, where he managed the FM radio station and developed the university's first course in TV film production.

* * * *

"AUSTRIA IN Four Seasons" reflects the gay charm of the tourists' Austria from Vienna to the Alps, its cultural heritage and imperial past, and its present situation as an outpost of the free world bordered on three sides by Communist countries.

National Secretaries

Queen Beach Chapter, National Secretaries Association, will have its November dinner meeting at the Reef Restaurant Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., according to Vicki Stewart, program chairman. The meeting is open to any secretary in the area interested in the group.

Speaker will be Robert L. Webb, editor-publisher of the Paraplegia News, official publisher of the National Paralyzed Foundation and Paralyzed Veterans of America.

Also honored on the program will be Marguerite Moreaux, president of Long Beach Naval Shipyard Toastmistress Club, who will discuss, "Communication or Fail."

Reservations should be made with Edna Ley at Salesdrivers Union, 1239 Locust Ave.

Insurance Women

November promises to be busy one for Insurance Women of Long Beach. In keeping with city's Diamond Jubilee celebrations, now in progress, they will have George J. Nagel of the Long Beach Diamond Appraisers as guest speaker at 7 p.m. dinner meeting Thursday at Lulu's Chuck Wagon.

Members have been invited to join Orange County insurance women for a style show and dinner on Wednesday and on Nov. 19 to join Los Angeles club as they honor bosses at annual dinner meeting. On Nov. 23 they will join with San Gabriel Insurance Women as that club hosts sub-regional meeting during luncheon at Pasadena Huntington Hotel. Pauline Kincaid of Long Beach, regional director, will be honored guest.

Physical Therapists

California Physical Therapists Association, Chapter 11, will meet Tuesday in the Garden Room, Third Street and Alamitos Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Michael P. Mueller will discuss the second phase of his lecture on ultra sound in orthopedic and industrial therapy and the techniques used in clinical practice. Members are invited to bring guests.

Twenties Theme For Guild Party

Dinner, dancing and games will be features of the gala evening. Tickets will be available at the door or may be obtained from Mrs. H. Ed Tanne, 3407 Warwood Road, Lakewood.

The party is the major fund raising event for Las Madrinas. Proceeds benefit the patient library at Memorial Hospital, maintained and operated by members.

Last year 4,730 volunteer hours were given by members of the guild.

WHY GROW OLD?

Flat Abdomen Adds to a Youthful Appearance

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It might not be happy for every woman to see herself as others see her. The woman who had a pad of fat on her abdomen or hips which protrude or are weighted with fatty deposits often fails to realize how she looks.

When she takes a look at herself in the mirror she just naturally pulls her tummy in, tucks her hips under and straightens her spine. BUT, when she leaves the mirror she may relax into her old habits of posture. She may not be conscious of how she looks to others because she is not in front of the mirror when she lets go.

* * * *

AS A WOMAN grows older it takes more effort to keep her girlish figure. She must exercise more faithfully and watch her food intake more carefully. A flat abdomen adds greatly to a youthful appearance and it is also a health booster. Lack of exercise, child bearing and overweight, predispose a woman to weakened lax abdominal muscles. This in turn may cause internal organs to slump. Some of the results are fatigue, backache and constipation. Sometimes this condition occurs when a woman is so underweight that she does not have enough fat on the abdomen to help support her internal organs.

I think that the average woman is better off wearing a girdle except in early youth, and sometimes even then. Few women have strong enough abdominal muscles to give proper support. If your girdle is right for you it will be possible for you to pull your abdomen in and hold it in whenever you can remember to think about it. At other times your girdle will take over for you. Be sure that your girdle supports from below, pushing up instead of mashing down. Many very thin women have backaches because of a fallen stomach and would profit by the use of an abdominal support.

* * * *

THE FOLLOWING exercise is wonderful for the thighs and hips and also gives the waist a good twist.

Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, straight out from your shoulder pits, palms facing the floor. Bend your left knee up. Cross the knee over the right leg and touch the floor on the right side of your body with your left knee. Return left leg to starting position. This time cross your right knee over your left leg, touch the floor on the side of your body and return leg to place. Continue, alternating left and right.

If you would like to have my tested hip slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 3 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Party-Pleasers

Whole pitted fresh California dates make festive party nibbling.

Fill fresh dates with a mixture of softened cream cheese, crumbled blue cheese and chopped onion for a piquant taste innovation on your hors d'oeuvre table.

Give a new twist to an old favorite by filling fresh dates with a Cheddar cheese strip; heat until cheese melts.

As a sweet version, fill fresh California dates with hard sauce flavored with instant coffee powder.

Medical Auxiliary Slates Public Affairs Luncheon

Elected representatives and civic leaders will be among special guests when District Three of the Woman's Auxiliary to Los Angeles County Medical Association has its annual Public Affairs Day luncheon Friday noon at the Elks Club, 4101 E. Willow St.

Among those invited to meet with the group are Congressman Craig Hosmer, Assemblyman Joseph Kennick and George Deukmejian, John Mansell, William Kummer, James Hayes and Mrs. Gail C. Hudson. Husbands of auxiliary members also will be guests.

Dr. Harold Fishman, TV commentator, will speak following luncheon on the topic, "Analysis of Current Events." He will be presented by Mrs. Sam Woolington. Mrs. Eugene E. Cahill will preside.

* * * *

OF SPECIAL interest will be an exhibit arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Brown, welfare chairman, displaying handmade layette items, stuffed animals and clothes for older children to be donated by the auxiliary for use by Long Beach Juvenile Bureau.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Arthur Buell, Chester Laubscher, Gilbert Lapid, Robert Godwin, Edward Platz, Arthur Beland.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Down With Drop-In Visits

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Since most of our friends are very close, we've made it a habit to drop in on each other at any old time, and overlook the surroundings. As a result of this casual attitude, I'm afraid I have become a very poor hostess. The fact was realized when my doctor's wife called on me two days ago with a small gift for my new baby. Of all times for company to come! The weather was damp, so I kept all five children inside, and my living room was utter chaos. My daughter was ill, and I had pillows piled up at one end of the couch. The other end was piled high with clean laundry to be folded. The chairs were stacked with diapers to be folded. The carpet was out of sight under magazines, newspapers and toys. If I had beeen in the midst of straightening up the mess, it wouldn't have been so bad. But I was cutting out costumes for the children's Thanksgiving play as if I had nothing else to do. I was so embarrassed when this woman appeared at my door that I didn't even offer her a chair. I thanked for the gift and also wrote her a thank-you note. Should I call and apologize? I can't forget how rude I must have appeared to her. I got up at five o'clock this morning worrying about what she must have thought of me. What should I do?—SO ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Here we go again! Your home is your palace, and if you want to stack your laundry to the ceiling in your living room, it's your privilege. A caller who could have thrown you into such a tizzy is not "close" enough for a drop-in visit. She was thoughtless not to have given you at least an hour's notice. Call her when your house is in order some afternoon and invite her for coffee.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: When I invite my relatives for dinner, they ask, "What's the celebration?" Or, "Who else is coming?" They seem to expect me to sell them on the idea of coming, or perhaps they want guaranteed entertainment. Why can't relatives be as gracious as friends in accepting invitations?—MOLLY

DEAR MOLLY: Some are. You can't pick your relatives, but you CAN pick your dinner guests.

DEAR ABBY: I am 39 years old and the mother of three children. My husband and I have been happily married for 12 years. This summer while my husband was away on business I became interested in my best friend's husband. Should we break up two homes involving five children and two innocent grown-ups to gain happiness for ourselves? Or should be sacrifice this love of ours for the sake of our families?—BIG DECISION

DEAR BIG: Sacrifice your "love." Happiness can never be built on the heartbreak of others.

Couples Honeymoon in California

Mrs. Michael O'Neil

Mrs. Harold Slick

Mrs. Jon Snyder

O'Neil-Thomas

A bridal gown of silk bombazine with a three-tiered skirt and Chantilly lace bodice was chosen by Beverly Jean Thomas for her marriage to Michael Donald O'Neil in a candlelight ceremony at Westminster Community Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Opal O'Neil, Donald O'Neil and Mr. and Mrs. Percival E. Thomas.

Lana Bryson attended the bride as maid of honor. Charles O'Neil served his brother as best man.

Other members of the bridal party included Kathy Foster, Cathy O'Neil, Roger Goldhlatt, William Vas and Messrs. and Mmes. Richard Thomas and William Sickendick.

The couple attended Long Beach City College. The new Mrs. O'Neil is a graduate of Banning High School.

Palm Springs was chosen for the honeymoon destination.

Slick-Pope

Four hundred guests witnessed the evening wedding of Anita Carol Pope to Harold Conrad Slick at Truett Memorial Southern Baptist Church.

The couple's parents are Messrs. and Mmes. Wilfred L. Slick of Los Angeles and Paul H. Pope of Lakewood.

The bride wore a formal gown of taffeta with a bell skirt and appliques of venise lace. She was attended by Glenda Cooper as maid of honor. Norman W. Slick served his brother as best man.

Other members of the wedding party included Karen Harris, Belva Lee Clarke, Meredyth Slick, Teri Balentine, Dennis Willahan, Dan Clifford, Richard Davis and Glenn Balentine Jr.

The new Mrs. Slick graduated from Lakewood High School and LBCC. Her husband graduated from Harbor Junior College and Northrop College.

The couple is honeymooning in Northern California, in the Sierras and at Las Vegas. On their return, they will make their home in Lakewood.

Snyder-Weaver

Linda Marie Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Weaver of Lakewood, married Jon Brent Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Crozier of San Francisco in a morning ceremony at Parkcrest Church of Christ.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a Chantilly overskirt for her wedding. Her maid of honor was Diana Lynn Valley. Robert J. Weaver, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man.

Other attendants were Cathy Bernice Morgan and Roger Minniear.

The new Mrs. Snyder is a graduate of Lakewood High School. Her husband graduated from Polytechnic High School.

The couple will reside in Long Beach on their return from a honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead.

And, what about the status of women? Chhorn reports that the old ways are changing. It used to be that marriages were arranged by the parents, but it's not always true, now.

"That wasn't for me," he says. "Neang and I chose each other. I courted her American-style. We went to the movies on dates—I asked her for her hand first before speaking to her parents.

By this attitude, Chhorn shows himself to be all for the emancipation of women—if it doesn't go too far.

When it comes to Madame Nhu, he has his doubts. He gives her credit for a certain type of courage and admires her charm, but he thinks her country would be a lot better off if she confined herself to running the palace and not the country — and above all didn't talk so much.

Answer Is: Play Works

A letter from Wyoming reads: "Did I bid too much? Or did my partner? Anyway, we were the only pair to reach six hearts and I was the only person to make six. Actually, I made seven because after West dropped the jack of trumps under dummy's king, I finessed against East's queen. My opponents say that I went against percentage, but I seem to have read somewhere that I had made the correct mathematical play. Did I?"

The answer to all his questions is "yes." He bid too much and so did his partner, but he played the hand correctly.

This type of play is discussed at length in "Jacoby on Gambling" and while the principle involved is well known in expert circles it is not known too generally.

When West dropped the jack under dummy's king it was apparent that he had started with the singleton jack or the doubleton queen-jack.

Now we come to the question of selection. If West had started with the singleton jack, he would have had to play it; if he had started with doubleton queen-jack he might well have played the queen instead of the jack. Thus it was far more likely that the jack had been a singleton and the finesse against the queen was correct from the mathematical standpoint. Besides it worked this time.

Miss Grundy Is New Bride

Mrs. Don Wilson Jr.

Fifteen members of the families and friends attended the wedding of Suzanne Grundy and Don Wilson Jr. at First Methodist Church in Las Vegas.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. Jess W. Grundy of Long Beach and Don Wilson of Palos Verdes Estates.

The bride wore an aqua silk dress with a veil held by a satin bow. Melinda Grundy was her maid of honor. Richard Wilson served the bridegroom as best man.

The couple graduated from Chadwick School in Rolling Hills and attended the University of Southern California. The new Mrs. Wilson affiliated with Alpha Phi, her husband with Phi Delta Theta.

On their return from a Honolulu honeymoon, a champagne reception honoring the newlyweds will be held at the Elks Club, Nov. 17.

Methodist Setting for Wedding

Mrs. Gary Petersen

California Heights Methodist Church was setting for the marriage Saturday evening of Adrianne L. Armor and Gary L. Petersen. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Armor, Long Beach, wore a floor-length gown of silk organza appliqued with lace and carried a bouquet of stephanotis and roses centered with a gardenia corsage.

She was attended by Marilyn K. Armor as maid of honor and Malvina Antonitz, Annalee Rutter, Lois Petersen and Pinky White, bridesmaids.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Petersen, also of this city, chose Terry Moore as best man. James Armor, Robert Holland, Charles Shackelton, Jerry Boswell and Robert Brown were ushers.

* * * *

THE NEW Mrs. Petersen and her husband are alumni of Poly High. She was graduated from Long Beach State College where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta, Spurs, Califias, Little Sisters of Minerva and Adrianne. She also was chosen Little Sister of the Year in 1962 and served as secretary for Pi Omega Pi.

The bridegroom attended Long Beach and San Jose State Colleges and was graduated from Los Angeles Police Academy.

While at Long Beach State he was affiliated with Statesman and Sigma Alpha Epsilon and served as president of the freshman class.

Following a honeymoon in San Francisco, the newlyweds will make their home in Costa Mesa.

Beat Grime

Delinquent in storing outdoor furniture? Wash wood or metal furniture thoroughly and when dry, spray the pieces with a clear shellac. Store. Next spring, it will be easier to wash away the accumulation of wintry grime.

Disguise Them

Leftover mashed potatoes can easily be turned into elegant "Almond Logs." Simply beat in an egg, shape silvered almonds and cook gently in butter until golden. So good you may want to make mashed potatoes for "Almond Logs" alone!

Now, Moore Chicken

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.-P-T Food Editor

Chef of the Week

What's in a name? Well, in this case, MORE real estate offices. Today's Chef of the Week, E. Tennyson (Tenny) Moore, has nine of them. They're distributed throughout Long Beach, Lakewood and Orange County.

It took him a BA degree from UCLA in Business Administration, a masters in English from USC, several years of teaching in Long Beach public schools, and a world war, to get "hep" to California real estate possibilities. His first teaching assignment was at Washington Junior High School in 1938. He later transferred to Jordan High.

E. Tennyson Moore

* * * *

BORN AT Cambridge, on the eastern shores of Maryland, Moore attended elementary school at St. Michaels, which is located on the Miles River, the scene of the famous sailing regattas. Wesley Collegiate Institute, a boy's prep school, at Dover, Del., preceded his arrival in Long Beach.

World War II found him serving as an industrial engineer with Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp. in Downey and in Allentown, Pa., and at the close of the war, at San Diego.

He taught night classes at Penn State, USC and at UCLA, during the war, also.

Returning to Long Beach, Moore opened his own real estate firm at 363 E. First St. Then, in 1947, the partnership of Moore-Reynolds at Lakewood and Carson, became a real estate reality.

* * * *

COMING from a long line of teachers and ministers, he has never entirely departed from that vocation. He has taught in the Long Beach Business & Technological Division, and is currently teaching a morning class in Commercial and Investment Properties.

Active in both Long Beach and Lakewood Chambers of Commerce, Moore has served as president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, and as a past director of Aetna Savings & Loan.

Recently elected to the presidency of the Los Angeles Chapter, Institute of Real Estate Management, he is a director of the California Real Estate Association.

* * * *

MOORE "gets up with the chickens" and arrives at the office about 7 a.m., complete with several notations he's written to himself during the night.

He and his wife, Jeanne, have two daughters, Mary, a graduate of University of Redlands, now teaching in San Carlos; and Gay, a freshman at USC.

Members of the Virginia Country Club, as a family they enjoy golf, fishing and sailing.

Our "chef's" recipe today, Chicken a la Eastern Shores, stems from his early background. It's native to Maryland.

CHICKEN A LA EASTERN SHORE

1. Stew a 4 lb. fowl, cut in pieces for serving.

(To stew, cover with boiling water, add a few stalks of celery and cook slowly until tender. Add salt and pepper when fowl is half-cooked.)

LAST ONE-HALF HOUR OF STEWING, add 4 to 5 small new peeled potatoes. SAVE STOCK.

SOUTHERN CRUST

2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 tblsp. shortening
1 egg

Mix as for biscuits, roll out, and cut in squares. Place in baking dish with ¼ inch between squares. JUST cover with juices in which chicken was cooked. Bake in 425° oven until chicken stock has been absorbed.

Make a gravy from remaining stock, thickening with flour and enough cold water. ADD LOTS OF CHOPPED PARSLEY.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of Nov. 4-8:

MONDAY: Hot dog, whole kernel corn, fruit gelatin, coconut cookie and milk.

TUESDAY: Creole noodles, garden peas, fresh apple slices, peanut butter, sandwich and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, chocolate pudding, raisin bread square and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza, garden salad, autumn fruit cup, shortbread cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish, au gratin potatoes, Spanish coleslaw, sliced peaches, hot buttered French bread and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch, 30c.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

MONDAY: Barbecued pork on bun, creamy coleslaw, sliced peaches, coconut cookie and milk.

TUESDAY: Lasagne, buttered green beans, autumn fruit cup, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Hot meat loaf sandwich, mashed potatoes with gravy, tossed green salad, fruit kabob and milk.

THURSDAY: Neapolitan macaroni, buttered peas, fresh apple slices, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

FRIDAY: Cheese enchilada or beef-rice casserole, buttered spinach, fruit gelatin, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

The boy was seven years old and had never heard of mike fright.

Why should a microphone be afraid of him?

They introduced him as the "Little Buckaroo" and he yodeled like a Swiss mountainer with two-ton lungs.

It was 1937 and the boy, Billy Strange, made his radio debut on Long Beach station KFOX.

Singing came naturally for he was the son of George Strange, "The Yodeling Cowboy," and the latter's wife, Billie, "The Ranch Boss."

The pair, alternating between KFOX and KGER, kept the radio waves humming with western music in Long Beach for more than 10 years.

And the "Little Buckaroo" hummed and yodeled right along with his parents.

* * * *

HE'S A "Big Buckaroo" now, 6-feet, 3-inches tall, and, for the most part, he's stopped yodeling.

But he's still singing and playing a guitar almost daily on "The Tennessee Ernie Ford Show," noon, channel 7.

"When I was a kid in Long Beach," he said, "I never figured I would become a professional musician.

"I had only one ambition. I just wanted to be a cowboy."

It was a normal ambition for a 7-year-old boy, but Billy didn't outgrow it until he was 17.

At that time he was playing his guitar at dances around the Long Beach area—"anywhere they didn't serve liquor"—and was living in Bellflower.

"They used to have little rodeos all the time in the Long Beach Mounted Guard Arena," said Billy.

"My folks didn't know about it, but I used to go out there all the time to rope calves and ride bucking horses."

* * * *

ALL THE TIME, that is, until he met a big, yellow buckskin.

"He throwed me," said Billy, "and I got a foot hung in a fence. Then that horse proceeded to walk on me."

Right then, with four broken ribs helping him make up his mind, Billy decided to stick to his guitar.

It was a decision that led to his signing as a guitar player with Spade Cooley, then Tex Williams and Cliffie Stone.

It was on Cliffie Stone's "Hometown Jamboree" television show that Billy first worked with Ernie Ford. It was that association that led to his signing with Ernie for the current daily program.

In between times, the Jefferson Junior High School graduate appeared in dramatic roles on television, did vocal backgrounds for animated cartoons, made his own records and wrote songs for such entertainers as Tommy Sands, Rusty Draper and Chubby Checkers.

* * * *

HE'S JUST released a new six-string guitar instrumental album, "Crescendo."

While he no longer wants to

BING CROSBY welcomes guitarist-singer Caterina Valente to his hour-long special 9 p. m. Thursday on channel 2. "The Young Americans," a teen-age choral group, Buddy Ebsen and Andre Previn also are guests. The variety show will include a medley of international hits.

Singers Seek Foreign Tour

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A group of Southern California students who call themselves "The Young Americans" are hoping that their appearance on a nationwide television program this week will be a stepping stone to a musical goodwill mission abroad next summer.

The 36-member choral group — whose members range in age from 15 to 20—make their first nationwide appearance on Bing Crosby's hour-long CBS-TV special 9 p.m. Thursday, channel 2.

MILTON C. ANDERSON, a Los Angeles school teacher and organizer and choral director of "The Young Americans," explained that the group meets each Saturday on a voluntary basis to rehearse their numbers as well as study foreign languages and customs.

TV Doctors Exchange Patients

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television has come up with a new idea that could change the whole industry. Video doctors are starting to refer patients to each other.

They could shoot the villain in westerns or detective shows and patch him up on a doctor series.

Something similar happened recently when "Dr. Kildare" decided he couldn't help a patient. He referred him to "The Eleventh Hour" psychiatry show, assuming the patient needed some clinical skull sessions.

"Ben Casey" did the same thing for ABC. He recommended his patient to "Breaking Point" on the assumption that was what the person was on the verge of.

* * * *

THINK OF the possibilities that such casting opens up. Television needs diversification in it's programming, but eventually it could take care of a person's whole life span.

It might start by casting a kid in "Ding Dong School," later putting him in "My Three Sons" until he's through college.

After that, the young man could be given social problems that would qualify him for other, more adult, shows.

He starts out by stealing cars, gets caught and ends up in "Arrest and Trial." From there the young fellow could be assigned to social and psychiatry series.

* * * *

RIGHT HERE television needs a religious show which may be called "Young Rev. Jones," a title that might be changed to Father or Rabbi, depending on individual persuasion.

Once the young offender has been thoroughly checked in mind and spirit, he's hauled before a judge on "Day in Court."

That's one way in which television can handle somebody's life all the way from childhood to the complexities that come as an adult.

There are other methods by which television could take advantage of other shows.

Video doctors could prescribe therapy for their patients, "McHale's Navy" for those who need a sea voyage, "Route 66" for others who might benefit from a road trip, "Sing Along With Mitch" for introverts.

To treat those who should be more aggressive, television's psychiatrist can always recommend ABC-TV's "Fight of the Week."

'Zorro' on 'Bonanza'

Guy Williams, the former "Zorro" of television, will start a continuing role on "Bonanza" later in the season.

He will play Lorne Greene's younger brother.

The program is easing Pernell Roberts out of the script at the actor's own request.

SPECIAL

NBC CHILDREN'S THEATRE — Premiere. First in four special full-hour color orignials, aimed at youngsters in the early grades of school, stars folk singer Win Stracke supported by a cast of puppets in a musical fantasy based on a James Thurber story. "Quillow and the Giant," at 6 p.m., ch. 4, is really a parable against violence, as an easy-going toy-maker uses his wit instead of force to end a giant's selfish demands on his village. Other shows due in the series include an animated musical based on the Wizard of Oz, a trio of one-act plays, and a story told by an illustrator and a symphony orchestra.

JUDY GARLAN — Zina Bethune trades the starched uniform of student nurse Gail Lucas for the leotard of a ballerina (which she was before switching to acting) to join Judy and Vic Damone ni a special medley of songs. Miss Bethune had to be written out of a segment of "The Nurses" to cross the network line for this appearance. Judy's "trunk spot" songs are "What'll I Do?" and "Rock-a-bye Your Baby."

WEEK'S TOP SHOWS

Sunday—"Children's Theater" at 6 p.m. on channel 4 in COLOR presents "Quillow and the Giant," an hour-long musical fantasy about a toymaker and a giant. Featured are Win Stracke and the George Latshaw Puppets.

TV CRITIC PREFERS OLD MOVIES

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Describes Video Situation Comedies as 'Empty Flatness'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A lady writes to ask what I would voluntarily watch on television if I were not in bondage to tune in the sewage of network entertainment nightly in order to feed my loved ones.

The answer is easy: Old movies, public events of great importance and an occasional documentary or news show. I would generally skip the prime-time hours on the networks.

You will notice that the old movies are the only entertainment mentioned, and why not?

Who wouldn't rather watch an old Fred Astaire musical, or one with Gene Kelly and Frank Sinatra, than the weak tea of an Andy Williams or the comparative ordinary quality of the Garry Moore Show or even the sleepy professionalism of Perry Como? Who doesn't prefer verve to almost unfeeling casuality?

WHO WOULDN'T rather view the wonderful sophisticated Hollywood comedies of the 1930s and early 1940s—Cary Grant, Jimmy Stewart, Katharine Hepburn, Jean Arthur—than the empty flatness of almost every situation show on video today, from Andy Griffith to Donna Reed? I must have seen "The Philadelphia Story" 15 times, and yet I never think of it as a rerun.

Is it possible that there are people who actually think that the turgid folksiness of "The Beverly Hillbillies" is even on the same planet with the marvelous earthiness of a Wallace Beery or Marjorie Main epic? I cannot imagine it.

And what of the bland, hollow-seeming personalities who populate most of our detective programs on television—the pasty-faces and the punks? Can it be that video has so thoroughly demolished taste that we have forgotten William Powell as "The Thin Man," or Humphrey Bogart in "The Maltese Falcon," or even Lloyd Nolan in low-budget pleasures?

The toughest of the tough guys—Bogart, Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney, John Garfield—all were more sympathetic as villains than the majority of soft, whining, unhumorous heroes that television offers.

ALMOST EVERY TIME I watch an old movie, I realize something: I liked us better then. Times are always tough, and people always have insurmountable problems—but there was a sense of fun, if not always humor, in so many of the old films. I mean fun simply for fun's sake—and not because it will serve a therapeutic purpose, or solve a problem or deliver a message. Gaiety is what it was—and I defy you to show me that once in a blue moon in prime-time, or even in most modern movies.

ALTHOUGH she loves him, Piper Laurie refuses Richard Basehart's marriage proposal during "Ben Casey" at 9 p. m. Wednesday, channel 7. In the drama, Miss Laurie has the role of a nurse. She knows that the man she loves is suffering from a terminal disease. Basehart portrays a ship captain with a zest for living.

'YOUNG HOLLYWOOD' QUEEN BEE WEDS

Will Connie Stevens' Teen-Age Fans Accept Mrs. Instead of Bachelor-Girl-Image Miss?

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Young Hollywood" is a term applied to youthful performers who have gained a foothold on the bottom rung of the ladder to stardom.

These are the youngsters whom your teenagers will know, but whose names are foreign to most citizens older than 30.

Well, the queen bee of Young Hollywood was married last month and it was only fitting that her contemporaries turn out in force for the wedding and reception.

The bride, of course, was Connie Stevens. She's the darling of Young Hollywood for the very good reason that she gets more fan mail—6,500 letters a week—than any of the others. She's also under contract to Warner Bros., has starred in a television series (Hawaiian Eye) and co-starred in a handful of motion pictures.

* * * *

HER LEADING man on the screen has been Troy Donahue, another teen-age idol. Their relationship (platonic) kept the ponytail set aquiver with romantic speculation.

Off-screen Connie dated a series of handsome young guys, and even talked once of marrying Glenn Ford.

It came as something of an anti-climax, then, when the little blonde empress of the young crowd became Mrs. James Stacey. The bridegroom is a former stunt man and stand-in who recently has restricted himself to acting.

With his marriage he becomes something of a prince consort.

He gained limited fame during his six-month courtship of Connie, at least in Hollywood circles.

* * * *

IN THE OLD days a wedding involving a cutie like Connie, might have drawn the great names of movies—the Tracys, Gables, Colberts and Bogarts. Today most of the old established stars haven't the slightest notion as to the identity of the newlyweds.

CONNIE STEVENS AND HUSBAND JAMES STACEY

The guest list did include Nick Adams, Grant Williams, Van Williams, Ricky Nelson, Robert Vaughn, Stephanie Powers, James MacArthur, Anthony Eisley and a score of others. The champagne went fast under the pressure of some 70 guests at the reception.

Now, while the bride and groom are honeymooning, Connie's future is being debated by the scientists who weight the meaning of fan mail. The big question is: 'Will marriage destroy the bachelor girl image?"

THERE ARE precedents for catastrophic fan reaction to marriage.

Edd (Kookie) Byrnes was the most popular kid in town until he married Asa Maynor two years ago. He plummeted from the top of the fan mail heap to the horse latitudes of near anonymity.

But at the moment both Connie and Jim Stacey literally have made names for themselves. If they had used their real names things might have been a little tougher.

Connie was born Concetta Ingolia. Jim's real monicker is Maurice Elias.

Award News 'Golden Mikes'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Southern California television station KNXT (channel 2) heads a list of winners in the Radio and Television News Assn. of Southern California's 14th annual "Golden Mike" awards.

KNXT was awarded five of the nine awards in the television field.

The "Golden Mike" awards are made each year for outstanding achievements in the gathering, writing and presentation of radio and television news and special events.

Leading the radio category were Los Angeles station KNX (1070) and San Diego's KOGO with four each.

The awards were presented by Barney Miller, KNX news director, the association's newly-elected president, and George Lewin of KTLA (channel 5), outgoing president.

King Comedy Rules Ratings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There is too much discourtesy in the world, so today we will give the first major television ratings of the season their due listings without stressing the fact that Halloween has just passed.

These ratings are television news because they are taken as near-Gospel on Madison Avenue, where the decision-makers decide what shows to keep or cut. And they are especially news since Congress investigated the ratings firms in the spring, forcing them to make not-yet-final corrections in the extraordinary loopholes exposed.

Here, then, are some of the claims of the ratings:

The top 10 shows in popularity are "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Bonanza," Dick Van Dyke, Lucille Ball, Andy Griffith, "Petticoat Junction," Danny Thomas, Red Skelton, "Perry Mason" — and Donna Reed and "I've Got a Secret" tied for 10th.

* * * *

NOT ONE of the top 40 programs airs on Fridays, a notoriously bad viewing night that apparently has replaced Saturday once and for all as the big go-out evening for the mass audience.

Rounding out the top 20 shows are Patty Duke, "Candid Camera," "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey," Jack Benny, "Hazel," "The Virginian," "Gunsmoke" and "Grindl." Actually, the next major rating, in several weeks, is considered more definitive, but here are more of the initial claims:

ON SUNDAYS, "Lassie" topped Bill Dana, and "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" did badly against Walt Disney, "My Favorite Martian" and Ed Sullivan. Disney and Sullivan held their own. And "Bonanza" trounced "Arrest and Trial" and Judy Garland, who finished a poor third.

ON MONDAYS, the NBC-TV movie finished third against the combined efforts of "To Tell the Truth," "I've Got a Secret," Lucille Ball, Danny Thomas, "The Outer Limits" and "Wagon Train" —but the movie ratings may depend on the specific film shown. Andy Griffith and "Wagon Train" walloped "Hollywood and the Stars." "Breaking Point" topped "Sing Along With Mitch" and "East Side/West Side," which battled it out.

TUESDAYS, "Combat" beat "Mr. Novak," and so did Red Skelton. "Redigo" was clobbered by Skelton and "McHale's Navy." Jack Benny and "Petticoat Junction" won over "The Greatest Show on Earth" and the Richard Boone anthology. Garry Moore edged "The Fugitive."

WEDNESDAYS, "Glynis" came in last to "The Virginian" and "The Price Is Right." The half hours of "The Beverly Hillbillies" and Dick Van Dyke won over "Ben Casey" and "Espionage." And Danny Kaye topped "The Eleventh Hour" and "Channing," with none of them getting a big rating.

THURSDAYS, "The Nurses" beat "Suspense Theatre," with the alternating shows of Sid Caesar and Edie Adams a poor last. Jimmy Dean was socked by "Perry Mason," "Dr. Kildare" and "Hazel."

FRIDAYS, it was "International Showtime" over "The Great Adventure" and "77 Sunset Strip"; "Burke's Law" over "Route 66" and the Bob Hope anthology; and "The Twilight Zone" over "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Harry's Girls."

SATURDAYS, Jerry Lewis finished way out of the money behind "Gunsmoke" and the NBC-TV movie. Lawrence Welk beat Joey Bishop and Phil Silvers. And Jackie Gleason won over "The Lieutenant" and "Hootenanny."

Of note is that most of the variety shows and reasonably serious anthologies and dramas finished out of the top 40—Danny Kaye, Judy Garland, Jerry Lewis, Sid Caesar, Edie Adams, Jimmy Dean, Jack Parr, the Richard Boone anthology, Bob Hope anthology, "Suspense Theatre," "Espionage," "East Side/West Side" and "The Defenders."

DANNY THOMAS AND ANDY GRIFFITH (right), kings of comedy, are getting the royal treatment again this season from television viewers. Andy's show is No. 5 and Danny is No. 7 in the Big 10 on the ratings slide rule. King Danny's show has been on 11 seasons while King Andy is in the third year of his reign.

SPECIAL

DICK POWELL—The highly-lauded "Price of Tomatoes" has its first off-network showing at 8 p.m., ch. 13, as a produce truck driver gives up his race to beat a rival to the market to help a pregnant refugee determined to bear her child on American soil. Peter Falk won an Emmy for this role, with both the show and co-star Inger Stevens receiving bids.

BING CROSBY—For his first of 4 specials this season, Bing hosts Buddy Ebsen who'll sing, dance and crack jokes; Caterina Valente, who'll sing with Crosby in 7 languages; pianist Andre Previn, and a singing group of 36 Southland high school and college kids called the Young Americans. It's at 8 p.m., ch. 2. (Crosby's next special, Feb. 15, will feature Bob Hope, Kathryn Grant Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Rosemary Clooney, Peter Gennaro.)

PERFORMING ARTS—Distinguished British stars Cyril Ritchard and Hermione Baddeley join in a two-act revue of songs and sketches at 9 p.m., ch. 13. Included is a tongue-in-cheek spoof of the earlier Paul Scofield-Joy Parker program.

MAD (4) WORLD—Milton Berle, Phil Silvers, Army Archerd and Bill Welsh are at the new geodesic-domed Cinerama Theatre on Sunset Blvd. at 9:30 p.m., ch. 11, to interview celebrities arriving for the benefit premiere of the Stanley Kramer comedy. (via 2-hour delay tape).

TELL ME NOT in Mournful Numbers—Veronica Cartwright stars with Frank Gerstle, Natalie Core and Sibyl Collier at 10 p.m., ch. 2, in a documentary based on the actual case of a 12-year-with the only "numbers syndrome" in psychiatric records. The disturbed child thinks, talks and draws numbers for a period of 18 months.

KING TV
906 EAST ARTESIA
GA 2-6110 LONG BEACH

Pan and Fan Mail

Normally we enjoy the Tonight show but, in our opinion, some of the recent topics haven't exactly been drawing room conversational pieces.

Such as the comedienne (?) demonstrating how she takes out and puts back her contact lenses, the little actress giving the world a running account of her pregnancy, and the glib talker explaining the mechanics of his artificial leg.

J. Paul Gleason,
Long Beach

Maybe you're just in the wrong drawing room.

* * * *

We, my wife and I, enjoy the "Arrest and Trial" program very much. But why do they put so many commercials on the last part of the story?

Mr. & Mrs. Lowell Harvey
Long Beach

The commercials are evenly spaced, claims ABC. Some just seem longer and more frequent.

Will Tom Duggan be a daily commentator on the channel 5 news at 6:30 p.m. and where does his background lie that he feels himself an authority?

Mrs. June Smith,
Long Beach

Yes, Duggan will be on daily. As for his background, Tom Duggan is Tom Duggan and that's enough authority for thousands of viewers to clamor for the return of his opinions everytime he's bounced off his own show.

* * * *

I have always thought Lucille Ball a great comedienne but for you to recommend her show as "top viewing" is utterly ridiculous.

I think you have been watching too many kiddy programs and no longer have an adult taste.

Mrs. L. E. Orrick, Jr.,
Long Beach.

I resent that. I gave up "The Mickey Mouse Club" two days ago.

The Week's Television Movie Tips

SUNDAY

SITTING PRETTY — 3:30 p.m., ch. 9. Clifton Webb, Robert Young, Maureen O'Hara (1948). First of the Mr. Belvedere series, as scientific baby sitter thinks he really knows how to handle kids.

DR. JEKYLL & MR. HYDE —4:30 p.m., ch. 11. Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman, Lana Turner (1941). Stevenson's classic horror story of a respected doctor turned uncontrollable killer.

SEA WIFE—7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 9. Richard Burton, Joan Collins, Basil Sydney (1957). First run. Survivor of ship sinking falls in love with fellow passenger, not knowing she's a nun whose habit was lost in the sinking.

MONDAY

WHITE FEATHER — 7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. Robert Wagner, Debra Paget, Jeffrey Hunter, John Lund, Hugh O'Brian (1955). First run. While helping avert an Indian war, frontier surveyor is attracted to the chief's daughter.

PARIS HOLIDAY—8 p.m., in color, ch. 9 (also Tues. thru Fri., same time). Bob Hope, Fernandel, Anita Ekberg, Martha Hyer (1958). Typical Hope comedy about a group of international counterfeiters.

FRIDAY

NOTORIOUS GENTLEMAN—10 a.m., ch. 5. Rex Harrison, Lilli Palmer (1946). Ironic comedy of charming playboy who goes through life without purpose until love redeems him.

SMOKY—5 p.m., ch. 2. Fred MacMurray, Anne Baxter, Burl Ives (1946). Sentimental story of a man's love for his horses. Fine for the youngsters.

STARS & STRIPES FOREVER—8 p.m., ch. 11. Clifton Webb, Debra Paget, Robert Wagner, Ruth Hussey (1953). Tuneful biopic of John Philip Sousa, who yearned to write ballads instead of marches.

SATURDAY

SPIRAL STAIRCASE—8:30 p.m., ch. 5. Dorothy McGuire, George Brent, Ethel Barrymore (1946). Mute servant girl spends five fear-packed hours in an old country house with a cunning killer.

GIFT OF LOVE—8:30 p.m., in color, ch. 9. Robert Stack, Lauren Bacall, Evelyn Rudie (1958). First run. Dying woman adopts an orphan so her devoted husband will not be lonely after her death. But instead the girl only reminds him of his loss.

DIARY OF ANNE FRANK —9 p.m., ch. 4. Millie Perkins, Shelley Winters, Joseph Schildkraut, Richard Beymer, Ed Wynn, Gusti Huber (1959). First run. Story of a 13-year-old Jewess, who kept a diary of the events while hiding from the Nazis over an Amsterdam factory.

ABOVE & BEYOND — 11 p.m., ch. 11. Robert Taylor, Eleanor Parker, James Whitmore (1953). Moving story of the man who piloted the plane which dropped the atom bomb on Hiroshima.

SO PROUDLY WE HAIL—11:15 p.m., ch. 2. Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard, Veronica Lake (1943). First run. Bravery of our Army nurses on Bataan.

LIFE OF EMILE ZOLA—11:45 p.m., ch. 13. Paul Muni, Gale Sondergaard, Donald Crisp (1937). Story of Zola and the famous Dreyfus case are graphically and sensitively told, with Muni magnificent.

THE DARK PAST — 12:30 a.m., ch. 4. William Holden, Lee J. Cobb, Nina Foch (1949). Psychiatrist breaks down the resistance of desperate killer holding him captive.

MARILYN MONROE and Jane Russell co-star in the 1953 movie "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" on channel 5 at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in COLOR.

1. FREE EXAMINATION by a Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. HI-FREQUENCY THERAPY provides short rays to kill bacteria, increases scalp metabolism.

3. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRIC-THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research. Results are FAST!

4. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas, laboratory-produced, another step on the road to a strong, healthy hairline.

NO OTHER TREATMENT

is quite like the one you get in your Turoff treatment. You recline in comfort in a private booth; you close your eyes and relax . . . your operator first applies pleasant, stimulating hi-frequency therapy. She then continues with laboratory produced chemicals for your particular condition. Her rapid, skillful fingers work them in with manipulations, both by hand and machine massage. Finally, unique Turoff electrical therapy is applied while you continue to relax.

It's Taken Many Years

and over 1 million treatments to bring this unique Turoff treatment to its present perfection. If you have excessive hairfall, itchy scalp, excessive dandruff, thinning areas, we suggest you come in quickly for a FREE HAIR AND SCALP EXAMINATION. There is no obligation!

STOP HAIR LOSS

TUROFF GUARANTEE

Stop Hair Loss: If, within four treatments the Turoff System has not stopped your excessive fall, removed dandruff scales, relieved scalp itch and made your scalp feel better than it has in years, YOUR MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED IN FULL!

NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically, with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro-therapy. Turoff Clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results, we have given over one million successful treatments. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

WITH JUST ONE TREATMENT

Dead epidermis, foreign matter and dandruff scales will be removed from your scalp. It will no longer feel itchy and lifeless . . . but will be pleasantly invigorated and alive again. Yes, in just one treatment your hair will start to take on a healthy look with MORE BODY and TEXTURE. Your VERY FIRST Turoff Treatment will enthuse you. See it, feel it, you will be convinced as other hundreds of thousands have been convinced.

PROVEN RESULTS

Thousands of enthusiastic comments and testimonials are received yearly. Why don't you start these treatments today and see what improvements they make in your hair and how much more invigorated your hair and scalp feel. Don't put off giving your hair the care it needs . . . the penalty of delay may be baldness.

HOPELESS CASES NOT ACCEPTED

If you are accepted for Turoff treatment, the cause of your unhealthy scalp will be removed, we will save and thicken your hair. The free examination will reveal just how much thicker you can expect it to be. Your hair will improve wonderfully and you will see it do so quickly. Furthermore, we will teach you to maintain a head of hair permanently! The cost of treatment is very reasonable. Remember, we cater to working people—Mr. and Mrs. Average Person.

FREE EXAMINATION

If you have a hair or scalp problem, we invite you to come in for a free examination. There is no obligation or cost. We accept for treatment only those people we sincerely feel we can help.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

'Little Buckaroo' Big on TV

be a cowboy, he hasn't yet outlived his fondness for horses—those that don't buck.

He owns three race horses that he runs at Caliente.

When he expresses his views on music, he's prepared to run as fast as his horses.

For Billy likes rock-and-roll.

"On the day that rock-and-roll was born, people said it would be gone in a month," said Billy.

"That was 10 or 12 years ago. If rock-and-roll is a fad, I'm happy to be part of it."

* * * *

BILLY FEELS rock-and-roll is stronger than ever and will go on being that way.

He likes its infectious beat and is critical of those who think it is loud and musically bad.

"It gives the kids something about which they can say, 'This is ours.'

"And kids need something that is their's alone. It is their dance, not the old folks 'Harvest Moon'."

Billy doesn't play or sing much rock-and-roll on "The Tennessee Ernie Ford Show." He generally sticks with folk music.

That's fine with him.

"FOLK MUSIC, with the exception of rock-and-roll, is the only true American music there is," he said.

"The stories that are told are the stories of America, not Ireland or Sweden.

Someday Billy may do a folk song about airplane traveling, a subject about which he's rapidly becoming an expert.

That's because the Ernie Ford show is taped in San Francisco three times a week for five-time airing nationwide.

Billy lives with his wife, Betty, their sons, Jerry, 9, and Rusty, 8, and his parents in the San Fernando Valley.

Every week he flies to San Francisco, then back home to Southern California.

"The "Little Buckaroo," alas, has swapped the hoofs of his beloved horses for the wings of a flying stagecoach.

OUR COVER

Before the end of this decade, three Americans will leave the earth on one of the most important and challenging missions in history—a journey to the moon. Our cover dramatically pictures one of the steps which will send the Apollo spacecraft on its historic journey, separation of the S-11 second stage, its job done, while the third stage engine has ignited to propel the vehicle into a parking orbit around the earth at 17,500 miles per hour. With power shut down, the coasting spacecraft—built at North American Aviation's Downey plant—will make several orbits before thrusting out into space for the 70-hour voyage to the moon. For more about the moon shot, see Page 7.

Piece from a Prehistoric Puzzle

By Kay Dunn

CHANCES of discovering the fossilized remains of a giant Imperial mammoth in the American Southwest might be compared to searching for and finding a rowboat in the midst of the Pacific Ocean. So remote are the chances that Gordon Pond, a professor at Compton College, could scarcely believe his eyes when he saw a piece of fossilized tusk protruding from the banks of an arroyo in New Mexico. The prize was so rare that he battled a swiftly rising stream for eight hours in order to rescue it.

Twenty thousand years ago great herds of mammoths roamed the plains of the Southwest. As they died off, earthquakes, ash from volcanoes, storms and wind gradually caused the skeletons of those mighty monarchs to become buried deep within the earth. Little evidence now remains, however, because the climate, fluctuating from hot to cold and wet to dry, disintegrated the bones.

EACH NEW FIND is scientifically valuable and helps the paleontologists piece together another chapter from the jigsaw of prehistoric times.

It was a message from Carl Rainwater, on whose ranch near Scholle, N. M., the discovery occurred, that brought Pond scurrying from California to see the "unusual piece of material" that had been sighted protruding from the banks of an arroyo.

An additional reward was rescued a few feet downstream—the mammoth's molar—which was just about to be washed away by the gushing stream.

THE PRIZE was to excite scientists as it was used to reconstruct the scene as it might have been when the mighty monarchs roamed across the tundras of the Southwest feeding off the rich grasses and vegetation.

THE ICE AGE was gradually coming to a close and it is believed that early Indians lived in settlements clustered around half-frozen waterholes and streams. The icy winds that had forced the mammoths to migrate to southern ground compelled the Indians to seek shelter in caves and huts. Hunters emerged only long enough to secure food then would re-

Try Over-Planting

You can enhance the beauty of a spring bulb bed by over-planting it with colorful annuals. The bulbs push up through this cover and the two bloom together.

Then when the bulbs fade and their foliage is ripening off, the annuals continue to bloom. Try pansies and violas, alyssum, linaria and nemophila for bulb bed covers. The California Association of Nurserymen says all of the latter three may be planted simply by sowing seed.

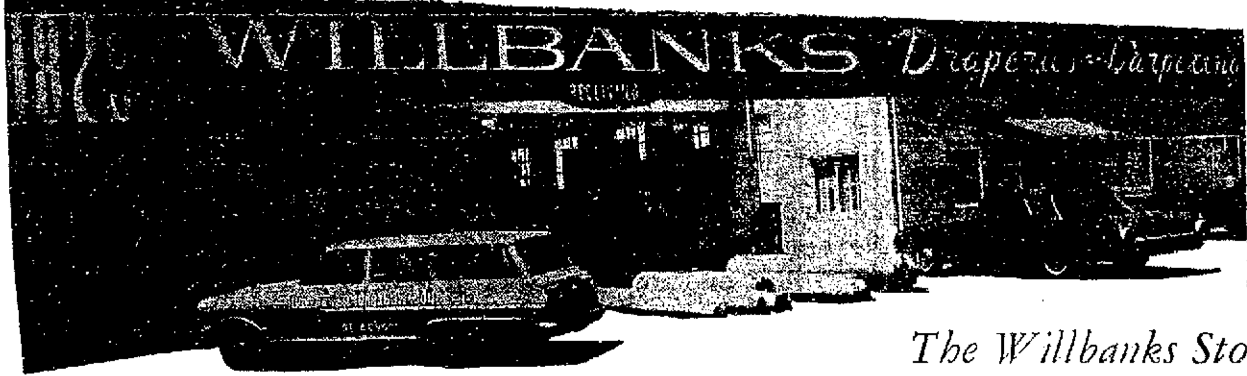
SELLS QUALITY CARPET FOR LESS



WILLBANK'S HUGE WAREHOUSE STORE. Truckloads of carpeting arrive daily, bringing you this area's largest selection of fine carpet. Large quantity purchasing enables you to get the best carpeting at realistic prices.

The Willbanks Story

The Willbanks Carpet Co. is a departure from the usual carpet specialty shop. It was founded on the premise that quality carpet, backed by expert installation, could be sold at a minimum mark-up in sufficient volume to be profitable. The extension of this premise was to operate without frills and costly fixtures from a low rent and thus low overhead location in a factory warehouse on a side street in Signal Hill. By eliminating high rent and other cost-raising features, the company decided it could afford to pass on to its customers the substantial savings by giving more carpet at less cost.

A SPECIAL BUY FROM MOHAWK

Here is an outstanding value. A carpet by Mohawk using Acrylic fibers. A smart, practical carpet that you will be proud of. Being a special buy, there is only a limited supply in stock. There are 3 good decorater colors to choose from: Frost Beige, Gold, Sandalwood.

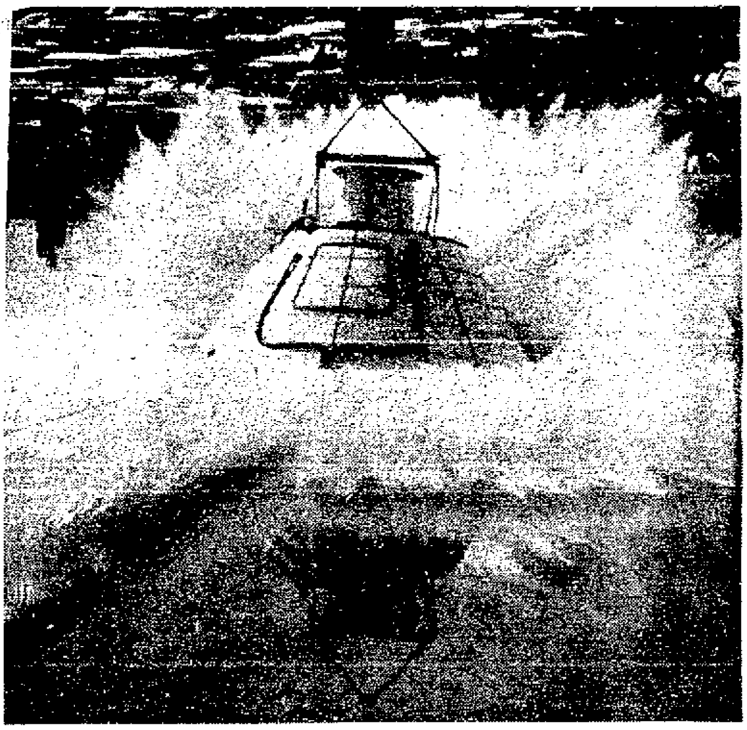
Southland plant building odd craft for Americans'

First Flight to the Moon



Swung in pendulum fashion and then dropped, the Apollo vehicle being made ready for manned space flight to the moon, is hurled into a tank of water.

By Lee Craig

A STRANGE, bug-shaped craft hovers over barren, craggy terrain, then eases down gingerly for a landing on its four spindly legs. A hatch opens and a man emerges, wearing a silvery suit and a plastic helmet and with a pack strapped to his back. He is the first American to land on the moon. .

This dream of mankind for timeless ages will become a reality in a few more short years . . . by the end of this decade, if America's space program continues along its scheduled path.

The capsule to carry three astronauts on their historic space ride is now under construction at North American Aviation's Space and Information Systems Division at Downey, after exhaustive tests to determine its fitness for the role.

At Edwards Air Force Base, the world's biggest rocket engine, developed by NAA's Rocketdyne Division, Canoga Park, as the Apollo spacecraft's first-stage booster, is testing its power.

THE TASK ASSIGNED to Saturn V, the Apollo vehicle, is tremendous.

The 372-foot Saturn V, as high as a 30-story building, will weigh 3,000 tons, as much as a nuclear submarine or two dozen jetliners loaded with passengers, cargo and crews.

To lift this tremendous weight beyond the pull of the earth's gravity demands awesome power. Five of Rocketdyne's huge F-1 liquid-fuel engines will be clustered to provide the 7.5 million pounds of thrust needed to launch the huge spaceship to an altitude of 30 miles, where the second stage will take over.

On the way to that height, the equivalent power of 85 Hoover Dams will have been generated by the volcanic force of the five F-1s, gulping kerosene and liquid oxygen at 1,000 gallons per second which has been fed to them by turbopumps equal in power to 30 diesel locomotives working together.

AFTER JETTISON of the first stage, the 1,000,000-pound thrust of the Saturn S-11 stage drives the astronauts to about 99 miles, where a final push by the Saturn S-IVB stage will put the spacecraft into an orbit around the earth at 17,500 miles an hour.

At the proper moment, the S-IV's engines will be fired again to speed the Apollo to escape velocity of 25,000 miles an hour and send it on an accurate course to the moon.

Apollo must move toward where the moon will be 70 hours later. During its translunar flight, the spacecraft constantly changes speed under the influence of gravity, but averages about 5,500 miles an hour. Accuracy and timing are critical.

The vehicle speeding toward the moon consists of the command module, the service module and the lunar excursion module, or "bug."

ON THE WAY to the moon, the astronauts will move around within the tight confines of their quarters. They will communicate with earth, eat freeze-dehydrated foods and sleep in a shirt-sleeve environment.

About 80 miles above the moon's surface, the service module engine will send the spacecraft into a lunar orbit and two astronauts will transfer to the lunar excursion module for the landing, probably near the Sea of Tranquility.

Only one of them will leave the Bug at one time to make scientific observations, gather soil

"Boilerplate" models of NASA's three-man Apollo spacecraft command module are seen in production at North American Aviation's Space and Information Systems Division at Downey. These are engineering test vehicles made chiefly of aluminum alloy for pre-development tests. They duplicate external size and shape, structural soundness and center of gravity of later craft. At right, a space-suited engineer stands beside an Apollo mockup, built to study the configuration of later models that will carry men on flight to moon.

When the Team Travels...

...It's Eat, Study and Sleep

"Five minutes to load players, hour to load food. USC fullback Rich McMahon shows why.

Paul Johnson, Troy sophomore center, combines grid experience and sightseeing on trips.

Every Friday during the autumn, footballs fly across America—and so do college football players.

Thousands of young men are herded into hundreds of planes and headed for The Big Game. Once in the air, they eat, study, relax and sleep.

When football was in its infancy, the coach hitched up the wagon and drove his players to the game. Then came the era of the week-long train trip. USC and Loyola and Santa Clara teams would head East on Monday or Tuesday, stop in Albuquerque, Amarillo and New Orleans for workouts.

But today a team leaves on Friday, plays Saturday afternoon and rushes for the airport right afterward. The boys are back from a cross-country trip in time to have a late dinner at home.

When the threat of a pilots' strike arose last month, college officials were worried. "We'd have to cancel the football season," fretted one. "No, siree," said the pilot at 19,000 feet headed eastward. "We'd have to cancel the strike."

When the Theater Came to Long Beach

Theatricals presented by family and friends of the Judge Dillons in the Dillon home (above) on Signal Hill probably pioneered the "little theater" movement in Long Beach. The home later was destroyed by fire.

By Maymie R. Krythe

SINCE Long Beach is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, it's interesting to recall what was going on in the way of "theater" during the community's early decades. When Long Beach started as a seaside resort, its chief summer entertainment was sessions of the Assembly (similar to Chautauqua), presented at the Tabernacle (finished in 1887), located among eucalyptus trees in the block bordered by Locust Avenue, Third and Fourth Streets and Long Beach Boulevard.

Besides daily lectures, there were varied musical programs in the evenings; however, Long Beach had little in the way of professional drama. From time to time a traveling stock company would perform at the Tabernacle until that structure was torn down in 1915.

SOME SOURCES say the first "little theater" productions occurred in the commodious basement of the Judge Dillon home, on the south side of Signal Hill. Fire later destroyed the home. Dillon was a lawyer and his wife was the second president of the Ebell Club. With their six children, they formed a talented and important pioneer family.

(Later the son became a lawyer, three of the sisters were musicians and studied abroad, and Josephine Dillon, a graduate of Stanford University, and a dramatic coach, was the first wife of Clark Gable.)

The Dillon youngsters and several friends often staged shows, and delighted in dramatizing scenes from such books as "Little Women," "Little Men," and others. As they grew older, they developed their acting and musical abilities, and would stage benefits. Often a tallyho from down town brought a number of guests to see the productions, which included light plays, heavy dramas, vaudeville acts, and even grand opera. These events raised funds for the Literary Society, library and other projects. The Dillons often gave dramatic performances at Christmas, Fourth of July, and other holidays. So, it's no doubt true that the local "theater" did start at the Dillon home.

During the 1890s some young people, who lived near Signal Hill, got together to promote their own entertainment. Frank Butler, who had a nursery nearby, let them use his warehouse; and in his honor they called it "Butler's Opera House."

THE BOYS built a stage, installed a curtain, and used lanterns for lights. During their productions here, the young people gave variety acts, plays, and musicals. In one play, "The Elevator," the leading man and lady got "stuck" for a time in the lift. Since the feminine star was pretty, there was rivalry among the boys for the male part; when one fellow got it, another offered him $5 for the role.

In 1908, some amateur groups, including Company H of the National Guard, staged plays, as did members of the Ebell Club. At the Lyceum, in addition to moving pictures, one-act plays were produced each week. Also that year Bernard Daly and his company reached Long Beach with the play, "Kerry Gaw," in which there were exciting horse races and a flock of carrier pigeons.

An important theatrical event was reported in the Long Beach Press of April 10, 1908:

"Next Tuesday, April 14, will mark another epoch in the amusement history of Long Beach. On the night of that day, the Bentley Grand Theater will be thrown open to the public. This beautiful playhouse, which has been rushed to completion as fast as unlimited capital and brains could command, is the peer of any theater built, except for size. It is a miniature "Grand" in every respect, cozy, compact, modern, in every appointment and detail, and absolutely fireproof. An asbestos curtain hung on steel ropes and sheaves separate the 22x28 stage from the beautiful auditorium, with sunken orchestra, parquette, proscenium boxes and orchestra and balcony loges. There are nine exits on the ground floor, which will empty the entire house in 40 seconds. Every modern stage accessory has been added to make life pleasant even behind the footlights, and to produce thrilling scenic effects.

"THE BENTLEY GRAND will be devoted to refined vaudeville and the very best acts are promised by Walter Reed, the efficient stage manager. But the crowds that will attend the Bentley Grand will find a theater of which every Long Beach man, woman and child need not be ashamed." (This new theater—later called the "swanky home of the spoken drama" —was located near Cedar Way, on the Pike, not far from the Virginia Hotel.)

One of the wacky ways—at least, in a modern sense—of crossing Catalina Channel was by Hawaiians in outrigger canoe, seagoing craft of the ancient Polynesians.

Catalina, the Wacky Way

By Lou Jobst

CATALINA Islanders may be out of the main stream of things, but when it comes to kooky ocean-hoppers they've seen just about everything.

Visitors have cruised to Avalon's sunny shores, crossed from there to the mainland, or both in kayaks, bicycle-driven pontoons, on water skis and surfboards, in outriggers, canoes, rubber inner tube rafts and—most recently and dramatically—in a 1914 Santa Fe railroad parlor car aboard a barge.

They've also buzzed the island in World War I fighters and zoomed past White's Point in hydrofoils and hydroplanes.

The Catalina the hard(y) way cult are not all exhibitionists and water-soaked wits. To many athletes and sportsmen, the 18-mile wide channel with its tricky currents and often unpredictable and deadly behavior, is a challenge—a sort of "because it is there" thing — which seems to afflict marathon swimmers and mountaineers alike.

Since World War II, nearly a score of swimmers, ranging from housewives to tough veterans of the English Channel and the Bosphorus, have made the attempt. Most failed. A few were spectacular successes, but none more than Greta Andersen, wife of a San Pedro high school coach, who overcame a serious physical disability to become the world's premier distance swimmer.

GRETA, who admits that sharks frighten her, has set so many records on the channel that one wag suggested it be renamed "Greta's Gulf."

In one daring swim, in 1958, she swam the channel both ways, covering nearly 50 miles in less than 27 hours with only a 17 minute breather ashore.

What Greta is to the swimmers, 23-year-old Chuck Stearns of Bellflower is to the skiers. Stearns, repeatedly U. S. national water skiing champion, has six times won the annual 58-mile water ski race between the island and the mainland. This year he made the two-way crossing in 1 hour, 39 minutes. In 1958 Stearns, still in high school, crossed the channel on one ski in 21 minutes, 50 seconds.

BUT STEARNS was an old man compared to Mike Brakensiek, who, at 10, became the youngest person to conquer the channel alone in 1957. Mike, a Lakewood grade school student, drove a six-foot inboard cruiser across the channel in 58 minutes.

The race, at least the race to Catalina, doesn't necessarily go to the fleet and the young. Channel champs have included a number of graybeards such as a 75-year-old Fullerton real estate broker and former lawyer, Vincent Smith, who has made three kayak trips to Catalina, the last earlier this year.

He also made canoe trips in 1950 and 1952 and says, "I expect to go canoeing on my 100th birthday."

OCTEGENARIAN Fred Ashbridge celebrated his 80th birthday by water skiing to the island from Marineland, a 38-mile crossing which was his fifth on skis. He made it in 1 hour, 22 minutes and would have arrived sooner "if I hadn't had a couple of spills." To prove he wasn't getting too old he also skied back to the mainland.

Teamwork has played a role in channel conquests such as the perfectly matched efforts of a man-wife team, James and Diana Loomis. The Loomis couple rowed to Long Beach from Avalon in a 15-foot skiff. The trip lasted 5½ hours.

Most hilarious of the ill-fated channel attempts occurred in 1954 when a group of young marine enlisted men tried to make the trip on a raft made of innertubes.

Each time the group put their raft into the water the heavy offshore current swept them toward San Diego. After several futile efforts they gave up, explaining they'd "more than made the distance sideways."

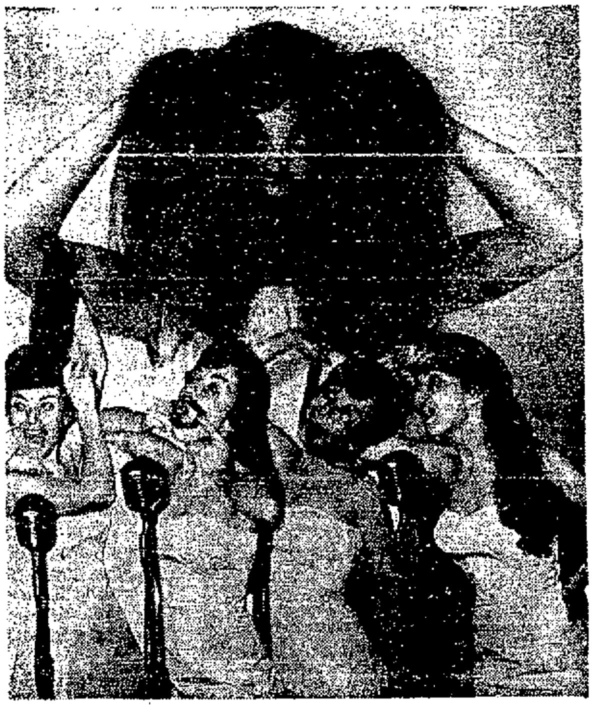
TWO OF the most recent crossings—the first railroad trip to the island by the wacky Balboa Island Sculling and Punting Club and the successful June swim of a 214-pound San Francisco father of four, Ike Papke—point out the wide divergence in channel challengers — the serious (Papke made it in 12 hours, 21 minutes) and the improbable (the railroaders took two days, about 40 passengers, but issued 1,000 tickets).

Water skis are another means of channel crossings. Fred Ashbridge, 80 (above), has made five crossings in this manner.

Vincent Smith (right) made it first in a canoe. He and Gus Emerson (left) crossed again; gave up round trip plan.

Joanie's 'Crowning Glory'

By Vera Williams



When Joanie Jaye goes into her act, her hair is a No. 1 "prop." Can you guess the impersonations? See article.

JOANIE JAYE has sparkling eyes, a "pop" voice, and a trim figure divided 34-23-34.

AND a head of lustrous brown hair that never has been cut and swings to her waist.

For years she has sung and danced in Southern California, and before that, in the east. Most of her appearances have been with groups.

Not long ago her husband, Mel Rudell, suggested:

"If we think of some way to capitalize on your long hair, you're good enough for an act of your own."

THE UPSHOT was that Joanie worked out a snappy act of songs, patter and impersonations — and her only "prop" is her hair.

She pulls a wide strand of hair across her forehead, and she is an Indian. She circles her mouth with a thinner strand of hair and she's Al Jolson. She wraps hair under her chin and she's Tom Dooley. She makes a "coonskin" cap of hair, and she's Davy Crockett.

As a climax, she pushes her hair forward on each side, sticks out her tongue, and she's a panting long-eared cocker spaniel.

The act is slated for Las Vegas soon.

SINCE COMING to Long Beach six years ago, she has appeared with the Paul King, Frankie Gould, Reed Williams, Paul Buzard, Roger Bacon, Mort Faber, Eddie Thornberry and Herb Gifford bands. Her appearances have included Disneyland, Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe, Christian's Hut and Jamaica Inn at Corona del Mar, the Black Bull in San Fernando Valley, the White Sands in Riverside, the Biltmore Bowl and local hotels, restaurants and clubs.

Her husband and his brother, Russell (both Poly graduates) have a variety act, which they call "The Rudells."

The couple live at 2742 Elm Ave.

Joanie's relaxed moments reveal a charming personality.

Rich appointments and spacious comfort are evident in this living room view, taken from the stairway, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barr. Black, hand-carved beams, white walls, floral carpet are of interest.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

Its Mood Is Mediterranean

By Stella George

THIRTY YEARS fail to dim the sturdy beauty of a well-constructed home, as Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barr, 3000 Chestnut Ave., have proved since purchasing their Spanish style, two-story residence three years ago.

The house is set on a tree-shaded corner lot and a curved walk leads to the front entrance. Mosaic tile frames the door bell, a tiny clue to the rich interior beyond.

There is a small entry, with a stained glass window at one side, views the beautifully appointed living room, with a stairway at the far end. Carpeting (including the stairway) is of a rose floral pattern. Carpeting plays an important part in the whole decorating scheme.

With the assistance of interior designer, Aurora Fournier, Mrs. Barr has combined French and Italian furniture for the decor of her home, selecting each item with infinite care. Twin white sofas or love seats face a marble-topped coffee table before a large picture window at the front of the home.

Much more than interior beauty is evident, too, in Barr home. Above, patio corner with fountain, pond.

Stairway rises and turns, forming a corner for a conversation grouping, console table, handsome mirror.

A LILAC occasional chair is across the way, near a white fireplace. In another corner, just under the stairway, is a conversation grouping of two chairs, small table, low commode—with a handsome mirror on the nearby wall. Accessories include a lilac toned bouquet on the coffee table, a bunch of glass grapes, fine lamps.

All walls in the home (except the kitchen) are white. Black beams in the high ceiling are hand carved.

In every respect the kitchen is a masterpiece of design and planning. There is a built-in table that serves as a dining table, a bar, a game table, or a buffet as required. Built-in units at the far end include cupboards and shelves—open shelves to display knickknacks and family treasures.

BEYOND the living room is a large curved hallway which doubles as a tiny den with a desk and chair. A powder room in the area is hung with gold paper.

In the back of the home is the TV room. Here, Mrs. Barr chose walnut rattan furniture.

Barr built a high white wall around the patio of the home, and placed mosaic wall decorations here and there. In the far end of the patio is a pond with a mosaic border and a fountain in the center. Colored lights play on the scene in the evening.

The master bedroom is spacious, typical of homes built years ago. The king sized bed, headboard, lamps and chests of drawers are 1963, however, as elegant as the furnishings downstairs. The guest room has two maple beds with built on headboards (that even include a tiny drawer)—and a door (obviously not to the closet) up a step from the room that always brings forth the question, "Where does it lead to?" It does, in fact, lead to a tiny balcony—found only in a home of this type.

Winding approach, attractively bordered, thriving landscaping add charm to Spanish-style residence.

MEDICINE AND YOU

How to Make a Hospital Visit

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

VISITS to hospital patients should not be longer than 30 minutes, a British physician says.

And rarely should more than one person visit at one time with a patient, says Dr. Somerville Hastings. Conversation can prove tiring, he points out.

The object of visiting is to soothe and to encourage, Dr. Hastings says. So bad news should be withheld. The visitor should do most of the talking, he says in British Medical Journal.

Visitors are especially important in the lives of the chronically ill, he notes.

Says Dr. Hastings: "The chronic sick feel that if they but rarely have visitors their colleagues in the ward will think there is something lacking in them personally. It is therefore a real act of mercy for well-disposed people to visit them regularly."

A NEW DRUG that combines the tranquilizer propthipendyl and the barbiturate cyclobarbital has proved effective in relieving insomnia and in treating DTs.

The combination medication is known as Itridal.

The compound, made in West Germany, can induce deeper and longer sleep than each single component prescribed in double amount, three German researchers report.

In trials on 220 patients with various sleep disturbances, Itridal tablets enabled subjects to sleep an average of six hours, according to a report in Diseases of the Nervous System.

A single shot of the injectable form of the drug relieved agitation in delirium tremens.

A PNEUMATIC splint made of clear plastic has been shown to be worth while in the management of hand injuries.

The splint, which can be applied rapidly by anyone with a little training, is inflated either by hand-operated bulb or by mouth. It can be applied over an open wound, two Detroit researchers report in Archives of Environmental Health.

A NEW experimental drug mentioned here some months ago appears to be proving out as a valuable adjunct in the treatment of hemochromatosis, a serious condition in which excess iron is deposited in body tissues.

The drug is desferrioxamine-B. It has been given the trade name Desferal.

Two Swiss scientists, reporting in New England Journal of Medicine, say the compound effectively and safely removes excessive quantities of iron from the body.

THE MONOTONOUS bland diet usually prescribed for the peptic ulcer victim is abhorent to the patient who has been a gourmet.

But here's how to get a treat with a treatment, says a book reviewer in American Journal of the Medical Sciences. Read the new book entitled "The Ulcer Diet Cook Book," by Harold Rubin.

This book, says the journal, represents the "creative revolt" of an amateur chef and gourmet who was faced with a tasteless diet when he developed an ulcer.

More than 200 recipes are listed, including everything from soup to nuts—the nuts are lightly salted cold cereals.

The author has been careful to differentiate between recipes that may be used early and late in the dietary management of an ulcer.

The book, which costs $4.95, is published by M. Evans and Co. and distributed in association with J. B. Lippincott Co. of Philadelphia.

CAPSULES: Use of aluminum cooking utensils is in no way injurious to health, reports the American Medical Association. . . . Sailors have long known that yellow tatoos may swell when exposed to light. But why? It's the cadmium sulfide in the yellow dye, a Swedish physician reports in Archives of Dermatology. . . . The new "death ray"—the laser—can burn a hole through steel in seconds and turn a diamond into powder, but it doesn't appear to harm human skin, researchers report in Nature.

Fossil

turn to the warmth of their shelters.

Larger by far than the elephant, his distant cousin, the mammoth towered to a height of 14 feet or more. He fed on grasses and vegetation and if they grew scarce, with his great strength, he could fell a tree and strip it of leaves. He made good eating and the Indians had reason for rejoicing when they killed a mammoth for its great body, weighing from 2 to 4 tons, would supply a whole village with food for many weeks.

A RECENT discovery, near Clovis, N. M., discloses a man-made spear embedded in the foreleg of a mammoth, proving that the early Indians killed the great beasts with weapons. They may also have used the pitfall, a method similar to that used today in trapping jungle animals.

LITTLE IS KNOWN about why the mammoth became extinct but some geological catastrophe must have occurred, maybe famine or flood, to cause him to lose the fight for his life. Or, as some scientists believe, great herds may have perished when trapped on ice-flows drifting out to sea, or they may have become prey to predatory wolves. Whatever the cause, he has disappeared from the face of the earth. He was a giant among giants but neither his size nor his strength saved his life.

Each new discovery of fossilized remains brings his story back into the light and opens up a new page of history. Few others may be as lucky as Gordon Pond but who knows what a sharp eye may detect along the banks of an arroyo, or on the beaches along the ocean? Recently the lower molar from a prehistoric bison was found on the beach at Oceanside, California, so these prizes are still coming to light and are helping to solve the mysteries of prehistoric times.

You don't HAVE to go outdoors to enjoy a Skillet Beef Barbecue, but it's more fun—and fall days in the Southland still permit many happy patio hours. However, the family room or kitchen will do just as well for this fun-dining.

Skillet Beef Barbecue

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

NO LONGER does the "come to a barbecue" invitation mean that you need head-for-the-woods, nor does it have to be in the dead of summer . . . Barbecues in California are year-around affairs.

Casual but festive, a barbecue can be prepared in your family room, patio, or in your own kitchen. A Skillet Beef Barbecue is an innovation of do-ahead and enjoy your guests, as well as being a good way to make a small roast feed many. A boned rump roast or sirloin tip is cooked the day before your party. The super barbecue sauce is prepared, roast put into bun-size slices, cheese added, and heating and serving are done at the last moment.

Onion-crested baked beans are especially good with the beef barbecue, and beet cole slaw adds crispness and color contrast to the menu.

There are several suggestions for the dessert tray. You might arrange assorted fruits, cookies and miniature chocolate candy bars on a large tray. This would provide nibbling for the rest of the evening. Another time you might have an arrangement of tarts. The ready-prepared canned fruit pie fillings make it easy to serve several different kinds. Or a big bowl of chilled canned fruits for salad with gaily frosted cup cakes around it would be good.

Onion-Crested Baked Beans

4 cans (1 lb. each) pork and beans, OR baked beans
2 cans (3½ oz. each) French fried onions

Put beans in skillet; heat. Just before serving sprinkle with French fried onions. Twelve servings.

Skillet Beef Barbecue

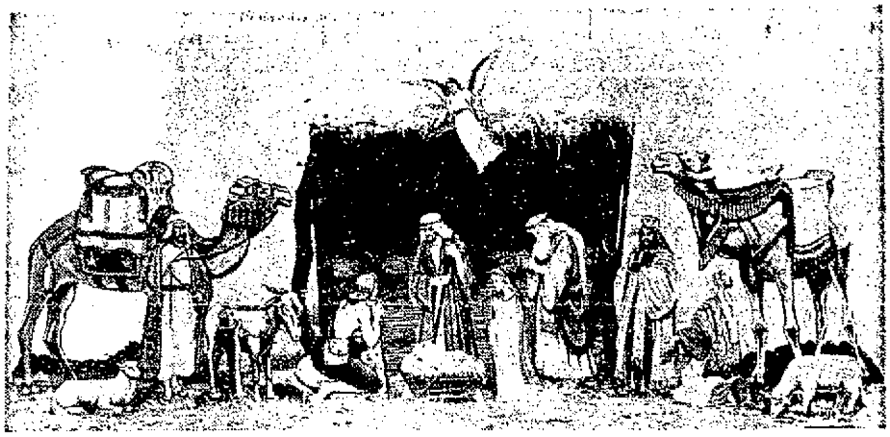
3 lb. boned beef rump or sirloin tip (pot roasted day before)
2 cloves garlic
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup salad oil
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup brown sugar (firmly packed
½ teaspoon oregano
1 tablespoon thick meat sauce
½ teaspoon barbecue spice (optional)
2½ teaspoons salt
1 pkg. (8 oz.) sharp cheddar cheese

Cook minced garlic and onion in oil until tender but not brown. Add remaining ingredients except meat and cheese. Cook uncovered over low heat for an hour, stirring frequently. Cut the meat into slices about the size of hamburger buns and add to the sauce; heat about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. When ready to serve, stir in grated cheese. Serve meat with some of the sauce on hard rolls or hamburger buns. Twelve hearty servings.

Beet Cole Slaw

1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ teaspoon celery salt
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup grated onion
½ cup salad oil
½ cup vinegar
1 can (1 lb.) sliced OR diced beets
5 cups finely chopped green cabbage

Combine seasonings, sugar, onion, oil and vinegar; mix well. Add drained beets and chill 1 to 2 hours. Add cabbage and toss lightly until mixed. Twelve servings.



Wide publicity of the nativity scene pictured above has led to its being offered repeatedly over a period of years. It is easily assembled from a set of pictures and plywood, is weatherproof and usable year after year. See article for further details.

IT IS difficult to conceive a more appropriate and appealing outdoor Christmas display than a nativity scene, whose characters authentically depict the story of the birth of Christ.

The beautiful and colorful display pictured at the left has appeared throughout the world during the last nine years. Its popularity constantly increases as more people and groups join the interdenominational "CHRIST in CHRISTmas Committee" in its campaign to keep Christ in Christmas. Again, we have been asked to support this worthwhile objective.

THE SCENE has appeared in stores, parks, prisons, military installations, hospitals and aboard ships. It has been erected in countries on every continent—even those behind the Iron Curtain. Countless persons who have used this nativity in their front yards have won first place in their local Christmas decoration contests. It's a project that the entire family, especially the youngsters, can help construct. It is perhaps the most effective way to dramatize this important event in Christian history. A reminder, for those who build the display and those who view it, of the true Christmas story and its impact upon man through the ages.

The scene pictured is something anyone can make in a few hours. It's two-thirds life size (camels are over five feet tall). The figures come to you printed in many bright and beautiful colors. All you need do is glue the pictures on plywood, then saw them out. After that they are ready to go on display. Complete instructions are included. The pictures are waterproof (like billboards) and may be used year after year.

TO OBTAIN the complete set of nativity scene pictures number C-7 shown here, send $5 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

Sleek Wall Design

By Bill Meyerriecks

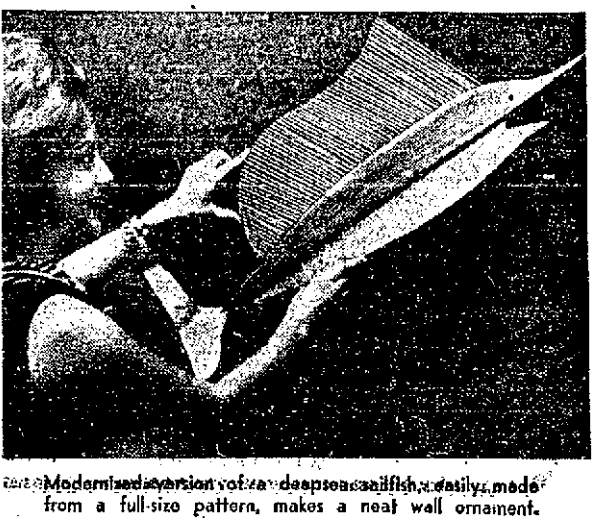
SKETCHBOOK'S change of pace design this week is a modern, sleek sailfish that will spark up any wall in the home, especially den or playroom areas.

The decorative sailfish plaque is a quick, fun project. It is a smart design as seen in the photo. Anyone can make it since it is impossible to miss catching the sweeping lines and graceful look when you follow the full size patterns and detailed steps of the Sketchbook S-132 plan. The cost of materials is very modest.

Construction is simple. Fashion the wood body to the patterns shown in the plan. The fish's underside is cut by scissors from easily obtainable textured aluminum. For the sail fin, an ordinary coat hanger sufficies for the frame. You notch it with a file, bend it to a given shape and wind colored cotton thread from notches to hidden brads driven in back of the body wood. All steps in the plan are detailed and easily understandable to help you along.

For those with a decorative, imaginative flair, variations in the materials can make the project cost almost nil. For instance, the suggested hardwood body could be cut from weathered, attractive driftwood or scrap. You could do a bit of sculpturing to add depth to the body of the fish. Colored, contrasting burlap or linen over stiff cardboard could replace the aluminum underside. Add an attractive trinket or button as an eye, and you'll want to give prominence to such a modern trophy.

TO OBTAIN pattern, specify Sketchbook Plan S-132 and send 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.



Modernized version of a deep sea sailfish, easily made from a full-size pattern, makes a neat wall ornament.

An Apron for the Budding Artist

By Elsa DeBra

Coloring apron with its row of crayons is worn proudly by a pre-school girl and is a work-saver for her mother.

WHEN THE coloring crew gets busy at your house, and crayons get out of hand, then's the time to equip each budding artist with a work-apron.

Less than a yard of 36-inch material will do it — ties and all. Use denim, unbleached muslin, sail-cloth, gingham, or any kind of fabric that is the same on both sides. Little girls like their aprons gathered and tied around the waist with a perky bow. Boys prefer theirs plain like a chef's apron, with a noose-neck and string ties.

For the unbleached muslin apron modeled here, cut a 15-inch length (shorter, if desired) of 36-inch fabric. Machine stitch a one-inch hem along the bottom. Now turn up this bottom edge to front side to a depth of 3 inches, all the way across. Machine stitch slots about 1¼ inches apart, across front of apron, for the single nesting of a dozen crayons. This will leave a generous pocket on each side for holding crayons in readiness for those wild, competitive strokes of genius.

IF YOU ARE using jumbo crayons, make slots wider. If you have two dozen crayons, make another row, right above the first one, by sewing on a hemmed 3 inch strip of material.

Now finish the skirt part of the apron with gathers at the top to fit into a 12-inch double belt. Leave selvage edge at sides or finish with a narrow hem, if desired. Cut ties 5 inches wide, about 24 inches long. Hem with narrow hem.

Decorate these work-aprons any way desired. Girls like rickrack, boys like felt cutout animal motifs. Shown are two green felt trees (cookie-cutter pattern) stitched invisibly by hand, and growing right out of the pockets.

This slim guide is the reason new Kotams tampon can give more protection, more comfort

New Kotams is designed with a slim guide that places the tampon exactly where needed to give you the most complete protection possible.

Old-style ways of inserting a tampon can be very haphazard with bulky applicators—or no inserter at all. Protection is often incomplete!

But with new Kotams it's virtually impossible to position this tampon incorrectly. The guide stem has a tapered grip that makes you hold it just the right way for perfect placement. The tampon is angled correctly, directed smoothly to the most comfortable and protective position. The stem then releases.

Deftly compressed, a Kotams tampon expands in use to 4 times its size. Try Regular or Super absorbency ... soon.

the finest tampon Kotex ever designed

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

Try Crash Program

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: "My son, in high school, signed up for a math class but was sick the first 10 days of school, and he's never caught up and feels that he can't. What should we do about it?"

ANSWER: If the teacher agrees that the youngster has missed too much and can't catch up, it makes little sense to keep him in this class. He should be saved the humiliating and discouraging experience of going day after day to a class in which he is failing.

Usually, though, such a case is not really as hopeless as it might first appear. An intensive, organized program of review may pull the fat from the fire.

Talk the situation over with student and teacher, determine whether a salvaging operation is worth trying.

If it is, give math top priority on the homework schedule. Undertake a crash program. Go back to the very first and cover the lessons at twice or three times the speed at which the class is currently moving. The idea, of course, is to bring your son abreast and enable him to move along with the class.

If this is the route to be followed, make the decision now and get the crash program started.

QUESTION: Do rewards promote learning?

ANSWER: Yes.

The reward of food has a marked effect on the performance of an animal finding his way through a maze. Experiments have shown that the unrewarded animal is the poorest learner.

Awards—or incentives—to human beings must be more subtle and refined than those offered a rat in a maze, of course. Praise and the assurance of happiness and success in life are among the most effective incentives to human learning.

Bonanzas Have Turned to Bygones

Visitor stands by idle 900-foot shaft of Tropico gold mine near Rosamond. Mine is open to public in winter.

By Betty Hardesty

GOLD STILL glitters in jewelry but it no longer exemplifies fortune and fame. Few prospectors search hills for bonanzas, few mines are in operation. The glamour era of the yellow metal has gone a-glimmering. Only the curiosity of tourists keeps a few gold mines in the Southwest open for inspection.

George I. Holmes, who 30 years ago discovered the Silver Queen Mine, latest of a long line of California gold bonanzas, says, "It may be the last." It was his strike that launched the Mojave gold rush, "Gold is still in the ground as much as ever but nobody is looking anymore. Very few men have the know-how, and in another 20 years all of them will be dead."

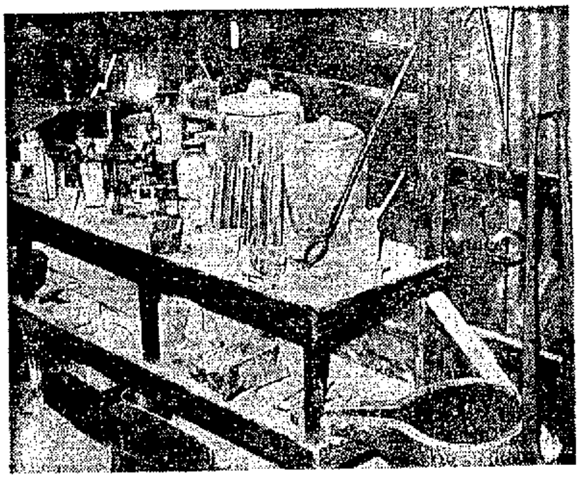
Holmes, now 60, may be the last of the gold discoverers who stretch back to John Marshall and the gold glamour of the days of '49.

HOLMES BEGAN mining at age 16 and worked in most of the glory holes of the West before he found the "Queen." He dug $6,000,000 worth of ore out of it before selling out for more than $3 million plus royalties in January 1935. The buyer was Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa, founded by Cecil Rhodes. The company took out a million tons of ore worth $13 to $15 million from the flank of Soledad mountain in the seven years before gold mining in U.S. was halted as a war measure.

Holmes explains the economics that makes gold mining unprofitable now: The government set the price of gold in 1934 at $35 an ounce. It is still at that price. But at that time miners' wages were about $7 a day, mine timbering about $40 for 1,000 board feet and dynamite was $8 a case.

NOW WAGES are $25 and up, timber around $200 a thousand and powder $18. The price per ounce would have to just about double to restore things as they were, he believes. He also thinks the price would double on a free market, with dozens of mines reopening and thousands of miners going down the shafts to follow the veins.

"A whole industry would revive," he says, "but gold miners don't look for that to happen, the gold era is gone!"



Sampling bench at an old gold mine shows equipment for testing of ores, a clutter of items long unused.

BOOK REVIEWS

The Mystery of Flight 967

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

IN THE EARLY morning hours of Nov. 16, 1959, a Coastguardsmen on duty in a high lookout tower at Pilot Town, La., observed a strange sky phenomenon.

As he gazed out over the Gulf of Mexico, the distant horizon lit up with a brilliant flash unlike anything he had ever seen before, yellow-red, "about as big around as the sun from the earth." Then the yellow disappeared, and the color in the night sky became a deep red, more like a sunset red. This color lasted but a few seconds before it disappeared, to be replaced by a violent white flaring light that was more like a chalk line being drawn on a blackboard with one hand and erased with another. The white flaring line went "straight down" from a point about 15 degrees above the "horizon."

At the same time, men monitoring a radar screen at nearby Houma, La., tracking the passage of a Tampa-to-New Orleans passenger Flight 967, suddenly saw the blip that was the plane veer sharply to the right approximately 70 degrees and disappear.

These minutes, says Brad Williams in his newest book "FLIGHT 967" (Morrow, $3.95), were the minutes of death for 42 persons. And they were also the minutes of birth of one of the most baffling mysteries in the history of commercial aviation in the United States. And Williams, a former newspaperman and now public relations director in Los Angeles for an airline, documents the strange story like the master of mystery that he proved himself to be in previous books.

Thread by thread, Williams attempts to weave a rope of circumstantial evidence that Dr. Robert V. Spears, a career swindler formerly of San Pedro, is guilty of mass murder in the alleged bombing of the DC7 which is presumed to have gone down about 120 miles southeast of New Orleans.

Spears is now serving a prison term on another charge. Until it is established that there is a corpus delicti, which in this case is the criminal agency that the plane was in fact bombed, Spears is legally innocent of the crime.

Nevertheless, Williams' skill in telling the story, in which one bizarre development after another arises, makes "Flight 967" one of the journalistic classics of the year, certain to be sought after by aviation and mystery fans alike.

BRAD WILLIAMS

ISOLATED Tillamook Bay of the Oregon Territory in the 1850s is the setting of Don Berry's dramatic tale of a hardy band of young bachelors whose dream of riches in the wilderness collapses with the death of the captain of the only ship which trades with them.

Rather than quit the bay, they decide "TO BUILD A SHIP" (Viking, $3.95) with their strength and the savvy of a gnomish hermit shipwright, Sam Howard. They love Her—their ship—but unfortunately Sam goes wild over a local squaw and demands cooperation of the crew in his conspiracy to hang the squaw's husband for a triple murder he didn't commit. This is Sam's price to complete the ship.

The men go along, reluctantly, but the Indian tribes in the area don't, because the real killer, also an Indian, already had confessed, had been given a trial after a fashion and lynched. Thus the author of "Trask" and "Moontrap" builds up another exciting situation.

SINCE MANOHAR Malgonkar is himself the grandson of the prime minister of one of India's princely states, he is well versed in life and the lore of those anachronistic parts of India. His novel, "THE PRINCES" (Viking, $4.95) pictures a ruling family, accustomed to command and to being obeyed unquestioningly, watching progress wither away their heritage.

The grand old maharajah, benevolent despot but determined to maintain feudalism, cannot accept the inevitable —that modern, free India will swallow up his kingdom.

Despite its background of medieval court ritual, with its tiger hunts, the novel nevertheless goes deep into the modern world's problems. The maharajah's son, Abhay, teller of the tale, struggles to free himself of the old man's domination, so that he can live as he wants and love whom he wants.

CROWN PRINCE Frederick II of Prussia, a sensitive intellectual, suffered contempt, punishment and heartbreaking despair under the severe discipline of his father, King Frederick I, thus firing an ambition which forced a profound change in the history and destiny of Europe.

"THE MAKING OF FREDERICK THE GREAT" (Little, Brown, $6.50) is the first volume of a two-part biography by Edith Simon of the brilliant emperor who, after ascending the throne in 1740, turned Prussia from an insignificant principality into a militaristic world power. Two world wars, two centuries later, had their beginnings in that military tradition.

Miss Simon's account of how Frederick the Great became master of the politics and intrigues of the Holy Roman Empire in which, as a youth, he had been a pawn, reflects thorough research.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: My husband named BICHO is from the Azores Islands.—Mrs. F.B., Lomita.

F.B.: BICHO is an impressive Portuguese surname which centuries ago referred to an ancestral inn sign portraying a wild tiger or lion as the inn-owner's trademark. This spectacular sign, picturing a "bicho," meaning "wild animal," led to usage of this word as the innkeeper's surname. The Azores Islands where your husband was born have belonged to Portugal since 1431.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we learn about the German surname MOST? — M.M., H.M., Long Beach.

M.M., H.M.: MOST had several origins, blended together in medieval philology. It began as the nickname "Most" shortened from the given-name Mansuetus, a Latin word for "good-natured." Most is also a shortening of Weinmost, for "unfermented grape juice," from the occupation of wine making. Most is also a Slavic, central European term for "bridge," given to the ancestral operator of a drawbridge or his residence nearby.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on ARMIJO.—L.A., Long Beach.

L.A.: ARMIJO had two early Spanish sources. It describes "bearer of arms," or as a shortening of Almijarero, portrayed "keeper of an oil tank in a mine." Jose Armijo is recorded as owner of a Mexican Rancho in Solano County, central California in 1842.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give history on VAN VELSON—E.V., Compton.

E.V.: VAN VELSON is from Holland. This Dutch farm origin surname refers to the family land, for the source phrase of "Velson" was "Veld-stenen" meaning "stony field." The Van Velson and Van Velsen shield is gold, decorated with three black wild-boar heads.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the Gaelic background and shield for KENNEDY—A.K., Long Beach.

A.K.: KENNEDY had its inception in both Scotland and Ireland. The ancient Gaelic meaning is disputed, either from Cinneide meaning "helmeted head," or from "Ceann-Eidigh" for "helmeted-chief." Scotch Kennedys descended from Roland Kennedy of Ayrshire who in 1250 was declared "sole head of his progeny." Twenty-four generations of Kennedy have lived on the family estate at Carrick, Ayshire. The clan shield is silver, emblazoned with three black crosses and a red chevron. Irish Kennedys were formerly the Clann O'Cinneide of County Clare, descendants of Cinneidig, nephew of King Brian Boru who died in 1014. The Irish O'Kennedy shield has three silver helmets on a black background.

Moon Flight

samples and perform experiments.

When their time is up—probably after several hours—the astronauts will launch themselves from the moon by firing the Bug's ascent engine, leaving behind the other engine, its empty fuel tanks, and spider legs, using them as a launch platform.

AFTER rendezvous with the command module, the Bug will be jettisoned and the return journey begun.

The spacecraft will use the friction of the atmosphere, which starts at about 400,000 feet above the earth, to slow down. After the service module is dropped, the command module's blunt heat shield will be turned forward to absorb the fiery, 5,000-degree heat generated during re-entry.

The pilot will use the command module's aerodynamic lift qualities to maneuver his craft to stay in the narrow re-entry corridor and select his landing point within a 5,000-mile radius.

At 25,000 feet, Apollo's drogue parachutes will open, deploying the three main chutes at 15,000 feet to lower the spacecraft gently to sea or ground to end the greatest adventure in mankind's history.

PET PARADE

A Little Bit Special

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF YOU OWN a coursing hound such as Saluki, Borzoi, greyhound or other, you may know that training him requires special patience and consideration, especially when it comes to the sitting position which is not a natural one for this dog. Yet when he once has mastered the lessons, he becomes an enthusiastic and reliable performer.

In order to help these dogs, the Southern California Sight Hounds Obedience Training Club has been formed. Information may be obtained from the club president, Dick Guthrie, 5306 Yarmouth Ave., Encino.

Pictured with this article is a very special Saluki, Jen Araby Siva of Srinagar, owned by Winafred B. Lucas, Ph. D., of Los Angeles. Siva will be seen playing the role of a royal dog of Egypt in George Stevens' film, The Greatest Story Ever Told." For the film the dog was trained by Pat LaCoss.

Jen Araby Siva of Srinagar . . . a little bit special, too.

ACCORDING to historical records, the Saluki is the ancestor of other sight hounds and may well be the oldest breed of dog in the world. There are pictures of them on the tombs of the Pharaohs. Arabs valued them on a par with their horses and considerably above wives! Salukis are fleet runners and have reached 45 miles per hour.

As a pet and companion, the Saluki is very satisfying, being hardy, clean, elegant, warm-hearted, intelligent, fine with children. His appearance is lean, but this does not mean he is being underfed.

I would like to add that a toy dog also should be given special patience and consideration in his training. However, if he will be competing with larger dogs in obedience, it seems wise to train him in regular classes.

MAKING A NAME for himself obedience-wise is the little toy Japanese spaniel, Ch. Turner's Fukuro, owned by Mrs. H. A. Brown, 849 Ronan St., Wilmington. He is being trained in Marty Lier's class in Peck's Park, Western and Summerland streets, San Pedro, because Marty Lier seems to understand toy dogs, and there absolutely is no cruelty whatsoever. Classes are held Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon. Some pet shops sponsor obedience classes, too. Go out and observe the training. Somewhere there is just the right one for your dog, toy or otherwise.

And I think you would like the book, Natural Method of Dog Training, by Leon F. Whitney, DVM., distributed by Lippincott, $3.95. His is a quiet, easy sort of training using the dog's natural reflexes and reinforcing them with food to encourage proper behavior. The idea is not really new. Look at the "trained" pets in Old McDonald's Farm at Knott's Berry Farm, and you will see that conditioned reflex training makes pets eager to please if the end results have the reinforcement of food. Dr. Whitney makes this method very adaptable to dogs.

You Ask We Answer

By Haskin

Q. In what years did the U.S. flag have 15 stripes? T.N.

A. The 15-stripe, 15-star flag was the official U.S. flag from 1795 to 1818. The 14th and 15th stripes (and stars) represented the states of Vermont and Kentucky, which were admitted to the Union in 1791 and 1792. By 1818, five more states had been admitted, but no stars were added to the flag, and the number of stripes remained at 15. On April 4, 1818, Congress reduced the number of stripes to the original 13, added stars for the 5 states, and provided that thenceforth a star be added for each new state but that the number of stripes remain unchanged. A 15-stripe flag was flying during the War of 1812, when Francis Scott Key was inspired to write "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Q. Has the maximum insurance always been $10,000 on each account in banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation? C.N.

A. No. This insurance was started on Jan. 1, 1934, with a maximum of $2,500 on each account. On July 1, 1934, the maximum was moved up to $5,000, and on Sept. 21, 1950, the maximum insurance was raised to $10,000 for each account.

Q. How was the Iwo Jima Memorial statue transported to Arlington, Va.? L. A.

A. The 100-ton statue, cast in Brooklyn, N. Y., was transported in sections by three huge flatbed trucks; two smaller trucks carried loads of parts. The journey took more than 20 hours, because of the roundabout route necessary to avoid underpasses and overhead wires. Insurance on the shipment totaled $1.5 million, but the cargo was so carefully guarded during transit that not even one scratch was suffered by the protruding sections of bronze arms and legs.

Q. What countries other than the United States have won the Olympic basketball championship? H. N.

A. The United States has won every Olympic basketball title since the sport was introduced at the 1936 games in Berlin. The Soviet Union, displaying surprising strength in this sport in recent Olympics, placed second in 1960.

Recipe of the Week

SLAW is always popular in Southland menus, and a variation wins this week's recipe prize of $5 for Mrs. Ruth Gerathewohl, 100 Atlantic Ave., Apt. 809, Long Beach 2. The recipe:

Sweet Sauerkraut Slaw

- 1 large can sauerkraut
- ½ cup onion
- ½ cup green pepper
- ½ cup celery
- ½ cup carrots or red pepper
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup vinegar

Drain the sauerkraut. Dice the onion, green pepper, celery and carrots or red peppers. Dissolve the sugar in the vinegar and heat just to the boiling point, but do not boil it. Pour hot over above ingredients and mix well, then refrigerate overnight if possible.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in his space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Visits Southland

Commandant Georges Croisile, who has crossed the Atlantic Ocean almost 700 times, is a visitor in the Southland.

Original captain of the super liner SS France, Croisile has been with the French Lines for 31 years, during which time he also served on all the other big passenger ships of the line—SS Liberte, SS Flander and SS Normandy. He recently reached retirement age and is now serving with the public relations department of French Lines to promote travel in the "Visit U.S." program.

The Commandant was met in the Southland by Fred Siden of the French Lines office in Beverly Hills.

TRAVEL — RESORTS

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Where should we go with one month in England. I am particularly inerested in Royal homes, stately homes, the bigger and older the better."

BRITISH Travel and Holidays (the official tourist office) sells a booklet on these homes—something very minor like 50 cents. You write them at 64 St. James's St., London, S. W. 1.

"And I would like to find out about family history of my English family who date to 1528 in the county of Devon. . . ."

SAME ORGANIZATION has some books on looking for your ancestors. "Searching for Your Ancestors" is a good book, published by University of Minnesota Press, Minneapolis. $3.95.

You should also contact the Church of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) in London. They do the most extensive work on genealogy and have a great fund of microfilmed records.

"Coming from Florida by auto, where should I enter Mexico? Is a visa necessary? Do we need shots?"

YOU CAN ENTER at Brownsville, Tex., and pick up Pan American Highway 1 to Mexico City. This was the first highway—maybe a little narrower than later highways but perfectly all right. From Brownsville to Mexico City is three easy days.

No visa needed. You get a tourist card for $3 at the border and an auto permit. You should get Mexican car insurance at the border. Your U. S. insurance does not cover you.

You need a smallpox vaccination certificate dated within the last three years. I get typhoid and tetanus shots as well. And I get a prescription for a once-a-week, one tablet malaria preventive. When you get in mosquito country, take it.

"I am going around the world with my daughter, now 11. It will be the only one I'll ever make and I want it to be a good and thorough one and not expensive. I do not want to travel with a group. Where do I start? With travel agents?"

IF YOU WANT to go it alone, it will cost a lot for a travel agent to set you up individually. Better start by making a list of places you want to stop over. Airline fare will be about $1,400 each. You can make all kinds of stops and any length of time.

A good travel agent can advise you how to get more routing out of your ticket. For example, a ticket to Bangkok gives you the right to be routed on through Moscow at no extra change—one of those airline regulations.

The agent gets a commission from the airline on your tickets and this makes it worthwhile for him. And no cost to you.

However, if he has to write ahead and make a lot of arrangements for local tours in cities, this costs him time and you money. And you could buy these tours when you get there.

"Can you send me information on where to lease a villa? Perhaps in Spain or the island of Majorca."

There are several agencies in Spain and in London. Dirrecion General del Turismo, Madrid will send you a list. However, I looked these lists over and I think the prices (through agencies) are marked up far too much. I would go to Barcelona and get a hotel room and start working through local agencies.

"For winter vacations, do you like Guatemala?"

I ALWAYS had a good time there but didn't see as much back country as I would have like to—particularly the trip down to the Atlantic side on the Rio Dulce. Herb Cerwin who knows this country well is taking a small group on this kind of trip in December. Write him at 442 Post St., San Francisco.

Oldtimers Gather in Death Valley

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

STARTING with the 14th annual Death Valley Encampment this week in Death Valley National Monument, November offers more than a little to Southland gadabouts.

No less than a score of events highlight the calendar for the month, ending with the 23rd All-Western Band Review at noon Nov. 30 in Long Beach.

The Death Valley Encampment starts Thursday and the program, which continues through No. 11, includes the dedication of two historical monuments—both in Panamint Valley — reminiscences of Death Valley oldtimers around campfires; artists, authors' and photographers' breakfast, naturalist talks, dancing, conducted tours, burro flapjack sweepstakes and chuck wagon lunch. Protestant and Catholic church services will be held next Sunday.

(Hotel and motel accommodations may be hard to come for a possible reservation. Many Encampment visitors bring their trailer or car with tent. Visitors are urged to bring their own duffel, as well as wood, if you camp out; and plenty of bedding for the nights are cool.)

WHILE IN THAT section of the state, it might be a good idea to drive on to Owens Valley where, according to late reports, scattered areas are now showing Autumn's brilliant yellows. The upper canyon areas (above 6,000 feet) are still beautifully colored. Light snowfalls have left traces of snowpack at elevations of over 10,000 feet.

Other events of interest to gadabouts:

Beginning Monday, and continuing through next Sunday, the Imperial Valley Rodeo and Brawley Cattle Call at Brawley. Program includes top rodeo events and a parade next Saturday featuring more than $3 million in rider's silver mountings.

The "World's lowest down boat race, the 3rd annual 500-miler for motorboats, will be held Nov. 8-10 on the Salton Sea.

Twentynine Palms holds its 21st annual Weed Show on Nov. 9-10, with exhibits of plants from the nearby desert area in intricate arrangements.

THE NAVY'S daredevil parachutists, the "Chuting Stars," and precision flying team, the "Blue Angels," will perform twice daily during Point Mugu's Space Fair Nov. 9-11.

Long Beach will hold a mammoth Veterans Day Parade at 1 p.m. Nov. 11.

Lake Elsinore Valley will hold a "Nutty Yacht Race" during its Diamond Jubilee Celebration Nov. 15-17 with sailboats mounted on wheels racing on the dry bed of the lake, which is soon to be filled with piped-in water.

The 38th annual Great Western Exposition and Livestock Show will be held Nov. 20-26 at the Great Western Exhibit Center, Santa Ana Freeway and Atlantic Blvd.

EL CAJON, near San Diego, ushers in the Christmas season with its famous Mother Goose parade Nov. 24.

Hollywood Santa Claus Lane Parade of Stars, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 27 along Hollywood Blvd.

And, among other communities ushering in the Yule season, will be El Centro where Santa will arrive Nov. 29 in a stagecoach used 100 years ago on the Butterfield run.

BIG THINGS happen to the Matson liner Matsonia in December.

The big, white liner, fresh from a San Francisco shipyard refurbishment and overhaul, will be rechristened the SS Lurline on Dec. 6.

Two days later she will sail from San Francisco, and from Los Angeles Harbor Dec. 9, on her first Hawaiian cruise as the newly named Lurline.

Highlights of the special cruise will be a "first voyage" champagne ball for passengers, each of whom will receive a special Lurline certificate and commemorative gift.

The pre-Christmas cruise also will permit passengers to stop over in Honolulu to await the Lurline's next arrival on Matson's annual Christmas cruise. Returning passengers, leaving Honolulu Dec. 27 aboard the liner, will enjoy unprecedented cruise calls at three Neighbor Islands—Kauai, Maui and Hawaii.

The Matsonia will be the fourth in the Pacific trade to be named the Lurline. The third Matson liner to carry the name was sold earlier this year.

GENE HALE, born and educated in Long Beach, who now owns and operates the Mt. Tom Motel in Bishop, has been elected to his second term as Region No. 2 Director of Congress Motor Hotels, Inc., one of the nation's large motel chains.

Brilliant Bird of Paradise is a joy to behold in the gardens of the Southland. Plants need proper care.

How To Grow Brilliant 'Birds'

By Joe Littlefield

BIRD OF PARADISE is a joy to the gardener who likes bright color, and the blooms start in late fall or in the winter season. In fact, the plants rest very little.

There are no true miniature 'birds,'' but there is a variation in sizes of mature plants. The size variation is due to plants being grown from seeds. Length of leaf stalk from the base of leaf on down to a little nubbin on the upper side of the leaf stalk is a good indicator as to ultimate height of a plant. A long leaf stalk means 3½ feet or more stalk. A short leaf stalk means a lower growing plant, ideal for planting in front of low picture windows, as specimen tub plants, or in outdoor planter boxes.

The rest of the leaf stalk from nubbin on down to the base of the plant actually is a fold. Within the fold may be a new leaf stalk or an embryo flower stalk. That is why you should be careful how far down you cut old leaves. Unless you're certain there is no new leaf stalk or a new flower stalk within that fold, better cut off the old leaf just above the nubbin.

YOU'LL IMPROVE the looks of the plant by cutting off old poor looking leaves. And, you'll be wiser too, when buying Bird of Paradise plants, to select those with flower spikes. If you choose a small plant, you may have to wait a number of years before they'll produce flowers.

Dick Vreeken, who has been growing these plants for 23 years, has developed a new strain by selective breeding. The plants not only bloom at an earlier stage, but are more profilic in number of blooms. Some two- and three-year-old plants bloomed in gallon cans!

He believes in feeding Bird of Paradise a balanced plant food three times a year, because they barely rest.

He observed that the spoon-type (wide leaves) plants have shorter leaf stalks, and overall are lower growing, whereas long narrow leaves have longer leaf stems, therefore grow taller.

He believes "birds" will grow in any type of soil, but will do best in heavy soils, or adobe. Organic material worked into the soil encourages better plant growth. The plants like full sun, or part shade, need lots of moisture but not water standing around the roots. Provide drainage if soil is heavy and water stands for any length of time.

Flower Show

Belmont Heights Garden Club members will have a fall flower show and will view travel slides shown by Mrs. Ellen Garver at a meeting at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Ave. Visitors are welcome. Mrs. Josephine Woods will preside and tea hostesses will be Mmes. Edythe Grinnell, Nina Goodspeed, Milly Allen, Sadie McCutcheon, Louise Wieding and Blanche Ashby.

Garden Talk

"Gardening in General" will be the topic of Joe Taylor of Redondo, past president of the National Fuchsia Society and a former park superintendent, at a meeting of Garden Grove Branch of the society at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the cafetorium of Sun Garden School, Trask and Newland Streets, Garden Grove. Taylor is also a director of the South Coast Botanical Gardens and specializes in growing ephphyllums and bromiliads.

A plant table and refreshments will be provided and the public in invited.

Orchid Display

Dividing and potting cypripediums will be demonstrated by John Hanes of San Gabriel, an expert on orchids, at a meeting of the Long Beach Amateur Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Monday in Silverado Park clubhouse, 31st Street and Santa Fe Avenue. Many flowering orchids will be on display. The public is invited.

DOROTHY DIGS in the garden

By Dorothy Jonson

Most nurseries and garden shops now have a good supply of bulbs in stock. Some of the bulbs should be planted earlier than others and directions should be followed as nearly as possible when planting.

The depth of plantings vary according to the variety and size of the bulbs. Most nurseries will give you free planting charts.

If you are planting bulbs taken from your own garden be sure that they are free of insects and mildew. The careful gardener will treat the bulbs when they are dug up and stored away. This is done by putting them in a container and adding a granular powder containing dieldrin, copper zinc chromate and DDT. Shake the bulbs up in the granules and store away until planting time.

Bone meal should be added to the soil when planting the bulbs. This helps the bulbs to better maturity for the next season as bulbs are known to store their food a year in advance.

formance of "Pinafore" was given in April 1909 at the Bentley, with Dr. Harriman Jones as "the ruler of the King's Navee"; F. A. Knight as Captain of the Pinafore; Mrs. Knight played Josephine, Lucille Saunders, Little Buttercup, and A. L. Parmley (who had played the role professionally) was Ralph Rackstraw.

During its heyday, some who played the Bentley were Josephine Dillon, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, whose wedding to Minta Durfee took place one evening on the Bentley stage; Virginia Brissac, Marjorie Rambeau, John Griffith Wray and Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," later a great hit in New York.

ONE OF the most important appearances at the Bentley was that of the noted actress, May Robson, Jan. 13, 1913, in "A Night Out," after a long run at the Mason in Los Angeles.

In 1915, Otis Hoyt reached Long Beach and operated several movie houses. At one of them, the Hoyt (later the Strand), occasional productions were given by national touring companies.

Since Los Angeles early had several good playhouses, many Long Beach drama lovers thought nothing of boarding the "big red cars" of the Pacific Electric and taking in performances in the "city" by New York companies. Also for some time, certain stock companies operated here, including the Hart Players (in a tent on Anaheim Street), and the Charles King Players at the Tracy on the Pike. Therefore, such productions fostered a love for "live theater," which is so evident in Long Beach today.

ANDY GASSAWAY

Theme From the Bible

FOR MONTHS, intriguing changes have been occurring at 643½ Pine Ave. Andy's Hotcake House, a landmark there since 1950, has acquired a larger, attractive front and additional seating space which will eventually make it one of the largest restaurants in Long Beach.

When the ambitious project is completed next March, Andy Gassaway, the restaurant's conscientious, hard-working owner-chef, will reveal a spacious new dining area, seating 85 more persons, and a second immaculate, glassed serving counter which will give faster service to Andy's hundreds of friends and patrons. The addition will increase Andy's total seating capacity to 425.

The changes are Andy's thoughtful contribution to the plans downtown merchants have for beautifying Pine Avenue. When his broad entranceway is finished, it will be enhanced with a distinctive mosaic tile mural. The painting, by Mrs. Hartley Gurrey, an interior designer, will have a "good land" theme which will be carried out in other artistic touches throughout the restaurant. The theme is from Chapter 8, Verse 10 of the book of Deuteronomy in the Bible which states: "When thou has eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee."

Andy's Hotcake House, which is closed Sundays, is open daily from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Saturdays until 2 p.m. Andy buys the highest quality foods obtainable and cooks them with a master's touch. His roast beef dinner has been 97 cents since 1950—and it is still one of the finest, tastiest dinners ever created.

Q. Is it true, as I have read recently, that Dr. Edward Teller is not really "the father of the hydrogen bomb," that much of the credit should go to Dr. Stanislaw Ulam? — H. Dana, Chicago, Ill.

A. There is no truth whatever to that allegation, which has never been made by Ulam himself. Dr. Edward Teller created in his own mind the basic theoretical concept which led to the hydrogen bomb. His deputy, Dr. Fred De Hoffmann,, now of General Dynamics in La Jolla, made the mathematical calculation which proved out the feasibility of the project. Major contributions were also made by Dr. John Wheeler of Princeton and Dr. Stan Ulam of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and others. But the primary contribution was Teller's—not that he ever sought credit or fame for it. Any review of Teller's scientific papers proves conclusively that he's a modest man and most generous in attributing credit and acknowledgement to his fellow scientists. Many years ago, for example, he wrote a paper on the hydrogen bomb and entitled it "The Work of Many."

Q. I understand that James Mason's wife, Pamela, has fallen in love with her voice instructor, Carlo Menotti. Why have the columnists avoided this item? —Frieda Walden, Atlantic City, N.J.

A. Largely because it's untrue. Carlo Menotti is not Mrs. Mason's voice instructor, has occasionally been her escort at the theater in New York.

Q. What is a "najeeb halaby"? I've heard about it in connection with the guessing game, Animal, Mineral or Vegetable.—K. T., Knoxville, Tenn.

A. One Najeeb Halaby is the administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency and adviser on aviation to President Kennedy.

Q. Was Stephen Ward of Christine Keeler fame a Communist?—Ronald Murphy, Portland, Ore.

A. No, but he was definitely a Communist sympathizer.

Q. Is the film Cleopatra really cleaning up at the box office, or is that just publicity?—Bernadine Duran, Aguilar, Colo.

A. It will be no easy matter earning back the $30 to $40 million the film cost, although approximately $13 million has been earned back as of this writing.

Q. Can you tell me how much stock Henry Ford II owns in the Ford Motor Company? — Vic Newell, Detroit, Mich.

A. Ford owns 1,427,168 shares of Class B stock, worth approximately $77 million, and 148,421 shares of common, worth about $8 million.

Q. I understand that many years ago when Frank Sinatra wanted to get out of his contract with the late Tommy Dorsey, several underworld figures threatened to apply muscle to Dorsey, and Sinatra was given out. I understand that Sinatra has been grateful to the mob ever since. Please comment on this.— N. O., Hoboken, N.J.

A. Sinatra's connection with various underworld figures has been publicized for years.

Q. Martin Bormann, deputy to Adolf Hitler in the Nazi hierarchy, had a son, Martin Jr. Does anyone know what ever happened to that boy?—Gisela Hertzlich, Amsterdam, N.Y.

A. Yes, he is now a 33-year-old Roman Catholic priest somewhere in the Belgian Congo. Young Bormann escaped from Germany after World War II, fled to Austria where he was taken in by a devout Catholic family. In 1958 he was ordained a priest in Vienna, later assigned to a monastery near Munich, then sent out to Africa.

Q. How old is Jack Benny, and what is the truth about his switch from CBS to NBC next year? And how much money does he earn a week? — Robert Elson, St. Paul, Minn.

A. Benny is 69. CBS did not pick up his option. He is paid approximately $75,000 for each of his telecasts; out of that sum his J and M Production Company must pay the rest of the cast.

Q. Is it true that 93 per cent of all American women have had at least one husband by age 40?—Paula Jacobs, Lincoln, Neb.

A. True.

Q. Who said: "Every absurdity has a champion to defend it"?—Jack Hancock, Ogden, Utah.

A. Oliver Goldsmith, British poet, playwright and novelist (1728-1774).

Q. Did President Kennedy go to Harvard or Princeton?—Bertha Richardson, Sea Girt, N.J.

A. He enrolled at Princeton, then at Harvard, from which institution he was graduated.

Q. How old is Burt Lancaster, and does he wear glasses, and what sort of husband is he?—Charlotte Kappel, Pittsburgh, Pa.

A. Lancaster was born in New York City on November 2, 1913. He wears glasses. His wife, Norma, has declined to reveal publicly the private life of her husband.

Q. Is Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain under the National Health plan when she gives birth to a baby? I mean, does she or doesn't she have to pay? — Liz Minelli, New York, N.Y.

A. The doctors who treat and deliver the Queen bill her as a private patient.

A NEW LIFE FOR PRINCESS ANNE

by LLOYD SHEARER

LONDON.

One evening 6 weeks ago, a tall-for-13 girl, blue-eyed and lovely with fine blond hair and flawless, ruddy complexion, was driven to Benenden, a girls' boarding school (tuition—$1,500 a year) outside London.

Like any other new student, Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise Windsor was accompanied by her mother.

This was the first school the girl had ever attended, and she was understandably nervous as she met the headmistress and shook hands with another 13-year-old, Elizabeth Somershield, who was to serve as her "big sister" for the first two weeks.

The newcomer, dressed in the sedate blue uniform of Benenden with the orange band of her dormitory, Guldeford House, around her hat, was shy and hesitant although by nature she is high-spirited, friendly and extroverted.

This teenager was Princess Anne, second child of Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain and her husband, Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Princess Anne is the first daughter of any British monarch to attend a boarding school. Her older brother, Prince Charles, heir to the throne, was the first child of a British sovereign to be sent off to school.

All previous children of all previous British monarchs have been tutored at home in seclusion, the traditional supposition holding that there are no suitable schools in the world for future kings, that preparation for the royal life calls for a special curriculum that can be taught only in the palace environment, that the offspring of kings and queens are and should remain different from the children they will eventually rule.

PHILIP'S PHILOSOPHY

One man who has steadfastly refused to buy this hoary concept is Philip, the Greek prince who married his distant cousin, Elizabeth, in 1947, and thereby brought a much-needed infusion of fresh and modern blood into the royal British family.

Royal children like Prince Charles and Princess Anne cannot give up their lives to music or painting or architecture. They are taught at an early age that they must live their lives in the public service. Their country and their people come first—their own talents, ambitions and predilections second. This calls for disicipline, self-sacrifice, and dedication unknown to the ordinary child. The royal child can't even take a marriage partner of his or her own choosing unless the choice is in accord with the Royal Marriage Act, which requires parental consent. Almost from the moment of birth, royal children live in the fierce light of publicity. They are not permitted the peccadilloes and infractions allowed other children.

Thanks to his father's wisdom, Prince Charles has been going to school with other boys since he was 8. In, 1956, Prince Philip decided that his son's education should take place outside his home, away from tutors Katherine Peebles, known as "Mispy," Hilda Bor and Miss Vacani, who respectively taught him the three Rs, piano and dancing. The boy was enrolled in a private day school in the Knightsbridge section of London. A year later the Prince became a boarder at Cheam and now attends Gordonstoun, the school once attended by his father.

MISSES HER SCHOOLMATE

The child, accustomed to taking lessons with her brother, was saddened by his departure, and her schoolwork flagged, particularly her arithmetic. (Like her mother, she has no sense of mathematics and no great skill in science.)

One day she went to the Queen and said plaintively: "I'm so lonely, now that Charles is gone."

A few weeks later two girls of her own age came to Buckingham Palace to join Anne in classes. One was Susan Baibington-Smith, whose father is a London banker. The other was Caroline Smith, a delightful freckle faced little girl. The trio were inseparable until Anne left for Benenden in September.

Until then, Princess Anne had been known as the "Tomboy Princess." She plays tennis and cricket, rides and jumps horses far better than Charles. Coached by her dad, she's an excellent swimmer. She loves to sail with her father or groom his polo ponies between chukkers. She has never particularly cared for clothes—any old sweater and a pair of levis will do—and is essentially an outdoor girl.

She is not much of a scholar—scholarship is no strong point with female members of the British royal family; they excel at handling horses—but she does speak a passable French, the diplomatic language, thanks to "Granny

Royal," her grandmother. She is good at history and geography, but when it comes to sewing she says frankly, "I loathe it."

By nature she is lively, gay, funny, smiling and vivacious, generates none of her mother's stolidness. She is, according to people who know her best, "her father's girl," like him tall and fair with light blue eyes, handsome, cheerful, and on the impulsive, adventurous side.

As a little girl, for example, she used to lead her brother onto the roof at Balmoral Castle, taunt him to follow her in a series of dangerous balancing acts along the narrow parapets, many of them more than 100 feet from the ground. When the Queen found out about this, she ordered all doors and windows leading to the roof securely closed.

As a teenager, Anne is no less adventurous. This past August when she became 13 she decided to spend her birthday sailing with her father in rough seas. Previously, at the wedding of her cousin, Princess Alexandra, to Angus Ogilvy, she had worn her blond hair upswept for the first time and looked like a sophisticated young woman. "She's growing up," was the remark most frequently heard about her at the ball the Queen held at Windsor Castle to celebrate Alexandra's wedding.

Most of Anne's clothes are bought ready-made from London department stores. Her dress clothes and gowns, designed by Norman Hartnell, Hardy Amies and other top couturiers, are hand-me-downs from her thrifty mother.

Princess Anne (left), on her first Sunday at Benenden School, walks with other pupils to attend morning services at St. George's Church.

On her first Sunday at Benenden, Anne, along with 139 of her schoolmates, was ordered to walk one mile to church and one mile back, to her an entirely new adventure. So, too, was the sermon given by the Vicar of St. George in Benenden, the Rev. Jessop Price.

To his young charges the 58-year-old vicar gave a sermon on the rat race.

"Some of you," he said, "may find yourselves working in a big office, and you will find it an awful rat race—someone always trying to push to the top even if it means pushing someone down to do it." He warned against "keeping up with the Joneses" and "always scrambling for values that truly don't matter, such as money, prestige, position."

When the services were finished and the Princess was walking back to school, a schoolmate asked her how she liked the sermon. Princess Anne smiled. "Never heard one like that before," she replied.

At 13, a new life has truly begun for Princess Anne. She has been given a membership in the society of her own people.

a different diet idea

NO FOOD

Here's one man's story of controlled

Editor's note: The newest development in dieting is actually one of the oldest and most obvious ways to lose weight: starvation. Men have long realized that if they don't eat, they won't gain. But few have tried it because of the potential danger to health. Now doctors are using controlled, supervised starvation to help people who are unable to lose weight otherwise. Most patients are hospitalized so that they can be watched closely and their environment controlled. But some doctors are also trying the technique with selected outpatients. (In no case should the diet be tried without medical supervision.) Here is a first-hand account of the physical and emotional adjustments involved, by a starvation-dieter:

My experience with a 7-day absolute fast has a double significance. In 7 days I lost 18 pounds. At the same time, I learned how to stretch one week of a vacation into an eternity. I recommend the experience to anyone who wants to lose weight and who feels time is going by too fast.

I was launched on this project by my doctor when I took my annual physical. After he got through poking me, listening to my heart and taking my blood pressure he told me I was in good shape. I was prepared for his next comment, which went something like this: "I guess I don't have to tell you, but you're overweight."

In spite of diet pills, calorie-counting and going without lunch since my last physical, I had gone up 12 pounds, to 204. I am 5-feet-11, with an average frame, and at that weight I was fat—and didn't like it.

The doctor and I discussed my attempts to lose weight during the year, and finally he put a proposition to me. He said, "We have been experimenting with a no-calorie diet which lasts 7 days. It has been followed successfully in the hospital under controlled conditions, and we are now trying to see if it can be done in the home."

The doctor said I'd lose at least 15 pounds, but warned that the principal ingredient of the diet was just plain will power. He said I was in good physical shape and that absolutely no physical harm would be done by such a diet. After the second day the hunger disappears, because chemical changes in the body, which result from taking no calories, tend to eliminate the hunger. [Because these chemical changes are violent ones, not everyone can undertake the starvation diet. For the many who are unable to withstand this diet, there are popular, effective liquid diets and other dietary food on the market. These include Metrecal, Liquical, Sego, Diet Aid, Ready Diet and Carnation Skimmed Milk.]

The doctor warned me, however, that some of the people who had tried the diet had reported being nauseated at times, had suffered depression and were extremely nervous and irritable. I asked him for something to get me through the nights, and he said that he would prescribe sleeping pills and tranquilizers.

While on the diet you can drink No-Cal, tea without lemon or sugar, black coffee, and water. But one crust of bread or one piece of candy will upset the chemical balance established during the first two days and probably spoil the whole effect. The doctor told me to keep in touch with him regularly throughout the diet period if I decided to go ahead with it.

I decided to try it during the first week of my vacation. I discussed the project at great length with my friends, and I don't know whether that was good or bad. I realized that if I quit in the middle of my ordeal I would just be notifying everyone I didn't have the stuff to go through with it. This knowledge turned out to be an incentive to keep going, and believe me, every little bit of incentive helped.

My last day of work was Tuesday. People I lunched with insisted that I have an extra martini and a big steak, for they would be the last for 7 days. At home that evening I found a delegation of neighbors all ready to launch me on my project with more martinis and more steak.

Tuesday night I had dreams about being on a desert island without anything to eat. I woke up Wednesday morning tired and mildly hung-over. The scales showed 205 pounds. Skipping breakfast was not too bad. I had a large glass of No-Cal Orange.

My first hunger set in about one o'clock. I gloomily watched my son munch his way through three hot dogs and a gigantic plate of pork and beans, and decided there and then that the first meal I would have when I got off the diet would be hot dogs and beans.

By 5 o'clock I was ravenous. I made the mistake of going in and out of the kitchen while dinner was being prepared. I poured down No-Cal and iced tea and they helped somewhat. The time between 6 and 8 seemed endless. I decided to go to bed and watch television at 8. I took two nonprescription sleeping pills, and used this kind throughout the ordeal, although the doctor indicated he would give me prescription pills if I wanted them.

restless nights

During the day I had spent several hours working on the patio, so I was physically tired. I thought the combination of work and sleeping pills would have me asleep in short order, but I didn't even feel drowsy for two hours and slept miserably that night, as I did every night of the ordeal. I realize now I probably should have gotten prescription sleeping pills.

I watched TV before I finally dozed off and was astonished at the number of food commercials. My sympathetic young daughter finally learned to switch off the food commercials during the ensuing week, and that was a help.

As for hunger, the second day was the worst. All I could think about was food. I had a slight headache and there seemed to be actual physical pain in my stomach. It drove me wild to see the kids walking around eating sandwiches and popsicles. I had a lot of energy, however, and felt like working a couple of hours on the patio, although I took it pretty easy. All I could think of was the doctor's prediction that at the end of two days the hunger pains would disappear.

My youngest daughter walked into the living room about 5 o'clock eating the biggest, most delicious-looking hamburger I have ever seen in my whole life. I determined then and there that a big, juicy hamburger would be my first meal.

True to prediction, my hunger had, by the end of the second day, abated considerably. However, it was still unpleasant to watch food commercials on TV. The next five days, as far as sheer hunger goes, were not so bad as the first two, but time went incredibly slowly and each day seemed to drag more than the day before. This was the worst part of the whole effort. The best part came the third day, when I had lost 8 pounds.

I tried on a suit which had been very tight the last time I wore it and was delighted to find it was comfortable. Every day during the remainder of the fast, I spent at least two hours trying on suits that I hadn't worn for years because I was so fat.

About the fourth day my paunch had disappeared. Friends said my face was losing its fleshy look. The astonishing loss of weight was obviously the greatest incentive to continue the diet. The first day I was down 4 pounds, the second 6 pounds and the third day 8. The fourth day 11, the fifth day 13, the sixth day 15 and the seventh 18.

The doctor warned me that about the fourth day I'd be climbing the walls with nervousness, and he was right. I was terribly tense. I found myself shaking as I held the newspaper. At this time I started taking the tranquilizers the doctor had prescribed.

They helped a great deal, but I was politely informed later that the family had gone through a considerable ordeal, too. I was sarcastic and extremely short-tempered. I was quickly given a wide berth by all the kids. A new poodle puppy drove me wild.

On the fourth night, when I was in bed watching TV, my son made a batch of do-it-yourself pizza, and the odor drifting up to my bedroom drove me crazy. I decided then and there that the first thing I would eat would be pizza.

'murder,' he says

Although hunger was less omnipresent after the first two days, the time from about 5 until 8—normal dinner time—was murderous. I conjured up magnificent dinners and at the same time watched the agonizingly slow movement of the clock. I came up with a trick which helped solve this problem. I took a tranquilizer and sleeping pill around 4 each day and slept until 8. I stayed in bed watching TV until 10 or 11 and then took 2 more sleeping pills, which permitted me to sleep fitfully until 8 or 9 the next morning.

The last few days I actually felt fairly good. I was getting weaker, but I had expected this. Although I thought my conduct was pretty normal, neighbors who visited me told me that I was wild-eyed and tense.

The last three or four days the family was extremely solicitous—careful not to mention food or eat in front of me. But even the rattle of dishes in the kitchen set me thinking about food. About the fifth day I saw some kids walk by eating popsicles and at that time I decided that the first thing I would eat would be a dozen popsicles.

Reading was a great help in passing time, but I made the mistake of starting Herman Wouk's Youngblood Hawke. He must have been on a pretty rigid diet himself when he was writing this book, for it seemed to me that every other page described in great detail the fancy lunches and dinners the hero was consuming.

The last three days I found it hard to concentrate on anything. I had to read sentences over to understand them. I even found it hard to read the newspaper.

As for my physical and mental condition, the seventh day was the worst. I ached, my mind was fuzzy, I found it difficult to move about, and the only thing that kept me going was the knowledge that that night it would be all over.

One thing was interesting to me in retrospect. The doctor had said no alcohol, and as far as I was concerned, that was needless advice. I didn't have the slightest urge for a drink during the entire time.

At the end of the seventh day I was down 18 pounds. At 8 P.M. that day I decided that I had had it. The last food I had touched was exactly seven days before—at 8 P.M. At 8:15 I had a cup of bouillon. I can safely say it was the finest cup of bouillon I have ever had in my life. I drank it slowly and savored every drop. It is amazing how satisfying it was. After the bouillon I had a hamburger patty, which actually left me feeling bloated. The next morning I was not hungry and felt amazingly good. I waited until around 11 o'clock and had a poached egg.

Since then I have kept on a diet of something under 1,000 calories a day. The doctor wants me to lose another 10 pounds. It was astonishing how little food I needed during the next week to keep satisfied. My strength and energy returned completely to normal.

For persons like myself who have tried every new diet fad in the book, this 7-day diet may be the most successful. As of this writing, I, at least, consider it so because my eating habits appear to be completely changed. I can miss a meal without any discomfort. And I have the feeling that I can lose the next 10 pounds with little or no strain. ■ how successful is starvation?

Dr. Garfield G. Duncan of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, who pioneered the starvation diet, recently reported on it at the American Medical Association convention. Dr. Duncan said 40 patients had tried the diet for 4 to 10 weeks with spectacular results. One 300-pounder lost 26 pounds in 10 days. A 16-year-old girl dropped from 172 to 159 in a week. According to Dr. Duncan, his patients lose an average of 2½ pounds a day.

POPULAR IODINE. There's been a run on iodine in California and other swimming pool states ever since a team of Stanford University researchers recently announced that iodine is superior to, safer and more effective than chlorine as a swimming pool disinfectant. Its major advantage: less eye discomfort and irritation to swimmers.

HOW TO CHOOSE. Generally, personnel managers choose new employees on the basis of personality, sociability, vocabulary, looks and skill. If a man is "a good guy," pleasant and outgoing, he's hired and given an opportunity. Research shows, however, that the most efficient employees are usually unimpressive in appearance, frequently shy, anemic, generate few desirable social traits. They are successful in their work because they are persistent, reliable, mature and positive in attitude.

LESS JAPANESE CANCER. Why is there less breast cancer among Japanese than among American women? Why is it that Japanese women who develop breast cancer have a much higher survival rate than American women? Is there something in the genetic and environmental background of the Japanese woman which gives her a special measure of protection? In 1958, for example, the age-adjusted death rate among American women with breast cancer was 26.7%. For Japanese women it was 3.6%. One suggested explanation from a Sloan-Kettering cancer specialist: "There is some endocrine difference [endocrines are glands whose hormones regulate body chemistry] between American and Japanese women which not only decreases the risk of Japanese women developing breast cancer but also increases their chances of survival once the disease has developed." Some scientists feel the basic difference lies in the Japanese diet, which influences the endocrine pattern.

WOOD MOLASSES. The Masonite Corp. has perfected a method of manufacturing nutritive molasses from wood. The product, called Masonex, is being marketed in Nebraska, where it is fed to animals at about one half the current price of feed molasses extracted from beet, corn and cane sugar.

KEY NUMBERS. Policemen in Chicago have been given the names, addresses and car-license numbers of 143 suspected gangsters and told to watch for them. The numbers were obtained from autos driven by the mobsters to gangland weddings and funerals.

TAHITIAN DENTAL PROBLEM. The girls of Tahiti have long been famed for their beauty. Most of them, however, lose their teeth in their early 20s. Their favorite food then becomes canned beef, which can be eaten without teeth. In all of the Tahitian Islands there are only 13 dentists. To help the Tahitians keep their teeth, a call for help has gone out to the United Nations. To study the problem and recommend a solution, the World Health Organization has just flown Swiss dental professor Joseph Baume to the islands. When MGM filmed Mutiny on the Bounty in Tahiti, its prop man distributed 250 pairs of false teeth to the extras.

RABIES IN ROME. Tourists have been warned to stay away from the Catacombs surrounding the Italian capital because of a rabies scare. A few weeks ago Celia Hall, a 12-year-old English ballet student, died after being bitten by a rabid dog. Two days later an Alsatian attacked the driver of a motor scooter. The dog died of rabies. News of these two attacks started a panic in Rome. Hundreds of dogs have been abandoned by their owners outside the city. Others have been shot. The Rome authorities have opened 32 centers where dogs can be inoculated. Dog-owners have been warned that anyone walking a dog without a muzzle will be fined.

FACIAL EXERCISERS. Women will do anything -- well, almost anything -- to remain young and beautiful. Mindful of this, the electronics industry has come up with a muscle activator which firms subcutaneous tissue, helps remove fine lines and wrinkles, tightens and smooths the skin. The Ziegler Electronics Company of Gardena, Calif., one of the pioneer producers of electronic facial exercisers, now reports that an increasing number of men past 50 are buying their machines, usually under the guise: "I want one for my wife."

SAUCY MEAT BALLS

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Swedish meat balls take on new and delightfully piquant flavor when served in a savory caper sauce. The meat balls themselves contain wheat germ flakes instead of the usual bread crumbs, imparting a special nut-like flavor and interesting texture to the ground-meat mixture. To round out the meal, serve with mashed potatoes, carrot circles and crisp tossed green salad.

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS IN CAPER SAUCE

1 lb. lean beef, ground
¾ cup wheat germ flakes
¼ cup minced onion
1 egg
1½ tsp. salt, divided
Dash pepper
1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce
1¼ cups milk, divided
2 tbs. vegetable oil
2 tbs. flour
1 cup half-and-half (milk and cream)
2 tbs. drained capers

Combine beef, wheat germ, onion, egg, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and ¾ cup milk; mix well. Shape into 36 small balls (1 rounded tablespoon for each ball). Brown meat balls in hot oil, turning to brown all sides; remove from pan. Stir flour into pan drippings. Add remaining milk and salt, half-and-half and capers. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until thickened. Return meat balls to sauce. Cover; simmer about 10 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THEIR PROBLEMS GO UP IN SMOKE

by E. D. FALES, JR.

ATLANTA, GA.

In one of America's big churches here next month 1,000 people will "burn away" their anxieties.

While hymns are sung and the Rev. Cecil Myers preaches, they will write down their hates, fears and mistakes—as many as they can remember—for '63. Then they will jot down their hopes and aims for '64. Finally, as the service ends, they will approach the altar and cast what they have written into six blazing urns.

Then they will pray and go home. Says O. C. Bonner, a two-fisted Atlanta contractor: "It's wonderful. It leaves you knowing you have a fine year ahead."

AN END TO HATRED

Comments a pretty blonde teenager: "I can't explain it. Something really happens." And a young man: "I was learning to hate. Someone had spread bad rumors about me. They weren't true and I knew who started them, and my hate grew. Then I wrote out 'fear' and 'hate'—and threw the paper in the fire. As it blazed I knew I could overcome the rumors. I learned in that moment, too, not to hate."

The New Year "burning service" at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church was born a few years ago at a teenage religious conference in a Georgia forest. There the Rev. Dr. Charles Allen, now of Houston, Tex., saw a boy approach a bonfire and cast in a pine cone as a symbol of repentance and hope. Soon more boys and girls cast in their cones, and the fire flamed high.

Dr. Allen brought the idea back to Grace Church for the last Sunday night service of the year. Dr. Myers, now pastor, has continued it.

At the service last December a psychiatrist saw a young woman approach the altar, paper in hand. "She was terribly tense," he reported later. But as the woman burned her paper and prayed, a change came over her. The psychiatrist watched until she returned to her pew.

"She looked like a new person," he told Dr. Myers. "If I could do for her in six hours what happened to her in six minutes, I'd be famous."

Dr. Myers remembers a young couple who separated after a fight last year. "I tried counseling," he says, "but I just couldn't get through to them." Matters grew worse. A child was to be born. The wife filed for divorce. Another broken home was in the making.

"As last New Year's Day approached," Dr. Myers says, "the young husband asked his wife to join him and they came to the burning service together."

During the sermon both wrote busily. Then they approached the altar, knelt to pray, then suddenly tossed their papers into the same urn. When they walked back up the aisle, Dr. Myers noted, they were holding hands. Whatever had been written on those slips had been forgiven. Today that marriage is coming along well—and their child is happy.

In another case, two businessmen, old friends, fought over a deal, stopped speaking. At the burning service, quite by accident, the two enemies found themselves kneeling at the altar side by side, each with a note.

"I saw one man stare in surprise at his neighbor," says Dr. Myers. Abruptly, he took a pencil from his pocket and wrote an added note. The other man wrote nothing. Then on impulse both threw their papers into the fire.

As they burned to ashes the enemies prayed. Then they stood up, faced each other and shook hands. The flames had consumed their hate. Today, they're fast friends once more.

At special New Year service, people note down fears and hates, then burn them.

The burning service, always held the last Sunday in December, draws even people who have no church. When they enter, each is given a small slip of paper. In spite of the fact that no one will ever see these notes, some admit they are nervous. "I cover the paper with my hand," says one mother. "I can't get over the feeling that the person sitting next to me would like to see the awful things I must be writing."

During the ceremony, lights are dimmed, the choir stops singing and quiet music is played. "We don't overdo it," says Dr. Myers. "We never want emotion to substitute for reason." Nevertheless emotion runs strong. "I've seen some pretty tough men come away with tears in their eyes," says one clergyman.

In approaching the urns, some carry their papers openly; others fold them into tight wads and a few actually tear them into small bits.

No one has ever seen one of the papers, but some people are frank to say what they write.

"I began thinking of things two weeks early," says a teenage boy. "When I got to church last year I had so many things on my mind that I filled up three sheets."

PARENTS GAIN RESPECT

Teenage girls are often concerned about parental troubles. "I'd been thinking my parents were old fogies," said one teenager. "Not until I wrote that down did I realize that I had begun to think I was a lot smarter than I really am. So I wrote that I wanted to treat my parents this year with more respect. It's worked out that way, too—and they respect me more."

Besides parent-trouble, teenage jealousies and slights get much attention. Girls say they write frankly about the anguish that comes when boy friends suddenly appear in public with other girls. They also consign to flames the heartbreaks they suffer when they hear they've been criticized.

Adult worries, sins, regrets and prayers for the New Year involve a broader spectrum. One man had been an alcoholic. "When I attended my first burning service," he says, "they gave me a piece of paper, but I thought: 'I'm no dope. I'm not going to write anything.'"

But that man did. He wrote that he prayed to be cured of alcoholism. In the next year he achieved the cure. Today he is happy and respected. "At last year's service," he says, "when I tried to write my worries I found I just didn't have any. I have a fine wife and children and a good life. So I wrote, 'God, I think I get your message. I'm very lucky. I'm rich, and I hadn't even noticed it!'"

One participant in last year's ceremony was a 6-year-old boy. Crouched in his pew, he scrawled something on his paper. Then he marched down the aisle, dropped it in an urn, bent his head on his small arms and prayed earnestly.

"I'd give a year of my life to know what Johnny was worrying about," says his father. "But I never will!"

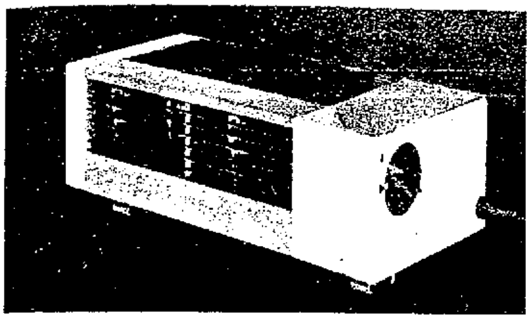
Make life easier—take a look at these new ideas for your home and family ■ BY PETER DRYDEN



Thermo blower: About the size of a box of facial tissues, this heater-ventilator can fit anywhere, even hang on a wall—to fan air for summer cooling, pour out warmth in winter. It's thermostatically controlled, has 3-stage heating (375, 750, 1,500 watts), can provide up to 5,180 BTU an hour, is said to raise temperature in a 12′ x 18′ room 10 degrees in 36 minutes. Two-tone gray housing. Weight: 5½ lb. $39.95. Gay, Dept. PP, 430 Teaneck Rd., Ridgefield Park, N.J.

Table-top billiards: Here's a table-top-size pocket billiards set—regulation equipment in scaled miniature—designed to let you play in living room, game room, almost anywhere. The 23″ x 12½″ wooden table has a smooth flocked playing surface, deep pockets, and no-mar feet. Also included: 16 miniature balls (regulation colors and numbers) and 2 balanced 21-inch hardwood cues. Complete set: $4.98. Spencer Gifts, Dept. PP, Spencer Building, Atlantic City. N.J.

Power manicure: Quick new way to manicure your nails is with this compact electric manicure "salon." It has 5 attachments—cuticle brush, nail sharpener, fine file, buffer, cuticle loosener—that go on a flexible power cable stored in lid. Other features: removable tray for water, built-in storage compartment for polish and remover, special vent to speed nail drying. Plugs in any AC outlet. 9¾″ x 5¼″ x 4″. $16.95. Dominion Electric Co., Dept. PP, Mansfield, Ohio.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by Peter Rich

EDITOR'S NOTE: Peter Rich began his show-business career as a teenage ventriloquist in Hagerstown, Md. He earned enough money as an amateur to attend Western Maryland College, in Westminster. After Peter left college, he spent four years of World War II in the China-Burma-India area. Peter has been working as a show-business pro since 1946, but he was not satisfied with his original standard-type act. With the coming of the space age, he created "Zingo," the dummy with a light bulb in his head and phone in his chest. Rich makes his home in Hagerstown, where he lives with his wife, Maisie, and his 16-year-old son, Stephen. He spends all his spare time with his family, practicing judo with his son and rehearsing new routines with his wife. Over the years he has worked at such hotels and clubs as the Casino Royale, Washington, D. C.; Three Rivers, Syracuse; Glen Park Casino, Buffalo; and The Playboy Clubs in New Orleans and Chicago. Herewith his favorite funnies:

The owner of a large business concern bought a number of signs reading DO IT NOW and had them hung around the office, hoping to inspire his people with promptness and energy in their work. One day soon afterward, a friend asked him how the scheme affected the staff.

"Well, not just the way I thought," he answered. "The cashier skipped with $30,000, the head bookkeeper eloped with the private secretary and three clerks asked for a raise!"

The question of the correct plural of the word "mongoose" was solved recently by a gentleman who wanted to buy a pair of those affectionate creatures for his only daughter.

He first wrote to the pet shop owner: "Sir, please send me two mongeese."

But not liking the look of this, he tore up the paper and started again: "Sir, please send me two mongooses."

This version didn't seem any better so it went into the basket also, and he finally wrote: "Sir, please send me a mongoose—and, by the way, send me another."

A dinner invitation had been sent to the new doctor in town, and in reply the hostess received an absolutely illegible letter.

"I must know if he accepts or declines," she told her husband, and he suggested she take it to the druggist. He felt that a pharmacist could always read a doctor's handwriting.

The pharmacist looked at the sheet of paper which she handed him and, without waiting for her explanation, went into his dispensary. He returned a few minutes later with a bottle, which he handed over the counter to the woman.

"There's your prescription, madam," he said. "That will be one dollar and fifty cents."

A woman went into a butcher shop one evening to buy some meat. A strange man followed her into the store and stood around nonchalantly while she was at the counter. Suddenly she screamed. The man turned and ran out of the store right into the arms of a policeman. The fellow was found to be armed and later was identified as a man wanted by the FBI.

"Mrs. Jones," exclaimed the butcher, "if you hadn't screamed, I would have been robbed. But how did you know he was a bandit?"

"I didn't know," she replied. "I screamed when you told me what the roast would cost!"

Attending a church service one Sunday morning was a young bride whose husband was an usher. Becoming terribly worried about having left a turkey in the oven, she wrote a note to her husband and sent it to him by another usher. The latter, thinking it was meant for the pastor, hurried down the aisle and laid it on the pulpit. Stopping abruptly in the middle of his sermon to glance at the note, the astonished pastor was confronted with the following message: "Please go home and turn off the gas."

The owner of a store was passing through the packing room and saw a boy lounging against a box whistling cheerfully. Thinking of all his money being wasted on this kind of labor, the employer asked gruffly: "How much do you get a week?"

"Ten dollars," replied the boy.

"Here's your pay for the week," said the man. "Now get out."

On his way back to the office, the owner ran into the foreman and asked him: "When did we hire that boy, and who is responsible?"

"We never hired him," said the foreman. "He was just delivering a package from another firm."

"This house has one or two drawbacks which I feel I must mention," said the real estate agent to his prospective buyer. "It's bounded on the north by the gasworks, on the south by a rubber factory, on the east by a vinegar distillery and on the west by a glue factory."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the woman. "Imagine showing such a place. What a neighborhood!"

"Yes," soothed the agent, "but don't forget the advantages. The rent is cheap and you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

Now! False Teeth Fit Beautifully!

Amazing dental discovery, 'Cushion Grip'® ends sore spots—refits loose dentures to hold snug as a dentist's mold! Tasteless! Nothing to mix! 1 application lasts months!

After years of research, modern science has developed a remarkable new way to make false teeth fit beautifully—stop looseness, slipping, clicking, relieve sore spots—without messy, old-fashioned pastes, powders and pads! It's CUSHION GRIP—amazing new soft, pliable plastic that holds false teeth snug as a dentist's mold, through soothing suction—makes loose dentures fit properly again. Result is, you can talk, laugh, eat anything without discomfort or embarrassment!

CUSHION GRIP is easy to use—nothing to mix or measure! Simply squeeze out of tube onto dentures, then insert false teeth into mouth and bite down. Instantly, CUSHION GRIP molds to contours of mouth and gums—provides beautiful fit—holds dentures firmly in place with suction. Looseness, slipping, clicking disappear. Sore spots are quickly relieved. One application lasts for months, despite nightly cleaning, yet CUSHION GRIP is easily removed when desired. What's more, CUSHION GRIP actually re-fits, relines worn dentures, lets you save over $100 on costly relining work. Get new tasteless, odorless CUSHION GRIP today.

RIBS IN A CAN

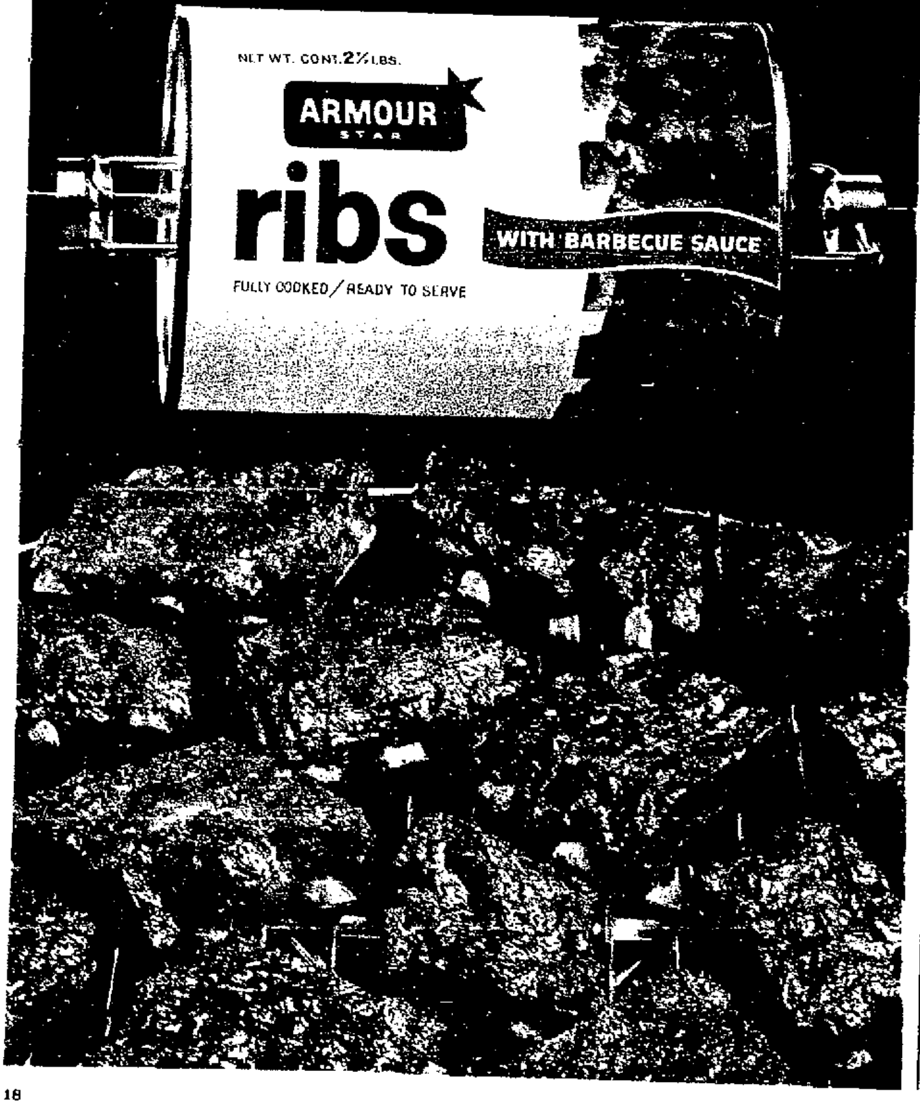
2½ POUNDS...
ALL SMOKED, SAUCED AND COOKED!

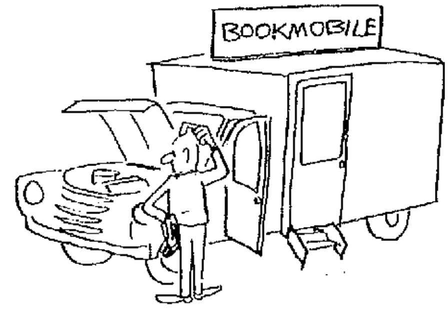
A big 2½ pound can of really good ribs. No ordinary spareribs—our ribs specially selected, specially cut. Slim on bone—heavy on the good rich meat.

ALL SMOKED. For meat this good, only the best will do. So we use sweet hickory smoke. A mellow drift.

ALL SAUCED. And this Barbecue Sauce never saw the inside of any bottle. Nine special ingredients. Thirty-six wonderful spices.

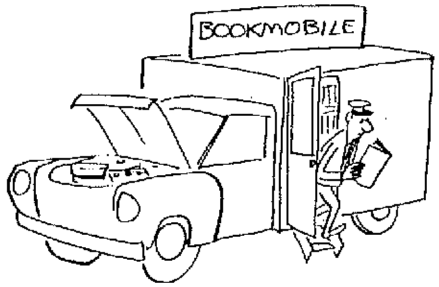
ALL COOKED. Nothing for you to do but heat. The big 2½ pound can serves 3 to 4. If you're looking for the cheapest ribs, forget ours. If you are hungry for the meatiest—come a-running.

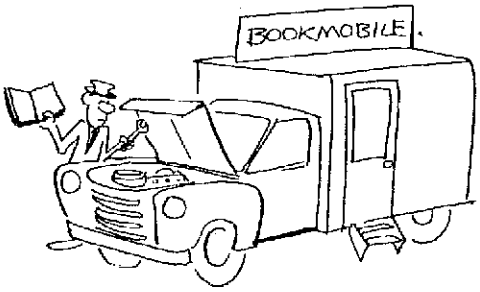


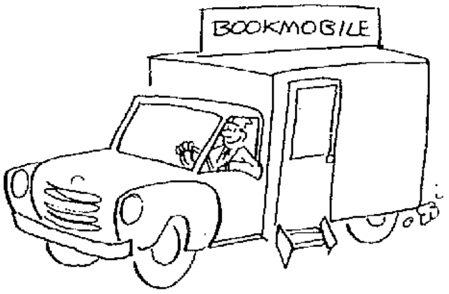


INSIDE STORY

by James Whiting







ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ An absent-minded professor at U.C.L.A. came across a woman in his bedroom. "Madam," he said surprised, "what are you doing here in my bed?" Said the lady, equally surprised, "I like this bed. I like this room. I like this house. I like this neighborhood and besides I'm your wife." ■

a hole is to crawl through

■ What do you mean I look foolish? I was walking along the fence rail looking for wild catnip when I saw this hole. You know how curious cats are, and to get a good look inside I had to crawl through—almost. Besides—your eyes aren't sharp enough—from where I lie I can see a Great Spangled Fritillary (that's a butterfly). Which isn't catnip but it passes the time. I think there's a nest of field mice hidden in these weeds somewhere. The fat old tortoise shell who lives next door was sitting on the porch last night and said she smelled them. She'd give anything to be in my position, but she wouldn't fit. I've been here for five minutes now dreaming about when I'll be big enough to catch a rat. I'm not a tiger cat for nothing.

A famous haircoloring artist tells why you should use a special colorfast shampoo if you color or lighten your hair

"The more beautiful your haircoloring, the more important it is to keep it beautiful," says Leslie Blanchard of New York, Color Director for Antoine Salon, Saks Fifth Avenue, and originator of many exciting haircoloring effects. "We use color to achieve the utmost in flattery for a woman—to play up her best features, and add life and elegance to the simplest styling.

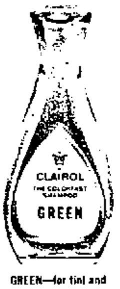
"With haircoloring so important, naturally I like it to stay the way I designed it, clear and fresh looking. I don't want to see it turn cloudy or change after a shampoo or two."

When asked how he handles this important shampoo problem, Mr. Blanchard explained, "Now we have a very special answer in new Clairol Shampoo. It's special because it's colorfast—that is, it won't change hair color."

Very different from other leading shampoos, new colorfast shampoo by Clairol was specifically created for women who color or lighten their hair. In two unique formulas: Clairol Blue for all light delicate blonde shades of lightened and toned hair. Clairol Green for all red, brown and black shades of tints and lasting rinses. So you see, however you color your hair, one of these two is exactly right for you! Used by leading beauty salons everywhere. Now available at fine cosmetic counters.

BLUE—for blondes and lightest tones



GREEN—for tint and lasting-rinse users

FORD PRESENTS DRIVING TIPS FROM THE PROS
DAN GURNEY
16
AND IT'S ANOTHER DRAMATIC PERFORMANCE FOR CHAMPION… DAN GURNEY IN HIS FORD POWERED "COBRA!" A VETERAN OF EVERY GREAT COMPETITION FROM INDIANAPOLIS AND RIVERSIDE TO EUROPE'S GRAND PRIX CIRCUIT, THE YOUNG CALIFORNIAN ALREADY RANKS AMONG THE WORLD'S ALL-TIME GREAT PROFESSIONAL DRIVERS!
YOU AND FORD HAVE REALLY FIRED UP THE FANS THIS YEAR, DAN! CONGRATULATIONS!
THANKS! BUT DON'T GET THE IDEA THAT COMPETITION DRIVING IS JUST THRILLS… IT TAKES A LOT OF THOUGHT, TOO… AND A LOT OF COMMON SENSE!
…THE SAME KIND OF COMMON SENSE THAT PAYS OFF IN EVERYDAY DRIVING. C'MON, LET'S TAKE THIS NEW FAIRLANE AND I'LL SHOW YOU!
LIKE ALL FORDS, THIS ONE'S BUILT FOR TOTAL PERFORMANCE! MATTER OF FACT, IT'S GOT THE SAME BASIC CHALLENGER V-8 THAT'S IN MY "COBRA!" IT'S EVEN THE SAME DESIGN THAT WAS ADAPTED FOR THE INDIANAPOLIS 500!
NOW HERE'S A COMMON DRIVING PROBLEM… ENTERING A HIGH SPEED EXPRESSWAY!
THE AVERAGE DRIVER COMES UP TO THE ENTRANCE… STOPS AND WAITS FOR A HOLE IN THE TRAFFIC STREAM.
WHEN HE ENTERS THE FLOW, HE'S MOVING TOO SLOWLY, AND MAY BE A HAZARD TO HIMSELF AND OTHERS.
WHAT SHOULD HE DO?
THE GOOD DRIVER PLANS HIS ENTRY INTO THE TRAFFIC FLOW!
HE PICKS HIS "HOLE" AS FAR AS POSSIBLE BEFORE HE GETS TO THE EXPRESSWAY.
THEN HE MATCHES HIS SPEED TO THE OTHER CARS BEFORE HE GETS THERE… AND SLIPS INTO THE TRAFFIC STREAM SMOOTHLY!
SAY! THAT WAS SMOOTH!
RIGHT! WHEN YOU PUT A LITTLE EXTRA THOUGHT INTO IT… AND LEARN HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR SKILLS… DRIVING BECOMES MORE REWARDING, SAFER… AND MORE FUN!

WHAT DAN GURNEY SAYS ABOUT TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

"I've worked closely with Ford in many competitive events, and one blistering afternoon of competition driving can tell us more about a car's Total Performance than might be revealed in thousands of miles of test track driving. The lessons we learn in competition will help Ford build Total Performance passenger cars that last longer, handle better, and offer far greater safety!".

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Terror Weapons

U.S. COULD UNLEASH BLACK DEATH

(This is the first in a series of articles detailing plans for germ and gas warfare. Subsequent articles will appear in The Independent, Press-Telegram. Assistance of the Department of the Army during two years of research is gratefully acknowledged.)

By WILLIAM JONES

Copyright 1963 Independent, Press-Telegram

Atomic warfare is pocketed in the right hand of America's military might.

In the labs and hooks of the unorthodox left hand is the awesome new weapons system of invisible gases, chemical compounds that transform men into raving idiots for hours and crawling bugs that can bring the plague—Black Death — of the Middle Ages to the era of Mayo, Salk and Sabin.

Some military experts say the left hand carries the more devastating punch.

The hardware for delivering the new weapons system—germ-bomb canisters and radio-controlled air drones—are rolling off assembly lines at plants in Torrance, Compton and Downey.

In summary, here is what The Independent, Press-Telegram has learned:

1. Russia is ahead of the United States in research and stockpiles of gas and germs.

2. A crash program — in which the military has been assisted by university and private industrial researchers with the help of human "guinea pigs" from Ohio State Penitentiary and the armed forces—is rapidly closing the gap.

3. Support is growing for the use of non-fatal, knockout gases in "brush-fire" wars despite public aversion to poison gas warfare stemming from World War I.

4. Progress made by the U.S. Army in these knockout gases, known as psychochemicals, give the first, even though remote, promise to man of a bloodless war.

• • • • •

THERE IS NO black magic in the U.S. chemical and biological arsenal. Hardnose research merely plucks a molecular structure from Mother Nature and scientists give the chemical agent a name. And, incidentally, military chemical titles have no connection with the formulas. Biological military agents are just old-hat to Mother Nature.

Under development or in actual stockpiles of the U.S. today are such exotic weapons as:

—Nerve gases (G agents), which made the World War I gases obsolete and are the deadliest known to man. They cannot ordinarily be detected by the sensory nerves and are so quick-acting that they can cause death within four minutes.

—Man-made epidemics from among the organisms that caused the approximately 160 catalogued diseases of man such as plague, rabbit fever, typhoid, anthrax, encephalitis and typhus. There is, the Army said, "the possibility that an enemy could develop mutant types of diseases for which there would be no known defenses."

—"Incapacitant chemicals" can temporarily blind a man, immobilize his body like a vegetable or derange his mind like a drunk. One of these psychochemicals can change a brave soldier into a quivering coward.

The U.S. has gone ahead with research, development and production of this new weapons system despite man's persistent dread of germ and gas.

• • • •

THE CHRISTIAN crusaders in one instance drove off the Turks with fumes from smoldering rags dipped in a chemical solution after comforting their consciences by declaring they would use the weapon only against

HEROINE TUMBLES TO DEATH

BOSTON (UPI)—A 63-year-old woman toppled 35 feet to her death Saturday after successfully passing her grandchild from the rooftop of their burning building across a four-foot gap to another roof.

Mrs. Lena Hall handed the baby she was caring for to a neighbor on the other roof but slipped and fell to her death when she tried to reach safety herself.

The grandchild, Linda Hall, 18 months, was not injured.

Fire officials said the fugitives were forced to the roof by the fire which started near the front door of the three-story brick residence in Roxbury.

SUICIDES DOUBTED

Buddhists Ruling in Saigon Declare Old Chiefs Dead

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Sunday (AP)—A Buddhist-led provisional regime controlled a nervous Saigon today after a bloody coup that brought downfall and death to President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu.

The new regime declared the Ngo Dinh brothers dead, but did not explain the circumstances of their demise.

Associated Press reporter Roy Essoyan saw unofficial photographs of bodies identified as those of Diem and Nhu.

The picture of Diem showed him lying beside a personnel carrier with a soldier leaning over him.

His body, dressed in a dark suit, was bullet-riddled and there was evidence he had been shot in the head.

Nhu's body, bearing bruises as though he had been beaten, was lying on a stretcher. He met his death by stabbing, informed sources said.

Judging from the nature of the wounds, it seemed unlikely that the two men had committed suicide, although that was the official explanation.

It was not known where the two bodies were.

Officially, coup leaders said they were looking for members of the Ngo Dinh family in order to hand over the bodies.

There were no family members known to be in Saigon. Mrs. Nhu's children were said to be safe at the family's luxury summer villa at Dalat.

There was a rumor that the two Roman Catholic brothers were shot while resisting arrest, after they fled the besieged presidential palace.

Jubilant Saigon crowds celebrated the fall of the Diem regime Saturday by exulting in the streets. But early Sunday they had returned to their homes. The city was quiet.

The wave of celebration was heightened by the release of Buddhist monks from jails. They had been arrested earlier this year in a crackdown by the Diem regime on Buddhists.

In the background, Gen. Doung Van Minh and his revolutionary junta named Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a slender 55-year-old Buddhist, as premier of the provisional government, but had not yet made an official announcement. He was vice president under Diem, but had little power.

Diplomatic sources said they believed the United States will recognize the new government as soon as it is officially formed.

Whether Tho becomes a real administrator or a figurehead under military control, U.S. officials expected South Viet Nam to drop preoccupation with its po-

'Miracle' Saves 9 on Bus

A bus, swerving to avoid a collision, smashed into a parked plastering truck at 5:45 Saturday on Pacific Coast Highway near Canal Avenue in Long Beach, ripping the bus "open like a can."

The driver and eight passengers, including three preschool children, escaped serious injury by what Long Beach police officers called "a miracle."

Traffic investigators Ronald Dvorak and Ron Tanner said the bus, a Torrance Municipal Bus Lines vehicle, was headed east on PCH on a regularly scheduled run to downtown Long Beach when the mishap occurred.

NARROW BRUSH WITH DEATH

A passenger on a smashed Torrance Municipal Lines bus watches as ambulance attendant, aided by Marine shore patrolman, lifts wounded man on stretcher preparatory to siren-screaming dash to Long Beach Memorial Hospital. All nine injured in the twilight mishap were transported to emergency rooms as a precautionary measure although no serious injuries were incurred.

Set Talks on Strike Monday

By ANDY PARK

More than 600 telephones in a residential section near Lakewood Boulevard and Stearns Street were out of service for several hours Saturday morning when a cable was cut with an ax at 4260 De Ora Way.

A half-dozen cable-cuttings Saturday in the Long Beach area plagued the General Telephone Co. as a strike by the Communications Workers of America entered its third week.

• • • •

AT 10 a.m. Saturday, the first meeting between company and union negotiators since the strike was called Oct. 19 took place in Santa Monica. Both sides reported "no progress."

Federal Mediator E. Marvin Sconyers said that both company and union agreed to a full-scale meeting Monday at 2 p.m. with the full bargaining committees of both sides present with all four mediation commissioners.

Points where damage was done to company facilities Saturday:

—4515 Bellflower Blvd., a cable severed interrupting service to 10 telephones in an apartment building.

—5518 Del Amo Blvd., Lakewood, a cable cut at 1:40 p.m. with 11 business telephones out until 4:15 p.m.

—73 Alamitos Ave., 14 telephones out for an hour.

—12625 Beaumart Ave., Norwalk, 26 telephones out due to a cut cable.

—Harding Street and Walnut Avenue, a major cable damaged late Saturday but no service interruption.

The Saturday morning meeting at the Surfrider Inn in Santa Monica marked the first face-to-face confrontation between the dis-

Four Killed by 4-Car Freeway Crash

The driver of a car which reportedly triggered a four-car collision on the Long Beach Freeway Saturday, died several hours later, bringing the total to four dead.

Arthur Youngberg, 61, of Indio, whose wife, Flo, 60, died in the collision, succumbed in Bella Vista Hospital.

Other casualties were Lynda Mgrdichian, 17, of Monterey Park and Mrs. Fayette Hendrix, 47, of 10606 Parrot Ave., Downey.

The Highway Patrol said the cars piled up after Youngberg's car sideswiped the center divider, then ricocheted across into the opposite lane on the freeway at Brooklyn Avenue in East Los Angeles.

Policemen Injured at CORE Rally

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — About 50 policemen struggled with a crowd of Negroes trying to block traffic on a major street Saturday at the end of a demonstration by the Congress of Racial Equality.

Before the tumult subsided, two policemen were injured, six persons were arrested, and bottles were hurled at police cars and buses that were trying to pass.

Arizonan Overwhelming Favorite of Party's Leaders Nationwide

GOLDWATER 85-PCT. CHOICE IN GOP POLL

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the runaway choice in a nationwide poll of Republican presidential preferences for 1964, taken by the Associated Press among Republican state and county leaders.

Of the 1404 who answered a questionnaire, 1,194 or 85.1 percent voted Goldwater the party's "strongest candidate" aganist President Kennedy as of today.

Fewer, however, believe Goldwater will be nominated. Here his vote was 901—a 64.2 percentage of those who replied.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York received 56 votes as the "strongest candidate" and Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential candidate, received 44.

On the outlook for the nomination, Nixon had 72 votes to 65 for Rockefeller. Moreover, a sizable number of those who favor Goldwater for the nomination predicted that, if a deadlock develops in the nominating convention, Nixon will emerge again as the GOP candidate.

The convention, scheduled to open in San Francisco next July 13, has a tentative apportionment of 1,308 delegate votes.

The survey was started in early October.

By mail and telephone, Associated Press correspondents in 50 states polled 2,961 Republicans, including some city and town leaders. In Alaska, which has no counties, the national committeeman and committeewoman participated in the poll.

Of the total queried, just over 47 percent replied. Republicans in New Jersey and Hawaii declined to participate.

The questionnaire asked opinions on two points:

1. "Who is the strongest potential GOP candidate against President Kennedy on the basis of present conditions? Why?"

2. "Whom do you think the party will nominate in 1964? Why?"

Goldwater received 1,194 votes on the first question and 901 on the second.

Three other Republicans were named several times in answers to both questions—Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania. Cited as potential "dark horses" were Henry Cabot Lodge, the 1960 vice presidential nominee, and Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of former President Eisenhower.

Goldwater topped all the potential candidates on both questions in every state except New York. There, Rockefeller received 13 votes to the senator's four on the strongest candidate question, and 10 to two on the probable nominee.

Only 20 of 62 who received questionnaires in New

L.A.C. Says:

No Christmas Trees but Commie Speakers

The Los Angeles school superintendent has raised the question as to whether Christmas trees—or Christmas carols—can be permitted in our schools. The question was also raised as to the continuance of the Pledge of Allegiance—as long as it included the term "under God." At the same time, we read that Dorothy Healey, head of the Communist party in Southern California, spoke to a 1,500 overflow crowd in the UCLA Students Union. The Young Republicans at our local State College are again demanding that a Communist be invited to a debate on our local campus.

Here we have a situation that gives some credence to the complaint that we are playing down religion and playing up communism. The Supreme Court has outlawed compulsory prayer in schools. The State College Regents approve use of our schools by Communists whose attitude is that religion is the opium of the masses—and whose policy is the violent overthrow of this government if they find this necessary and possiible to achieve a Godless society.

One often hears questions as to whether Communist influences are a part of this questioning of the "under God" in our Pledge of Allegiance—or the objection to our Long Beach kindergarten pupils saying a few words of grace at their luncheons—or the University of California and state colleges permitting Communist speakers on public school facilities.

In my opinion, it is not only the Communists who inspire these activities. It is, I fear, a moral letdown and opportunistic attitude of some individuals and organizations who like to think of themselves as "liberals." It is like the California Democratic Council (CDC) advocating the abolition of the Loyalty Oath and Un-American Activities Committee.

Debating the issue of communism with people who deny God and subscribe to the "We will bury you" principle—does not involve the issue of free speech. It involves the question of encouraging and dignifying those who are dedicated to the overthrow of this government and the religious foundation on which so much of our society is based. We have no compulsory religious ceremonies in our public schools. But, when the long-established practice of singing Christmas carols—and having Christmas trees is questioned, it seems to me we are on a dangerous path.

If this interpretation of religion were to stand, it would mean an end to Christmas decorations on our streets at Christmas time—the end of prayers in the opening of Congress or service clubs. It would be destroying something that comforts the great majority of our people—while leaving nothing in its place—but the satisfaction of a small minority who were successful in destroying it.

The danger of these incidents is that the great majority of the people in this country are "moderates." This is true of members of both parties. As moderates, they believe in a live and let live attitude. But the extremists who would change our traditions and encourage those who would destroy us are not moderates. They are extremists in that they insist that a minority group shall have the right to tell the majority what they must do. Unless the moderates awaken to this menace, they will find themselves governed by those who would destroy all of the things we have come to believe in as the American Way.—L.A.C.

Church Alms Dish Stolen

GLYMPON, England (UPI)—A 17th century pewter alms dish has been stolen from the Anglican parish church here for the second time in 300 years.

The first time it was stolen by Oliver Cromwell's troopers and recovered 200 years later at a London auction.

The latest theft, said the Rev. A. C. Cox, is the work of "a crank or a lunatic."

Rocky Suddenly Cancels Speech

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller caused some surprise Saturday by canceling a luncheon speaking engagement at Newburgh-Beacon bridge dedication ceremonies.

The governor said only that there had been a "development."

Later, Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert L. McManus, said in Albany that the governor left Newburgh to sign a proclamation ending a drought-induced closing of forests in seven counties.

• • • •

ROCKEFELLER'S wife had been expected by local officials to cut the ribbon for the new $23-million span, but did not appear.

The governor, a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination next year, cut the ribbon himself and spoke briefly in ceremonies at each end of the 1½ mile bridge that crosses the Hudson River.

With the luncheon only half an hour away, Rockefeller said, "I regret very much to say that a development has come up in the state which compels me to leave after this ribbon cutting."

A spokesman for the New York State Bridge Authority said the governor had given assurance Tuesday that his wife would cut the ribbon.

• • • •

HE SAID, however, that Mrs. Rockefeller had sent a telegram Friday saying circumstances had arisen since Tuesday which would prevent her attending.

Rockefeller injected some humor into his ribbon-cutting. He said that in the 1958 gubernatorial campaign he had criticized Gov. Averell Harriman for spending his time opening former Gov. Thomas Dewey's projects. But after his own election, Gov. Rockefeller stated, he found himself spending his time opening Harriman's projects.

"This is the first project that was started under this administration and finished under this administration," said Rockefeller, "so this is a legitimate ribbon-cutting."

Goldwater Quoted in Germany

day (AP) — A West German newspaper today quoted U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., as saying the West could knock down the Berlin wall without the risk of war and achieve the reunification of Germany by economic and diplomataic pressure.

The newspaper also quoted Goldwater as linking reduction of American troop strength in Europe to equipment of NATO allies with tactical atomic weapons.

The Washington correspondent for Welt am Sonntag (Sunday World), an influential German weekly, reported Goldwater said in an interview the Berlin wall "can be directly blamed on the weak foreign policies of (President) Kennedy's administration and its continual concessions to the Communists.

• • • •

"THE BUILDING of the wall was a direct attack against guaranteed rights of freedom of movement in the city which, according to my understanding, were firmly nailed down in five different agreements with the Soviets."

"The wall is Berlin can be knocked down without the risk of war," the newspaper reported Goldwater said. "I also believe the unification of Germany can be achieved if policies of 'peaceful coexistence' are surrendered."

• • • •

THE ARIZONA Republican, considered the front-runner among possible candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, was quoted as saying:

"Because of our superiority in weapons and atomic bombs — a superiority with which the Soviets are well acquainted—we can allow ourselves firmness without risk of war."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., is preparing to take out some political insurance on his expected bid for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination by filing for re-election to the Senate.

This maneuver, as explained by the senator's strategists, would be designed to provide Goldwater with a relatively secure landing field if he should be shot down at the San Francisco convention.

JEER STATUE IN SAIGON

Vietnamese crowd jeers as pedicab driver carts head of demolished statue through streets of Saigon Saturday. Monument was demolished by the crowd because of its resemblance to Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, South Viet Nam's first lady before a military uprising overthrew the Diem regime.

Bus Rips Open as It Hits Truck

Avenue forcing him to hit the truck to avoid colliding with the car. The car did not stop.

The truck, registered to the McPherson Plastering Co., was parked in front of a construction site on the southwest corner of the intersection.

Force of the impact ripped open the right front of the bus, shattering glass all around, and tore a 10-foot hole in the right front of the 45-passenger vehicle.

Treated at Pacific Hospital and released were Judson Klein, 42, of 918 Park Circle; Julia Escondon, 27, of 24118 Marvella Ave., Wilmington, her three children, Ricky, 2, Michael, 4, and Delores, 6.

• • • •

TREATED at Memorial Hospital and released were Lantz; Jula S. Irey, 50, of 148 Esperanza Ave.; Ada C. Harris, 63, of 3527 Pine Ave.; and William F. Whipple, 48, of 1322 Lime Ave.

Jula Irey received a fractured finger, the most serious inpury in the group.

Police said that Lantz told them an unidentified man was sitting in the right front seat of the bus "until a block before the accident."

"He said he was going to downtown Long Beach when he got on in Torrance," Lantz was quoted. "Then he came up and told me he had changed his mind and wanted to get off. If he had stayed on, he'd be dead."

CENSORSHIP imposed in Saigon at the outset of the uprising was eased. Censors permitted transmission of a backlog of news stories, some long delayed.

Detachments of the army, marines and air force headed by the junta battled down resistance of Diem's palace guard and elite special forces in an 18-hour fight that ended shortly before dawn. A cease-fire was called.

The generals told newsmen Diem and Nhu slipped out of their hands during the cease-fire, apparently boarding a departing truck while casualties were being hauled from the blasted grounds of the palace.

• • • • •

THE BROTHERS sought refuge at a church in a Chinese quarter of suburban Cholon. Though the Roman Catholic church condemns suicide, Radio Saigon said the two took their own lives after being arrested.

Indicating they had been free several hours, the junta said they killed themselves at 10:45 a.m.

There was speculation they had actually been slain by revolutionary troops and that the generals were presenting their death as suicide to avoid embarrassment.

The military men had said Friday night Diem and Nhu would be allowed to leave the country if they surrendered peacefully.

• • • •

THE JUNTA announced casualties on the revolutionary side had been only about 5 killed and 20 wounded. Casualties of the loyalist troops were not known, but they also appeared fairly light.

Crowds around the shattered palace cheered tank drivers, marines and other troops who spearheaded the Saigon revolution.

Wild scenes of enthusiasm greeted Buddhist leaders when they returned to their pagodas after release from jail.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Viet Nam Ambassador Tran Van Chuong said Saturday he will speak in Southern California today as scheduled and see his daughter, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu "if she needs me."

Chuong had notified authorities of Chapman College Friday that he would prefer to cancel the engagement in Orange County, near Los Angeles, because of the South Viet Nam coup. But he said in an interview he did not wish to disappoint the college and would deliver the talk.

"But I do not want to criticize the past," he said.

Chuong resigned in August in protest against the Diem government's repression of Buddhists. He has since conducted a nationwide speaking campaign on the situation in South Viet Nam.

As for seeing Mrs. Nhu, the ex-ambassador said, "There is no reason not to see her, especially if the reports of her husband's death are true.

"She is my daughter and if she is unhappy and needs me I will see her."

THE MEETING lasted for an hour, with both sides reporting "no progress" but agreeing to the full-scale meeting Monday afternoon.

A "strikers' picnic" Saturday afternoon in Long Beach's Recreation Park drew some 200 CWA members of Long Beach local 9571. Tickets to the picnic, paid for by the CWA, were given to members who have participated in picket lines in the first two weeks of the strike.

Liquor Store Robbed of $300

A lone gunman carrying what appeared to be a Luger automatic pistol Saturday robbed owner John C. Buss of about $300 at Dan's Liquor Store, 2826 E. Anaheim St., police reported.

The bandit who said, "Hand it over. I want it all, every bit of it," fled after forcing Buss to lie on the floor.

He also warned Buss, "I'll blow your head off if you call police."

Taipei Awaits Visit

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp will arrive here Thursday on his first official visit to Formosa since he assumed the post of commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet Sept. 30, it was announced Saturday.

Mme. Nhu Denies Suicides

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu Saturday angrily denied that her husband and brother could have taken their own lives in revolt-torn South Viet Nam — and then, a few hours later, summoned a priest to her hotel room.

An aide said she was seeking comfort.

She sent for the priest as Saigon reports were describing photos of bodies identified as those of Mme Nhu's husband, who was the nation's police chief, and his brother, President Ngo Dinh Diem.

• • • •

INSURGENTS, now in control, say both are dead, victims of suicide.

An aide in Mme. Nhu's party said she was distraught and fearful for the lives of her three younger children, whom she believes were in the presidential palace during the blazing battle which toppled the Diem regime.

At a news conference earlier Mme. Nhu, her voice choked with emotion, had declared, "Any crime committed against the Ngo family cannot be hidden under the label of suicide."

"I can confirm that suicide has always been considered as incomptible with our religion," Mme. Nhu said at her hotel shortly before going to mass at the nearby Roman Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd.

• • • •

IN A PREPARED statement she said many Asians had told her: "Whoever has the Americans as allies does not need any enemies."

"I did not believe them," she continued, "but if the news is true, if really my family has been treacherously killed with either the official or unofficial blessing of the American government, I can predict to you all that the story in Viet Nam is only at its beginning."

Her three younger children, left behind in Saigon, were reported safe and taken to the coastal city of Dalat, according to reliable sources, who said they were placed in the care of a Catholic priest.

• • • •

MME. NHU said, "No one can seriously believe in the disclaimer that the Americans have nothing to do with the present situation in Viet Nam.

"Because of this, anything which would happen to my family would be an indelible stigma against the U.S. One cannot forget either that my family includes three other children of 15, 11 and 4 who all had to bear at least three or four murderous seizures provoked by coups incited and backed by Americans."

The slender former first lady of South Viet Nam countered rumors that she might seek asylum in this country by saying: "Surely, I shall return to Viet Nam."

She opened the conference by reading a prepared statement, helped at times by her 18-year-old daughter, Le Thuy, who has accompanied her mother on a world tour.

Fair Retains Gandy to Get OK of BIE

Joseph E. Gandy, president and chief executive of the 1962 Seattle World's Fair, has been employed as consultant to the California World's Fair, officials here announced Saturday.

His first assignment is to seek a special endorsement for the 1967-68 fair from the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris.

• • • •

THE BIE is an international organization which grants endorsements to expositions that meet its qualifications. Gandy obtained a general endorsement for the Seattle Fair, which attracted about 10 million visitors and cleared more than $1 million in profit.

The California exposition is expected to be four times as large as the Seattle Fair, officials said Saturday, encompassing 550 acres and attracting more than 40 million visitors.

• • • •

MEANTIME, the fair organization announced Joseph B. Scholnick, former newspaperman and magazine writer who has been the fair's public relations director, has been elected vice president of public relations and communications for the organization.

Scholnick will accompany Gandy to Paris. They are due in France Wednesday evening.

German Town Set Off Limits to Yanks

GELNHAUSEN, Germany (AP)—This city of 8,000 residents was put off limits Saturday for the 4,000 members of the local U.S. Army garrison because of increasing tensions among the townspeople.

The action by the Army in forbidding officers and men of the 3rd Division's second brigade to enter the community was the latest in a series of moves in what is coming to be known as the "Battle of Gelnhausen."

It broke into the front pages of the German press with accusations of gangsterism on the part of American troops stationed here, the majority of whom are participating as "aggressor" forces against U.S. troops flown to Germany last week in operation big lift.

• • • •

LAST WEEK, the garrison's commander, Col. James Terry, said the allegations "insult the hundreds of young men who are in Germany because they were ordered to come here and who are playing a vital role in the defense of Western Europe."

He said his men, whom he termed "disciplined and trained soliders," could not be collectively accused of misbehavior.

The press campaign against Terry's troops was sparked by the claims of a 37-year-old woman that she had been raped by two soldiers.

U.S. military police and security agents are investigating the case but as yet have not come up with any leads.

• • • •

GERMAN civilians who claimed to have seen the women's attackers were unable to pick them out from hundreds of troops lined up for their scrutiny.

Several German papers then warned that if the local American soldiers did not learn to conform to what they called German standards of decency, German civilians might take action into their own hands.

Later, an American soldier was assaulted by five German civilians who left him bleeding by the side of a deserted road. The man is still hospitalized.

German authorities apprehended the five attackers but as yet have not announced disposition of the case.

Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder has been asked by members of the Bonn parliament to lodge an official complaint with the U.S. Embassy over the alleged misbehavior of the American troops in Gelnhausen.

BUSIER THAN 49ERS

Historical Society Digs Busily

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

Busier these days than a bunch of 49ers searching for gold "in them thar hills" are members of Long Beach's one-year-old Historical Society.

Their Diamond Jubilee assignment is a rough one.

Digging through mountains of files, clippings, old directories, books and pictures, they're unearthing all the information they can find on Long Beach's founding families and their living descendants.

So far, 134 such individuals have been discovered — and contacted.

• • • •

ALL ARE BEING invited as honored guests to the Diamond Jubilee Founder Families luncheon to be held Pioneer Day, Nov. 16, at the Lafayette Hotel.

The illustrious event will pay tribute to those pioneers who helped weave the tapestry that is Long Beach; who were instrumental in transforming yesterday's ranchos into today's metropolis.

It's all part of Long Beach's 75th anniversary celebration. The dinner, to precede the Pioneer Day parade, is open to the general public.

• • • •

MUCH OF THE research burden has fallen on William A. Lockett, president of the Historical Society, who, the past few weeks, has spent more hours looking up early-day builders than he has contacting their present-day counterparts for his own architect business.

Shuffling through mounds of letters and files Saturday, he had much interesting information to relate about bygone days in Long Beach.

All was gleamed from letters and chats with founder-family members.

The "starter" list for the founder-family research, Lockett said, was the city's first telephone directory (one sheet) dated Oct. 24, 1903. "From there we fanned out, one family led to another, then another," he said.

The one-sheet directory was given to Lockett by Frank Harnett, who, recently retired, was associated with the Long Beach Recreation Department from its beginning. His parents (Ernest and Julia Harnett) came to Long Beach from England in 1889. He has four sisters (Kathleen, Ivy, Ann and Josephine) who still live here.

(The telephone directory, incidentally, listed 11 rules on how to use the Alexander Graham Bell, what to do when the operator answered, etc. Rule No. 7 read: "IMPORTANT. Under no circumstances hang up the receiver until through talking, as this will give a disconnecting signal at Central.")

• • • •

LOCKETT NOTED that the founder list tells one thing—quite forcibly: "Once a Californian, always a Californian."

On the 134 listed, only one is now living out of the state—in Olympia, Wash. A few are residing in other California cities, but more than 90 percent still are in Long Beach.

The list of first families includes 91 women and 51 men, strengthening the theory that women do, indeed, live longer than the so-called stronger sex.

• • • •

THE FIRST Anglo-Saxon born in Long Beach city was Courtney Teel, a practicing Los Angeles attorney who is very much on the scene (he is dove hunting this weekend).

Teel's parents (James A. and Lula Teel) came across the plains from Denton County, Texas, and settled in Garden Grove in 1870. His sister, Ethyl Van Houghton, has some interesting notes on Long Beach of yesteryear.

Like this one: "Saturday night was the big night of the week in the early days. The Long Beach Band played at the old Pavilion . . . and there was a cafe called the "White House" which had no ice-cream sodas or other such refreshments. Instead, the delight of the time was a "Tilby" sandwich, which consisted of a fried egg with a generous slice of onion. The cost: 10 cents."

She recalls relay races that were great events on the beach in 1900. They were from Pine Avenue to Devil's Gate (where Belmont Pier is now). The girls' costumes: ankle-length swimsuits.

• • • •

LOCKETT pointed out that stories related by the founder families are filling many gaps in Long Beach's historical records. "The stories are fascinating—and numerous."

He said a file is being set up for each family and will become resource material in the Historical Society's archives at Rancho Los Cerritos.

"We need help from the public to furnish information, pictures, news clippings, stories and old books," he said. "We are also recording interviews with Long Beach pioneers, which should prove invaluable in preserving the city's heritage."

Much of Long Beach's rich heritage will be reflected in the program and honored guests at the Nov. 16 luncheon, Lockett said.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, 121 Linden Ave., or the Diamond Jubilee office, 130 Pine Ave. They may also be purchased by sending a check ($2.50 each) to Bud Holton, 614 Locust Ave.

An speaking of history, here's another case of its repeating itself:

Eugene Tincher, a practicing attorney here since 1914 and son of James W. and Elizabeth Tincher, who came to California in 1882, will be master of ceremonies for the luncheon.

He did the same thing when the city was 50 years old.

"We've already reserved him for the Centennial," said Lockett.

Spain Will Hold City Elections

MADRID (UPI) — Spain takes a small and cautious step toward municipal government by the people next week when limited popular elections of city councilmen take place throughout the country.

A total of 54,360 councilmen are to be selected, 36 in Madrid, during the week. One-third of this number will be picked by direct popular vote, one-third will be named by the official government-run trade unions, and the final one-third then will be chosen by the councilmen elected in the first two categories.

The elections are the first of the kind in Madrid since 1955 and the first in the rest of the country since the beginning of the Franco regime. Only councilmen are involved. The offices of mayor, police commissioner and the like will continue to be filled by government appointment.

• • • •

IN SPAIN, voting rights are held by "heads of families" or in the broad sense the heads of households, whether men or women. If a husband votes, his wife does not. But widows or spinsters, as heads of their own households, may vote. Generally speaking, all payers of property taxes are entitled to vote.

The councilmen chosen will take office for a period of six years, according to the law, although the national government has the final say about when new elections should be held.

Besides the councilmen, the only other elective posts in the whole Spanish government are administrative posts within the "Syndical Organization," the only legal trade union in Spain. The leader of the "Syndical Organization," however, is a minister appointed by Head of State Francisco Franco.

• • • •

THERE HAS BEEN little campaigning — one reason being candidates' lists are not published until one week before balloting begins. The law also forbids partisan political activity. Two weeks before the elections, a group of candidates to the Madrid city council complained in a letter to the foreign press that they had no guarantees protecting them or their supporters from government sanctions.

Thus, they said, "on expounding their ideas about themes relevant to the elections they might make oral or written statements that could displease some of the authorities."

Council's Calendar

City Council agenda items for Tuesday:

Request from mayor for confirmation of Councilman William S. Grant as member of Charter Amendment, Civil Service, Finance and Salary, Legislative, Building and Grounds and Rules Committees.

Request from Councilman [illegible] for early extension of Studebaker Road south from Seventh Street.

Petition from 400 parents for improved safety measures at corner of Palo Verde Avenue and Willow Street.

Endorsement of California World's Fair by Apartment House Association.

Letter from Richfield Oil Corp. supporting city's position in controversy with state over proposed form of contract for off-shore oil development.

Copy of Southern California Water Co. request for authority to increase water rates.

Letter from Local Agency Formation Commission enclosing copies of its rules.

Final tract map for area east of Raycroft Avenue and north of Colorado Street.

Tentative tract map for area on north side of 68th Street between Cherry and Walnut Avenues.

Letter from Harbor Department regarding cooperative agreement for water injection operations.

Letter from Public Relations Committee regarding Long Beach entry in Tournament of Roses.

Request from city attorney for authority to settle condemnation action against Pacific Electric Railway Co. for land at Seventh Street and Riverside for price of $17,[illegible].

Resolutions endorsing California World's Fair in Long Beach; urging designation of Los Angeles-Long Beach World Trade Center.

Ordinance for authorization of stop controls on Seventh Street at entrance to Procter & Gamble plant; changing title and increasing salary of public utilities engineer; changing name of portion of Bell Road to E. Wardlow Road.

Continued hearing on annexation of submerged lands south of municipal limits; request from city attorney for further continuance because state has not yet fixed a valuation for the area.

Proposed contract with Redevelopment Agency to furnish certain technical services, studies and reports.

Proposed agreement between Cities of Long Beach and Lakewood for modernization of traffic signals at Clark Avenue and Del Amo Boulevard.

Plans and specifications for Alamitos Bay Yacht Club and related improvements; specifications for construction of gas mains in area north of Spring Street and east of El Dorado Park; for furnishing four-door sedans.

Contract awards to International Harvester Co. for furnishing tractor equipped with loader; to Joe Gill Motor Co. for furnishing two truck chassis; to [illegible] Co. for furnishing hydraulic hammer.

Proposed amendments to prohibit right turn on red signals at Ocean Boulevard and Golden Avenue; to change one-hour parking limit to two hours on east side of Virginia Road between Bixby Road and Marshall Place.

City Manager's reports on request for additional traffic controls at Atlantic Avenue and 37th Street; on petition for drainage and street improvements on Pine Avenue north of 31st Street.

Home Dares Where Bonnie Prince Charlie Failed

By PATRICK J. MASSEY

CRIEFF, Scotland (UPI) — Where Bonny Prince Charlie failed, Sir Alec Douglas-Home is confident he can pull it off.

By winning a victory in the romantic Scottish highlands he expects to become the man who runs Britain.

Whereas the prince met a glorious defeat after campaigning through this part of the country in the 1745 rebellion. Sir Alec contemplates no such fate.

All he needs to confirm his position as ~~prime~~ minister is to win next Thursday's election of a House of Commons member for Kinross and West Perthshire. The form book says it's a one-horse race.

Cinch or not, Sir Alec is fighting hard on the hustings. Stomping around ~~misty~~ glens and mountains ablaze with heather, the 60-year-old successor to Harold Macmillan is carrying the battle to cottage doorsteps.

• • • •

IN THE PROCESS, he has partway demolished the notion that his aristocratic breeding ill fits him for the hurly-burly of a modern democracy.

After three years as foreign secretary, Sir Alec proclaims that he relishes a crack at parish-stump politics. His diplomatic duds have been traded in for a set of battered tweeds and a cloth cap. Instead of grappling with cold war politics, he is tackling the almost equally taxing complexities of a thing called winter keep—a burning issue here. It's a government subsidy for raising winter crops. Farmers are angry because they think it isn't enough.

Sir Alec has shown himself adept at parrying their grouches.

When an awkward question comes up he fires back a burst of statistical buckshot which usually leaves his interlocutor sufficiently dazed for the next question to arrive.

IN THE MARKET PLACE rallies, wayside whistlestops and chats by the farmyard gate, Sir Alec has displayed an audience-winning charm.

Roaring into some sleepy hamlet at the head of a mud-spattered motorcade, Sir Alec shakes hands with housewives, beams at kilted yokels and scratches autographs on scraps of paper thrust out by little boys.

The whole campaign is something of an unprecedented spectacle in modern British history. By tradition, a prime minister must sit in parliament. On becoming prime minister, Sir Alev relinquished the earldom of Home and thereby automatically left the House of Lords. If he lost his fight to get into Commons he would almost certainly have to resign as prime minster.

TERROR FLIES IN THIS DRONE

infidels. The infidels, it must be reported, fled more from fear of the new thing than from its actual killing effects.

In 1862, John W. Dougherty of New York came up with the dandy idea of lobbing shells filled with chlorine gas (later used in World War I) against the Confederates. President Lincoln turned thumbs down on the proposal.

When everybody got together for the first Hague Conference in 1899, nearly every representative nation—except Britain and the United States—voted to prohibit gas warfare. One of the signers: Germany.

Sixteen years later—April 22, 1915—at Ypres, Belgium, the Germans cut a five-mile swath through the French-British line with chlorine gas.

The surprise attack caused 5,000 causualties and completely demoralized 15,000 troops. But the Germans were equally surprised at the effects and did not exploit the front line gap.

Six months later, the angry British lobbed back chlorine gas and the first chemical war in history was on.

* * * *

IN 1936, Italian troops protected their flanks in Abyssinia with mustard gas bombings and sprayings. Fighting barefoot, the Abyssinian infantry was scourged with hideous blisters from the gas.

Though it has never been authenticated, the Chinese government claimed the Japanese hurled gas attacks at their troops during the late 1930s and early '40s.

This fear of chemical warfare drove Prime Minister Churchill of England and President Roosevelt to warn the Axis in 1942 that if the Germans and Japanese used gas, the Allies would retaliate "on the largest possible scale . . ."

Unknown to the prime minister and the president, a German scientist already had stumbled on the discovery of the deadliest gas in the world.

Monday: Nerve Gas.

Chemical and biological warfare survival will be discussed at a meeting of the National Survival Association at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Union Oil Co. auditorium, 461 Boylston St., Los Angeles.

U.S. Marines will lecture and demonstrate survival procedures. Speaker will be Roy Hoover, Los Angeles County disaster services coordinator.

Study by LBSC Professor

NUDE LEWD? CROWD SAYS NO

It was a play like any other play.

Amateur cast . . . opening night jitters . . . a well-dressed, culture-conscious audience.

But instead of tickets, the prominent citizens of Lawrence, Kan., had received engraved invitations—and a promise.

After the curtain rose, the leading actors and actresses—as advertised—strolled on stage completely nude.

The late August performance was the first scientific experiment of its type ever conducted among a paradoxically shy cult known as the American nudists.

* * * *

THE GUESTS were asked to fill out a questionaire prepared by Dr. William Hartman, 44, Long Beach State College sociologist who was not present. Hartman has completed analyzing the results.

Nudists say that 85,000 visit their camps each year. California, with its outdoor climate, lures 25,000 of these. Participation, they say, has increased by at least 20 per cent each year since 1946.

Most are "weekend" or "vacation" nudists. For obvious reasons they conceal their identity and are reluctant to admit clothed persons to their camps. Most of all, they "just want to be left alone."

* * * *

BEYOND this—if true — almost nothing is known.

Hartman ran into this stone wall in 1959 when the sociologist was making a study of juvenile delinquency.

"Many people attributed it to pornographic magazines — the nudist magazines in particular," he says. "I found that almost nothing authoritative had ever been written about nudists."

The professor was successful in enlisting the aid of the largest U.S. nudist organization, the American Sunbathing Association. One result was the the play last August.

* * * *

ONE HUNDRED and fifty-six of the "young, highly intelligent" audience returned the questionnaire. The queries were designed to test reaction to the play—a gentle pitch for the cult—and to test reaction to nudists and to nudism in general.

Of these, reports Hartman, "96 per cent said they reacted favorably to the experience, either "highly" or "somewhat." This means they were not offended."

Ninety per cent said they would accept another invitation. However, 25 per cent said that nudists were "below average" in social status. Ten per cent thought they were "above average."

The sociologist gives a "low priority" to his nudist investigations, hopes a forthcoming book by two Yale professors will "fill the gap."

Anyway, he feels that knowledge is on its way at last. "Nudists," he said, "have finally indicated they are ready to be studied by clothed investigators."

485 Plead for Safety Measures

A petition demanding better traffic control at Palo Verde Avenue and Willow Street has been given City Councilman James Hayes by residents of the area.

Hayes said he would present the petition to the City Council Tuesday and add his support to the demands. Hayes said the petition contained 485 signatures.

* * * *

THE PETITION was prompted by an accident Monday when first-grade pupil Eric C. Wilde, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilde, of 2810 Vuelta Grande Ave., was struck by a car as he walked on a sidewalk near Emerson School. The boy suffered a broken left leg and severe head injuries.

The intersection, according to petition leader Mrs. Cynthia Hogan, is guarded by signals "but Palo Verde to the north is obscured by a bridge over a flood-control channel." She said traffic moves fast through the intersection and better controls are needed to protect school children.

Brown Names Committeemen of Exposition

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Brown appointed Saturday three members of the State Fair Board to the executive committee of the newly created California Exposition and Fair.

Donn B. Tatum, Pacific Palisades, executive vice president and director of Disneyland; Marvin E. Cardoza, San Francisco, vice president of the Bank of America, and H. C. Magnin, San Francisco, contractor and financier, were named by Brown.

The chairman of the committee will be named at a later date, Brown said.

The 1963 legislature approved an investment of $33.7 million for the planned year-around fair, to be built on a 1086-acre site owned by the state four miles from the capital.

CHEERFUL OCCASION

Capt. W. R. Barnes, chief of staff to the commander of the Pacific Training Command, and Don Phillips, vice president of the Independent Business Men's Association of Long Beach, exemplify the face-to-face, Long Beach-Navy good relations program which the IBMA promoted this weekend in a command luncheon for Navy and Marine officers in San Diego.

L.B. Liking for Navy Praised by Admiral

A weekend San Diego "scouting patrol" by 23 members of the Independent Business Men's Association of Long Beach in the interests of better relations between Long Beach and the Navy drew praise from Vice Adm. E. P. Holmes, commander of the Pacific Amphibious Force.

"This is a little bit of an invasion," said Adm. Holmes, "and that's the kind of thing my force and my Marine compatriots understand."

The occasion was the IBMA's annual visit Friday to the Kona Kai Club, Shelter Island, to play host to and honor Navy and Marine Corps Officers at a Command Luncheon. Long Beach's delegation included Mayor Edwin W. Wade, charter and three-term president of IBMA when it organized 13 years ago to improve Long Beach's relations with the Navy establishment.

* * * *

PRESIDENT Irving Solomon introduced Mayor Wade, who told some 25 officers that this city counts the Navy's officers, men and their wives as very important citizens whose value to the community outweigh dollar considerations.

The Mayor noted the $5.5 million Navy Landing, the $1 million Armed Service YMCA, the projected Navy Hospital and replacement of the ponton bridge as past and continuing local considerations which the Long Beach people have underwritten with their votes and sympathies.

Adm. Holmes said he admired the "Independent" part of the local group's title—"not independence in the sense of being alone, but in its connotation of strength. You can't be independent without strength, the type of strength we all respect and the kind that people in the military understand."

Rear Adm. Almon E. Lewis, commandant of the 11th Naval District, expressed his "great respect for your efforts and your successful operation in the greater Long Beach area in our support. The Navy needs your continued support . . . IBMA has created not only a better understanding between the community and the Navy and Marine Corps but has created an example for other communities to follow."

L.B. Tavern Must Sell Its Permit

I. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—The state Alcoholic Beverage Control appeals board has affirmed an ABC decision to force the Chatterbox, 22 Pacific Ave., Long Beach, to dispose of its liquor license.

ABC previously ruled that the Chatterbox had violated state law by allowing solicitation of alcoholic beverages, using female bartenders and serving intoxicated persons. The Chatterbox had appealed.

* * * *

ABC first ordered the Chatterbox license suspended for a period of 10 days on each of 24 counts—a total of 240 days. Later, the discipline order was modified to provide that the license be suspended for 30 days and indefinitely thereafter until the license is transferred to acceptable persons.

The license will be revoked if it isn't transferred within six months.

"Continuance of the license would be contrary to public welfare and morals," said ABC.

Police Find No Trace of Missing Coed

ALBANY (UPI) — Police Saturday continued their investigation into the mysterious disappearance of an attractive University of California coed but reported no progress and no leads.

Judith Gail Williamson, 18, left her home Tuesday morning to go to school and has not been seen since.

In addition to questioning all her friends and acquaintances, authorities also conducted an intensive search in the rugged hills behind the Berkeley campus. A girl resembling the missing student was reported seen in the hills Tuesday. About 50 students aided in the search.

Police conducted a house-to-house inquiry along the route the girl usually traveled on her way to school, where she was a sophomore taking pre-medical courses.

FEPC CHIEF REPORTS ON RUMFORD ACT

Few Fair-Housing Complaints Filed

By CHARLES SUTTON

A Negro girl, out apartment hunting, stops in front of a building with a vacancy sign in front. Minutes later, when she meets the landlady face to face, she's told very politely, "Sorry, but we're all filled up."

A middle-aged postman and his wife, the only Negroes in a complex of apartments, are suddenly informed one day that their rent is being raised from $120 a month to $200.

A young Negro couple with two children is told by an apartment-house manager that she would gladly rent to them, but "we just don't take children." Later they discover that the place is infested with kids.

Discrimination?

Perhaps. And then again, perhaps not.

• • • •

BUT UNTIL Sept. 20 of this year, when California's Fair Housing Act went into effect, there really was no sure way of telling whether it was discrimination or not—at least not officially.

Today, Negroes and other minority groups who feel they've been denied housing because of their race, color or creed can take their grievances before California's Fair Employment Practices Commission and expect to receive an impartial review of their complaints.

Yet, contrary to what some of the law's critics have prophesied, the act has not triggered off a flood of complaints against builders, real estate agents and apartment-house managers, says John Anson Ford, chairman of the FEPC.

• • • •

"NOTHING of the sort has happened, nor is it in prospect," says the former Los Angeles County supervisor. "Economic forces alone prevent most minority families from moving into other and more expensive districts," he adds.

Lawrence Lucks, Southern California area supervisor for the commission, says that, all told, 17 grievances have been filed with the FEPC since it began enforcing the act about six weeks ago. This compares with over 60 complaints of employment discrimination in the same period, he says.

Nevertheless, Lucks concedes that the law still is new and that it may be too early yet to tell exactly what response it will evoke. It takes time, he explains, before the public becomes acquainted with a new law.

OF THE seven cases pending in Southern California—the others were filed in the commission's San Francisco office—six involve instances of alleged discrimination against Negroes, and one against a family with a Spanish surname, says Lucks. Moreover, most of the complaints concern apartment rentals, not home purchases.

Beyond these generalities, however, the commission cannot give any details without jeopardizing the privacy of those whose complaints are in the process of investigation or conciliation.

Should the conciliation process fail, adds Lucks, the cases could be taken to adjudication in the courts, where they would then become a matter of public record.

• • • •

COMMISSION members are quite optimistic about the law's chances of correcting racial abuses in the field of housing throughout California. They point to the fact that in the four years they've been charged with enforcing the state's fair-employment act, they have investigated some 2,800 charges of discriminatory practices and had only a handful reach the courts.

Both Lucks and Ford are quick to point out, too, that the commission's role is purely an objective one. Of the 2,800 aforementioned employment complaints, for example, two-thirds have been dismissed as being unfounded, they say.

• • • •

GENERALLY speaking, the act covers about 70 percent of the housing in California. And while it covers a variety of both public and private housing, its really novel aspect is that it allows complainants to seek redress without having to go through the time and expense of a court trial.

As the commission sees it, its job is largely one of conciliation. And its members point out that they would much rather settle disputes amicably than issue orders or go to court.

However, if, after investigation and conciliation, a landlord refuses to accept its recommendation, the commission can order him to either rent his property or pay a fine of up to $500.

Whether the commission will get a chance to establish a pattern of enlightened race relations in California housing, as its members believe it can, is a wide-open question, though.

• • • •

REALTY groups throughout the state, having failed thus far to abort the act's passage, still are fighting tooth and nail to strike it from the lawbooks. Their plan to petition for an initiative amendment that would make fair-housing legislation unconstitutional is just getting up a head of steam, and promises to make the housing issue one of the hottest in California history.

Opponents feel that the Rumford Act grants Negroes the privilege of renting or purchasing simply because of their color, and "regardless of qualification, record as a law-abiding citizen or capacity to live compatibly with new neighbors."

Its backers just as strongly deny this, and say an initiative amendment could well "set California back a quarter of a century in race relations."

Ford says the proposed amendment would literally "freeze discrimination into the constitution of California."

And he warns that a battle over the amendment could plunge the state into a racial controversy of unprecedented dimensions.

National Poll of Republican Leaders 8-1 for Goldwater

er will give us a real choice between liberal and conservative philosophies for the first time since Alf Landon ran on the Republican ticket

• • • •

THIS REASON—the "clear choice," the belief that Goldwater would not be a "me, too" candidate — was expressed in hundreds of replies. It was far and away the most frequently cited statement in every state for supporting the senator's candidacy.

Some New Hampshire committeemen said that, while they believed Goldwater would be the strongest candidate and will be nominated, they are not necessarily among his admirers.

"I'd like to think there is a third man somewhere," one said. "The worst thing about Goldwater is his friends."

Two others—one for Goldwater, the other for Rockefeller—frankly said they didn't think either could defeat President Kennedy.

A number of committeemen said they believe Rockefeller's divorce and remarriage have taken him out of the race.

• • • •

MRS. EDNA WHITE, co-chairman in Portsmouth, N. H., said "It's really none of our business what Rockefeller does in his personal life, but I think women voters will make it their business."

As in New Hampshire, the divorce and remarriage were frequently cited across the country as reasons why Rockefeller cannot be considered the strongest GOP candidate. The feeling appeared particularly prevalent in the Middle West. One Kansas chairman said, "He wed himself right out of the picture."

However, a number of chairmen said their primary reason for not favoring him is the belief that his policies do not represent a clear choice for the voters. Typical of this position was the statement of Judge G. T. Teague, GOP chairman in Whitley County, Kentucky:

"His political outlook is too much like Kennedy's. The people here want a change, and they wouldn't be voting for one with Rockefeller."

• • • •

A KANSAS chairman disagreed. Said Richard A. Swallow, of Oskaloosa:

"I prefer Rockefeller because of the splendid record he has made as governor of New York; because of his grasp of governmental affairs and his business ability, and because of the vote-getting ability he has shown in New York and his requirement for financial responsibility in New York."

In Wisconsin, 30 out of 72 county chairmen replied to the questionnaire.

Of these, 26 named Goldwater as the strongest candidate. Rockefeller and Romney each had one vote. As to the probable nominee, 25 picked Goldwater and two mentioned Nixon.

• • • •

MILWAUKEE County Chairman Sam M. Hay said Goldwater would generate enthusiasm among party workers. "If it's Goldwater, it's going to be a crusade next year," Hay said.

Similar opinions about the senator came from Florida and Indiana.

Tom Fairfield Brown, head of the Florida Republican executive committee said, "Even if Goldwater did not beat Kennedy nationally — and I think he can — the Republi- York returned them.

The response in California also was inconclusive — 19 out of 58 polled. Most of these, 16, went to Goldwater. Nixon, however, reportedly still has considerable support in his home state even though he now lives in New York City.

New York has 92 delegate votes, California 86.

On the "strongest candidate" question, Goldwater was the unanimous choice of those who replied in Alabama, Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas.

HIS VOTE in Oklahoma was 50 to 1. It also was lopsided in Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In some of these states, however, the returns were inconclusive, running less than one-third of the total polled.

In a presidential year, New Hampshire and Wisconsin hold the first primary elections—March 10 and April 7, respectively, next year—and therefore are closely watched as potential political weathervanes for the whole nation.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, although he still was stationed in Europe, won a smashing victory in New Hampshire in 1952. In 1960, Wisconsin, often called "the graveyard of candidates," gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a powerful boost by choosing him over a midwesterner, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, in the primary.

• • • •

WHAT DO they say in New Hampshire and Wisconsin today?

Of 39 New Hampshire county committeemen, 32 replied to the questionaire. Of these, 22 picked Goldwater as the strongest candidate, and 17 said they thought he would be nominated. Two others said they lean toward Goldwater.

Nixon and Rockefeller each received two votes as the strongest candidate, and Romney had one. Three said they thought Rockefeller would be the nominee, and Nixon had one vote in that column.

The basis for Goldwater's popularity?

Said Creeley S. Buchanan of Amherst, N. H., "Goldwatcan Party in Florida would be in much better shape than if someone else were the candidate."

In almost identical words, an Ohio River, Indiana, admirer of Goldwater said, "Even if Goldwater cannot carry the White House, he can carry in more congressmen, senators and local office-seekers."

In Louisiana, Charlton H. Lyons of Shreveport is the GOP nominee for governor. He said, "Even if I thought supporting Goldwater would cause me to lose the election, I would support him. But the nomination of Goldwater will open many doors for Democrats to switch parties."

• • • •

SIMILARLY, Dr. Martin Goodwin of Curry County, N.M., said there "appear to be a lot of registered Democrats" in his county who will not change their registration, but who would vote for a Republican if he reflected their feelings. "In our area, we feel Sen. Goldwater would be the easiest one to carry," Goodwin said.

Reads of Auto Death, Surrenders to Police

. man who told deputies he was unaware his car had struck and killed a pedestrian until he read it in The Saturday Independent surrendered later in the day at Lakewood sheriff's station.

Booked there on suspicion of felony hit-run driving was Alfred Howard Graham, 38, of 5344 Coldbrook Ave., Lakewood.

He reportedly admitted to Traffic Sgt. R. W. Staggs that he was driving a car that struck and killed Frank Lee Wilson, 64, of 11841 167th St., Artesia, Friday night.

The suspect, a foreman for a clay pipe manufacturing firm, told Staggs that he "had stopped and had several beers" before driving home along Pioneer Boulevard. He said when he felt a bump at 167th Street, he stopped his auto, got out, looked around without seeing anything and continued on home.

Graham said after reading the story of Wilson's death he talked it over with his wife, Elva, and decided to turn himself in. He had a clipping of The Independent story in his possession when he walked in to the station.

NEWSMAN IN SPACE JOB

Astronauts Get New, Soft Voice

The job of speaking for the Gemini and Apollo astronauts belongs to a soft-spoken man who has the questionable honor of bulwarking 30 astronauts against a demanding public.

He is Paul Haney, 35-year-old former newspaperman who must now dish out rather than collect news about the American space effort and the astronauts.

By contrast with his predecessor, Haney would be a Milquetoast.

The Mercury "voice," Col. John A. Powers, was nearly as much in the news in his job as the astronauts were. "Shorty" Powers is a diminutive, flamboyant, bubbly showman with a short wick on his patience.

• • • •

HANEY IS a matter-of-fact man whose background in news is said to give him an advance in guessing what newsmen's reactions and questions about space will be. He is generally quiet and firm. But an associate says his vocabulary can be "most choice" when he gets really mad.

Powers, former public affairs officer for the manned spacecraft center, is now a consultant for exhibits off the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

NASA moved Haney up from the public affairs office at Washington to his post as spokesman at the spacecraft center.

Before that, he worked for newspapers in Erie, Pa., Akron and Memphis. Before he joined NASA in 1958, Haney was assistant city editor of the Washington Evening Star. He holds a journalism degree from Kent State University at Kent, Ohio, and studied for a while at Georgetown University Law School.

• • • •

AS PUBLIC AFFAIRS officers, Haney is many symbols. He is a figure-head as "voice of the Gemini and Apollo astronauts." He is called upon to play a big part in maintaining America's image of open distribution of space news. But he does not like symbols of that type.

"I don't go much for this image-building business," he said. "If you are running a good solid operation, your image takes care of itself. I'm not much taken with figureheads."

Even though the astronaut team is increasing and Haney's job is more complex than was Powers', Haney can foresee the day "when the space effort will not be the national television and news spectacular it has been" as Americans become more blase about blastoffs.

Haney himself is still excited about it.

"I have an unabashed love for the space program," he said.

State Opens Forest Camp for Youths at Oak Glen

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Outdoor Editor

ROBERT E. GREEN
Camp Director

The California Forestry Youth Training Program, which may be one solution to school dropouts and the general unemployment problem, got under way Friday at Oak Glen, 10 miles north of Beaumont.

The program is designed for boys and young men (16 through 21) who are having difficulty in finding employmen because of lack of experience, education or direction.

The CFYTP, or Youth Camp as it probably will be called, is not a copy of the old Civilian Conservation Corps, established in the '30s, although it will follow the same general lines.

• • • •

THE PROGRAM was authorized by SB 1064 in the last session of the legislature in the hope it might relieve the situation for some unemployed boys.

The legislature made a provision for one camp only, the one at Oak Glen, and specified that it be run for two years, with 100 boys, as a pilot model.

The bill also set up a board of directors composed of the chiefs of the Departments of Conservation, Employment, Industrial Relations, Education and Youth Authority.

• • • •

THE CALIFORNIA Division of Forestry will bear the main burden in training and operating the camp. For that reason, Robert E. (Lefty) Green, one of the CDF's ace rangers, has been switched from Susanville to Oak Glen to direct the camp.

The Department of Employment already has screened enough boys for the camp. The camp opened Friday with 25 boys. Each week will see 25 more boys added until the quota of 100 is reached.

Green said that a youth trainee will be given on-the-job training in many fields, such as fire-fighting, forest truck trail construction and maintenance, insect control, automotive maintenance, cooking and baking.

• • • •

THE TRAINEES are signed up for a six-month hitch. They will be provided work clothing, food, housing and emergency medical and dental care. All will be paid $60 per month except the youth leaders who will receive $70.

James K. Mace, deputy state forester for Southern California, said that all departments concerned with the program will have to share heavy responsibilities to make the plan a success.

George Toll, director of the Long Beach office of the Department of Employment said that the move was one of the most significant that ever had been made in California.

• • • •

"I FEEL sure that one camp won't be enough, but at least this is a start," Toll said. "If this model works as all of us hope, others should be added as quickly as possible.

"Our job in this department was to screen out two boys. Later, we were permitted to increase the quota to four. The boys are being drawn from all parts of the state.

"They are given mental and written tests and their moral character must be of the best."

• • • •

MRS. NELL GABLER, of the Long Beach Employment Office, did the screening of applicants here.

One of the first to pass his tests was Gordon Nelson, 329A E. 19th St., Long Beach, who hopes for a career in the outdoor field. Another was Bernard Shorie, 3105 Long Beach Blvd. Bernard, 17, also has ambitions to enter the outdoor field.

CDF officials point out that the training boys receive does not necessarily mean that they must become employes of the Division of Forestry. From this basic training they can enter many fields.

Britain Won't Set Independence Date for Guiana

LONDON (UPI) — Britain has refused to give British Guiana a date for independence.

Instead, a new constitution will be imposed which could result in a defeat of Marxist Premier Dr. Cheddi Jagan at the next election.

Commonwealth and Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys announced he was imposing a new constitution at an angry meeting of the British Guiana constitutional conference.

2 Bookie Suspects Face Added Charge

Two of five persons arrested in raids on a big harbor-area bookmaking ring that police say handled up to $100,000 a week in bets were booked Saturday on additional charges of receiving stolen property.

In simultaneous raids on three key locations, including a top-secret headquarters known only to a handful of agents, police arrested four men and a woman Friday and charged them with conspiracy to commit bookmaking.

Francis J. (Monk) Martella, 31-year-old unemployed salesman, named as leader of the alleged syndicate, and Mrs. Norma L. Ireland, 31, an unemployed beautician of 1724 Fries Ave., Wilmington, were rebooked on the receiving charges after investigation showed some items seized in the raids were loot from burglaries, said Det. Sgt. Eugene Dossi.

• • • •

DOSSI, of the Los Angeles Police Department harbor vice detail, said a calculator worth about $200 and two TVs, including a color set, were identified as stolen.

He said two more TV sets and other articles still were being checked to determine if they were stolen property.

Mrs. Ireland and Martella were arrested in a secret "back office" at the Fries Avenue address. Police said Martella was convicted in 1961 of charges in connection with a bookmaking operation.

Officers believe the current ring may have been operating since shortly after that arrest and they theorized it employed a total of about 20 agents.

• • • •

ALSO arrested were William A. Sisto, 34, of 302 W. Sandison St., Wilmington; Christopher A. Martella, 38, who lived with his brother, Francis, at 303 W. Q St., Wilmington, and Joseph Robert Spinazzola, 47, of 1346 N. Fries Ave., Apt. 8.

Sgt. Dossi said the arrests climaxed more than a month of surveillance by vice officers, during which police tailed agents from a Wilmington bowling alley where bets were relayed.

Reds Murder Caracas Police

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Pro-Communist terrorists assassinated two policemen Saturday, bringing to 55 the number of policemen slain by terrorists in Caracas in the last three years.

The assassins, described by police as members of the Armed Forces of National Liberation (Faln), shot down the policemen with a machine gun.

The policemen, in a patrol car, returned the fire and wounded one terrorist. His companions dragged him into a car and fled.

Spotlight Focused on Viet Nam Revolt

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

The politico-religious crisis in South Viet Nam exploded last week.

Military rebels took control of the government after bitter street fighting and widespread bloodshed.

President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were reported dead. Some accounts said they committed suicide; others that they were shot to death.

A military junta was set up and recognition was expected soon from the United States government.

• • • •

THE INSURGENTS, who included most of the South Viet Nam's generals, said they revolted to "save the country from a Communist takeover." No injuries were reported to any of the 16,500 U.S. troops acting as advisers there, or to the 3,500 U.S. civilians in the country.

Nhu was described as the power behind Diem's Catholic regime, which had refused to form a coalition government and had suppressed Buddhist leaders over President Kennedy's strong protests.

The United States had made no secret of its distaste for Diem since suppression of both the Buddhists and student demonstrations. Kennedy ordered U.S. Naval forces in the Pacific to start moving toward Viet Nam to protect U.S. lives, if necessary. The troops there were ordered on the alert to protect U.S. installations.

President Kennedy had told a press conference last month that the United States would continue supporting Diem's anti-Communist war, but that he would like to "see a change in policies and personnel."

The State Department denied categorically that the United States was invovled in any way in the coup which was led by 14 generals and anti-Communist pro-Western civilians.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador in Saigon, was keeping the White House apprised of all developments. Lodge had been unsuccessful in trying to reason with the Diem government.

On another front, President Kennedy advised Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev indirectly last week that U. S. combat troops in West Germany will remain at "full strength."

• • • •

HIS PRESS conference declaration not only gave West Germany and other European Allies flat assurances that no troops except a few supply forces will be withdrawn, but answered Khrushchev's latest demand for an Allied pullout as the price of a Berlin settlement.

The West Germans have had the jitters over reports the U.S. force would be sharply reduced. Kennedy said "we intend to keep our combat forces as they are; that is, more than six divisions." He also added that combat units rushed to Germany in the 1961 Berlin crisis "would remain as long as there is need for them."

Speculation that there would be a big reduction went the rounds after Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric told United Press Iinternational editors in Chicago that techniques such as the recent successful "Big Lift" operation to Germany should make possible "useful reductions" in U.S. overseas military spending. In "Big Lift," an entire armored division was flown from Texas to West Germany in less than 70 hours.

The President conceded that "we are becoming increasingly mobile, as 'Big Lift' showed." But he made clear that this was no reason, as of now, for weakening U.S. defense forces in Europe.

• • • •

IN OTHER news spheres, Kennedy warned against interpreting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent statement on the Russian Space effort as meaning Moscow was abandoning the race to the moon. The President said the statement was curiously worded and that he "would not make any bets" on Soviet intentions. In any event, he added, the U.S. moon effort will be pressed vigorously as essential to national defense.

Only hours later, the Soviet union launched a new and sophisticated space craft which it said not only can maneuver in the cosmos, but had already boosted itself from one orbit into a new and larger one. Khrushchev said Moscow was "studying" the President's United Nations proposal for a joint Russo-American moon landing. But he said concrete steps to ease international tensions must come first.

FBI agents arrested an American engineer — John William Butenko, 38—and a Russian chauffeur at Englewood, N.J., on charges of passing classified airplane contract data to three members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

• • • •

THE LATTER enjoyed diplomatic immunity and were ordered from the country.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, ranked ahead of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as the most likely GOP presidential nominee, got a big reception in New Hampshire, where he may contest Rockefeller for the state's electoral votes in a spring primary. Goldwater said he would announce in January whether he is a candidate.

Meantime he is campaigning assiduously, with Kennedy his chief target.

He stirred up a major storm in the Tennesse congressional delegation by proposing that the $2.5 billion, seven-state Tenessee Valley Authority (TVA), vast flood control and public power project forged by New Deal Democrats, be sold to private power interests.

The President made a flying visit to Philadelphia to attend a Democratic fund-raising dinner and give his benediction to Mayor James H. J. Tate who faces formidable GOP opposition in his bid for reelection Tuesday. Three years ago Kennedy campaigned on a pledge to get the country moving again. That was his principal theme in Philadelphia only this time he said "America is now on the march."

• • • •

BACK at a Washington press conference, the President said it was possible the Philadelphia election would demonstrate whether white voters would switch to the Republican Party because of his racial rights campaign but, "We'll have to wait and see."

As to Goldwater's attacks, he said with a smile that the senator "had had a busy week — advocating sale of TVA, giving NATO commanders greater authority to use atomic weapons, and attacking Bolivian President Victor Paz Estenssor during his recent state visit." He added that he would answer Goldwater in good time, but that now was too early since he had not announced his own second term intentions and that this "was a good many months away."

Members of Congress—except those in the economy bloc—seemed ready to vote themselves, cabinet members, the vice president, federal judges and a million or so other federal employes another big pay raise.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee cleared a $600 million-a-year bill for action. Increases would range from 2 to 22.5 per cent. Congressmen now get $22,500 a year, plus many fringe benefits. The bill would jump the salary to $32,500.

S.F. OPERA OPENS THRILLINGLY IN L.A.

Great Artists Sing 'Tosca'

By RACHEL MORTON

What a thrill it is to attend the opening night of the San Francisco Opera at the Shrine Auditorium!

And what an opening it was Friday night when the company began its 27th Los Angeles season! There was a tingle of excitement in the air which began with the arrival of the beautifully gowned women with their formally attired male escorts. And the excitement gained in momentum right up to the final curtain.

"Tosca," by Puccini, was the opera given and there never has been a finer performance by the San Francisco Opera. Three fabulous singers appeared in the leading roles: Leontyne Price as Tosca, Sandor Konya as Cavaradossi, and John Shaw as Scarpia. The conductor was a newcomer to Los Angeles audiences, a Frenchman by the name of Georges Pretre, who conducted with restraint.

• • • •

THERE ARE few voices in the world today greater than that of Leontyne Price. It is big and voluptuous and velvet. The high Cs were wide open and effortlessly produced. Her range has extended, so that now there is a rich medium voice, creamy in texture.

Her acting in the first act was constrained and confined largely to the prompter's box. But in the rightly dramatic second act she rose heroically to the strenuous action the part demands. Her singing of the famous aria "Vissi d'Arte" was vocal perfection, and the ovation afterward was tremendous. One might question her musical taste in over-prolonging some of the high notes.

• • • •

IN THE last act she was at her very best, vocally and histrionically, and the audience greeted her with tumultous applause.

Sandor Konya has gained tremendously since first appearing here with the opera. Always a very beautiful tenor voice, it is now powerful, smooth and luscious in quality. His high Cs rang out clarion-like in the great auditorium, but even more than the gorgeous voice, Konya has a deep sensitivity and an innate artistry that reaches to the heart of his listeners.

The ovation he received after singing "E lucevan le stelle" stopped the show and the same tidal wave of shouting acclaim kept him long before the curtain for his solo bow. Konya is a great singer and a great artist.

• • • •

HOW opposite in character was the elegant, suave, cynical, brutal Scarpia, as sung and enacted by the Australian baritone, John Shaw. Never once going near the prompter's box, or to the conductor for aid, he dominated the stage in the second act with a polished artistry born of Covent Garden experience.

His voice, a high baritone, had resonance and biting power which he colored in subtle nuance to fit the mood. A very tall, handsome Scarpia, he could be, at one moment, a gallant, persuasive gentleman, and in the next moment—a treacherous villain. His acting was consummate art and he too shared in the wild applause.

Elfego Esparza was the scapegoat sacristan, and Joshua Hecht made much of the part of the escaped prisoner, Angelotti. Rarely have I heard the part sung so well.

Donkeys to Eat Pancakes in Desert

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Outdoor Editor

Have you ever seen a jackass eating flapjacks? The four-legged kind, I mean. Well, partner, until you do, you ain't seen nothing so funny in all your life.

Take a bewhiskered prospector just as stubborn as the burro and let him try to cram that flapjack into the donkey's mouth and it's a scream.

Such a sight—not just one burro and his partner but several—will be a feature of the 14th annual Death Valley Encampment, Nov 7 through 11 at Death Valley National Monument.

• • • •

IT'S POSSIBLE that 15,000 persons will attend the encampment this year and there is far more to the event than just the burro flapjack contest.

There are three special breakfasts, one for authors of the West, one for photographers and one for artists, oil and water color.

The encampment also will feature the dedication of two historical markers, guided tours through the Valley, art exhibits, campfires and all kinds of dancing. There's a bit of nostalgia about the Old West in connection with the encampment, which is exactly what the directors of the event want.

• • • •

THE FLAPJACK contest will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday in an open area across the road from Stovepipe Wells Hotel.

Rules require all contestants to line up with their packed burros and, at a given signal, race 150 yards, unpack, start a campfire and cook a pancake.

The first participant to get his pancake into the burro's mouth wins the event. If he doesn't get a kick in the pants, presumably he wins a prize. The entire event has been arranged to glorify the dwindling old-time partnership of the desert country.

• • • •

ONE LONG BEACH artist, Robert Wagoner, of 2184 Daisy Ave., will exhibit paintings at the Death Valley Museum. Wagoner has 15 canvases ready for the showing.

Twenty-three other oil artists also will be exhibiting, as well as five water-color artists.

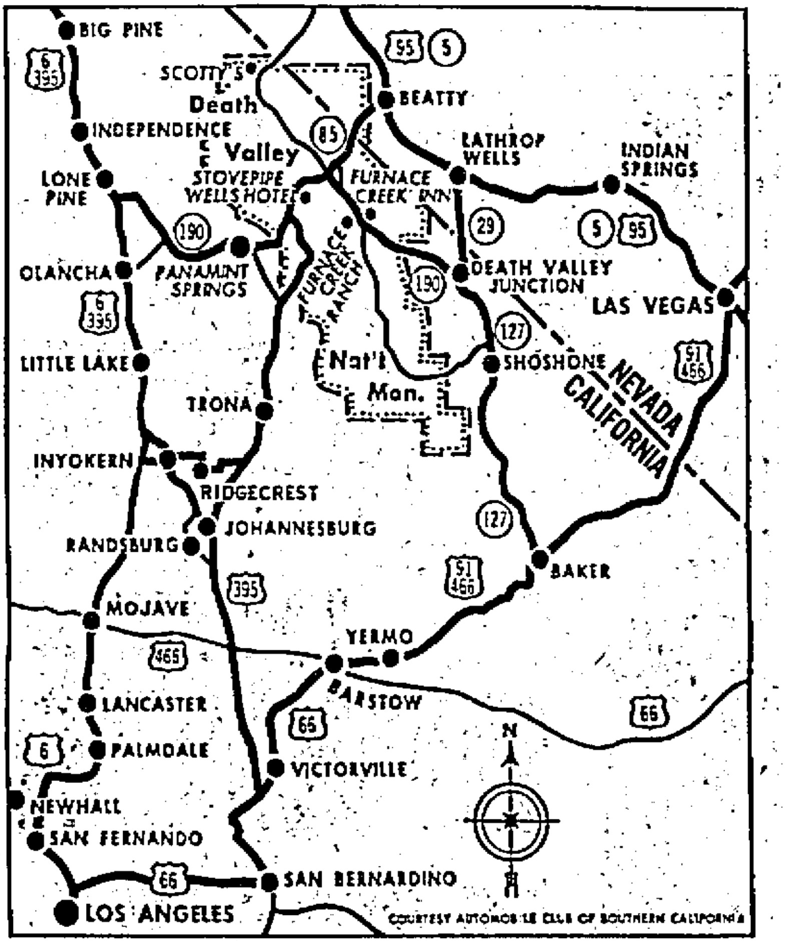
Special exhibits of old firearms, minerals and Indian culture will be featured at Furnace Creek Ranch. The Ranch also has added a large dance floor adjacent to the swimming pool. That will give the dancers a second floor. The other is at Stove Pipe Wells Hotel.

• • • •

RALPH A. FEAR, president of the Death Valley 49ers, predicting that more than 15,000 will attend the encampment, cautions all campers to bring their own food, dishes and camping gear. Trailers can be accommodated at Texas Springs Campground, Stovepipe Wells and Furnace Creek Ranch.

There are enough freeways into the area that Southern Californians can bypass San Bernardino and Barstow and go most of the way to Death Valley without even seeing one stop light.

There's one other warning: Don't go to the encampment, expecting to find hotel space. All that was reserved months ago.



SUGGESTED ROUTES TO ENCAMPMENT

The Automobile Club of Southern California suggests the above routes for persons planning to drive to the 14th annual Death Valley Encampment in Death Valley National Monument, Nov. 7 through 11.

'CIA Spy' Tells of Missions to Cuba on Havana TV

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Three men described as U.S. Central Intelligence agents captured by Fidel Castro's forces, appeared on Havana television Saturday night and spilled apparent secrets about CIA operations against Cuba.

The three Cubans talked freely about CIA commando raids and infiltration of men and arms into Cuba.

They said they were captured Oct. 22 in operations from what they said was the CIA mother ship Rex based at West Palm Beach, Fla.

• • • •

CASTRO, who told about the Rex in a TV and radio talk Wednesday night, did not appear on the telecast monitored in Key West.

The telecast was interrupted for five minutes, apparently because of a tape break. This indicated the program was previously recorded. The prisoners were questioned by Cuban army officers and answered readily and fully.

Luis Montero Carrazana, tall and wearing a white sportsshirt, said he had worked for the CIA since 1960.

He said he worked in Miami with the Christian Democratic Movement, an anti-Castro organization.

• • • •

"I CONTACTED Dr. Ignacio Rasco, of the Christian Democrats, who asked us to join their organization and they said we could work with them by ship. We made three or four voyages.

"The first, in November, 1961, disembarked in Oriente (eastern Cuba) after leaving from Marathon (in the Florida Keys)," he said.

Appearing with Montero were Clemente Inclan and Roberta Lizano Rodriguez.

Montero said he was the quartermaster of the Rex, identified previously by Castro as a CIA vessel based at Palm Beach, Fla.

• • • •

"THE SHIP traveled as a merchant vessel for a Nicaraguan company," the prisoner told his television audience.

"I landed many times in Cuba. I delivered packages there. We moored five or six miles from the Cuban coast, then used two launches. We would leave six men and 25 or 30 packages in Cuba. I did not know the mission of these men. Then we would return to the ship."

He did not explain what the packages contained.

The young Cuban, who appeared about 30 years old, continued calmly: "The artillery of the ship (Rex) consisted of five 20-caliber cannons, four 50-caliber machine guns, and other weapons.

• • • •

"BEFORE daybreak we returned to Key West or Miami. We always returned to the American coast," Montero said.

"When they wanted us to go on a mission they informed us by telephone. The man who gave the orders for the CIA was an American whom we called Capt. Ward.

"I participated on many missions. One was sabotage at Santa Lucia. This mission was carried out by 12 commandoes whom we picked up on a key near Miami," he said.

Tuesday Funeral Set for Mrs. Myrtle Lark

Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Lark, 85, who moved to Long Beach as a bride in 1896, will be Tuesday.

Mrs. Lark, of 40 E. 53rd St., died Friday. She and her husband, Oscar, operated the Eureka Livery Stable where the Wise Building now is located. Mr. Lark died in 1940.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Edna A. Tinney; a sister, Mrs. Mabel Goheen, and three grandchildren. Service will be at 2 p.m. in the Hunter Mortuary.

Golf Clubs Stolen

Daniel J. McHugh, of 723 Euclid Ave., told police Saturday that a thief broke into the trunk of his car parked in front of his house and stole a bag of golf clubs worth about $500.

Jubilee Host to Legislators

State Senators, Assemblymen and other officials and their wives will converge on Long Beach Nov. 22 to celebrate State Legislators Day as part of the city's Diamond Jubilee.

Letters of invitation from Assemblymen Joseph M. Kennick and George C. Deukmejian and Senator Thomas M. Rees have been sent to the entire Senate and Assembly to be guests of the jubilee organization.

The day will begin welcoming ceremonies at the Edgewater Inn, 6400 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., where the legislators and their wives will stay. Mayor Edwin W. Wade and other Long Beach city officials will be on hand to welcome the visitors.

A three-hour tour of the Long Beach Harbor is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. The MV Shearwater will pick up the visitors at the Marina dock at the Edgewater Inn for the shoreline and harbor tour and return them at 5:30 p.m.

• • • •

THE LEGISLATORS will be guests of Herman H. Ridder, publisher of the Independent, Press-Telegram, for dinner and entertainment at 7:30 p.m. Friday night at his home at 4601 Long Beach Blvd.

The senators and assemblymen will also be guests of the jubilee committee for all the events of Saturday, Navy Salute Day, including the formal Navy Ball that evening. They will be guests aboard various naval vessels during the afternoon.

Purpose of the day is to acquaint the legislators with the facilities of the city of Long Beach and the harbor here.

L.B. Makes Phew More Scents!

The City of Long Beach will get a little more per ton for the garbage it sells under a new contract just signed, but the gain will probably be more than offset by diminishing quantity.

Once a sizable source of municipal income, garbage now yields only a few hundred dollars per month. Under the new contract, however, the price paid per ton will go up from 68 to 79 cents per ton if the price of hogs remains constant within the current range of 15 to 20 cents per pound.

The two sets of prices are coupled in the bidding because the purchaser, Sherman & Jaycox of Riverside, uses the garbage to feed hogs.

Under the contract the city will continue to make the collections from door to door. The buyer picks up the garbage at a central hopper at Willow Street and Temple Avenue.

Tonnage collected by the city trucks has continued to decline in recent months. In July of this year the quantity was 790 tons, against 1,054 in the preceding July. Figures for August of the two years showed a decrease from 1,010 to 735 tons.

State Session of Foreign Language Teachers to Convene Here Nov. 9, 10

Dr. Oliver J. Caldwell, acting associate commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education, will be the featured speaker at the two-day state convention of the Foreign Language Teachers Association of California.

The convention will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 9 and 10, at the Lafayette Hotel. Frank J. Ochoa of Long Beach is president of the organization.

Caldwell will discuss "The importance of Polycultural Communication" at the banquet at 7:15 p.m. Saturday.

The third biennial convention will open with registration at 8 a.m. Saturday and feature a general meeting starting at 9:45 a.m. Section meetings will be held Saturday afternoon.

The convention will close Sunday morning with separate meetings for the elementary-intermediate and secondary school levels.

Caldwell, affiliated with the U.S. Office of Education for 10 years, has visited more than 60 countries, including Russia.

Justice Takes Horse on Circuit

DERBY, England (AP)—Justice Sir Kenneth Diplock is holding court on the Midlands Circuit accompanied by his horse.

The 55-year-old judge normally presides over an Appellate Court in London. But just now he is substituting in the Midlands.

He's driving his own car and towing his horse in a trailer. Every morning he rides for an hour before court.

"Riding puts me in a good humor," said the judge.

Sobering Influence

PRETORIA (AP) — Women and children should be invited to Christmas office parties in order to promote sobriety, an official of the South African Road Safety Council suggests.

Omarr Reads the Stars

By SYDNEY OMARR

FIRECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Take care during journeys. Tendency to rush should be curbed. Don't commit yourself to rigid schedules. Strive to relax. Obtain privacy. Make decisions based on meditation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Easier now to make wishes turn into realities. You will now have practical methods of accomplishing goal. Don't hold back because of money. Financial improvement due.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Cycle continues high. But you may have tendency to be impatient. Check details. Finish projects. Otherwise, valuable time could be lost. Read Aries message. Be thorough, safe.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Be concerned with practical measures. Back up deals with facts. Prove your point via graphic illustrations. Heed counsel of spiritual adviser. Take new steps in fresh directions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Your intuition serves you well. You seem able to sense truth about important questions. But knowing the answer is only half the battle. Doing something constructive is the next step.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You will be expected to be "life of the party." Others look to you for humor, inspiration. No day for moody demeanor. Stress cheerful attitude. You gain most in this manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Good moon aspect highlights travel, reading, gaining fresh knowledge. Get to heart of matter. Much to be gained if you take your time. Attend church of your choice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Time now for finding answers. Read, probe—ask questions. Piece together bits of information. Be a detective! Fine day for amusement, new contacts, attending lectures.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be ready for quick changes. Take in stride emotional outbursts by associate. Your role must be that of diplomat. Keep mind and heart open. You can earn respect . . . and love.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Important that you obtain sufficient rest. Avoid extremes. Gain strength. Much in common today with Aries and Gemini persons. Exercise caution while traveling. Put off final decisions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good lunar aspect highlights romance, excitement of social affair. Press forward; obtain promises. Gain indicated through members of opposite sex. Key is confidence.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Make plans for future. Check details. Be sure you obtain money's worth. Don't be in too much of a hurry. Pay heed to advice offered by older individual. Experience proves your great ally.

• • • •

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you have a remarkable sense of humor, but display a tendency to scatter your forces.

• • • •

GENERAL TENDENCIES: All signs could benefit from Aries and Gemini messages.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): What should be done is clear. Trick is to get started. Includes attending to details, being frank with associates, family members. Tasks may be unpleasant, but necessary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Realize now there are some jobs which cannot be left half-finished. "Go to work," and complete tasks. Otherwise, you'll worry, wonder what could have been done.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Cycle remains high. You are in better position to judge finances. Strive for greater independence. Insist on doing things your way, even if you are accused of being stubborn.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Display abilities, ideas. Don't be afraid to express yourself. Key is dynamic approach. Many important persons will be attracted to you. Show your best side. Lunar cycle at peak.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Key is reaching out, broadening horizons. Member of opposite sex could be involved in important changes. New projects could provide greater happiness. Strive for greater understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Pleasant surprise due. Also, relief from recent pressures indicated. Opportunity to put house in order, organize. Finish "little things" and big ones will take care of themselves!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be specific. Make sure that thoughts, ideas are communicated with your meaning. Day when you could be misunderstood. Others may be careless, apt to give double meanings to your words.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Good lunar aspect encourages communication, public contact. Not so good for keeping secrets. Best to be "open," candid. Advice from family circle can be constructive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be precise. No time to back down. Stick to your convictions. May be testing period . . . others are deciding. Subtle methods could backfire. Be direct. Say what you think!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Resist pressure. Take your time. No need to force decisions. Well-meaning associate may be misguided. Heed voice of your own conscience. Do what's best for you!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Lonely feeling can be transformed into enjoyable privacy. Outlook is of paramount importance. Make the most of situation. Don't try to accomplish the impossible. Understand yourself!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Check . . . investigate. Member of opposite sex could provide constructive stimulation. Probe. Dig for information leading to greater knowledge. New ideas can come from discussions, conversations.

• • • •

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you possess much creative power, but you are also practical.

• • • •

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Gemini, Cancer, Leo. Special word to Capricorn: By taking your time, you can uncover valuable information.

Long-Play Bible Records Offered I, P-T Readers

In an age that largely neglects the family custom of daily Bible readings, the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram has arranged, as a public service during the pre-Christmas season, to offer a set of long play records of the best-loved stories of the Old and New Testaments.

The records have been praised by religious leaders.

A coupon for your order appears elsewhere in today's paper.

Dramatizations of such stories as Daniel in the Lion's Den, Noah and the Ark, Joseph and His Brethren, Moses and the Promised Land, the Good Samaritan, the Last Supper, the Birth of Christ and others are on the records narrated by Alexander Scourby, backed by full cast and orchestra.

With each record there is a four color illustration suitable for framing.

The records can be ordered singly for $1 or the set of eight for $7.50.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Saharan War Firing Ceases

ALGIERS, Sunday, Nov. 3 (AP)—Shooting stopped late Saturday in all sectors along the contested Algerian-Moroccan frontier, Algerian field headquarters announced today.

The end of hostilities was announced 24 hours after the official cease-fire went into effect at midnight Friday. The report said an artillery duel in the Figuig-Beni Ounif sector ended by early evening and no engagements had been fought since.

The report came from Algerian headquarters at Colomb-Bechar after both sides in the undeclared frontier war traded artillery and machinegun fire in violation of the Bamako cease fire agreement.

Each side accused the other of violating the agreement within minutes after it came into effect.

Morocco had dispatched troops to its eastern frontier and military duels shattered a brief calm Saturday in the sector bordered by the Moroccan town of Figuig on the north end and the Algerian town of Beni Ounif on the south end.

Tricky Quick but Caught

LONDON (AP)—Michael Patrick Murphy Woodfall is a memorable man, even without his moustache. When cornered, as he was Saturday, he reacts as quickly as a rabbit.

MICHAEL WOODFALL
Recaptured

Held in connection with a $12,000 swindle, he escaped from police custody Friday but was recaptured Saturday by two detectives. But Woodfall never gives up.

He whipped out a pair of handcuffs and, true to form, he cried out to a passersby: "In the name of the queen, help me arrest these men — they are wanted criminals."

Before the passersby could answer Woodfall's call, uniformed police appeared on the scene and put an end to his trick. But it was the kind of thing the law says Woodfall has been up to ever since Mrs. Effie Ora, a lonely widow of substantial means, fell into his snare. He is charged with swindling her.

Ice Show Death Toll Rises

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The death toll in the State Fairgrounds Coliseum ice show explosion rose to 66 today with reports of two deaths in hospitals.

Mrs. Stella Mahr, 65, and Harry F. Nolen, 67, both of Indianapolis, died of injuries suffered Thursday night when a thundering blast accompanied by a column of flame ripped through a section of grandstand.

Jack Benny's Wife Robbed of Gems

NEW YORK (UPI)—A shabbily dressed gunman walked into the plush hotel suite of Jack Benny's wife, Mary Livingston, Saturday and robbed her of an estimated $110,000 in jewelry.

The comedian's wife fainted, but otherwise was not injured. The gunman escaped before she revived and called police.

The robbery took place at the Hotel Pierre, where Benny and his wife have been staying. Benny had left 40 minutes earlier for a concert in Pittsburgh.

Meningitis at Honor Rancho

CASTAIC (AP)—The county's Wayside Honor Rancho has been closed to visitors for ten days because of an outbreak of infectious meningitis.

The quarantine was ordered Saturday by County Physician Dr. Marcus Crahan after an inmate's case was diagnosed at General Hospital as purulent meningitis.

Cyanide in Illinois Stream

NEWTON, Ill. (UPI) — Deadly cyanide poisoned the Embarras River in southeastern Illinois Saturday and shut off the water supply to this farming community of 3,000 persons.

Authorities, armed with dramatic evidence of the poisoned river, warned farmers along the winding stream to keep their families and livestock away from the water. Five hereford cattle were found dead along Kickapoo Creek southeast of Mattoon, Ill., Friday and the state health department confirmed today that the cyanide killed them.

25th Polaris Sub Launched

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Its blimp-shaped bow draped in bunting, the Ulysses S. Grant, 25th Polaris submarine in the Navy's arsenal, was sent down the ways Saturday into the choppy, rain-flecked Thames River.

The 425-foot, 7,000-ton sub, named after the 18th President of the United States, was hailed by Adm. Harold P. Smith as the kind of weapon that "gives our country a credible deterrent to unlimited nuclear war."

Rain Breaks Eastern Drought

By United Press International

Welcome snow and rain fell from the Ohio Valley to the Eastern Seaboard Saturday, easing a record-breaking Indian summer drought.

Cool air sent temperatures below the freezing mark as far south as Alabama and Texas. Three inches of snow fell in Virginia's Shenandoah National Park and some sections of the state received nearly two inches of rain.

Governor's Pay Raise Called Moral Wrong

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Republican assemblyman said Saturday a "loophole" in state law would allow Gov. Brown a $4,100 pay raise, but that Brown would be "morally wrong" in taking it.

Brown said last week he had changed his mind about a pay raise and decided to take one after promising in the election campaign to forgo the salary hike.

Brown told his press conference last week he made the promise "without thinking," adding "I'm embarrassed by it." He also said his promise amounted to a gift of community property "and my wife says that she did not consent to it."

Assemblyman Bob Monagan, R-Tracy, said Saturday the legislative counsel advised that it would not be "technically illegal" for the governor "to withdraw from the state treasury the $4,100 in dispute" although it was not included in the budget.

"If he (Brown) elects to do this, however," Monogan said, "it will be morally wrong in light of his promises to the people of California."

Monagan said acceptance of the raise "would be in violation of both the spirit of the constitution of the state and the intent of the bugetary process of the legislature."

Monagan said Brown had said in a footnote to his 1963-64 budget proposal to the legislature that his salary would remain at $40,000 a year.

Monagan said the "legislative process" made it incumbent that "the integrity of the budget as submitted by the governor be followed . . . except where the legislature makes specific changes."

Sen. Carlson Says Gold Outflow Biggest Problem

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What is the single most serious problem facing the United States today? Civil rights? Unemployment? Communism?

An American who selects any one of those possibilities as the nation's No. 1 crisis will find a sizable number of his countrymen who agree wholeheartedly.

But a highly respected, senior Republican in the United States Senate disagrees with all of them.

To Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas the greatest cause for alarm—and one of the least understood—is that gold is flowing away from U.S. shores faster than it is collecting here. This causes what is known in economic circles as a "balance-of-payments" deficit.

"Balance-of-payments" is a nine-dollar phrase which simply means that the United States spends, lends, invests and gives away more to foreign countries than foreign countries spend, lend, invest or give to the United States.

* * * *

"OUR BALANCE of payments situation is the number one problem as far as the future of the country is concerned," Carlson told United Press International in an interview. "If we don't reverse the trend — quickly — we're likely to face a depression that will make all our other problems pale into insignificance."

At the outside, he says, the country has two years to get its foreign fiscal affairs in order, or face possible economic catastrophe.

Carlson speaks from a pre-eminent position. He is ranking Republican, behind Sen. John Williams of Delaware, on the Senate Finance Committee. He is third ranking GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. In those posts he is privy to the nation's prime economic information. The jobs also make him partly responsible for solutions of both domestic and foreign economic problems.

His most recent assignment in the international field was representing the United States, along with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., at the International Monetary Fund Conference in October.

* * * *

CARLSON has been heartened a little—but just a little—by the modest improvement in the balance-of-payments deficit in recent months. In the second quarter it was running at a $5 billion annual rate and was reduced to a $2.5 annual rate, estimated, in the third quarter.

"Even so," he predicted, "this will still be our worst year. We'll probably wind up about $4 billion behind."

For several years the deficits have been averaging around $3 billion. They have drained U.S. gold stocks by about $15 billion.

How did the United States get in such a situation?

To find the answer to that, one would have to unravel a complex combination of circumstances that have been years in the making. The more pertinent question, according to Carlson, is how to get out of the situation.

Conceding that there are no easy answers in today's world, he said nevertheless that answers must be found. He suggested a few:

—Cut back American troop commitments overseas.

—Increase U.S. sales efforts on a nation-to-nation basis in the free world.

—Boost trade in non-strategic commodities with the Communist bloc countries.

—Raise U.S. interest rates to a point where they are on a par with or very close to European rates.

Of all these approaches, he said, the troop cutback is the most important.

American military forces overseas are the greatest single conduit through which U.S. gold flows abroad. They will account for about $1 billion during this year.

* * * *

"I AM HOPEFUL we can reduce our overseas soldier commitments," the senator said. "We have nearly 400,000 troops in Europe alone. With our ability to transport whole divisions by air, as the recent exercise Big Lift proves, we should be able to cut back significantly."

As for trade, the United States exports more than it imports and has had a favorable balance in this respect for years. But the balance is narrowing. And this trend must also be reversed if the overall payments deficit picture is to be improved.

Carlson's suggestion: "I think we are going to have to send some people out with brief cases to trade bilaterally. We are simply going to have to compete on a bigger and broader scale."

As to trade with Communist bloc countries, the senator thinks the United States might have to reexamine its whole philosophy about such exchanges. He favored the sale of wheat to the U.S.S.R., and not, he says, just because he represents the nation's largest wheat-growing state. In a recent Senate statement, Carlson declared:

"Our nation lost $23 million worth of gold from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 1963. Our gold reserve has dropped from $24 billion in 1954 to $15.7 billion in 1963.

* * * *

"THERE ARE some who will argue that the sale of wheat to Russia strengthens communism. But the facts are that Russia is obtaining not only foodstuffs, but industrial products from our allies in ever-increasing quantities.

"For instance, statistics for 1962 show that West German trade agreements with Russia alone totaled about $700 million. Germany is now the third largest industrial nation in the world.

"Italy has a four-year trade agreement with the Soviets for $1.11 billion worth of goods. France has signed a three-year trade pact with Russia which provides annual trade of $440 million. Japan has a three-year trade pact with Russia that calls for $365 million. The United States and Russian trade last year was $16 million each way.

"I am not advocating the sale of strategic materials to Russia, but I do urge that our nation give every consideration to expanding our trade with Russia and her satellites in non-strategic items."

* * * *

RETURNING to the wheat question, Carlson said the United States sells wheat to Germany, France and other European countries.

"Much of this wheat is processed into flour and foodstuffs by these countries and then sold to Russia. Therefore, Russia gets our wheat whether we sell it to them or not," the senator said.

Another leading factor in the gold-outflow problem, Carlson said, is the interstate situation. Overseas, opportunities look mighty tempting to American investors, particularly in stable West European countries. Interest rates there are higher than they are here. This led President Kennedy recently to raise the rediscount rate for short-term borrowing. This, in turn, so the theory goes, will lead American investors to put more of their money in domestic issues.

Coming as close as he ever did to a partisan statement in the interview, Sen. Carlson noted this was the classic Republican position. "They (the administration) hated to do it, but they found there was just no other way. They had to raise the rates," he said.

Earth Crust Bore Job End Seen by 1968

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientist working on a federally financed program to drill a hole through the earth's crust under the ocean predicted the job will be finished by 1968.

The scientist was William H. Tocking, deputy manager of the Mohole Project, employed by the Brown and Root Co. of Houston, Tex.

Tonking made the estimate in hearings before the House Oceanographic Subcommittee, which is getting a progress report on the multi-million-dollar undertaking.

'67-68 World's Fair Won't Be Long Beach's 1st; City Staged Pacific Southwest Exposition in '28

By VERA WILLIAMS

Long Beach will have a World's Fair in 1967 and 1968.

But it won't be the first one.

Do you know about the Pacific Southwest Exposition which ran for 39 days and nights — July 27 through Sept. 3, 1928—on 60 acres of harbor land at the end of West Seventh Street?

Twenty - three foreign countries and most of the Western states participated. More than a million persons attended. The exposition cost $650,000—and paid its way.

* * * *

THE PACIFIC Southwest Exposition had another unusual characteristic: It was ready on opening day. Every building, every corner of the grounds had been finished, every exhibit was in place before the gates swung open to the public.

Tunis supplied the atmosphere for the exposition. Why Tunis? World travelers often say Long Beach reminds them of a Mediterranean city. Its climate is almost exactly the same as that of Tunis in north Africa.

So Moorish architecture: white walls, domes, towers and minarets, the architecture of Tunis, was chosen for the world fair at Long Beach.

* * * *

TO GIVE the impression of an oasis in the desert, towering palms were planted, full-grown; it was the season for oleanders and roses and the fair grounds were bright with bloom. There were many grassy plots, gravelled walks and splashing fountains.

There may have been a hard, practical reason, too, why Moorish architecture was chosen. The buildings were hardly more than stage sets. Masonry walls were out of question, so the buildings were of plasterboard with an outer coating of stucco, the interiors supported by studding. Roofs were of canvas stretched like tents.

Pacific Southwest backers took a chance that it wouldn't rain during that period, and it didn't. They took a chance that there wouldn't be a heavy windstorm, and there wasn't one. Where else could men be sure that it wouldn't rain, and hopeful that it wouldn't blow from July 27 to Sept. 3 except in Long Beach?—and Tunis?

* * * *

THE GENERAL plan was simple — and beautiful. Main buildings were placed about a great quadrangle or plaza, intercepted by a roofed and arcaded colonnade. Smaller courts branched off the main areas of the quadrangle. At the far end a bandstand was set in a tranquil pool of water.

Buildings, towers, stairs, balconied windows, arches and columns were designed to cast interesting shadows. Colored lights were played on them at night, and they were reflected in the pool.

At noon and at sunset each day, an Arabian muezzin ascended the steps to the muezzin tower atop the Palace of Industrial Arts, the highest point in the exposition grounds. Silhouetted against the sky, he bowed in the traditional way to the four corners of the globe, then summoned faithful Mohammedans to prayer.

* * * *

THERE WERE many "Palaces" at the fair: Palace of Industrial Arts, Palace of Education and Fine Arts, Palace of Transportation and Radio, Palaces of Oil, Mining and Manufacture, and "Palaces" of exhibiting foreign countries: Argentina, Belgium, Bolivia, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Ecuador, France, Guatemala, Hawaii, Holland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, East Indies, New Zealand, Norway, Persia, Philippine Islands and Spain. There was a Marine Building and a California Building. There was a theater which seated 600, a stadium which seated 8,000 and in athletic field with room for 5,000 spectators.

A "Pageant of Friendship" which told the story of the West, Redmen through 20th century, was presented every night. Each performance ended with a "disappearing ballet" — the ballet actually dropped from sight.

The eighth annual regatta of the Southern California Yachting Association and the Southern California AAU Swimming and Diving Championships were Pacific Southwest Exposition events.

* * * *

PRESIDENT Calvin Coolidge sent greetings. Gov. C. C. Young was the first patron admitted to the exposition and received an engraved "No. 1" admission card.

Herbert Hoover, campaigning for president, visited the fair and was presented with a plaque designed by Roger Noble Burnham.

When Lt. Arthur Goebel flew nonstop to New York, he carried greeting from the exposition to Mayor Jimmy Walker. On the fair grounds Goebel was presented a Distinguished Flying Cross for his nonstop flight from Oakland to Honolulu. Charles A. Lindbergh came in one night, unannounced, paid his admission the same as any other citizen, toured the fair and spent an hour at the aviation exhibition.

* * * *

MME. ERNESTINE Schumann-Heink sang at the fair, and had a day named in her honor. Carrie Jacobs Bond, who wrote "The End of a Perfect Day," played a group of her compositions. Charles Wakefield Cadman, who composed the "Land of the Sky Blue Water," played a group of his compositions.

Upton Sinclair, writer, strode through the grounds bare-headed and was astonished that people recognized him.

Entertainers included Alice Gentle, mezzo soprano; Arthur Friedheim, pianist; Elsa Alsen, Wagnerian sprano; Rene Tumanova, singer who came from the Imperial theater, Moscow, accompanied by her Balalaika orchestra; Mischa Koltunoff, Russian tenor, and the Volga Boys Ukrainian Chorus; Alma Real, dramatic soprano; Sonia Cordova, dancer; Samuel Pedraza, tenor, "singing ambassador" from Mexico.

* * * *

CAPT. GEORGE H. Wilkins, North Pole flier; George McManus, cartoonist; James Rolph Jr., who then had been mayor of San Francisco for 17 years and later become governor of California, visited the fair.

So did Sens. Hiram Johnson and Samuel M. Shortridge, and Rep. W. E. Evans.

James Warner, radio operator on the Southern Cross, which had just flown from Oakland to Australia, looked over the fair and approved: "California is always doing something — something new and aggressive."

* * * *

HERBERT L. Clarke, famed director of the Municipal Band, composed "The Pacific Southwest Exposition March" especially for the fair.

Merrell Gage's "Madonna of the Plains," sculpture, first was exhibited at the Pacific Southwest Exhibition.

A Bedouin marriage, and Catholic, Jewish and Protestant services all took place at the fair. It was said to be the first Catholic Mass inside an American fairgrounds.

Exhibits included Napoleon's private carriage; a a rug smuggled out of the emperor's palace in the Boxer uprising; purses used by Tzu Hei, the Dowager Empress of China; the manuscript of the Five Books of Jami, Persian poet, written in Nastalik style and illuminated by Behzad early in the 16th century.

* * * *

J. DAVID Larson, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, credited with originating the idea of the exposition, was its general manager. The "power behind the throne" was Arnold Kruckman, who as a young newspaperman had covered the Wright Brothers flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C. and couldn't get newspapers to take his story because editors wouldn't believe flying machines would fly.

L. E. Behymer was impressario. Paul Graham was chairman of the board of controls of the exposition; James K. Reid was president of the Chamber of Commerce, moving spirit behind the exposition. Dr. Henry C. Niese, consul of Argentina, was in charge of obtaining foreign exhibitions. James V. Savery headed art, and Harry Buffum headed special days and events.

Hugh R. Davies, architect, achieved the miracle of erecting a "Tunisian city" on sand dunes with 10½ weeks notice. Walter R. Fleming, director of the Department of Public Service, and James F. Collins, civil engineer, had charge of preparing and planting the grounds.

* * * *

HARRY J. Moore, vice principal of Poly, directed the Palace of Education. John W. Ryckman directed installations and awards.

Julius R. Young and Henry Finch Burmester headed the publicity bureau. Bess Settle (Webster) was one of the talented writers.

Perhaps Mayor Oscar Hauge best summed up the Pacific Southwest Exposition:

"Here you will find life, beauty, music, education and enjoyment. Expositions are timekeepers of progress. They record the world's advancement. They broaden and brighten the daily life of the people. They stimulate energy, enterprise, intellect. They open storehouses of information . . . These buildings will disappear, but the infuence of this exposition will remain with us always."

Barbershop Units Sing Saturday

An Evening of Barbershop Harmony will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday at Wilson High School Auditorium, Seventh Street and Ximeno Ave.

The show is sponsored by the Newman Students, Catholic organization, of Long Beach State College. Tickets may be reserved by calling GE 9-9862 in Long Beach; JA 7-5382 in Buena Park or at the box office. Adults, $2 and $2.50; children, $1.50 and $2.

Baboons to Take Science Spotlight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The baboon, butt of many a joke, will be in for some serious discussion this week as the subject of an international symposium.

The four-day meeting, the first international symposium on the baboon and its use as an experimental animal, starts Tuesday.

San Antonio's Southwest Foundation for Research and Education is sponsoring the meeting. Almost 200 scientists are expected from the Soviet Union, Germany, England, Africa and the United States.

Until a few years ago almost no one—except the Russians and South Africans—used the baboon as a research animal. The medical favorite was the Rhesus monkey.

But researchers at the foundation, Louisiana State Medical School and Tulane Medical School, discovered by accident that a baboon gets atherosclerosis similar to humans.

This made it imperative to use the animal for research, especially so since he hardly ever eats any kind of meat.

Scientist, Writer on GAD Lecture Schedule

First of four lectures by noted scientists and the opening of a new series on "The Literature of Ideas" by author John Robert Clarke are announced for this week by the General Adult Division of Long Beach City College.

Dr. Norman H. Brooks, professor of civil engineering at the California Institute of Technology, will speak on "Our Coastal Waters: Benefits and Hazards" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City College auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Ave.

Associated with Caltech's W. M. Keck Laboratory since 1954, Dr. Brooks has done extensive research on the problems of waste diffusion in the ocean, ground water flow and hydraulic structures. Three additional speakers are scheduled for the weekly series on "Man and His Fluid Environment."

• • • •

CLARKE, who lives and works on a 55-foot sailing vessel currently moored in the Long Beach harbor, will speak on "Socrates and the High Cost of Living" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Rogers Junior High School auditorium, Monrovia Ave. and Appian Way. Later topics will be "Hamlet and the Idea of Tragedy," "Jung and the World of the Unconscious" and "Schweitzer and Human Communication."

Clarke's teakwood ship, the "Panacea," is a floating library and art gallery in which he has traveled to many parts of the world, and aboard which he wrote such best-sellers as "The Importance of Being Imperfect" and "Women Who Have Changed History."

Meet Slated on Prayer in Schools

A "Right to Pray in School" committee will hold a public meeting at 2 p.m. today in Seal Beach City Hall, Eighth Street and Central Avenue.

The committee announced intent of the meeting is to "voice concern and strengthen determination to stop the sweeping effort to remove every reference of a Supreme Being from public life."

The committee is backing petitions calling for an amendment to the Constitution making possible the "recitation on a voluntary basis of non-denominational type prayers in the public schools."

Petitions, based on the Seal Beach City Council resolution calling for the constitutional amendment, are available at 124 Main St., Seal Beach.

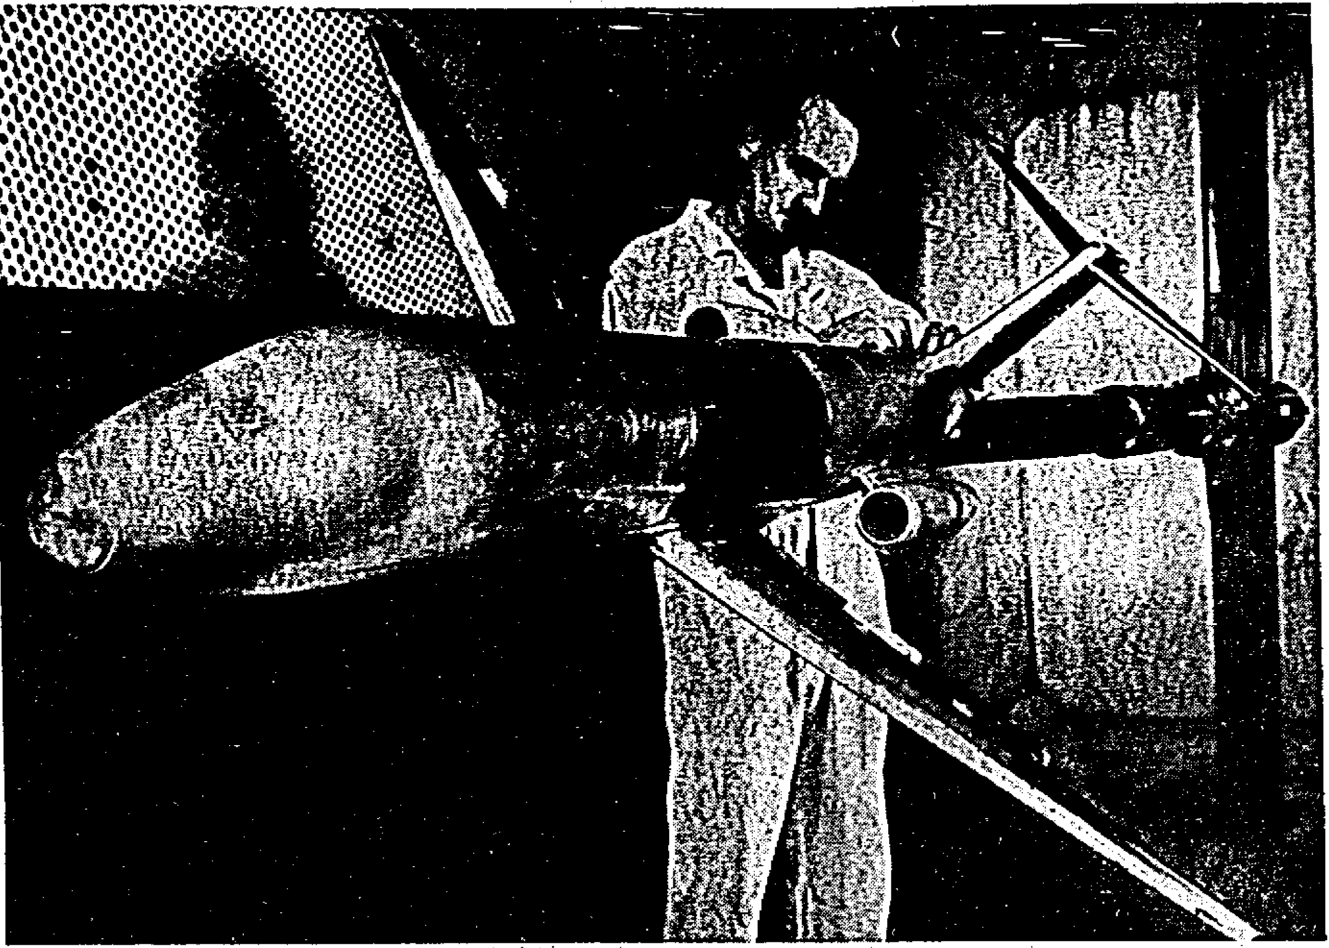
Baby Brother of Douglas Aircraft's DC8 Jet Due to Meet or Exceed Expected Performance



SIX PER CENT SCALE MODEL OF DOUGLAS DC9 . . . Passes Wind Tunnel Test

By LEE CRAIG
Aerospace Editor

The baby brother of Douglas Aircraft Company's Long Beach-built DC8 transports has passed another milestone on its way to fulfill the jet-age promise of swift and efficient transportation for trips of less than 1,100 miles.

Wind tunnel tests indicate the junior-size DC9 twin-jet transport will meet or exceed performance expectations, company executives say.

Although only one fourth the size of its four-jet big brother, the compact DC9 is expected to equal its predecessor in speed and comfort and exceed it in convenience.

* * * *

THE NEW transport will complement the long-range DC8s by replacing propeller aircraft now serving many cities on short-haul routes throughout the world, bringing them jet service for the first time.

Wind tunnel tests on six models of the DC9 were conducted at the Douglas Aerophysics Laboratory, the Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratory at Caltech, the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, the NASA Ames Research Center and the low-speed tunnel at the Douglas facility in Long Beach.

Company executives also announced the DC9's cockpit arrangement has been approved by the Federal Aviation Agency, subject to flight demonstration.

More than 60,000 man hours a week are being applied to the DC9 program, including 40,000 in detail engineering. This work is agumented by work under way by seven major subcontractors with design and manufacturing responsibility.

Assembly of the first transport is scheduled to start in January, with roll-out of the completed airplane set for a year later. First flight is scheduled for March 1965.

Council Will Hold Hearing

By GEORGE WEEKS

A five-year-old controversy over proposals to require more off-street parking for new residential construction will resume Monday before the City Council's ordinance committee.

Committee members will hear pro and con arguments at 9:30 a.m. on the latest recommendations of the City Planning Commission, which has campaigned in vain for more stringent regulations since 1958.

Representatives of building contractors and related groups said last month they will oppose some of the requirements approved by the commission in July. Final decision will be up to the council.

Most hotly-disputed of the proposals are those related to apartment construction, the most active category of current residential building.

* * * *

PLANNING commissioners are backing ratios as high as 1½ parking spaces to one apartment unit for larger units in some districts. Present requirements range from 1-for-3 in the downtown district to 2-for-3 in outlying areas.

The new proposals would require:

District A (core area), 1-for-2 for all units.

District B (south of Pacific Electric right-of-way and Pacific Coast Highway, 1-for-1 for one-bedroom units, 1½-for-1 for two-bedroom, 1½-for-1 for three-bedroom and over.

District C (remainder of city), 1-for-1 for one-bedroom, 1½-for-1 for two-bedroom and over.

* * * *

OTHER COMMISSION proposals are a 2-for-1 ratio for single-family dwellings throughout the city and a 1½-for-1 minimum for duplexes.

Garage construction is required for single-family and duplex units. Open parking, on the same lot as the building, is permissible for multiple-unit apartments.

Milder recommendations for increasing off-street parking minimums have repeatedly failed to win council approval, mainly because of arguments that the result could be prohibitive pricing of new construction.

Playhouse Manager Retires

Retirement of Mrs. Walter Case as administrative business manager was announced Saturday by Long Beach Community Players. She will continue as a member of the Board of Trustees and Board of governors.

Dedicated to the development of this pioneer little theater from the time of its organization in 1929, Mrs. Case was charter member, served as parliamentarian, vice president, and business manager during the first years. She resigned as president in 1957, but retained her position as administrator.

Under her leadership Community Players won national as well as local recognition for sustained production through 34 years and built its own theater in 1951.

WELFARE PROGRAM

Yuletide Giving Is Coordinated

Coordination of Christmas giving for needy families in the Long Beach-Lakewood area has begun under auspices of the Community Welfare Council, it was announced Saturday.

Council Chairman Fred Dow reported that welfare agencies have begun to list the needy families who will need extra help with food, clothing or toys at Christmas. Representatives of welfare agencies have met to plan central clearing of cases so that duplications of aid will be avoided.

Bruce Monroe, Junior Chamber of Commerce, was appointed by Dow to head the Christmas clearance committee. Aid will be provided by the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, Catholic Welfare Bureau, the Long Beach Elks Club, and organizations or individual donors who adopt families registered by social welfare agencies.

NAMES OF PERSONS listed by agencies as needing Christmas help will be registered in the Community Welfare Council office, 3515 Linden Ave. Monroe said he hoped that the majority of the needy cases could be listed by Nov. 25 so that churches or clubs could telephone after that time if they wished to aid a family and desired to know if it was already listed.

Assisting Monroe on the clearance committee are Mrs. Gladys M. Squaires, director of nursing, Long Beach Unified School District; Mrs. Mabel Johns and Maj. Kenneth Anderson, Salvation Army; Mrs. J. G. Herrmann, Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers; Miss Claudine Radisich and Gerald Mabey, Bureau of Public Assistance; Rev. W. R. Hall, Council of Churches; C. Ross McKelvie, Elks Club; R. Scott Jones, Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Capt. Fred Wessel, Volunteers of America.

175 Units to Parade Nov. 10

One hundred and seventy-five units will march in the Veterans Day parade here Nov. 10, including units from all divisions of the Armed Forces.

Thirty musical groups will participate, with the official band being the Sixth Army Band of San Francisco. Host band will be the Marker Junior Concert Band.

Among the marchers will be the uniformed Shrine units of Long Beach El Bekel Shrine Temple.

Long Beach is one of five cities in the United States designated by the Department of Defense and Veterans Administration to hold Veterans Day celebrations and parades, according to Fred Nessler, parade director. Other cities are Indianapolis, Ind.; Birmingham, Ala.; Oakland and La Salle, Ill.

Gen. J. K. Waters, commanding general, U.S. Continental Army, Fort Monroe, Va., is grand marshal; Edmund M. Gulewicz, of Detroit, Mich., national commander of the AMVETS, will be honorary marshal.

The parade will start at 1 p.m. at Ocean Boulevard and Alamitos, go west on Ocean to Pine Ave., north on Pine to Broadway, and west on Broadway to Chestnut Ave.

Cancel Lease, City Gets Cafe Fixtures

Improvements and fixtures valued at $100,000 will become city property in return for the cancellation of a lease for a restaurant that was no longer operating.

City officials have approved an agreement to this effect with Captain's Inn, Inc., lessee of the Sea Winds Restaurant and Coffee Shop in the Navy Landing Building.

The company, which operates a successful restaurant in the marina area, closed the Navy Landing business last March. The Sea Winds had been open only two years before giving up in the face of a shift of Navy activity to the harbor. Its lease was to have run for 10 years.

In return for getting title to the building improvements and modern restaurant fixtures installed by the company, the city will cancel rental payments past due in the amount of $17,184.

Officials are studying new uses for the landing area, including a possible small-craft harbor. City Man. John R. Mansell invited offers for a new lease conditioned on the city's providing the equipment acquired under the agreement.

LBSC Art to Be Shown at Cerritos

Cerritos College's Art Gallery opens Monday with a major showing of works by the faculty of Long Beach State College. The event is the third of a series of exhibitions that will continue throughout the year on the Norwalk campus.

Featured works will be sculptures by Kenneth Glenn, Dick Swift's graphics, Orval Dillingham's paintings and the designs of Alvin Paine.

The show will be open to the public daily from 12 noon until 4 p.m.

SS Orcades Due With 1,149 Aboard

The 28,000-ton P&O-Orient Lines passenger ship SS Orcades is due in Long Beach at 8 a.m. Tuesday with 1,149 passengers aboard.

The liner, arriving from London, via Le Havre, Lisbon, Florida and the Panama Canal will dock at Pier D, Berth 34. She will depart at 5 p.m. the same day on the South Pacific leg of an around-the-world cruise.

BEACH COMBING
with Malcolm Epley

AS veteran tolerators of this dept. well know, I have campaigned occasionally against the horrible practice of reading speeches.

Sometimes, I've thought I was gaining in this effort, but recently there has been a new and discouraging development.

Whereas speech-reading may have declined a bit, now I notice more and more people reading prayers, such as the invocations at the opening of civic events.

Evidently, people are getting so they don't trust themselves to speak extemporaneously even to the Almighty.

THOSE who do their part in making this a hospitable community will get real encouragement from a letter received here yesterday from Arleigh Burke, former chief of naval operations and one of the nation's top military experts.

Burke wrote to Harry Buffum, chairman of the Diamond Jubilee celebration board, in response to an invitation to attend the "Celebrities" event which is part of the Jubilee program. He can't come, but he spoke of the years when he was on duty with the Navy here as happy ones. Then he went on:

"I am reminded especially of the many times we lived in Long Beach when I was a junior officer, and citizens of Long Beach were always very thoughtful on making Long Beach a wonderful place for naval officers to live.

"For example, during the bank holiday when I was at sea, and one of your very excellent hotel managers loaned Mrs. Burke enough money to buy food until I came back to Long Beach. And during the earthquake, I learned for the first time what conscientious citizens can do to assist one another in times of stress. I even appreciated the park bench where Mrs. Burke and I spent that night, since our apartment was seriously damaged.

"The efforts the transportation companies made to have schedules suitable for sailors going to sea in the early morning in the days when few of us had cars, were also appreciated."

Burke was writing about the way things were here 30 years ago. Are we still doing as well?

ANOTHER "Operation Big Lift" was pulled off in Long Beach in connection with the Jubilee opening banquet Thursday eve.

Bill Boyd, the director, was faced with an emergency when a last-minute change of plans made it necessary for him to arrange to transfer 250 guests from parking places at the Arena to the Lafayette Hotel, and then back again, in a matter of minutes.

So, though the party was a "live" one, he called on the mortuaries of Long Beach and their limousines to accomplish the lift. Twelve shiny limousines were lined up in front of the Arena and handled the transfer without a slipup.

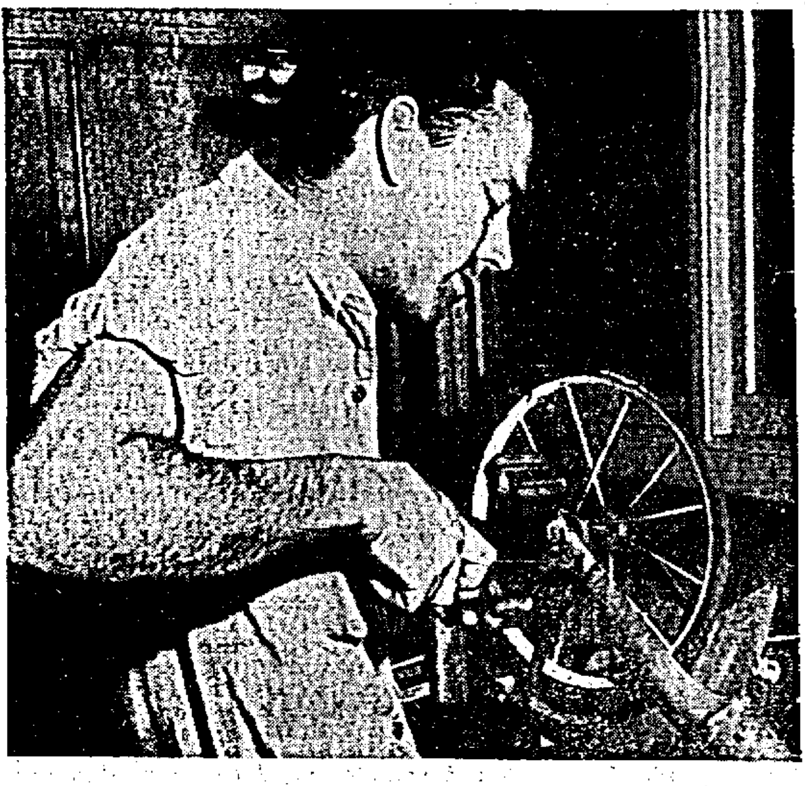
BY the way, this event — the banquet — brought about the discovery of one of the finest rooms for an event of this kind to be found in the entire region.

It was held in the lobby of the Arena — an immense glass enclosed area with starlight illumination fixtures that is one of the truly great features of the immense building. The combination of reflections from the interior fixtures, plus the harbor lights, and the harbor light reflections on the water, provided an atmosphere of unique charm.

There were 250 there. The room could have held twice that many and it's too bad so many missed it.

Architect Ken Wing, who designed the building, sat near me and admitted that when he dreamed up the grand lobby, he never imagined it would be used for banquet purposes.

That's a plus at the Arena that wasn't contemplated by the designer. Now it figures as a fine new community asset.



TERMINAL ISLAND FCI INMATE . . . Santa's Unpaid Helper

Correction Facility Inmates Aid Santa

By ED KENYON

Some of Santa Claus's most enthusiastic toyshop workers have been turning out Christmas bicycles and dolls for the past month.

They work behind the green-walled Federal Correctional Institute on Terminal Island.

It's a volunteer spare-time job for those of the prison's nearly 1,000 inmates who take part in the program.

The sewing of fancy clothes for dolls is an activity started many years ago by the women inmates who annually dress a hundred or more dolls in a variety of imaginative and colorful outfits.

* * * *

LAST YEAR FOR the first time, men inmates joined the Kris Kringle crew.

Old bicycles, toy automobiles and wagons collected by the Volunteers of America are being taken apart for repairing and refurbishing in sparkling greens, reds and yellows.

Continuing a program started last year, inmates also will help kindle the Yuletide spirit by inviting youngsters from needy families into the prison for a Christmas dinner.

The event last year melted the hearts of even the hardest cynics in the prison blue denim, says Warden Raymond May.

* * * *

AFTER ONE little girl had applauded a group of inmate entertainers, collected a Christmas gift bought with inmate contributions and eaten a dinner of turkey and all the trimmings, she looked at an inmate seated next to her and said:

"Gee, you know I wish I lived here."

"I never felt so near to crying in my life," the inmate later told the warden.

Timely Action Can Forestall Quake Disaster

AT THE INDIANA COLISEUM in Indianapolis there was gaiety and music one minute as the audience watched skaters in a Halloween ice show pirouette in their final number. The next minute, there was horror and death as human beings were catapulted onto the ice and buried under concrete by the explosion of escaping gas. Sixty-six died; 341 were injured.

Reading the tragic details this week, the country was impressed once again by the vulnerability of mankind to the sudden and the unexpected. In a few seconds an accident or natural disaster—an explosion in a coliseum or a tidal wave behind a dam above a mountain village—can deal heartbreak and destruction to a community.

Often there is no way for man to anticipate and prevent these tragic fractures of his peace and happiness. The best he can do is prepare for the contingencies suggested to him by experience and foresight.

SADLY, HE DOES NOT always do so.

Even as the Indianapolis story clicked over the press wires, the Governor's Conference on Disaster Preparedness at Sacramento was hearing a disturbing report on conditions which could contribute to disaster in many of the cities of this state.

Declaring that 90 per cent of the fatalities and more than half the property damage in California earthquakes have been "unnecessary and preventable," Dr. C. F. Richter, seismology professor at California Institute of Technology, warned:

—Hundreds of buildings known to be unsafe are being used for schools and other public purposes.

—An even larger number of privately-owned buildings are obsolete and weakly built.

"Unless something is done to eliminate the old and dangerous buildings still in use," said Dr. Richter, "we may expect more and more serious damage and loss of life as our population increases."

CITIZENS OF LONG BEACH, a community which learned its lesson in the 1933 earthquake and has taken special pains to make itself earthquake-proof, may not realize the truth of Dr. Richter's statements about the condition of buildings. But anybody who has occasion to travel about the state realizes that the famous seismologist is justified in his concern.

How tragic if such warnings are to be ignored!

It might be argued that costs prohibit the rebuilding and the improvements suggested by Dr. Richter. However, the 1933 earthquake cost Long Beach $50 million. In Dr. Richter's words: "It begins to look like simple good business to lay out expenditures for prevention."

Both government and private owners should give that statement some thought—weighing, also, the value of the human lives that can be saved by action taken in time.

CAPITAL CAPERS

It's Been Long Year in Capital

I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—It has been a long year in Washington. It was a hot summer, and while fall is upon us it has come without its usual cheer, counted on each year to restore the spring to the step and whistle to the lip. And everyone is irritated.

The newspapers are irritated at former Sen. Majority Secretary Bobby Baker because he made a lot of money. To have known Bobby is to be presumed guilty by association, of what is not fully clear as yet.

The Congress is irritating the Kennedys, and the Kennedys are proving to be more and more irritating to the Congress. Congressmen are growing irritated with one another. As you may have read the other day, there was a one-punch fist fight in the Speaker's lobby, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, Texas Democrat, taking offense to remarks by Rep. Ed Foreman, Texas Republican.

Back to Bobby Baker, members of the Quorum Club are irritated because everyone is leering at them, in print and on the House floor, because Baker was an organizer. The doors of the club were thrown open Thursday for everyone to take a fast look, and it resembled almost any medium grade bar-restaurant. A couple of gray haired lobbyists were there, in the act of downing $1.40 cocktails, but there was no scene of merriment, revelry or unbecoming conduct.

AND NOW THE BAD NEWS about Congress. As has been feared, it just isn't going to close up its books and go home. There will be 22 days of recess—for Thanksgiving, and over the Christmas holidays, but the Congress will resume its session on Jan. 3, before anyone has had a chance to recover from anything.

The leadership hopes to pass the civil rights bill before Christmas, hope being all but gone for the tax bill. And that's if the Senate ever gets finished with the foreign aid bill. The House has passed nine of 12 regular departmental appropriations bills, the Senate but six.

REPUBLICAN SOURCES are feeding a rumor that Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy will resign—to devote his full attention to the re-election of his brother—with this interesting new twist: Following the election, all things going well for the Kennedys, Bobby, so the story goes, will take over direction of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It doesn't make too much sense, but then everyone laughed—including Bobby—at the rumors that he would be appointed Attorney General.

WHAT WASHINGTON NEEDS most at the moment, along with the whole Middle Atlantic region, is something neither Congress nor the President nor the numerous federal agencies can give it—rain. Good old-fashioned rain. We say old-fashioned because it seems like years since a drop fell on this now parched land. We've gone 31 days without any moisture, a new and unwanted record. So far the water supply has not been drastically affected, but officials are keeping their fingers crossed.

Fulbright Slap at De Gaulle Unprecedented in Diplomacy

WASHINGTON—An unprecedented method of attack has beeen employed to influence Gen. De Gaulle to change the policies of the French government so they will be more pleasing to the United States government.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate, has just made a speech that expressed views which, it might have been expected, would be uttered only by the President or Secretary of State. For the executive branch of the government has heretofore jealously guarded its prerogative to conduct foreign relations.

LAWRENCE

It is conceivable, of course, that the Fulbright speech was cleared in advance by the Department of State. For it would seem incredible that a speech of this importance, attacking an allied government, would be made without the knowledge and consent of the executive branch of our government. But is President De Gaulle now to regard the Fulbright speech as the expression of the United States government?

Sen. Fulbright's words were bluntly expressed. He said, for instance:

"It is on this level of practical co-operation that French policy has been deeply disappointing to France's allies. It is a policy which, if long continued, could lead to the disruption of the western alliance, not by open repudiation but by abnegation in detail."

This is a very serious charge to be leveled at the head of a government allied with the United States. But more surprising is the statement that France's policy has been disappointing not only to the United States but to France's other allies. This will be disputed to some extent in Europe, but in this country it will be wondered why the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate is privileged to speak in behalf of any of the allied governments.

When the leader in the French or British parliaments makes a speech, he is talking as the head of both the government and the legislative branch. But in the United States, where Congress and the executive are separate institutions, it has always been taken for granted that communications to other governments would be handled only by the President or the secretary of state.

Another surprising thing about the speech is that it was given on Oct. 30, but discussed statements made by President De Gaulle at a news conference on July 29 last. It thus has the appearance of a carefully prepared attack, which may have been assigned to Sen. Fulbright to carry out.

This will not assist in the solving of difficulties between the United States and France. In fact, within the last week, word has come from Paris that President De Gaulle has abandoned any idea of visiting the United States during the next several months, as had been reported.

Perhaps the most extraordinary part of the Fulbright speech is that in which he directed his remarks at President De Gaulle personally. Chairman Fulbright said:

"I don't believe that President De Gaulle is disposed at present to take such a dispassionate view of American policy. One perceives in his remarks of July 29 that he is still looking at America through the distorted prism of wounded pride."

It is significant that in this same speech the Arkansas Senator made a reference to France's unpaid debt from World War I to the United States. The total still unpaid, together with interest, amounts to more than $6 billion, of which $4.3 billion was due as of June 30, 1963. Mr. Fulbright referred to it as a "default since June, 1933."

This reminder that France owes the United States money was followed by Mr. Fulbright's remark that the United States "has not demanded payment of the World War I debts of France and other European countries. But it was not indicated whether the demand may yet be made. The exact purpose of mentioning World War I debts is not clear, though Sen. Fulbright argued that meeting the debt due would help the "balance of payments" situation.

The whole purpose of the Fulbright speech was ostensibly to persuade Gen. De Gaulle to liberalize his trade policies. But it remains to be seen whether this form of attack will be persuasive with the strong-minded head of the French government.

Sen. Fulbright declared:

"If our partners pursue protectionist trade policies and decline to carry a proproportion of the military and foreign aid burdens commensurate with their resources, the United States will be left with no choice but to reduce its commitments."

• • • •

THIS IS, to say the least, a most unusual commentary on the policies of an allied government and specifically on the attitude of the head of that government. For certainly it dosen't make negotiations easier, and it is an undiplomatic way to conduct the foreign relations of the United States. The question also arises whether it makes superfluous the two American ambassadors in Paris—one accredited to the French government and the other to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Knowland Shows Moderating Skill in Goldwater Mission

I, P-T Political Editor

SECRET BALLOT at the Americanism rally in Disneyland Hotel last Wednesday night—the affair sponsored by Orange County Young Republicans—was no secret, and nobody cared.

Barry Goldwater's name was at the top of the long cardboard ballot. Balloting took place after former Sen. William F. Knowland and former Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell assured the more than 1,000 rallyites that Barry would win the GOP nomination on the first or second convention ballot and that California's 86 votes would give him 146 of the required 655 after only five states had been called.

HOUSER

So, rally voters laid the ballot on their laps and boldly marked for Goldwater. Most neither shielded their selection nor bothered to fold the ballot to hand it in.

Prediction: Goldwater will win this vote by more than 90 per cent.

Vice presidential possibilities included Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield, N. Y. Sen. Jacob Javits, California Sen. Thomas Kuchel, National GOP Chairman William B. Miller, Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton, Vermont Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and Texas Sen. John Tower. Tower should win in a walk.

Gubernatorial choices included Joe Shell who should win this section of the ballot. It should be no contest either between Senator Knowland and Senator Kuchel as choice to head the California convention delegation, since Kuchel's name was met with derision at the rally.

PARTISAN POLITICAL gatherings are titillated by the broad swipe at the opposition and this was no exception. Examples:

Harry Johnson, Orange County YR president: "I understand one of the administration's objections to Mme. Nhu is that a member of her family is in charge of the secret police!"

Congressman James B. Utt: "The federal debt limit is being raised this year to $315 billion—but it's only temporary. It'll be raised again next year." Also—"The big problem in Washington is the concentration of power in 'One Man's Family'."

Joe Shell, (Asked whether he thought Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh would seek Clair Engle's Senate seat): "First, we all wish a rapid and complete recovery to Senator Engle—this doesn't seem to be the case on the Democratic side. As far as the seat is concerned, you'd need two chairs for Jesse."

Knowland's fielding of audience questions in this deeply conservative Goldwater country demonstrated two signal points — (1) Goldwater partisans rebel at the thought of compromise but (2) Knowland seems unusually well equipped to moderate them.

Knowland set the theme first in stating his dedication to Goldwater but cautioning his audience against an intransigence which would render them unable to accept some other choice of the GOP convention.

He disputed a questioner's contention that the 1962 Cuba crisis was engineered by the Kennedy administration as a political expedient. "I don't agree it was a political expedient even though, no doubt, it benefitted the administration; any president would have taken firm steps."

ANOTHER ASKED, if Goldwater should be out of the race, "Do we chuck our principles and follow Rockefeller?"

As an independent citizen, Knowland answered, anyone has the right to sit out the primary to wait and see who he'll vote for, but as a party delegate you have an obligation to support the party's nominee.

Would Rocky be better able to restore constitutional guarantees than Kennedy? asked one.

In a choice between Rockefeller and the New Frontier, Knowland said he felt Rockefeller would be better for the country. Negative groans filled the room, to which Knowland snapped back. "All right, you can pick Kennedy if you want to—I don't want him!" Cheers.

Knowland also did his best to defend this state's senior senator, Tom Kuchel, who often refers to Knowland affectionately as "Billy."

IN VIEW OF KUCHEL'S record of support for medicare, the test ban and other administration measures, can we tolerate him? was the essence of another question.

Knowland laid it on the line that California had reelected him and had plenty of chance to reject him if they wanted to rectify the situation. We can never agree 100 per cent, he said, but as long as a man keeps a reasonably good batting average ("Noooo," they heckled)—"Well, Knowland retorted, "the voters had an opportunity to make a change. And as far as the last election is concerned, Tom Kuchel was at least a moderate conservative compared with (former State Sen. Richards)."

Applause—and a fair country example of Knowland's stabilizing qualities.

18 Declining Years With U.N.

EDITOR:

Gov. Brown called on Californians to commemorate the founding of the United Nations 18 years ago in San Francisco.

What irony! Eighteen years ago the United States stood at the pinnacle of power and prestige among the nations of the world. Communism was kept alive by aggression, theft, foreign aid and massive propaganda during this time. During the same period, the United States has retreated and compromised with the forces of Russia following a United Nation's foreign policy.

The United Nation's goal is a world system headed by a World Court with all armaments in possession of a U.N. command. Under this setup if we had a chance to vote for those who would govern us, which is extremely doubtful, the Russians, the Chinese, the Castros would so greatly outnumber Americans we would have little, if any, representation. Our nation, our wealth, our rights, our property, our freedoms and our religion would be at the mercy of non-Americans.

Do we want the U.N. to accomplish this goal? Well, it will if we continue its sponsorship as urged by Gov. Brown. Without our active aid we cannot be subverted. The destruction of the United States, if it comes, will be from within.

Traffic Tickets a Big Business

EDITOR:

The other day while going to court in Santa Monica, I passed an intersection in Los Angeles where the sign "Turn Right; No Left Hand Turn" was behind a large clump of bushes. Every driver of an automobile is supposed to know that that sign is there and if you do not see it and violate the traffic laws or regulations, you will surely get a ticket because the collection of traffic tickets in this city and county, whether you know it or not, is BIG BUSINESS and very lucrative business, notwithstanding the fact that the Supreme Court of this state several years ago in an opinion said: "The practice of handing out traffic tickets for revenue only is reprehensible and against public policy."

I agree with this decision but the police departments of the various cities in this county either do not know of such a decision or do not care. The primary thing they are interested in is revenue; get the money in the county treasury regardless and then they expect the people and the general public to have respect for law and order.

Of course, we have the finest police in the United States because they are the best ticket collectors; but how many of them instead of concentrating on ticket collecting can catch bank robbers and other felons?

DREW PEARSON

'Lift' Was Effort to Cut Budget

WASHINGTON—There was a lot more than meets the eye behind that assurance of Secretary of State Rusk to West Germany that the United States would pull no troops out of Germany.

PEARSON

The statement was preceded by some heated arguments inside the Kennedy administration and will be followed by two important developments:

1. There will be little pruning of the Kennedy budget next year, despite his fervent hope to do so.

2. There will be no easing of tensions around Berlin despite both Kennedy's and Khrushchev's hope that there might be some.

Here is the inside story behind the Pentagon indications that troops would be withdrawn from Germany, followed by Rusk's categoric statement that they would not.

About six months ago, the President discussed with Secretary of Defense McNamara the problem of cuts in the military budget. He was determined not to go before the voters next year labeled as a wild spender, yet knew that no substantial economies could be made except by slicing the huge military appropriation.

So McNamara's IBM brain got busy and calculated that our military outlay in Europe, with its heavy drain on the dollar, could be curtailed with no loss in firepower by bringing some of the Army home but keeping their weapons abroad.

The Secretary of Defense reasoned that combat equipment could remain ready for action in Europe but that the troops needn't stand by at the front during the jet age. So he scheduled "Operation Big Lift" to dramatize how fast a battle-ready division could be rushed to Europe in case of emergency.

Grizzled, efficient Gen. Joe Kelly, the MATS commander, has now whisked the Texas division to Germany in Operation Big Lift in a record 63 hours without a hitch. Just as this took place, Deputy Secretary Roswell Gilpatric spoke in Chicago about possible troop withdrawals, suggesting delicately that the defense cutbacks would make more money available "to meet important needs in both the private and public sectors."

When Secretary of State Rusk, the imperturable diplomat, saw an advance copy of Gilpatric's speech, he almost lost his composure. He warned that any American pull-out might wreck the NATO alliance. It would be directly contrary to years of U.S. preaching that the allies must live up to their NATO commitments.

For the United States to renege on its commitments, he argued, would give our European allies all the excuse they needed to desert NATO.

Rusk also objected to the timing of the Chicago speech right in the middle of "Operation Big Lift" and on the eve of his visit to the new West German Chancellor, Dr. Ludwig Erhard.

In the backstage hassle that followed, President Kennedy personally overruled Rusk's objections. In the end, the Gilpatric speech was watered down somewhat but still delivered.

Crash Kills Downey Girl, Sister Hurt

A Downey girl was killed and her sister injured, in a three-car crash that took two lives and injured eight near Lindsborg, Kan., Saturday.

Killed was Marsha Esping, of 9635 Gallatin Road.

Injured was a sister, Marla Esping. The girls, with their brother, Mark, are students at Bethany College in Lindsborg.

The girls were in a party of seven college coeds in an auto that collided head on with another vehicle after hitting a third car on U.S. 81, near the Kansas town.

Service Must Be Good

MADRID (UPI)—The Madrid newspaper Pueblo, complaining the foreign tourists tip too much, said that a Greek millionaire recently picked up the 2,000-peseta ($33) tab in a Madrid cafe—and left a tip of 11,000 pesetas ($183).

Construction in County Sets Record

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Boosted by a total of $41,675,034 in October, volume of construction in areas served by the County's Building and Safety Division already has soared past the record for any prior year, according to County Engineer John A. Lambie.

The October figures brought the total for the first 10 months of 1963 to $455,122,698, Lambie said.

The previously high figure, set last year, was $428 million, and this was for the full 12 months, Lambie said.

• • • •

TOTAL volume in the unincorporated area was $22,096,469, including 1,153 housing units. There also were four public schools contracts totaling $3,638,704. The department does not issue permits on public schools.

In the 29 cities served by the Building and Safety Division, construction volume totaled $15,293,961, which included 883 housing units and two schools valued at $645,900.

October marked the seventh month this year in which there were more than 2,000 new dwelling units issued permits, Lambie said.

• • • •

VALUATIONS for cities in this area were as follows:

—Artesia—17 permits for $84,200.

—Bellflower—107 permits for $1,477,820, including 19 apartment buildings valued at $1,084,500 and totaling 145 units, six duplexes valued at $101,500 and a $54,000 office building.

—Dairy Valley—10 permits for $72,100, including a $49,500 store.

—Lakewood—92 permits for $610,059, including a $120,000 office building, two stores totaling $192,000 and a $60,000 recreational building.

—La Mirada—56 permits for $452,595, including a six-unit, $70,000 apartment building, a $200,000 church and a $60,000 store.

—Norwalk—126 permits for $892,505, including six apartment buildings valued at $360,000 containing 55 units, a $51,000 church building.

—Paramount—65 permits for $1,050,300, including seven apartment buildings totaling $724,000 and containing 100 units.

—Rolling Hills—11 permits for $117,450, including a $78,500 dwelling.

—Rolling Hills Estates—24 permits for $159,560, including a $90,000 store.

—Santa Fe Springs—43 permits for $316,530, including a $40,000 industrial building and three stores totaling $140,900.

Nuclear Power Station Hearing Set for Nov. 19

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission Saturday set Nov. 19 as the date for a hearing on a proposed nuclear generation station at the Camp Pendleton Marine Base.

The hearing will be conducted in Santa Ana.

The AEC also declared that the 90-acre facility would be thoroughly tested after it was built. The commission's division of licensing and regulation has approved design for the plant, a 1,210-megawatt (thermal) nuclear facility.

Southern California Edison Co., San Diego Gas and Electric Co., Bechtel Corp. and Westinghouse Electric applied for a permit for the plant Feb. 1.

Amateur Film Showing Nov. 17

The second annual showing of outstanding amateur films will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 17 in Recreation Park Clubhouse, 4900 E. Seventh St., by the Long Beach Cinema Club.

SKATING KEEPS US YOUNG, say "The Old Smoothies," Orrin Markhus and Irma Thomas who will appear in the Ice Capades opening at the Long Beach Arena Nov. 19.

'Old Smoothies' Back With Ice Capades

Back on skates after more than six months in a hospital with a broken hip, 72-year-old Orrin Markhus, male half of "The Old Smmothies," returns with his partner, Irma Thomas, 61, to the Ice Capades opening Nov. 19 in Long Beach Arena.

The show is scheduled for a six-day, eight-performance engagement here.

Markhus injured himself while teaching his grandchild how to stop quickly on ice.

"The Old Smoothies" have been skating together for 21 years.

Free Film

Walt Disney's documentary film, "Bear Country" will be shown free at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Mark Twain Branch library, 1325 E. Anaheim St. A film on glass making in Holland, "Glass" also will be shown.

Even Drought's Big In Texas

MESQUITE, Tex. (UPI) — It's getting mighty dry in Texas, where rainfall is about one-half of normal. Ellis Bourchardt, a cattle buyer, reported "one crack in the ground was 11 inches wide and 10 feet deep" near this Dallas County town.

Red China Warns U.S. 268th Time

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China Saturday issued its 268th "serious warning" against the United States after charging that a U. S. military plane intruded into China's territorial air space off the coast of southern China, the New China News Agency reported.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the alleged plane flew over the area of Yungsing and Tung Islands of Kwangung Province, earlier Saturday.

How to Change the Weather

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) —It's going to be warmer in Anchorage this winter.

The U.S. Weather Bureau plans to move its thermometer from the airport to downtown Anchorage, a spokesman said. Temperatures recorded at the airport generally are several degrees lower than those taken in the city.

SENSATIONAL INK SPOTS

Ex-Doorman Back Home to Sing

Charlie Owens, once a doorman at a Long Beach hotel, is returning—but this time as the featured star in the show lounge of a competing hotel.

Charlie's big grin notes his satisfaction.

And you don't need to ask him what he's doing nowadays. Not when he joins with three other singers and you hear the same falsetto tenor, the same bass voice "talking" the music and that harmonizing on "Iffff I Didn't Careeee . . ."

The Ink Spots.

• • • • •

AND YOU DON'T need to ask him his age or weight. "I'm 39, like Benny," he said. "And I weigh . . . well, what else is new?"

To please an inquisitive reporter, however, and ease his own conscience, Charlie will talk about diets. "Stay on fish foods, that's good," he said. "Too bad I don't."

And, anyhow, he said defensively, "that weight does help my singing." Then he talks some more about dieting. "I can't do it while I'm sitting down in my home in Los Angeles watching television."

• • • • •

A NATIVE of Birmingham, Ala., Charlie was attending Long Beach City College at nights and door-opening for a local hotel in 1939. Shortly after, he left to study music in Hollywood and for show part appearances.

In 1954, he joined the Ink Spots, as reorganized by Charlie Fuqua, the baritone with the original group. When Fuqua took ill four years later, Owens gathered the boys and launched them as the "Sensational Ink Spots." The original name "Ink Spots" became public domain in 1957.

Since then, Charlie and his boys have appeared in such places as the Dunes in Las Vegas, LA's Crescendo, the Seattle World's Fair, Anaheim Bowl, and the Marineland Restaurant.

• • • •

THE FOUR WILL appear nightly except Sundays Nov. 9 to 30 in the new Sans Souci Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

CHARLIE OWENS (top) and his sensational Ink Spots—that's the official title of the group—will appear at the New Sans Souci Room of the Lafayette Hotel here beginning Nov. 9.

World Travel Show, Film Festival Set for L.B. Arena

The West's only all-travel industry exhibition — World Travel Show and Film Festival—will be held in the Long Beach Arena Feb. 7 through 16.

F. H. (Skip) Creger, director, said a continuous program of entertainment is being arranged for the expected quarter of a million show visitors.

Airlines, railroads, shiplines, buslines, tour operators, hotels, resorts and allied travel organizations exhibits are planned for the main arena area.

On each of the 10 show days, a different nation or part of the world will be featured. Music and dances of various countries will be presented in the arena.

Show offices are located at 3363 Lime Ave.

'Henry IV' Well-Staged by LBCC

By ELISE EMERY

Troubled events in England from the Battle of Holmedon Hill in 1402 to the Battle of Shrewsbury in 1403 swirled across the stage Friday and Saturday nights when Long Beach City College presented "King Henry IV, Part I."

With direction by David Emmes and production design by J. L. White, the drama was handsomely staged and costumed. Early English court music and effective lighting added to the mood of this ambitious production by the college's Theater Arts department.

Although Shakespeare wrote of the 15th Century monarch's struggle to hold his throne against rebellious lords, his words find contemporary echo in news from Viet Nam, Morocco, Algeria, the Congo. The theme, authority versus individual liberty, burns in our minds today.

Steve Arena, as Henry IV, was at his best in scenes with Fred Stokes as Prince Hal, and with James Carson who played the rebel Hotspur.

* * * *

THE CHARACTER development of Prince Hal from playboy to the responsible Prince of Wales reaches a moving climax when the young man vows to stand by his father in battle.

Carson sustained his portrayal of the valiant, fiery Hotspur to bring dramatic impact to his challenge and death in the dueling scene with Prince Hal.

The audience, made up largely of young adults, gave greatest response to Joe Matarazzo for his robust portrayal of the rascal Falstaff, companion to Prince Hal and one of literature's greatest comic figures.

Matarazzo interpreted his role with broad humor, jesting at the foibles of man which have changed not a whit since Shakespeare's day.

Randi Cohen was a spirited and decorative Lady Percy, La Vonne Chambers a charming Lady Mortimer and Pat Gordon a lusty Mistress Quickly of Boar's Head Tavern.

* * * *

The Theater Arts Department is to be commended for undertaking this production. It is admittedly difficult for any amateur company to do justice to Shakespeare.

All the young actors lost some of their effectiveness by too rapid delivery of their lines, which sometimes robbed key scenes of their force.

But in staging the drama, both actors and the production staff learned valuable lessons of the theater and brought Long Beach audiences the first Shakespearean production of the season.

Macleod also gave up his post as leader of the House of Commons and joint chairman of the Conservative Party following the power struggle for the prime minister's post.

FREEDOM IS PLAY'S THEME

Drama of 'Jefferson's Daughter'

By VERA WILLIAMS

"What's it like to be free"

That plaintive question by a fleeing slave climaxes "Clotield, the President's Daughter" which Friday night opened a three-weekend engagement in Morgan Hall, co-directed and produced by Samuel A. Boyea, drama critic of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

It is an ambitious, distinctly different production by a group evenly divided between Negroes and whites. The play, based upon a banned novel, "Clotel" by William Wells Brown, himself an escaped slave, presents the story of a slave girl, purportedly fathered by Thomas Jefferson. The playwright, Pearl M. Graham of Sunset Beach, was a guest at the opening.

* * * *

ALMA NELSON, as the American conscience, presents questions of right and wrong, justice wrong, justice and injustice, for each hearer to decide for himself.

Sandra Evans, as the beautiful Clotield, plays the role with winsome charm. Sonya Turner as Hester, her mother, gives a vivid portrayal.

One of the most appealing scenes in the play is a conversation between the mother and her young daughter on the value of learning.

* * * *

JAMES GOSA is Thomas Jefferson, governor of Virginia when the play opens in the midst of the Revolutionary War. Larry Worch is his friend Patrick Henry. Alma Nelson is a spirited and free-thinking Mrs. Patrick Henry, who teaches the slave girl to read—and the reading lesson is the Declaration of Independence penned by Thomas Jefferson.

Jack Lackman is convincing as the courtly Hon. Edmund Fitzgerald who continues Clotield's education by teaching her manners, Latin and Greek.

Richard Moore has an excellent bit part as the auctioneer who sells Clotield on the block. Rounding out the cast are Leon Brawley as Pomp, a slave; Jim Dougharty as Horatio Green who buys the girl and then casts her aside for a white bride; Sally Cary as a cousin; Pamela Collins and Larry Worch as Mr. and Mrs. James French, Clotield's new owners, and Ernest Horn as Juan, who rescues her.

* * * *

STIRRING spirituals are sung by the Spirit Chorus, a New Hope Baptist Church quartet, directed by Hazel Henderson. Besides Hazel Henderson, the singers are Lillie Lee, Juanetta Kirkpatrick and Carrie Bryant. Among the best are "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," "Do, Lord, Remember Me" and "Soon I will Be Done With the Trouble of this World." The last number is a modern "Jesus, I'll Never Forget What You've Done for Me."

Mr. Boyea, will you permit a reporter who isn't a drama critic to make two suggestions? Shorten the first act and get your characters to project their voices over the footlights. We missed some of the best lines because we couldn't hear them.

Huskies Bowl Over USC, 22-7

By JEROME HALL
I-P-T Staff Writer

SEATTLE—Conservatives will say the Huskies took a long stride toward the Rose Bowl, liberals will say they have the inside track and the radicals will say they sewed up their third trip to Pasadena in the past five years.

The radicals are right.

The University of Washington football team pulled the plug on that deep pool of grid talent at USC and posted a 22-7 triumph here Saturday, the first win over the Trojans on the Husky home field in eight years, the second in 18 years.

And today the newspapers here are saying the scent of roses is sifting across the Seven Hills of Seattle.

It is not clear how they did it. Probably it will be credited to a strong Washington defense. Maybe superior conditioning. Yet the statistics indicate it was an even game.

It wasn't.

At no time did the Trojans look like a championship team. They gained 247 yards in spasmodic gasps. They got their touchdown on a 24-yard drive after a Washington fumble. They failed to take advantage of numerous breaks.

Early in the game they had a first down on the Husky seven-yard line, forged ahead to the three and wound up on the 10.

In the third period, trailing by nine, the Trojans were presented with a giant gift—a first down on the Husky 23 after Washington messed up a field goal try with a soaring center snap that lost 31 yards and the Trojans completed a short pass on the next play.

But the 23 was as far as the Trojans got.

All that's left in the path of the Huskies now are California (next week at Berkeley), UCLA (at the L.A. Coliseum Nov. 16) and Washington State. They'd have to lose two to miss the bowl.

Maybe the real difference in the game Saturday was that Washington's quarterback had a good day and USC's quarterback had a bad one. A sellout crowd of 55,800 and a West Coast television audience watched Husky signal-caller Bill Douglas mix his plays in deceptive fashion.

The Huskies this year have copied the USC offense of last year and Douglas did what Pete Beathard did in '62. He ran the option 11 times and got more mileage out of his 44 yards (32 net) than it seems possible. He passed 14 times and connected eight times for 122 yards.

The Washington star, fullback Junior Coffey, was given the ball only 12 times, compared to 30 last week. He gained 68 yards, compared to 112 last week.

Troy QB Pete Beathard suffered a cracked rib at some unknown juncture during the game and was taken to a hospital immediately following the final gun. His rushing total was minus seven. His passing total was plus 75. His understudy, Craig Fertig, did better. He was minus three and plus 84.

The muddy field (but it didn't rain at all Saturday) kept Willie Brown in check. He had minus one yard on two carries and didn't get a chance to run back any punts.

The game was one quarter plus three minutes old before Washington got its second first down, but the Huskies put together a blocked-punt touchdown in the opening minutes and a record-setting field goal plus a 73-yard march in the second period for a 17-6 intermission lead.

That blocked punt was the thing the Huskies' coach, Jim Owens, was praying for. It came on the fourth scrimmage play of the game. Troy was forced to punt from its 22-yard line but the snapback from substitute center Hudson Houck, playing for injured Larry Sagouspe, to Ernie Jones was high. Koll Hagen broke through to block it and Mike Briggs, another middle lineman caught it on the five while leaping through the air. By the time Briggs landed, he was in the end zone.

One hundred and four seconds had been played.

Troy's shaky start almost led to disaster in the opening minutes. After taking the ensuing kickoff, Troy started upfield. On second down a Beathard pass almost was intercepted by Dave Kopay. It would have been a Husky touchdown if he hadn't dropped it.

On the next half-dozen plays, the Trojans fumbled twice, both by Beathard. Both times the Huskies recovered but each time the ball barely was out of bounds.

Troy moved to the Washington five when Mike Garrett streaked up the middle for 42 yards on a twisting, sidestepping run. But SC couldn't get any further and on fourth down Beathard was thrown for a loss trying to pass.

McKay didn't want any field goals.

But the Huskies did. They wanted all the points they could lay their hands on. They got three points midway through the second period when lineman Jim Norton put his foot into the ball from the 35-yard line. The 45-yard kick easily cleared the crossbar for a school record, which previously was held by George Fleming set in the 1961 Rose Bowl win over Minnesota at 44 yards.

The Trojans got their touchdown in the first minute of the second period. After reserve fullback Eddie King recovered a fumble by Washington's reserve halfback Dick Wetterauer on the 24, reserve QB Fertig took the Trojans

Cal Crushes Bruins, 25-0

By DAVE LEWIS

California's Golden Bears blasted across 18 points in the final 14 minutes and 21 seconds of play Saturday night to complete a 25-0 rout of UCLA in a key AAWU battle and bury the Bruins' longshot hopes of making a run for the Rose Bowl bid in the sod of the Coliseum before 32,711 fans.

The Bears took advantage of a long list of Bruin miscues to carve out their first victory over their "kid brothers" since 1958, and also register their first win over UCLA in the Coliseum since way back in 1949.

It was California's celebrated junior quarterback, Craig Morton, who finally cracked the game wide open in the fourth quarter with a spectacular 70-yard scoring strike to end Dick Williams to make the score 16-0.

Up to then, the Bruins had held Cal's passing wizard to just five completions in 17 attempts. But the "bomb" proved to be a record-breaker for Morton. It was his 11th touchdown pass of the year . . . a new single-season school record.

IT WAS A frustrating setback for the Bruins, who actually entertained Rose Bowl notions going into the contest.

Although 1-5 for the season, they were 1-0 in conference play where it counts, thanks to a victory over Stanford. And it had been hoped that their five losses to powerful intersectional foes, three of which were rated in the top 10 the past week, would serve to give the young UCLA team the experience it needed for a rally down the stretch in AAWU competition.

But they made far too many mistakes against a team primed to turn virtually every error to its advantage.

The first of three costly fumbles by the Bruins—two by Johnny White — led to Cal's first touchdown early in the third period.

White fumbled the ball away on the UCLA 27 at the outset of the second period

22 POINTS IN 2ND HALF

Vikings Drub S.D., 36-14

By KEN PIVERNETZ
LP-T Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO—On the night Homer Williams came close to becoming the greatest scorer in Long Beach City College history, the Vikings showed the class to make a definite threat for the Metropolitan Conference title.

Deadlocked 14-14 at halftime, the Vikings played ball-control football at its best in the final two quarters to win going away, 36-14, over San Diego City College here Saturday night before a crowd of 8,263 at Balboa Stadium.

San Diego was able to run off only 19 plays in the second half as compared to LBCC's 41. Therein was the story of the game as the Vikings won their fourth conference game without a loss.

The Knights had scored twice in the final three minutes of the first half to earn a brief tie, but the final two quarters was LBCC.

It was by far the Vikings' best showing of the year. Bakersfield had earlier won a 35-20 decision over San Diego.

The turning point in the game came with only 1:46 to go in the third quarter when Doug Blanchard signaled for a fair catch on his own three, only to fumble the ball. Charles Williams fell on the ball in the end zone for a Long Beach touchdown. That put the score at 28-14 after Lou Tetley had caught the PAT pass from Jim Dunn.

Dunn had his best night ever in directing the Vikings. The former Wilson High star hit on 10 of 14 for 151 yards.

H. Williams scored eight points, giving him 168 over a two-year period. Dee Andrews holds the school record at 170. Homer wound up with 134 yards on 21 carries while Joe Pearson gained 98 on 21.

• • • •

IN THE END, however, it was Dunn who turned out to be the offensive star. His calling of plays in both halves was the best any LBCC quarterback had looked since Dave Groff three years ago. Touchdown passes were thrown by Dunn to Charles Young for 14 yards and Jack Tucker for seven.

Numerous penalties set the Vikings back in the final two quarters but it didn't seem to hamper them.

H. Williams' TD run came with eight minutes left in the game and was a 30-yard slant off right tackle to end the scoring for the evening.

49ERS ROUT MUSTANGS

By AL LARSON
I-P-T Staff Writer

SAN LUIS OBISPO—Long Beach State College shredded Cal Poly's line with surprising ease in the second half to whip the Mustangs for the first time ever in their own corral, 28-6, here Saturday night.

Leading only 7-6 going into the last stanza, the 49ers exploded for three touchdowns in 15 minutes to wrap up its third win in a row after four losses.

The loss was Cal Poly's fifth straight and the partisan crowd of 3,133 was even more discouraged in that the setback came on the third anniversary of the air tragedy which decimated the Poly team in 1960.

By winning, Long Beach bolted back into the CCAA title picture, at least momentarily. San Diego State whipped Fresno State Saturday night, leaving the Aztecs at 3-1 and the 49ers and Bulldogs, who meet Saturday, each with 2-1 records.

Long Beach caught Cal Poly by surprise. The Mustangs geared their defenses for Jerry Otterson's passing, but the Prospectors stayed on the ground and piled up 253 yards—a season high.

• • • •

THE 49ERS added another 91 through the air as Otterson completed 6 of 12 passes for 94 yards. His 55 season completions is a high-water mark in LBSC history, and his three aerials to Pat Brosnan gave the star end a record 22 for one season.

Dee Andrews enjoyed his biggest night of the year as he gained 114 yards on 12 carries. He entered the game as the fifth leading rusher in the CCAA with a 4.5 average.

Fullback Jim White gained additional respect as he punched out 77 yards on 13 carries—all on power plays up the middle.

Cal Poly opened the scoring when Howard Taylor passed to Wayne West for 10 yards to cap an 88-yard march early in the second period.

Long Beach stormed back with the ensuing kickoff and moved 75 yards in nine plays. Andrews reeled off 67 of that figure on just six attempts and got the clincher by diving

Boxing Not Only Slaughter

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . With all the hue and cry about slaughter in the boxing ring, this might be an appropriate time to repeat statistics on football deaths for the first half of the 1963 season. The mid-season report attributed 11 deaths directly to football injuries, but no figures yet were available on the indirect toll (which usually is about two-thirds the other figure). Eight of the 11 deaths thus far were in high school ranks!

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

. . . Sports deaths are nothing new, but boxing always wins the public wrath poll, although football and auto racing—as two examples—annually claim more lives. The only fair blast at boxing was the one heaped on the Wayne Bethea-Ernie Knox fight a few weeks ago in Baltimore. Knox, you might recall, was found by the coroner to weigh considerably less in death than the actual poundage listed at fight time. In effect, the 150-pound Knox was thrown in against the 210-pound Bethea. This was inexcusable and should be followed up by criminal action against the persons responsible.

. . . I see no reason, however, why boxing should be singled out as a "slaughter" when MORE deaths occur in other sports.

. . . By the way, the Western world outcry against boxing is NOT being echoed in Russia. The Soviets do not see the sport as necessarily a threat to health. Medical and boxing officials in Russia insist that, with the right training and medical control, boxing enhances physical development.

. . . Of five proposals made by the joint USSR Medical-Boxing Committee, one was particularly interesting to this writer—that no boxer should be more than 30 years old. This obviously would end the careers of Archie Moore, Ray Robinson, Bobo Olson and MANY OTHERS who should have been retired some time ago. It's a rule we'd do well to adopt in this country.

. . . While on a health kick, we'd better report the woes of Jordan Olivar. Poor Jordan spent 25 consecutive years of coaching, left Yale, retired to making money at his insurance business in L.A.—and finally came up with his first ulcer! "If I ever should have got an ulcer," wailed Jordan last week, "it was when I coached at Loyola or my first few years at Yale. THOSE were the difficult days."

WHY AREN'T THERE more Negro tennis players? UCLA's Arthur Ashe Jr., first Negro to make the U.S. Davis Cup team, cites two reasons: The notion that tennis is a sissy sport and finances. "I'm sorry that most Negroes avoid tennis because they prefer contact sports and consider it a sissy game," said Ashe. "I would like to get anyone who thinks this way into a tennis game for two hours under the sun and see how long they would last." On finances, Ashe says: "You need money for equipment and travel expenses. Most Negroes can't afford it."

. . . Ashe, who could be America's top ranked male very soon, has this complimentary remark about tennis people: "I have not heard, or been subjected to, a single racial rebuff at any tournament although I am the lone Negro in most of them." A bow from this corner to tennis.

. . . The Angels are going all-out to develop their own players from scratch. They've got youth teams in all sections of Southern California winter play, including three in the Long Beach area alone. Bob Lemon, Rocky Bridges and Tom Morgan either are managing or trouble-shooting the clubs. By the way, it's going to be a long summer without either Lemon or Bridges around. Lem will be enjoying the Hawaii breezes as a PCL manager (unless he falls heir to Belinsky), while Rocky will boss at San Jose. Morgan's new job is to "educate" the Angels' minor league pitchers.

THE REMARKABLE Oakland Raider coach, Al Davis, thinks the best young runner in pro football today is San Diego's Keith Lincoln. "You hear talk about the Bears' Ronnie Bull being the coming young runner, but he can't compare with Lincoln in any department," claims Davis. "Lincoln is a superior runner, better blocker and better pass receiver. And that's no bull." (Same old ex-Trojan coach Davis.)

. . . By the way, who reported that the Chargers want to leave San Diego? Since they arrived in the border city in the spring of '61, Charger players have fathered 28 babies. I think they like the town.

. . . Sid Gillman thinks he has an "in" with a college football player who is certain to be the Heisman Trophy winner either this year or next. Sid's youngest daughter, Terry, who now attends Cal, went to Cincinnati grammar school with a sailor—Navy quarterback Roger Staubach. "I still hope Roger considers me a father," sighed Sid a few weeks ago. Naturally, Sid's fatherly advice would be to sign with the Chargers.

. . . Bud Adams, the eccentric Houston Oiler coach who once bought a graveyard as a present to lure Billy Cannon into his fold, is on a new kick—buying ranches. He's up to six now, with the latest holding in California!

BEAVER FINDS A HOLE

Oregon State's Booker M. Washington finds opening in Stanford line and picks up five yards for first down. Beavers won, 10-7.

Tribe Fumbles Help Beavers

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Senior specialist Steve Clark's first-period field goal stood up for a 10-7 Oregon State football victory over fumbling Stanford Saturday.

Clark's 21-yard kick opened the scoring and proved decisive as Stanford was unable to hold onto the ball in the second half.

A 66-yard punt return by sophomore halfback Craig Ritchey accounted for the Indians' touchdown. It came on the last play of the opening period and put his team ahead 7-3.

But the Beavers came back to forge ahead to stay on quarterback Gordon Queen's 2-yard second-period touchdown pass to end Len Frketich.

• • • •

THE PASS climaxed a 64-yard Oregon State drive that was helped along when Stanford was penalized 15 yards for tripping end Vern Burke.

The Beavers almost had another touchdown near the end of the first half. Queen fired a pass to halfback Leroy Whittle, who went out of bounds on the 1-yard line with four seconds left. But the Indians' line held on the next play.

Stanford, held to only three first downs in the first half, began moving the ball on the ground in the third period. But fumbles killed the Indians.

• • • •

STANFORD fumbled three times in Oregon State territory in the third period and the Beavers recovered all of them. Two of them were gobbled up by halfback Danny Sieg, a one-time Medford, Ore., high school teammate of the Indians' Dick Ragsdale.

It was Oregon State's fifth victory against two defeats.

SKATE INTO FOURTH

Blades Clip Canucks, 4-3

By RICH ROBERTS

The sport may be foreign to the sunny climes of Southern California, but it wasn't a day to be particular.

Ice hockey's Blades produced the Southland's only major sports win of the day, 4-3, over the Vancouver Canucks at the L.A. Sports Arena.

And with any less effort, it could have been a mighty black Saturday. The Blades were never behind but had to beat off their Canadian rivals all the way to climb into a tie for fourth place in the Western Hockey League with Vancouver and Portland, 4-2, winner over Seattle.

The crowd was below Blade par—5,406—what with UCLA football fans watching their team gas out only a puck's throw away at the Coliseum. USC's fans, it is assumed, were still at home staring unbelievably at their television sets.

But the sparse turnout was treated to a splendid performance with the usual extra-curricular antics thrown in. The teams collected 13 penalties, Blade Norm Johnson collected three stitches in the back of his head from a skate wound and a middle-aged lady spectator collected a nasty bump on her forehead when the puck sailed into the seats.

• • • •

BLADES' left-winger Marc Boileau was named "star of the game," but the fans went away equally impressed with the play of defense man Jack Bownass, the former coach who turned into a red-headed terror Saturday night.

Bownass several times stole the puck outright from the Canucks' advancing line or otherwise messed up the assault, especially in the final period when the Blades kept puck-pressure on Vancouver's goal.

"This was a real club effort," coach Alf Pike said. "We wanted this one badly."

• • • •

NOBODY TALLIED more than one goal, but the shot of the night gave the Blades their initial lead at 5:52 of the first period. It came only three seconds after a Vancouver penalty when Bob Solinger took the faceoff at the blue line and shot it back to the net where Johnson's stick deflected it past goalie Marcel Paille. Johnson led all scorers with that goal and two assists.

The Blades led by a goal after each period and wrapped it up at 4-2 with 2:19 to play when Paille fell forward to block Johnson's shot and the puck dropped behind him. All Willie O'Ree had to do was come along and flick it in.

The Blades' next home game will be Tuesday night against Portland.

First period—1. Los Angeles, Johnson-Solinger, 5:52. 2. Vancouver, Duke-Maloney and Hutchinson, 11:05. 3. Los Angeles, LaBine-Johnson, 11:22. Penalties—Hunt (V) 3:49; Kabel (V) 6:58; Boileau (LA) 9:39; Hunt (V) 12:36; Burega (LA) 14:37, McCallum (V) 19:09.

Second period — 4. Los Angeles, White-Sedard, Hodgson, 10:33. 5. Vancouver, Baird-Matthews, Kabel, 13:14. Penalties—Barnett (LA) 7:24; McCusker (V) Minor and major 9:27; LaBine (LA) 12:00; Hunt (V) 14:14, Burega (LA) 19:33.

Third period—6. Maxwell — Johnson, O'Ree, 17:31. 7. Vancouver — McCullen — Maloney and Boone 18:19. Penalties—Ross (V) 4:39.

LARRY WOMACK converted and Long Beach led 7-6 with 10:38 left in the half. The 49ers never trailed again.

Poly drove to the five, but Rex Burrell picked off Fred Richelieu's pass on the one and sped 99 yards for an apparent touchdown. A clipping nullified the TD, however.

Two costly fumbles short-circuited 49er drives in the third period. One was stymied on the Cal Poly five and the other on the Mustang 29.

But the last quarter was another story as Wayne Mickaelian started the 49ers moving by slashing nine yards for one score and minutes later Chuck Anderson romped 70 yards for a TD on a pass interception.

Long Beach added an insurance score when Otterson combined with Brosnan on a 57-yard aerial bomb with 47 seconds left.

Warriors Topple Crippled Lakers With Early Spurt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Warriors, behind Wilt Chamberlain's 55 points, moved into second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association Saturday night by defeating the Los Angeles Lakers 118-99.

The Warriors never trailed after the first few minutes of the opening period and at one time midway in the second they had a 25-point advantage.

Los Angeles was completely bottled up in the second period and could only get four points in the first six minutes.

Rudy LaRusso, the Lakers' strong rebounder and defenseman who was hurt in the Cincinnati Royals game Friday night, did not suit up for the game. Elgin Baylor left early in the first half when he was bothered by a bad knee, but returned and wound up with 23 points.

• • • •

JERRY WEST, who got off to a slow start in the first half, was high point man for the Lakers with 33.

The Lakers charged back in the final period and closed the gap to three points with five minutes remaining. But the Warriors caught fire again and ran away to the final whistle.

Rough Time but Cougars Edge Idaho

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI)—Sophomore halfback Willie Gaskins, whose early-season play earned him the nickname of "Bumbling Billie," took a kickoff on his own eight-yard line and ran it back for a touchdown Saturday to give Washington State University a 14-10 win over Idaho.

Whatever else Gaskins had done this year, he was a hero Saturday as he pulled out the come-from-behind win over the Vandals, who had given WSU its first scare since 1958 in a game the Cougars annually figure to win handily.

Idaho was leading 10-7 in the fourth period after Mike Mayne's 21-yard field goal when Gaskins picked up the ball on his eight, cleared through the Vandals at midfield and outran his pursuers to the goalline.

The win was the 49th for WSU in the rivalry which dates back to a rugby match in 1893.

Ivo Captures Drag Honors Before 6,000

Tommy Ivo made good his Lions Drag Strip homecoming Saturday, defeating Don Purdomme for top eliminator honors in a dramatic final duel before 6,000.

A new class C fuel roadster record was set by Cooley-Shipley of Riverside at 156 mph — 9.70 elapsed time.

Ivo recorded an elapsed time of 8.27 to edge Purdomme's 8.28. Ivo also posted the evening's fastest time — a 190.26 mph dash.

SAN JOSE STATE HITS EARLY, STUNS DUCKS

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Three-touchdown underdog San Jose State scored twice in the first period and made it hold up for a stunning 13-7 victory over Oregon Saturday.

The Spartans scored in the opening period on a 91-yard punt return by halfback Jerry Collette and on a 75-yard pass interception runback by halfback Dennis Parker. Parker intercepted a pass thrown by quarterback Jack Sovereign.

It was San Jose State's first win in an eight-game rivalry with the Ducks.

Oregon collected its touchdown in the third period on a 3-yard run by halfback Dennis Keller. The home team marched 86 yards in eight plays for its score.

San Jose State, which upset Washington State earlier this [illegible], recorded its third win in seven decisions.

Oregon dropped its third decision against four wins. The Ducks played without all-America halfback Mel Renfro.

Bears Cash In on Bruin Mistakes

and as the Bruins set their defense for a Morton pass, the Bear quarterback sent his fullback, Rudy Carvajal, roaring up the middle on a draw play for the 27 yards and the TD. Tom Blanchfield's kick made it 7-0.

And that's how things stood until the fourth quarter.

The Bruins came fighting back in the final moments of the half with two scoring threats, but one died when Larry Zeno fumbled the snap from center on a 4th-and-2 play from the 8-yard line, and the other was snuffed out when linebacker Jim Phillips intercepted Zeno's 10-yard pass on the goal line just seconds before the intermission.

Neither side did much in the third period until White again fumbled the ball away, this time with a minute and a half left in the stanza.

• • • • •

HALFBACK Loren Hawley recovered on the Bruin 44, then took a 29-yard pass from Morton on the 15 as the period drew to a close.

The Bears moved to the 10 on the first play of the fourth quarter, then sent Blanchfield back to the 17 to boot a field goal that boosted their lead to 10-0 after just 39 seconds of the final period.

Five minutes later Morton tossed his big bomb to Williams . . . and it was 16-0. A minute later, the score was upped to 18-0 when guard Bruce McDonald trapped Carl Jones in the end zone as the Bruin QB was trying to get off a desperation pass.

After the "free kick" by the Bruins from the 20, the Bears put the ball in play at midfield and drove 50 yards in 15 plays for their final touchdown as time ran out. Jim Hunt, sophomore understudy to Morton, boomed inside end on a "keeper" from two yards out for the score with just 1:19 left in the game.

A dejected Bill Barnes said "The story of the game is that we made 10,000 mistakes."

The Bruin mentor said "for us to play a good game, we have to be emotionally ready, and I guess we were just down tonight. They outblocked and out-tackled us in the second half. Just plain out-hit us. And, of course, those fumbles killed us."

Winning coach Marv Levy said "This game was very important to us and I was proud that the boys put out their greatest team effort of any club in the four years I've been at California.

"I wasn't surprised at the way we dominated the second half. We've outscored all combined opponents in the second half this year.

"Meanwhile, UCLA has played a succession of very rough teams. That beats you down over a period of time, so if they had a letdown, I think it was only natural, but they still showed us a good effort."

TARKENTON

By JERRY WYNN

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS—If you see a white streak jitterbugging across your television screen this afternoon, do not call a repairman.

It will be Fran Tarkenton, the nimble-footed quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings, playing his patented game of Scramble Football with a half dozen Rams in befuddled pursuit. If Red Grange was called the Galloping Ghost, then call Tarkenton the Scrambling Spook.

The extremely personable, intelligent son of an Athens, Ga., minister, Tarkenton has become one of the most feared and respected quarterbacks in the National Football League largely because of his ability to pass and run successfully under the duress of dodging enemy monsters.

Cliff Livingston of the Rams says you have a sixth sense, Fran. What is it?

"I think certain players have a feel for dodging. Jon Arnett is a fine example. I have a big advantage because the pass rushers are so much bigger than me. It's like playing tag when I was a kid, and I was always pretty good at it."

Is a so-called scramble the result of a breakdown of a play?

"Most of the time, yes. I don't like to scramble. I do it out of necessity. But sometimes you have to do it. In our game against the Rams on the Coast two weeks ago, Norm (coach Van Brocklin) told me I'd have to scramble to get our offense going. You can call that planned desperation. And the way I was rushed by the Rams, Norm said he was thinking about putting in an audible for the scrambling play. It was 'help!' "

Do your receivers have alternate patterns to run in case you are forced to scramble?

"Yes. When the receivers see me go into a scramble, they usually will stop, come back and keep their eyes on me. Jerry Reichow, our right end, does this extremely well. He's the one who caught that touchdown pass in Los Angeles on that long scramble."

What has it meant to you to have a great quarterback (Van Brocklin) as your coach?

"It's meant everything. He has given me a cram course in a couple of years what he learned in 9 or 10 years. He's taught me defenses, disciplined my thinking and given me confidence. I knew he had a great arm as a player, but he must also have been smarter than the others."

How is Ron VanderKelen progressing?

"Real well. I was skeptical before the boy went to camp. You know he had the one-year wonder tag. But now I know he has a great future ahead in pro ball. He has a good arm, good sense and intestinal fortitude. He is going to be great."

When you were a youngster, did you have an idol among quarterbacks?

"Yes, I lived in Washington, D.C. until I was 12 and spent every Sunday listening to the Redskin games. I thought Sammy Baugh was the greatest man alive."

Who do you consider the greatest quarterback playing today?

"Coach has taught me a standard on how to rate opponents, and that is how many games they win. On that basis, you have to pick Starr and Tittle. I think Starr does well for the Packers but Tittle is the greatest. He gets so much out of the Giant offense and he is a great leader. What else is there?"

What has been the greatest thrill of your career?

"Two weeks before my first league game as a pro, the Bears beat us, 37-7, in an exhibition. In the league opener, we beat the Bears, 37-14. I was very fortunate. I threw four touchdown passes and ran for another. It wasn't the size of the score that thrilled me as much as the feeling that I was good enough to play in this league. That had always been my ambition."

You have had some of your greatest days against the Rams. Will you be happy to see them again today?

"The Rams have a terrific defensive line. It may be the best in our division. The way they got to me two weeks ago, I don't know why I should be happy to see them again. Especially that Pardee. He's too much."

That is also the description the Rams have for Fran Tarkenton. Too much.

Rams Shoot for 3rd in Row

By JERRY WYNN

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS—Are the Rams really on the comback trail?

That is the big question today when the Rams tangle with the Minnesota Vikings at Metropolitan Stadium in a battle for fifth place in the National Football League.

The game will be televised by KNXT (2) at 11:30.

Coming off successive victories over the Vikings (27-24) and the San Francisco 49ers (28-21), the Rams approach this first lap of a three-game trip in peak mental condition. There is a feeling among the players, unspoken but unshakable, that at long last they have found the formula for winning football games.

The Rams have not won three games in a row since 1958 and a victory over the always-dangerous Vikings and their Ram-tormenting quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, would be a firm indication of better things to come.

But Minnesota has a parcel of justifying of its own. Considered the surprise team after a 4-1 exhibition record and an impressive 2-1 league getaway, the rowdy ragamuffins of Norm Van Brocklin have dropped their last four games in succession.

Channel 2, 11:30

So doesn't it figure that in this weekly mayhem of pro football, the team which has lost four in a row would be favored by 6 points over the team which has won two in a row? Or does it?

Or maybe the oddsmaker has heard that Van Brocklin has approached this game with a crusading zeal in an effort to stop his club's skid and defeat his arch-enemy, the Rams. After their loss to Detroit last Sunday, the Dutch Master called a staff meeting on the plane ride home . . . believed to be an NFL first in preparation for a new opponent.

• • • •

THE NATIVES of the Twin Cities are becoming restless over the dwindling success of the Vikings and a crowd of only 29,000 is expected in the 41,000-seat stadium. Commented one cab-driver on Nicollet Ave.

"It's a shame. Just when the people were really getting excited about the team, they forget how to win."

For Harland Svare, Roman Gabriel and the Rams, the return to the Twin Cities brings back the happy memory of last year's encounter when Gabriel made his debut as a starting quarterback and led the team to a 24-24 tie.

They were thrilled with a tie then but won't settle for it today.

76,660 See Cadets Tumble Falcons in Last 2 Minutes

Waldrop Gets Drop on Enemy

CHICAGO (AP)—Ken Waldrop returned a punt 78 yards and set up one touchdown, then smashed 17 yards for the winning score with a 1½ minutes left, giving Army a 14-10 victory over the Air Force Saturday before a Soldier Field crowd of 76,660.

The senior halfback pounded across from the one-yard line in the third quarter, putting the Cadets ahead 7-3, after returning a punt of 78 yards.

Then, after Terry Issacson had directed a 70-yard touchdown march in the fourth quarter for the Air Force, Waldrop led the Cadets in a 65-yard do-or-die drive for the stirring triumph.

• • • •

UNTIL THE second half explosion by Waldrop, Army had spent a frustrating first half, in which the Air Force took a 3-0 lead although held to only 43 yards gained, all on the ground.

Army staged three powerful drives in the first half but failed to score despite rolling up 202 yards, 157 on the ground.

Except for Waldrop's long punt return, Air Force contained the Army attack in the second half until the final winning drive.

Army's rushing line limited the Air Force to only 73 yards on the ground.

Never Been Prouder, Says Jubilant Owens

By JEROME HALL
I. P-T Staff Writer

SEATTLE — "I've never been prouder of any team," said jubilant Jim Owens after his Huskies conquored USC Saturday. "We had a little extra oomph in this one."

The upset victory by the Washington Huskies culminated a year-long preparation for revenge of that 14-0 beating absorbed last year in the L.A. Coliseum—the only loss of the 1962 season.

"We won't let down" vowed the tall Texan, who has brought his team along with four wins in a row after opening the season with three defeats. It was only the second win for Owens over USC in seven tries.

• • • •

BOTH OWENS and Trojan coach John McKay said the muddy field was not a factor in the outcome.

"This makes me a great prophet but a poor coach," said McKay in the morgue-like Trojan dressing room. McKay, writing for a national magazine early this season, tabbed the Huskies for the Rose Bowl.

"This cleared up the Rose Bowl picture," he added.

• • • •

McKAY REVEALED that quarterback Pete Beathard, who was hampered in practice all week by an ankle twist, suffered a cracked rib during the game and was treated at Washington University hospital. "We don't know when it happened and I don't know how long he'll be out."

McKay said, "I thought we would come back with two or three touchdowns. But Washington always is tough on defense. This game shows that statistics don't mean anything. They got 10 points on only one first down.

"It's been a long time since we've had a blocked punt. I can't even remember the last one."

A Washington official revealed that the team again will train at Long Beach—"IF". But he begged off from further discussion of the Rose Bowl.

The Washington bandmaster wasn't so careful, however. Long after the game was over and after the crowd was gone, the band still was marching around the field playing "California Here We Come."

STAUBACH SETS RECORD

Middies Humble Irish, 35-14

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Quarterback Roger Staubach set a Navy season total offense record and, with an Irishman named Pat Donnelly, led the Middies to their biggest football tally over Notre Dame Saturday, 35-14.

When the superb Staubach hit fullback Donnelly with a 30-yard pass in the third period, he broke the Navy total offense mark of 1,348 yards set by George Welsh in 1955.

Statistics	Notre Dame	Navy
First downs	11	16
Rushing yardage	109	191
Passing yardage	28	97
Passes attempted	3-18	9-15
Passes intercepted by	0	2
Punts	6-34	5-30
Fumbles lost	0	3
Yards penalized	73	46

Four plays later, Staubach shot an eight-yard scoring pass to Donnelly, breaking a 7-7 deadlock and igniting a 21-point third period rally.

• • • •

THE BIGGEST previous Navy score in 37 meetings with the Irish was a 33-7 victory in 1956.

Staubach had a poor afternoon of a brilliant season, but still produced nine of 15 pass hits for 91 yards and two touchdowns and 23 yards rushing on 19 carries for a 114 total.

This gave the junior from Cincinnati a season total offense total of 1,420 yards in Navy's parade to a 6-1 record.

Donnelly, 200-pound junior from Maumee, Ohio, rolled up 127 of Navy's 191 rushing yardage on 14 carries. Donnelly outrushed the entire Irish ball-carrying corps, which netted only 109 yards.

Donnelly scored Navy's fifth touchdown with a 41-yard scamper early in the fourth period. It was Donnelly, too, who set up Navy's touchdown for a 21-7 lead still in the third period.

Pitt Pelts Orange, 35-27

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Flashy quarterback Fred Mazurek, running for two touchdowns and passing for another, brilliantly engineered a determined Pitt football team to a 35-27 come-from-behind victory over Syracuse Saturday.

Trailing 21-6 at halftime, the aroused 10th-ranked Panthers marched for three touchdowns in the third quarter with Mazurek at the helm.

Mazurek scored on a two-yard run in the first quarter and on an electrifying 41-yard dash in the third period while picking up 119 yards on 22 carries and completing 13 of 21 passes for 136 yards.

Taking the second half kickoff, Pitt proceeded to march easily through and over the Orange, who had a four-game winning streak halted. Mazurek raced 41 yards for the first touchdown.

The next time the Panthers got the ball they drove 85 yards with Mazurek passing for 45 of them.

Spartans Shock Badgers, 30-13

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State, despite sidelining injuries to halfback Sherman Lewis and quarterback Steve Juday, dazzled sixth-ranked Wisconsin offensively and defensively Saturday for a 30-13 win that kept the Spartans tied for first place in the Big Ten.

Lewis, who scored the Spartans' first touchdown on an 87-yard pass from Juday, missed the last 15 minutes because of a minor leg injury. Juday may be lost for the rest of the year because of a shoulder separation.

The Spartans, after getting an early lead, had to come from behind to win. Wisconsin went in front 7-6 in the first period when Lou Holland caught a four-yard pass from Harold Brandt and Dave Fronek added the point.

MICHIGAN STATE went ahead to stay when Dick Proebstle, Juday's replacement, scored from the two to cap a 30-yard second period drive. Fullback Roger Lopes, diving over from the three in the third period, got the clincher.

Both the second and third touchdowns were set up by Spartan defensive stands that had pushed the Badgers deep into their own territory.

Reserve Ron Rubick set up an insurance tally with another sudden strike, zig-zagging 57 yards through the Badgers to the Wisconsin 3. Lopes scored this time from the 2 and Earl Lattimer climaxed the Spartan attack with a 44-yard field goal.

Holland, the Big Ten scoring leader in 1962, also got Wisconsin's second touchdown on a 5-yard run.

• • • •

THE BADGERS who came into the game as the Big Ten offensive leaders, got only 29 yards rushing against MSU. The Spartans, whose 3-0-1 conference record ties them with Ohio State and Illinois for the Big Ten lead, rushed almost at will, piling up 273 yards on the ground.

UPSET WIN FOR ARIZONA

TUCSON (UPI) — Defensive-minded Arizona stunned favored Wyoming with a fourth-quarter safety and a 69-yard kickoff return for a 15-7 win Saturday.

Arizona's safety came the first play after it drove to the Wyoming 1-foot line and yielded the ball.

On the ensuing kickoff, halfback Floyd Hudlow raced 62 yards to paydirt. He also had Arizona's first touchdown.

Illini in 1st Place Tie, 41-21

CHAMPAIGN (UPI) — Illinois, ranked second in the nation, turned sophomore fullback Jim Grabowski loose for three touchdowns Saturday in a 41-21 lashing of Purdue, which kept the Illini in a tie for the Big Ten lead.

It was the third victory against a tie in Big Ten play for the Illini, who rolled up a three touchdown lead in the first 20 minutes with a slashing ground attack.

Grabowski led a bevy of bruising Illinois backs, scoring touchdowns on runs of 6, 18 and 1 yards. It was the most points scored by an Illinois team since its 41-20 victory over Ohio State a decade ago. And it was the most points scored against Purdue, now 2-2 in the Big Ten, since its 49-6 shellacking by Notre Dame in 1946.

ILLINOIS rolled up 325 yards rushing while Purdue could muster just 48 ground yards. Passing yardage was heavily in the Boilermaker's favor, 206-61.

Grabowski led the Illini with 97 yards in 18 rushes. Substitute quarterback Fred Custardo set up one touchdown with a 55 yard run, the longest play of the game, and substitute fullback Al Wheatland added 54 yards in 12 tries.

Illinois scored on drives of 45, 52, 52, 64 and 83 yards. The other Illini scores were racked up by Wheatland, Jim Warren and Ron Acks.

Ron DiGravio, Purdue's polished quarterback, connected on 14 of 27 passes for 180 yards and one touchdown. But he also fumbled twice and had one intercepted.

• • • •

PURDUE scored all its touchdowns on breaks. The first two followed fumble recoveries in the second period as the Boilermakers cut the halftime margin to 21-13. Their final tally came in the fourth period after a blocked Jim Plankenhorn field goal.

Two of Illinois' touchdowns also followed fumble recoveries.

BEST WIN SINCE '46

Hustlin' Hoosiers Rip Gophers, 24-6

By JERRY WYNN
I-PT Staff Writer

MINNEAPOLIS — Indiana's hustling Hoosiers pulled a dilly of an upset in the little game in the Big 10 Saturday.

Paced by sophomore wingback Don Dilly and powerhouse fullback Tom Nowatzke, the nine-point underdogs from Indiana jolted once-mighty Minnesota, 24-6, before 51,657 at Memorial Stadium.

There were no roses at stake, not even dandelions . . . just a grudge duel between former Tennessee roommates, Indiana coach Phil Dickens and Minnesota coach Murray Warmath. It was the Hoosiers' most decisive victory over the Gophers since 1946.

• • • •

DILLY TALLIED two touchdowns and Nowatzke cruised through the big Minnesota line for 138 yards in 24 carries and collected six points on three conversion kicks and a 42-yard field goal.

"He's a great one," Terry Baker of the Rams praised Nowatzke, a 6-3, 220-pound junior from Michigan City, Ind. "I think he has definite pro potential and will be a headache for us next week."

The "us" for Baker is Oregon State, which plays Indiana Saturday. Terry helped scout the Hoosiers for his alma mater.

Ram coach Harland Svare also attended the game in a scouting role. His assignment was Carl Eller, Minnesota's 6-5, 245-pound senior tackle who is rated a cinch first-round draft choice this year. But Indiana wisely guided most of its plays away from Eller, and he contributed only seven tackles.

• • • •

DILLY'S FIRST touchdown run was from five yards and gave Indiana a 7-0 halftime lead. His second was a 29-yarder which put the Hoosiers into a cozy 21-6 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Another standout for the Cream and Crimson was defensive back Bruce Ellwanger. Minnesota had no Tarkentons on its side Saturday. That local pestilence attacks today.

Wolverines Deflate Cats' Hopes, 27-6

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan exploded for three second-half touchdowns and scored a lopsided 27-6 Big Ten football victory over Northwestern Saturday.

Bob Timberlake passed for three Michigan touchdowns and end John Henderson got the other after intercepting a Tom Myers pass on the Northwestern 23.

The inspired Wolverines, who had not won since an opening victory over Southern Methodist, completely dominated play and allowed the Wildcats to pass the mid-field stripe only once in the second half. Northwestern posed only two serious threats outside its lone scoring drive in the fading seconds against Wolverine reserves.

N. CAROLINA PASTES GA.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) —Quarterback Junior Edge scored two touchdowns and passed for another as North Carolina shocked Georgia and ace passer Larry Rakestraw, 28-7, before a chilled crowd of 31,000 Saturday.

Edge turned in perhaps the greatest game of his career as he riddled Georgia's defense with passes. He scored one touchdown from the Georgia 11, went over from the 8 for another and fired a 15-yard scoring pass to halfback Ronnie Jackson.

Lothridge in Dazzling Tech Display

ATLANTA (UPI)—Georgia Tech's Billy Lothridge set a national field goal record Saturday in a dazzling triple-threat performance that led the Yellow Jackets to a 30-6 homecoming victory over Duke.

The Tech senior quarterback kicked field goals of 31, 35 and 33 yards to raise his collegiate career total to 19—two more than the previous record set by Auburn's Ed Dyas from 1958 to 1960.

But place-kicking was just one of Lothridge's many talents. He threw two touchdown passes, kicked three extra points, turned in numerous long runs and punted for an average of 46 yards.

Auburn Has No Trouble With Gators

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Jimmy Sidle put on a dazzling exhibition of ball handling and Woody Woodall equalled an Auburn field goal record Saturday in leading the fifth-ranked Tigers to a 19-0 football victory over Florida.

A homecoming crowd of 47,000, largest in Auburn's history, howled with glee as Sidle, one of the nation's leading rushers, put the undefeated, untied Tigers deep into Gator territory time and again.

It was the running and passing of the 21-year-old junior quarterback which put the ball close enough for Woodall to kick two field goals and raise his collegiate total to 17. That equaled the school record established in 1961 by Ed Dyas.

EDGE IOWA, 7-3

Ace in Hole Nets Bucks Jackpot

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Sophomore Tom Barrington, who came out of the hospital only two days ago, spearheaded a third period touchdown drive Saturday that gave Ohio State a 7-3 Big Ten victory over Iowa.

Barrington, regarded as Ohio State's most promising sophomore until sidelined by an industrial accident last summer that almost took his life, was Ohio State coach Woody Hayes' ace in the hole for the second consecutive week.

Idled by an attack of the flu until Thursday, Barrington switched from quarterback to halfback late in the third quarter to pick up 44 of 74 yards in a drive that ended in the game's only touchdown before a crowd of 83,163.

• • • •

WITH OHIO State held to only one first down and but 58 yards rushing through the first half, Barrington seemed to give the Buckeyes the lift they needed after Iowa had gone ahead on a field goal early in the third period.

It was a dull battle of the defenses until Iowa took the second half kickoff and drove to the Ohio State 10 in eight plays. Jay Roberts kicked a 34-yard field goal into a tricky wind to put the underdog Hawkeyes into a 3-0 lead.

It looked as if that field goal might hold up until Barrington got the Buckeye offense moving.

The 200-pound quarterback-halfback ripped off gains of 12, 6, 17 and 12 yards in the winning drive, climaxed by a three-yard smash over center by fullback Matt Snell. Big Ten recordholder Dick Van Raaphorst kicked the extra point to make it 7-3.

Alabama Given Scare by Miss. State, 20-19

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Seventh-ranked Alabama had to come from behind with a touchdown in the final quarter to defeat Mississippi State 20-19 Saturday.

With 11 minutes remaining, quarterback Joe Namath got 20 yards through the middle and tossed to end Charlie Stephens for 19 more, putting the ball on the 1. Namath went through the middle for the score and Tim Davis converted.

Namath completed 10 of 18 passes for 142 yards and a score. His deceptive faking to halfbacks Benny Nelson and Ray Ogden and fullbacks Mike Fracchia and Eddie Versprille added to State's confusion.

The sterling performances of quarterbacks Sonny Fisher and Don Edwards and halfbacks Larry Swearengen and Don Bland put the homecoming invaders ahead 12-10 at halftime.

Marciano Defends Liston

HITTIN' THE HIGH SPOTS: They're supposed to announce early this week the date and site of the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay bout.

Indications are that it will be held in mid-February with about a half-dozen cities still in the running for hosting what figures to be the richest fight in the history of boxing.

Miami Beach and Las Vegas are considered by insiders to be the favorites to land the bout.

Meanwhile, ex-heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano raised more than a few eyebrows in boxing circles when he came out in an article in Sport and stated that Liston, popularly regarded as the ring's arch villain, is actually good for the sport.

ROCKY MARCIANO
Villain Doesn't Exist

Marciano accused the press of seizing every opportunity "to paint Liston as the meanest man in America since John Dillinger."

Rocky admits that Sonny has provoked much of his bad press, but objects to "manufactured" stories about Liston's alleged rudeness and irresponsibility.

"As far as I'm concerned, these people are pointing to a villain who doesn't exist when they shake their finger at Liston."

Either Rocky is very naive or his judgment was swayed by the money he received for the article.

The press has been very good to Liston over all. If they ever cut loose and really leveled about the champion—well, what little popularity he does enjoy would completely disappear.

His advisors and handlers live in constant fear of still more nasty scandals.

IT COSTS the AVERAGE National Football League team in the neighborhood of $1,200,000 a year to operate. And it costs around $400,000 to field a major college grid team—"directly and indirectly."

Thus, attendance is always a big factor and the crowds in the Coliseum so far this season, especially for the Ram and UCLA games, have been most disappointing.

Speaking of attendance reminds us of Victor Borge's "hobby." He says that some people like to count heads, but he prefers to count feet.

"Twenty heads, 20 people," he points out. "Forty feet, 20 people. Same thing.

"However, recently I counted seven feet. I figured there must have been somewhere between three and four people.

"That's why I count feet. You can't do that with heads!"

A YEAR AGO, ROGER KOCHMAN of Penn State was regarded by pro scouts as a "can't miss" prospect. Many, in fact, thought he could become one of the all-time great backs.

The NFL was quite shaken when Kochman decided to cast his lot with the Buffalo Bills of the rival AFL.

But Kochman will never play football again, according to doctors following a knee injury suffered against Houston two weeks ago.

It finally was revealed that a team of doctors worked over three hours to ward off amputation of his leg above the injured knee.

ALABAMA'S CLOSE CALL AGAINST Mississippi State Saturday recalls the time earlier this season when Bear Bryant was so displeased with the Tide's showing against weak Vanderbilt that he called a squad meeting for the following Monday morning at 6:30.

He told newspapermen he was trying to get across to his athletes that football was a contact game.

But they must have slept through his lecture that early in the morning, because six days later Alabama was upset by Florida. It was only the Tide's second defeat in the last 36 games.

Texas Squeaks Past SMU to Remain Unbeaten, 17-12

TEXAS FORD IN SPILL
Tommy Ford of Texas is spilled by SMU fullback Earl Beckett (on ground) for short yardage in first quarter Saturday.

Shoeless Kicker Decider

DALLAS (UPI) — Tommy (Thunderbird) Ford stampeded top-ranked Texas 76 yards with the opening kickoff — the sixth straight game the Longhorns have scored at the first opportunity—and shoeless Tony Crosby's kicking kept Texas unbeaten in a tight 17-12 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Crosby's 34-yard field goal in the final second of the first half and his two conversion kicks provided the difference for the third consecutive Saturday as Texas was forced to desperate defensive measures to stave off a rallying SMU passing flurry in the final quarter.

The victory kept alive Texas' hopes of a successful defense of its Southwest Conference crown and set up a showdown next Saturday at Austin against lead-sharing Baylor.

FORD, THE GAME'S leading ground gainer with 113 yards in 13 carries, got 75 yards of it in the initial Texas surge, including a 50-yard scamper on the game's first play from scrimmage. Wingback Phil Harris went on to cap that drive with a three-yard touchdown run, but Ford got his chance to score in the second quarter from two yards out when Texas recovered an SMU fumble on the Mustang six.

clock enabled San Diego to tie the game at halftime.

DICK McCLENDON scored the first Knight touchdown only three minutes earlier on a 14-yard pass from Casey, who first faked a jump pass before hitting McClendon.

Long Beach scored the second time it had the ball after McClendon's attempted quick-kick on third down traveled only 13 yards and put LBCC in business on the San Diego 25.

A Dunn-to-Frank Mazzotta pass gained 11 yards, Joe Pearson went to the seven and then Homer Williams scored on a slant off right tackle. Homer also ran the PAT and it was 8-0.

The victory upped Long Beach's season record to 4-1 while San Diego is now 3-3. The Vikings travel to El Camino next Saturday night. The Warriors were beaten by Bakersfield, 27-6, Saturday night.

35-0 ROUT

Sooner Thunder Rocks Colorado

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma used a thundering ground game to smash inept Colorado Saturday, 35-0, before 50,000 delighted homecoming fans.

The eighth-ranked Sooners pounded out 486 yards, 382 of it on the ground, and picked up 29 first downs in the rout. Colorado, held to 123 yards overall, got across the midfield stripe only three times. The Buffs' closest drive reached the Oklahoma 19-yard line where a drive ended just before the final gun.

Fumbles halted three Oklahoma drives and kept the score from going even higher.

Slender Jackie Cowan scored twice on a pair of 16-yard runs and gained 121 yards in 10 carries to spark a well-balanced Oklahoma attack. Lance Rentzel raced six yards for the Sooners' first score.

Tigers' 2-Point Attempt Fails as Huskers Win

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri University's two-point conversion attempt in the fourth period failed Saturday and the Nebraska Cornhuskers salvaged a 13-12 Big Eight Conference football victory.

Before a record crowd of 50,500 paid homecoming fans Nebraska marched 76 yards in 11 plays to open the scoring.

Halfback Ken Boston recovered a fumble in the end zone on the first play of the second period for Missouri's initial touchdown.

Nebraska scored first in the final quarter, then Missouri with a chance to win on the two-point attempt.

Player Wins by 7

MELBOURNE (UPI)—Gary Player, unimpeded by top-flight American competition, shot a final round 68 Saturday to win the Australian open golf championship by seven strokes with a 278.

McKINLEY, RALSTON SWEEP INDIA ACES

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston scored crushing straight-set victories in the opening singles Saturday which sent the United States into a 2-0 lead over India in the Davis Cup interzone tennis finals.

First, McKinley, the bounding, rocket-hitting Wimbledon champion, blasted Premjit Lall off the court 6-4, 6-3, 6-0. Then Ralston, resorting to trick drop shots and lobs, completely confused India's world-ranking ace, Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-4, 6-1, 13-11.

Now the Americans need only to win today's doubles match to clinch a challenge round berth against Australia Dec. 26-28—the first for the United States since 1960.

Captain Bob Kelleher of Los Angeles was pleased with the Americans' opening day performance.

"McKinley was really sharp and he got better as he went along," the captain said. "Ralston played Krishnans own game—a game of touch tennis with delicate placements and drop shots. It was a bit of conceit, but it worked."

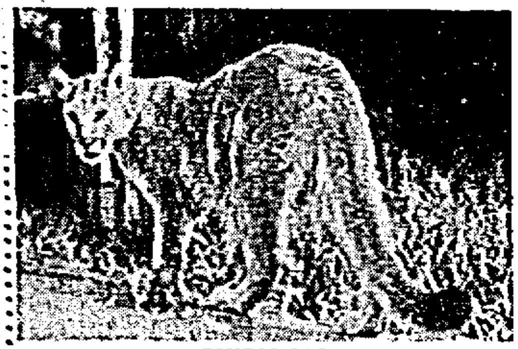
He Hunts WITH Mountain Lion

This is the story of Cougar Joe, a tame, 170-pound mountain lion who lives with a couple, sleeps in their bedroom, points birds like a dog, eats raw meat from his owners' hands and takes orders from a dog who helped mother him when he was a very small kitty.

Cougar Joe's home is 27 miles from Elk City, Idaho, and he lives with Howard and Dorothy Smith, naturalists who prefer life in a wilderness area to the rat race of the city.

Cougar Joe's mother was killed by a hunter two and one-half years ago and, at that time, Joe hardly had his eyes open. A neighbor—anybody living within 20 miles is a neighbor—gave the kitty to the Smiths. They used a milk formula very similar to that given to babies and fed the cat.

Also, Torey, part shepherd and part sheep dog, helped mother the cat so well that to this day the cat still looks at the dog as his mother. Ike, Torey's pup, grew up with Joe and the three get along very well together.



COUGAR JOE

Torey, however, remains the boss. When the cat gets out of line, she bares her fangs and growls and the cat takes to the woods. Torey, Joe and Ike have a mutual hate on coyotes and timber wolves and hunt together. And when the hunt is over, Joe has had a very satisfying meal.

The story of Cougar Joe was relayed to me by B. D. Ledbetter, 6301 Coronado Ave., Long Beach, who operates a painting service and who, being a close friend of the Smiths, camps on their property each year for the hunting seasons.

He uses Cougar Joe for a bird dog. The only trouble is that Joe grabs the killed bird and devours it, feathers and all—whoops, never the intestines. So the hunter has to kill enough birds to fill Joe before he starts getting his own limit.

Joe points like a dog and, when the hunter misses, he turns and growls at him as if to say: "What a lousy shot!" He has never been known to attack a deer, but will stalk one and, when close enough, stand on his hind feet and scream. You can imagine what that does to a deer's nerves.

THE SMITHS PRACTICALLY live off the land and so does Joe. When the going is rough for wild game, the Smiths buy their meat from a butcher shop. Strangely, Joe won't go for that processed meat, even a T-bone steak.

Once Smith shot a moose and, again, Joe wouldn't have any part of that animal.

Joe enters and leaves the cabin whenever he wishes. The Smiths put an army cot in their bedroom and he sleeps there, but if given a chance, he will curl up on the foot of their bed. One hundred and seventy pounds is a bit heavy on the feet!

But Joe wants to be near his master and mistress, so he lays one paw or his tail on their bed. His claws have not been removed or clipped and his teeth have not been filed.

When strangers appear at the Smith cabin, Joe pays no attention to them. In fact, he ignores them until he is ready to make new friends. Ledbetter said that Joe became friendly with him in a matter of hours, but that others, even natives, still are strangers to him.

ONE OF HIS FAVORITE tricks is to walk along on a person's right side and curl his right paw into such a position that the man will trip and fall.

Joe loves to wrestle and has never hurt either Smith or Ledbetter with his claws or teeth. He keeps his claws encased in the pads while wrestling. He has inflicted scratches with his dewclaw, which, of course, he can't control. Dorothy doesn't attempt any such playful scenes. She has a plastic hose handy and she straps Joe if he gets out of line with her.

Smith, who once started to be a dentist but quit college and went into the Forest Service, now is a free-lance welder in the Elk City area. He is writing a book about Cougar Joe and has taken several hundred feet of color movies. He hopes to finish his book next year.

Smith has this advice for would-be naturalists who want to duplicate his feat: "Cougar Joe is a strange cat, perhaps the only one that could become a pet. Treat all wild cats as such. In fact, any animal that lives in the wilds is WILD!"

Huskies Bound for Pasadena

to paydirt in four plays. The scoring play was a 17-yard pass to end John Thomas, who was a standout.

That made it 7-7 after Rich Brownell kicked the extra point, but that was the last time the Trojans were near the lead.

• • • •

WASHINGTON finally got some offense rolling late in the second period and went 73 yards in nine plays, scoring with a minute to go in the half. The touchdown play was a 21-yard pass from Douglas to end Ralph Winters. It was a short pass across the middle. Winters ran 15 yards with it.

On the play prior to the TD, Coffey was sent around end on a pitchout for 15 yards, his first sizeable gain of the day.

Since Beathard was having a bad day (minus 21 rushing and only 40 yards gained on four pass completions in the first half), McKay sent Fertig into the game when the Trojans got a big break midway through the third quarter.

The break came when the Huskies tried for another 45-yard field goal but the center snap sailed over the head of the kicker for a long loss. Troy took over on the Washington 41.

• • • •

FERTIG THREW an 18-yard strike to reserve end Dave Morton to the 23. Then Fertig threw three incomplete passes. The first two went to Moton, the third to Hal Bedsole in the end zone but he was well covered and it was knocked down. On fourth down Brownell tried a field goal from the 30. It hit the goal post below the crossbar.

As the third period closed, Troy guard Bill Fisk recovered a fumble that stopped a long drive at the Troy 33. It looked like the last chance.

Beathard started the drive with a nine-yard pass to Brown. Beathard ran a nine-yard keeper around end to the Washington 30 and there Beathard threw an interception.

It was intended for end Fred Hill, but Dave Kopay, who made headlines in a Seattle newspaper Friday by taunting "I hate USC and I always will" (he's from North Hollywood), grabbed the errant throw.

• • • •

THERE WERE 11 minutes left in the game, but the feeling of almost everyone in attendance was that it was all over.

One minute later Douglas and Kopay combined on a 63-yard pass play to the 10-yard line and even the few Trojan rooters knew it was all over.

Kopay got the final four yards on a tackle slant. He was untouched. The extra-point kick was ungood. The Trojans were unglued. The Huskies were undoubtedly the Rose Bowl team. What came during the five minutes thereafter (including a Husky drive to the Troy 10 yard line) was unimportant.

It was, to repeat, all over for the Trojans.

DOESN'T KNOW WHEN TO QUIT

Washington quarterback Bill Douglas is still looking for receiver despite having been tackled (his knee is on ground, so play is over) by USC's Bill Fisk (hidden) in first-half action of game in Seattle Saturday.

RACING ROUNDUP

Axe II Nabs Man O'War Stakes; Never Bend Trails

NEW YORK (UPI)—Greentree Stable's The Axe II won the fifth running of the $100,000 added Man O' War stakes at Aqueduct Saturday.

The Axe II, ridden by Johnny Rotz, was the pre-race favorite and lived up to the billing by covering the mile and five eighths turf course in 2:45 3/5.

Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend, expected to challenge the Axe II, finished out of the money. Will I Rule, with Ismael Valenzuela aboard, finished second and Guadalcanal was third.

The Axe II paid $4.00, $3.10 and $2.70. Will I Rule returned $7.80 and $5.40 and Guadalcanal paid $5.90 to show.

It was the eighth win of the year for the Axe II.

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—Dorchester Farm's Carry Back caught the public fancy once more Saturday as he won the $59,400 Trenton Handicap by 2½ lengths at Garden State Park.

Carry Back negotiated the gruelling 1¼ miles in 2:01 4/5 and paid $16, $8.60 and $5.20. Mongo returned $4.80 and $3.60 to place and Smart paid $5.20 to show.

AGUA CALIENTE (UPI)—Alfonzo Herrera, 27-year-old jockey from Santa Fe, N.M., was thrown Saturday in a stretch spill in the featured 1 1/16 mile Sweepida Purse at Caliente.

Astride Yatagirl and running second in the stretch, Herrera fell heavily with his mount which had clipped the heels of the front-running favorite, Horseshoes. The rider was taken to Mercy Hospital in San Diego, but a preliminary track examination disclosed no serious injury.

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — More Megaton closed fast on the inside to finish first by a nose in the $10,000 added Albany Handicap at Golden Gate Fields before a crowd of 15,549.

More Megaton made his bid running third in the stretch while Royal Ground moved up to challenge leader Buckeye Bob.

All three finished noses apart with Buckeye Bob taking second and Royal Ground third.

The winner paid $4.80, $3.40 and $2.60. Buckeye Bob returned $4.40 and $3.20. Royal Ground paid $3.20.

It was the fourth straight stakes triumph for the son of Pie King.

Peerless O'Brien Steers Upsetter

By ERNIE MASON

Peerless Joe O'Brien, the little man with the magical touch, treated 20,558 fans at Hollywood Park Saturday to a virtuoso performance in which he displayed all of his consummate skill in steering aptly-named Gamecock to an upset triumph in an epic renewal $50,000 American Pacing Classic.

The grey-thatched Irishman, who came out of Nova Scotia some 25 years ago to amaze the harness racing world with his rare ability, enjoyed one of his finest hours Saturday as he won Western Harness Racing Assn.'s premiere event for pacers.

• • • •

O'BRIEN and Gamecock, a double-tough son of Tar Heel owned by Lawrence B. Sheppard of Hanover, Pa., whipped the greatest and largest field in the history of the pacing classic with a devastating surge through the stretch. At the wire the team was three-quarters of a length in advance of Adora's Dream, with courageous Henry T. Adios, the 2-1 favorite, third.

Strung out behind the first three were 13 of America's most accomplished sidewheelers, a sight that closely resembled the Oklahoma land rush. They were, in order, Rusty Range, Mike Pick, Thor Hanover, Meadow Newport, Mr. Budlong, Vineddy, Cold Front, Harold J., Star Gem, Rip Spangler, Stephan Smith, Midnite Hardy, and last was Irvin Paul, the defending Pacing Classic champion.

Gamecock sped the mile and one-eighth in 2:13⅗, well off the world record of 2:11⅗ set by Adois Butler in 1961 and equalled last year by Irvin Paul. It was the third victory of the meeting for the four-year-old horse, who triumphed in the $25,100 Fall Maturity Pace two weeks ago.

• • • •

THE WINNER returned $15.20, $7 and $4.20, while Adora's Dream paid $15 and $7.80 and Henry T. Adios returned $3.60.

BOYS 6-18 CAN JOIN AMATEUR ICE HOCKEY

Amateur ice hockey teams are now being formed in Norwalk with openings for boys between the ages of 6 and 18.

John Kaupp, area playing agent for the Long Beach Amateur Hockey Assn., invites candidates to register during team workouts, staged each Friday night at 6 at the Norwalk Ice Skating Center, Shoemaker at Rosecrans in Norwalk.

Kaupp announced that boys must be accompanied by at least one parent for registration. Additional information may be obtained by telephoning Kaupp at KA 9-8669.

Art Brewster, manager last year of the professional Long Beach Gulls, is in charge of the Long Beach-sponsored teams.

Four traveling leagues are Pee Wees (under 12), Bantams (under 14), Midgets (under 16) and Juveniles (under 18). Home games are played at Norwalk Ice Skating Center. Away games are scheduled in Tarzana, Burbank, Pasadena, West Covina, Ontario and San Diego.

SOCCER TITLE PLAY BEGINS

The race for the national open soccer championship begins in Los Angeles today when St. Stephens meets Armenians in a 2:30 p.m. contest at Rancho Cienega Stadium.

In area games, Ticos takes on Santa Barbara at Daniels Field in San Pedro at 12:30, Holland faces Maccabees at Gardena High (2:30) and Paramount United meets San Pedro Hadjuk at Paramount Field (2:30).

City Basketball Begins Monday

Long Beach City League basketball begins Monday night with tripleheaders scheduled at three gyms.

Fifteen leagues, ranging in class from A to D, include 84 teams. Two other teams are scheduled to join the second round, beginning Dec. 9. Monday's schedule:

At Jefferson—7:15, Hazzbinz vs. B. F. Goodrich Chem; 8:15, L. B. Police vs. L. B. Post Office; 9:15, American Wholesale Hardware vs. Glories.

At Poly—7:15, Little Diggers vs. Parks Texaco; 8:15, Ukers Signal Service vs. Ye Old Men; 9:15, The Bonanza vs. Space Systems A-2.

At Wilson—7:15, First Nazarene vs. First Baptist; 8:15, KWIJ Voice vs. Hawks; 9:15, No Names vs. Hares.

Jordan High open for practice, 7-11 p.m.

Today's City League Baseball Schedule

At City College—Noon, Coast Federal Savings vs. Brown's Sporting Goods; 2:30 p.m., Tyer Bros. vs. L. B. Naval Station.

At Wilson High—Noon, L. B. Oilers vs. EDOCO; 2:30 p.m., Local 148 UAW vs. Macks.

At Silverado Park—1 p.m., Kelly's Lounge vs. El Toro Marines.

L.B. Wheels Play for P-T.A. Fund

The Long Beach Flying Wheels will open their practice season Thursday night by combining a workout game against an Ed Nichols-led Lockyers team and the Franklin Jr. High School P-TA fund raising drive. Game time will be 7:30 in the Franklin gym.

The Wheels again appear to have the personnel to defend their national title they have held for the past four years.

Lockyers has been a Long Beach basketball power over the years and is made up of outstanding former high school and college players.

A ham dinner will be served in the school cafeteria commencing at 5:30 for $1 per plate, according to Mrs. Bert Bond, P-TA president. The public is invited.

TOP MAT PROGRAM SLATED THIS WEEK

The biggest wrestling show of the fall season is on the schedule this week, topped by a heavyweight championship bout between titleholder Bearcat Wright and Don Leo Jonothan.

Two tag team matches also are scheduled, including one between a quartet of midgets. Former champ Freddie Blassie is in the other tag event.

L.B. Rockets Entertain Grove Nine

The Garden Grove Yankees, formerly the Orange County Braves, invade Blair Field for a Winter baseball league game with the Long Beach Rockets this afternoon at 1:30.

The Yankees last year defeated the Rockets 3-0 in 10 innings and bring a 1-1 league mark into today's contest.

Rockets manager Jack Graham has a half-dozen pitchers on his roster. Terry Richards, Mike Linck, Bob Preston, Jim Strickland, Butch Hughes and possibly Don Rowe will be ready. The Rockets have a 2-0 mark in league play.

Games Today

Pasadena Yankees at Cerritos; Westwood Braves at Huntington Park Dodgers; L. A. Angels at Gardena Giants; St. Mary's at North Long Beach Twins; White Sox vs. Orange Angels at El Medina; Tigers vs. Compton Barons, Cressey Park 11 a.m.; Lawndale Broncos vs. Mary Star, Peck Park; Artesia Merchants at San Fernando; L. A. Hawks vs. Wilmington Dodgers at Dodger Field; San Marino vs. Anaheim Tigers at Roosevelt Park.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

1963 Expected to Reach a Record for Profits

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A tide of rosy third quarter corporate profit reports rolled across the nation's business scene this week.

By one reckoning, earnings of more than 500 large corporations ran 15 per cent ahead of the 1962 September quarter, and stamped 1963 as a record high year—barring a cataclysmic reversal in the final two months.

They were estimated at an annual rate of about $25.5 billion in the July-September period, well above the existing full-year record of $24.6 set in 1962.

Major contributions to the uptrend came from the steel industry, a weak sister last year, and from the automobile, airlines, chemical, electric-electronics groups, and several others.

• • • •

GIANT General Motors Corp., continuing to set a blazing pace, posted an historic earnings high for the first nine months, with profits topping $1 billion. Ford Motor Co. faltered a bit, however.

The earnings surge had many ramifications, including important ones in Washington, where tax cut and budget struggles inched along.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told the House Ways and Means Committee that healthy business profits helped swell federal tax collections and shrink budgetary deficit prospects.

Dillon said the present outlook is for a $9 billion deficit for the fiscal year ending next June 30, rather than the $11.9 billion deficit anticipated earlier. Tax revenues appear likely to be $1.9 billion higher than last January's estimate, he said.

Even so, the Treasury official pleaded for a $6 billion increase in the national debt limit to $315 billion to accommodate seasonal fluctuations.

• • • •

DILLON LOOKED for expansion of the economy in the first half of 1964 whether taxes are cut or not, but said reductions would accelerate the rate.

As Senate Finance Committee hearings on the $11 billion tax cut bill ground on, spokesmen for the American Bar Association and the National Association of Manufacturers complained it provided for an inequitable distribution of benefits, favoring very low and very high income taxpayers.

A note of dissent to widespread optimism over business prospects ahead was struck by department and variety store proprietors. Polled by a trade group, less than one-half looked for better Christmas season sales this year than last.

The pessimists blamed this year's five fewer shopping days between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and an unseasonably warm autumn.

Red Cross Featured on New Stamp Issue

Long Beach Chapter, American Red Cross, stocked a supply of five-cent United States postage stamp commemorating the hundreth anniversary of the Red Cross early Friday when the issue reached the main Long Beach post office.

Mrs. Loren McCannon, administrative assistant of the Chapter, made the purchase, the first sale of the new stamp. Approximately 100 million stamps have been printed.

The new stamp, printed in blue and red on white, has as design an adaptation of a photograph of the S.S. Morning Light, the eighth supply ship used by the American Red Cross in the Cuban prisoner exchange program. The legend, "1863 International Red Cross 1963," calls attention to the centenary.

The new stamp was launched ceremonially in Washington, D.C., with the postmaster general making the presentation to E. Roland Harriman, chairman of American Red Cross. The audience included representatives of volunteers who worked in the Cuban prisoner exchange, and from embassies of the 102 nations who are members of the League of Red Cross societies.

MRS. LOREN McCANNON, administrative assistant, Long Beach Chapter, American Red Cross, buys Red Cross stamps from clerk Gilbert Scott.

Moon Bounce Pioneer Speaks

Willis Conkel, a man who has been bouncing radio signal off the moon since 1956, will discuss the technique at the meeting of the Microwave Society of Long Beach at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at 5107 E. Ocean Blvd.

Conkel, of 4608 La Cara St., became interested in moon bounce communication in 1956 when he received one of his own transmitted amateur radio signals.

He currently is making preparations to try for a two-way amateur radio contact, via the moon, with a ham in Nakkila, Finland. This reportedly will be the longest moon bounce test tried from the West Coast.

Tape recordings of moon bounce communications made by Conkel will be played at the Wednesday meeting.

The Microwave Society is making plans for a moon bounce and satellite tracking station. Interested amateurs are invited to attend the meeting.

Mountain States Fastest Growing

NEW YORK (UP)—The Mountain States of the west comprised America's fastest growing region in the last 10 years, says the National Industrial Conference Board.

The non-profit, business research group said population rose 38 per cent in the region that embraces Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming.

Next, at 37 per cent, was the Pacific region of Alaska, California, Hawaii, Oregon and Washington.

The slowest rate was recorded by the Northeastern region of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, up only 8 per cent.

President Helps With Homework

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (UPI)—Jacqueline Stinson, a fourth grader in Madison School, got help from President Kennedy for her homework. Jacqueline was assigned to make a rock collection as part of a science project and wrote the President asking his help in obtaining a piece of lava.

Within a few days, an envelope arrived from the White House containing a chunk of white lava rock and a brochure explaining the orgin of the rock.

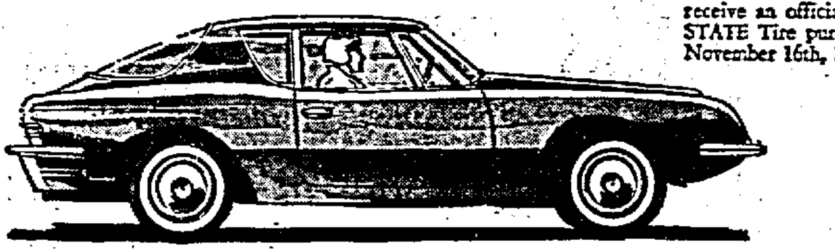
CAPTAIN SPEAKING

Capt. Ken. Woolsey, Trans World Airlines pilot, will address the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored forum at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday in Crown Cafeteria on the progress and outlook for aviation.

You Can Count on Us...Quality Costs No More at Sears

WIN an AVANTI

SEARS
ROEBUCK AND. CO.



1964 Studebaker Car
GRAND PRIZE

Who Can Win. Sears ALLSTATE Tire customers will receive an official entry blank with each new ALLSTATE Tire purchased from October 14th through November 16th, 1963. One entry blank for each tire.

Store Prizes, too. Entries in each participating Sears retail store will be judged separately for individual store prizes. Store prize will be your choice of a set of 4 new ALLSTATE tires or a $100 Sears Gift Certificate.

"ALLSTATE Tires are your best buy because . . ." In 25 Words or Less!

GRAND PRIZE WINNER. The Studebaker Avanti will be awarded to the retail store winner whose entry is judged the best among all those competing in this area. Thus the GRAND PRIZE WINNER will also be a STORE PRIZE WINNER.

How to qualify. Visit your local Sears retail store. Look for the ALLSTATE Tire display, and learn the amazing safety and performance records for ALLSTATE Guardsman Nylon Tires. Purchase your ALLSTATE Tires and get your entry blanks.

Contest of Skill. Enter the Contest by completing the contest statement as directed. Entries will be carefully judged for appropriateness, freshness, clarity and sincerity, by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corp.

Four Bedrooms Rumpus Room Pool
Life, Liberty & the pursuit of Happiness are all conveniently tucked into this prize home nestled quietly on a short cul de sac lane of a "PRIDE of OWNERSHIP" area. View this spectacular home from any angle and you will agree that the architect left no stone unturned in the design of this magnificent residence. FOUR LARGE BEDROOMS with TWO SEPARATE BATHS in itself is lots of house but add to this a separate RUMPUS ROOM and a 15'x35' PROFESSIONALLY BUILT ANTHONY SKYBLUE POOL and you have a home any queen will adore. Overlooking this backyard Paradise is a huge covered patio set entirely with expensive cut stone and designed to provide for maximum "cook-out" or party time & pool fun. Within this rambling home is a convenient kitchen loaded with built-in cabinets, counter tops and a separate dining area. Add to this wall-to-wall carpets, the drapes & curtains and the story is complete. REDUCED DRASTICALLY for QUICK SALE!

Used Car Dealer Association

UCDA says:
Meet Your Used Car Manager
SAM CASAGA
John W. Osborn Co.
990 CHERRY AVE. GE 8-3378

Seventeen years ago we started a little lot in our present location, selling hand-picked clean used cars at very low prices. People liked an opportunity to kick a tire, slam a door, take the car to their mechanic and make up their own minds. They especially appreciated the kind, courteous after-sales service of promise kept.

The word spread from buyer to buyer. Sales increased, facilities improved. We grew bigger and better, and so did our customer relations.

Now we are proud to say that over 80% of our sales result from repeat and referral customers.

We sell the finest cars made, and our showroom is the most delightful sight to prospective buyers. Here you may find a late model Cadillac, a Continental, Buick, Oldsmobile, Imperial, T-Bird, Bentley or Rolls Royce.

Last year we sold over 40 select Cadillac limousines and 8-passenger sedans to customers all over the West Coast. This year in addition to our regular business we sold eight Rolls Royce and Bentleys. During the month of October this year we have sold cars priced from $75 to $11,250.

Whatever your desires, before you buy, ask a friend about Osborn's; then come down and browse around, and you may prove to yourself the point of this story.

Inside an Aircraft Company With a Fresh Approach

By LARRY ALLISON

Across the airfield from Douglas Aircraft Co., which is girding itself to fight for a share of the medium-range jet transport market, is a company that has its eye on the medium-range air freight business. But instead of turning out high-priced, jet-powered merchandise, the firm is borrowing a page from the past and giving it a jet touch.

The result is that a once obsolete military aircraft is being made useful again, and the air freight industry has a "new" cargo plane that sells—relatively speaking—for peanuts.

The company, Steward-Davis, Inc., 3200 Cherry Ave., has been singled out by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce for recognition in its "Profiles of Success" program.

STEWARD-DAVIS started out shortly after World War II as a small charter airline operating out of Compton and developed into an aircraft engine overhaul and maintenance business in Gardena. Then, F. H. (Herb) Steward, president and chief stockholder of the company, set out to fill the need for a low-priced, easily maintained aircraft that could operate where high-speed, long-range craft prove impractical.

Steward devised a way to mount a jet engine atop the fuselage of a C82 military cargo plane and turned it from an underpowered, overly complicated candidate for the scrap heap into a safe, dependable, aerial workhorse.

The transition of the C82 involves, for the most part, simplifying and improving the plane's electrical and electro-mechanical systems and installing a center-line Westinghouse J34 jet engine.

Steward-Davis calls the finished product the Skytruck, and sells for $325,000 which is $1.5 million less than the nearest competitive plane on the market.

A similar version with fewer modifications, the Jet Packet, goes for even less—$225,000. Cost of the jet "kit" alone is $50,000.

THE SKYTRUCK has a cargo compartment eight feet by eight feet and 32 feet long and can carry, for example, 39 head of cattle (or about 24,000 pounds) at a direct operating cost of 6.3 cents per ton-mile for a distance of 500 miles. At 1,500 miles, the cost is estimated at 7.4 cents per ton-mile with a payload of 19,000 pounds.

The original C82, known as the "flying boxcar," was lost if an engine failed. Should this happen to the Skytruck or Jet Packet, the jet engine, which is on at low power during takeoff, automatically goes to full power when an engine is feathered, and the craft is capable of climbing at 640 feet per minute.

Steward, whose company owns 36 surplus C82s and modifies them on order, believes that in addition to domestic uses, the rugged aircraft can be a social and political tool for use in underdeveloped countries.

"We feel," Steward said, "that an aircraft adaptable to primitive areas can actually bring the tribes of those areas closer together and give them a common identity they would not otherwise have."

THE PLANE ALSO HAS military potential.

Steward-Davis installed 17 of its jet units on C119 cargo planes, a later version of the C82, owned by India after the India-Red China border clash broke out last year. The jet augmentation enabled the craft to carry heavier troop and cargo loads safely to primitive landing strips high in the Himalayas, and in several instances of engine faillure the jet unit averted certain tragedy.

W. C. Chambliss, a consultant for Steward-Davis, said the plane is sturdy and versatile enough to land on frozen snow or anywhere a bulldozer can be dropped to clear a dirt landing strip.

The jet-augmented C82s are operating in Alaska and in South America, and in one case a Jet Packet solved in three months a hauling opration in South Africa that otherwise would have taken four years. A mining com-

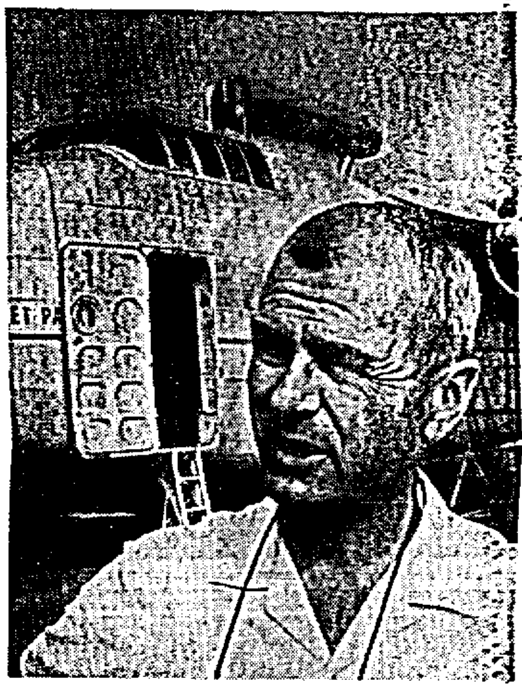
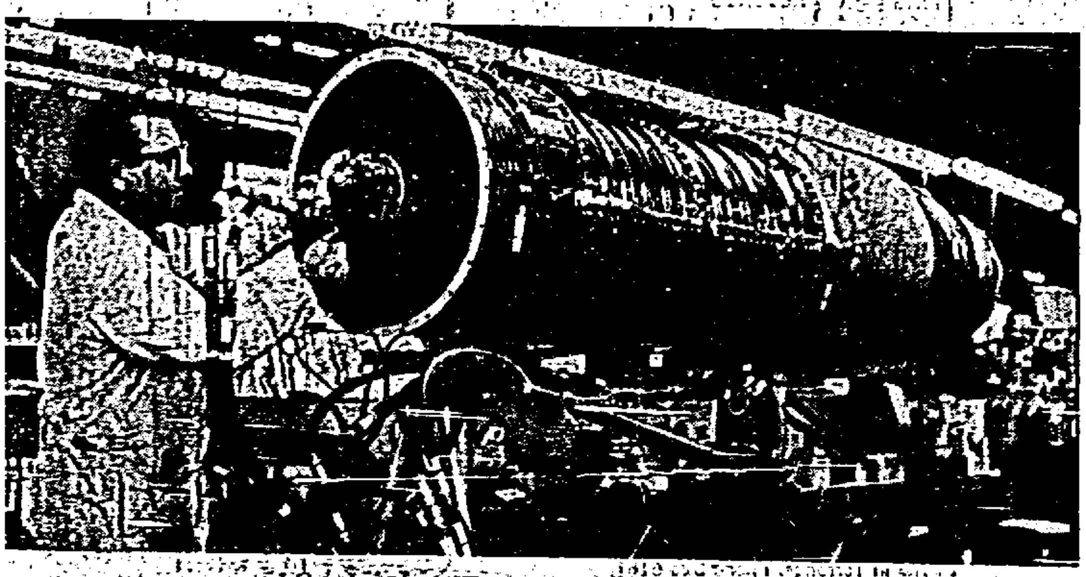
CAVERNOUS interior of rocket-hauling "Pregnant Guppy" dwarfs a worker at Steward-Davis Inc. At left the plane is split mid-section for loading. The company handles maintenance for the unique aircraft.

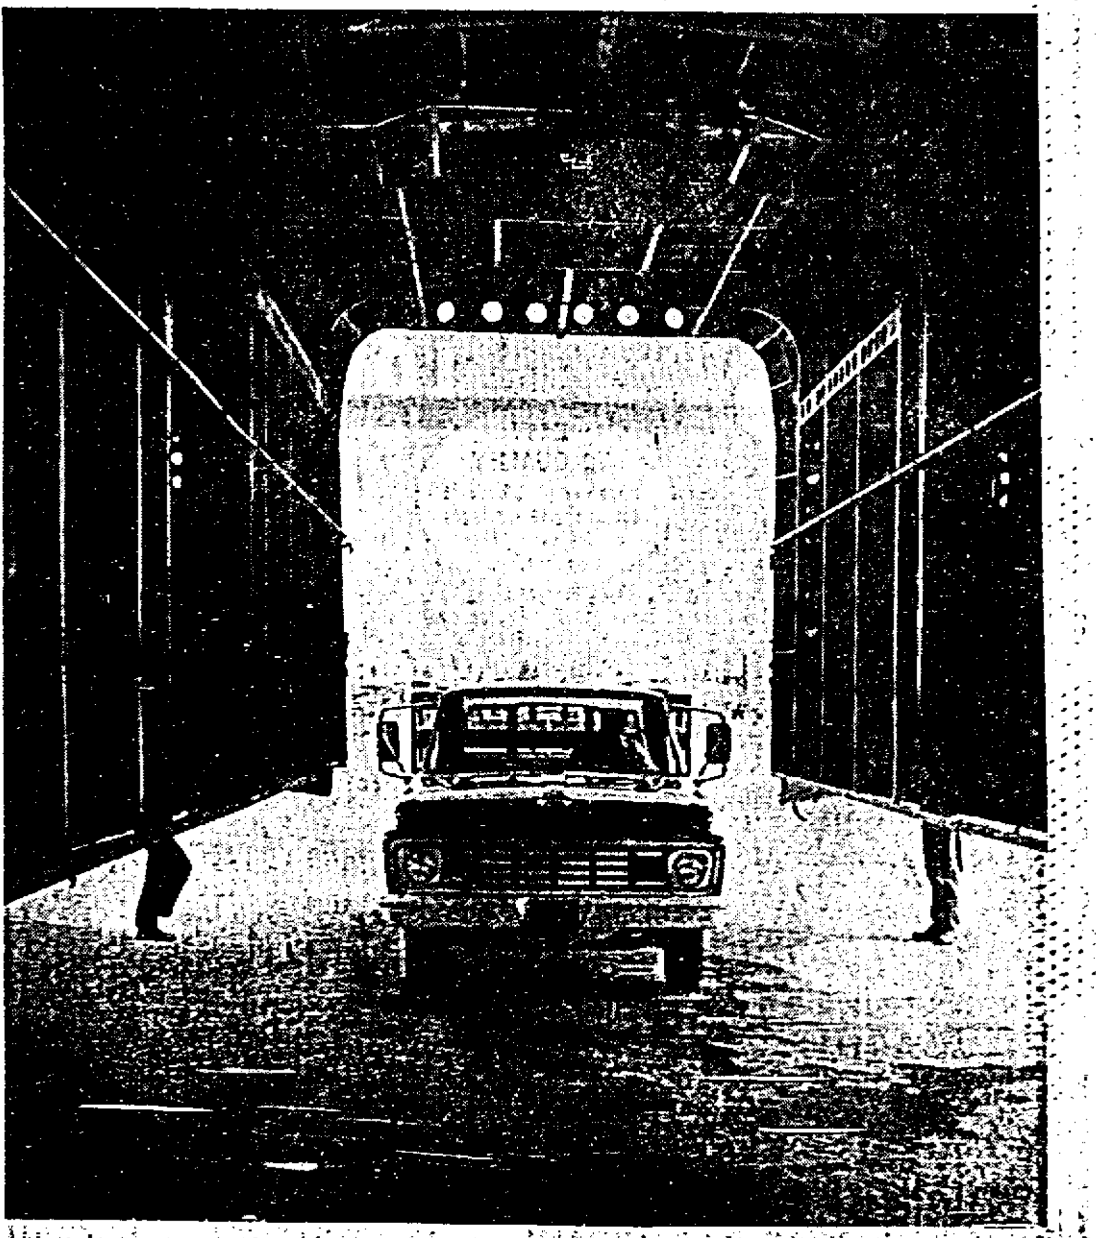


BULWARK of Steward-Davis is a jet unit for C82 and C119 "flying boxcar" cargo planes, shown on plane in background, which was conceived by F. H. (Herb) Steward, president of company.

OVERHAULING a piston engine at the two-acre plant of Steward-Davis at 3200 Cherry Ave. is Everett Gilmore, who started with the company 12 years ago, when such work was principal operation of firm.



FINAL CHECKOUT of a jet engine is made by Raymond L. Harrott, quality control manager of the engine overhaul department. The company has bought production rights to the J34 jet engine.



OPEN UNDERSIDE of this C82 leaves plenty of room for a truck to pull inside. This is an experimental project aimed at simplifying loading of the plane. A cargo pallet would close off the open fuselage.

Van Camp Ins. Acquires Revere and West Coast

T. C. Springfield, president of Gilbert C. Van Camp Insurance Agency, Inc., of San Pedro and Ed Struthers have announced Van Camp Agency's acquisition of controlling interest in West Coast Insurance and Revere Insurance Agency of Santa Ana.

West Coast Insurance, established in 1939, has been owned and operated by Struthers since 1959. Revere Insurance Agency was formed in May 1962. Struthers, now vice president of the Revere agency, will be general manager of West Coast and Revere.

The Van Camp Agency has been in business in the harbor area since 1924. It now employs forty-three people. It places all types of insurance for individuals, businesses, industries and government. In Torrance, the Van Camp Agency is associated with Lund Co. The Van Camp agency also has a branch office in San Diego.

Retailers Will Start Yuletide Sales Early

Retailers by the thousands around the country have decided, it seems, to do some shuffling of holiday periods they're planning to launch on the calendar. Specifically, Christmas promotions this year in advance of Thanksgiving—as early as Nov. 11 in some cases.

Christmas shopping, of course, accounts for vitally important volume of stores handling such lines as toys, small appliances, other home furnishings, distilled spirits, and men's wear. The special Christmas promotions ahead of Thanksgiving this year stems from a fluke of the 1963 calendar: there will be only 22 shopping days between Turkey Day and Santa Claus time (last year there were 27, about normal).

One study indicates that almost three-fourths of all stores checked plan to start advertising and promotion before Thanksgiving, with the week of Nov. 11-16 the most popular starting date. The same study showed that newspapers will hold their preferred spot as favorite advertising medium for retailers in the pre-Christmas period. Three out of four store managers said they expect to put 80 per cent or more of their outlay into newspapers.

And more than one-third of the sample plan to hike their over-all budget for advertising and promotion above last year's outlays.

Colorful Home Show in Sol Vista

A colorful home show display is taking place at the International Home Fair in Westminster. The Sol-Vista homes are being built by Alco-Pacific Construction Co. of Westminster.

Internationally known interior designer, Beatrice West, was flown in to color coordinate and furnish the model homes which reflect the far corners of the earth. The Continental has the traditions of France and modern Italy displayed, the Scandia has a modernistic approach to Swedish and Danish decor, the Americas is a four compass point representation of the United States and its neighbors with each room displaying its phase of America. The recently opened Mediterranean is a showplace with authentic colors, furnishings and decorations representing its own part of the world.

* * * *

INTERNATIONAL spirit is the flag display in front of the International Home Fair pavilion.

Inside the pavilion is an interesting product and material display.

The Home Fair is located at Bolsa Chica and Westminster Blvd. in Westminster. The homes sell for $23,050 to $29,600 on FHA, Cal-Vet and conventional financing.

Medical Building Set for Stanton

Eight building permits for construction totaling $42,329 were issued by the Stanton Building Department during the past week.

Permit for the construction of a $37,200 medical building at 10799 Western Ave. was granted to Harry Pinch, 2544 Winston St., Anaheim.

Other permits included those of Fredrick Quintanna, 7419 Bock St., swimming pool, $1,900; G. H. Van Vliet, corner of Villa Park Estates mobile homes, 8111 Stanford St., room addition, $800; Lincoln Fidelity Corp., 10825 Magnolia St., commercial sign, $225.

Coe and Cushlan, 10576 Magnolia St., commercial sign, $400; Violet B. Heker, 10271 Dale St., block wall, $400; Bill Lev, 10424 Sherrill St., sun shade cover, [illegible]; and Wayne Parker, 8451 Pala's Road, sun shade and slab screen cover, $942.

END OF A DEPOT

Demolition work is under way at the Santa Fe Railway-Pacific Electric depot and freight yard at Ninth Street and Pico Avenue. The 12,000-square-foot depot, built in 1924, is being razed to make way for extension of the Long Beach Freeway to Long Beach Harbor. The million-dollar project involves relocation of the train tracks and construction of a new depot west of the present site.

Location of Regal Homes Is Appealing

Excellent location of Regal Homes in Buena Park undoubtedly is one of the magnets which is attracting buyers to this new subdivision, states Tod Simms, builder. The homes are only minutes from Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland. The beaches are only 20 minutes away, while Long Beach can be reached in 10 minutes. The freeway is two minutes away. Regal Homes, according to Simms, are surrounded by good schools for all ages and shopping center large and small.

Buyer reaction to the new financing terms has been excellent, Simms stated. Conventional financing is now available in addition to FHA term. Now, according to Simms, buyers may purchase with as little as $395 down plus costs.

• • • •

RGEAL HOMES are three and four bedrooms with family rooms and two baths. They are priced from $21,300 and can be purchased on low FHA financing. Families with an income of $650 monthly can qualify.

The homes feature balanced power and have built-in range and oven with exhaust fan and hood over range, fireplace with log-lighters. The backyards are enclosed with a block wall. Other features include furniture finish birch cabinets, tile shower with glass doors, also shower over tub, Del Piso entry floors, spacious master bedroom suites, forced air heating and other fine features.

A REGAL HOME

Located near Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland, Regal Homes are rapidly attracting buyers. Here is one of the models of the homes where low terms are offered.

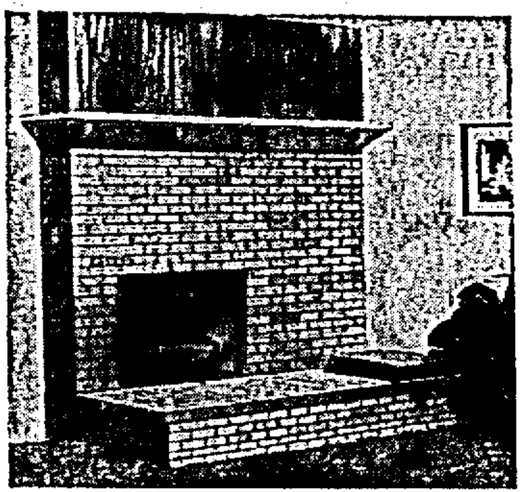
Student Wins Essay Award

Refugio Garcia, 16-year-old student at Artesia High School, has received honorable mention in the California Real Estate Association's Annual statewide essay contest on "The Home Is the Heart and Hope of the Nation."

Bob Prigmore, president of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors, said Refugio will be presented a gold trophy at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors Thursday at 7:30 a.m., at the student center, Cerritos College, at which Refugio, his mother, and principal Bill Atkins of Artesia High will be guests of the board.

First-place winner in the contest was Sheila Arnold, 17, senior at Pacific High School in San Bernardino, who was awarded $250.00 in U. S. saving bonds.

Fireplaces Appeal in El Dorado Park



ADDS TO HOME VALUE

Attractive fireplaces are a big feature of the El Dorado Park Estates now selling in Long Beach. Here is an interesting treatment of common brick used in one model.

"A well-designed and usable fireplace is a definite asset in a home of today," the builders of El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach contend.

"We feel they are so important in attracting prospective homebuyers, we offered a large selection of fireplaces—both in design and materials," they added.

In one plan a combination of genuine Palos Verdes stone and driftwood was used. The result was a dramatic focal point in the spacious living room. Bouquet Canyon stone was utilized in the large three-bedroom model, and the "Morning Glory Plan is stunning, with a white jumbo brick vertical joint fireplace. This harmonizes with the basic contemporary motif of the entire home.

• • • •

OTHER MATERIALS used in the fireplaces at El Dorado Park Estates are Norman brick, concrete block, common brick painted with slate hearth and used brick.

In one plan there is an optional choice for the buyer in fireplace design and material. Black marble, painted common brick or Palos Verdes stone is offered.

• • • •

OTHER FEATURES at El Dorado Park Estates' homes are modern all-electric kitchens, each equipped with a built-in range and double oven, completely automatic dishwasher and color-matched fan and hood and ceramic countertops.

One-story, two-story and split-level elevations are available. Designed with three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms, formal dining rooms and master bedroom suites with two or three baths, all the homes were carefully color-planned.

Furnished models are reached by driving east on Spring St. across San Gabriel River to El Dorado Park Estates, east of Studebaker Road at Claremore.

Inside a Firm With a Fresh Approach

pany wanted to transport a 550-ton dredge to a jungle site in at Surinam, and the only means of transportation for the last 150 miles was by native canoes. The Jet Packet airlifted a bulldozer to the site, the dozer cleared a landing strip in the jungle, and the aircraft then carried in the dredge in eight-ton sections.

STEWARD-DAVIS NOW is experimenting with a modification of its Jet Packet and Skytruck that would make it possible to pick up and deliver a cargo pallet without the pilot having to leave the cockpit.

Steward also has some radical ideas, still in experimental stages, on new ways to use the J34 jet engines—for which his company has bought production rights.

In addition to modifying cargo planes, building jet engines and jet parts, Steward-Davis still does its original line of work: overhauling and maintaining aircraft engines.

The company also has a contract with Aero Spacelines, Inc., for maintenance of a weird-looking plane called the Pregnant Guppy. The craft is a modified Boeing Skymaster that splits in the middle and was designed especially to carry North American Aviation's F1 rocket engine from Los Angeles to Marshall Space Center, Ala., where the rocket is to be tested.

The chamber's growth and diversification subcommittee selected Steward-Davis as a "Profiles of Success" candidate because of the company "foresight, imagination and diversity—the ability to sense change and make the most of opportunities."

For Steward-Davis, one of these opportunities lay in the potential the company saw in an obsolete aircraft that, instead of ending up as aluminum ingots from a salvage company, is winning a new place in the skies.

Eastman Oil Names Phipps Area Manager

Robert A. (Bob) Phipps, a 22-year-old employe of Eastman Oil Well Survey Co., has been appointed Eastman's Pacific Coast area manager, with offices at 1492 Caspian Way, Long Beach.

R. A. PHIPPS

Phipps is a third-generation oil industry man. His grandfather was in the oil business in Franklin and Oil City, Pa., and his father, "Curley" Phipps, was a 50-year veteran in drilling phases. The younger Phipps was first employed by Eastman in 1942 as a derrick hand.

J. A. Hamman, formerly Eastman's Pacific Coast area manager, has been shifted to Eastman headquarters in Houston and assigned to special engineering projects.

9,000 Souvenir Coins Sold for L.B. Jubilee

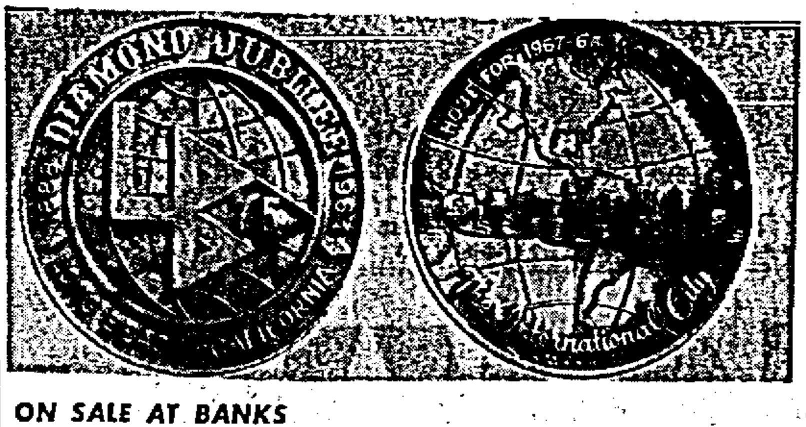
Nine thousand Long Beach Diamond Jubilee souvenier coins have been sold, Committee Chairman R. H. (Roy) Showalter has announced.

The bronze coins, commemorating the city's 75th anniversary, are on sale in local banks. Proceeds help finance the month-long celebration that started Friday.

Because of public demand for the souvenirs, Showalter said, a new sales policy is now in effect. The coins will be on sale at one window in nearly every bank in the city, during regular banking hours. Formerly they were sold from special booths, open only a few hours a day. A sign in each bank will designate the coin window.

A total of 25,000 coins were minted for the occasion. The coins are stamped with the city's jubilee emblem, an etching of its skyline, and the motto "International City."

Banks participating, Showalter announced, include all offices of the Bank of America, Security First National Bank, Farmers and Merchants Bank, United California Bank, First Western Bank and United States National Bank.



ON SALE AT BANKS

These are the bronze coins, commemorating Long Beach's Diamond Jubilee, that are on sale in local banks. Proceeds will help finance the city's month-long celebration of its 75th anniversary.

Garden Grove Man Gets Bank Position

Appointment of Emmanuel Walth of 11582 Faye Ave., Garden Grove, to gricultural Garden Grove, to agricultural vision of the central credit department, has been announced by Security First National Bank.

With headquarters in the bank's Artesia branch, he will work with Don M. Kruse, assistant vice president, on loans to dairymen.

Long-Lasting Value Stressed for Lakewood Sunshine Homes

According to S. V. Hunsaker Jr., vice president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers, prospective buyers are more discriminating in determining home values and are checking feature for feature.

The fact that Lakewood East Sunshine Homes offer a complete package including the most popular of West Coast architectural planning, built-ins, and modern materials designed for lifetime satisfaction are important reasons for buyer preference.

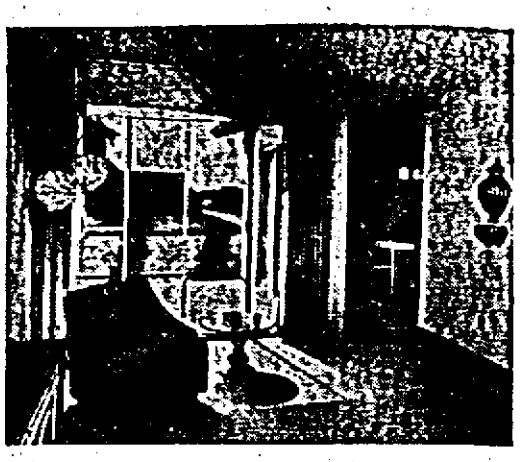
Features that make for lasting value include forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, all-copper plumbing, wall-to-wall carpet, and plenty of built-ins. Kitchens are ultra-modern and have built-in Vernois range and oven, Insinkerator disposer, and natural finish cabinets.

• • • •

DESIGNED FOR the active family, Lakewood East Sunshine Homes are priced from $21,000 and may be purchased with from $295 down. Included in the purchase price is a fenced rear yard and landscaped front yard.

Lakewood East Sunshine Homes are centrally located and are only minutes from Long Beach's many employment centers. Shopping centers, schools, and churches are nearby.

Furnished model homes are open daily for inspection and may be seen between Del Amo Blvd. and Centralia Road one block west of Roseton in the City of Lakewood.



MANY LUXURY FEATURES

Wall-to-wall carpet is just one of the many luxury quality features found at Lakewood East Sunshine Homes, a new residential development by S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders-developers.

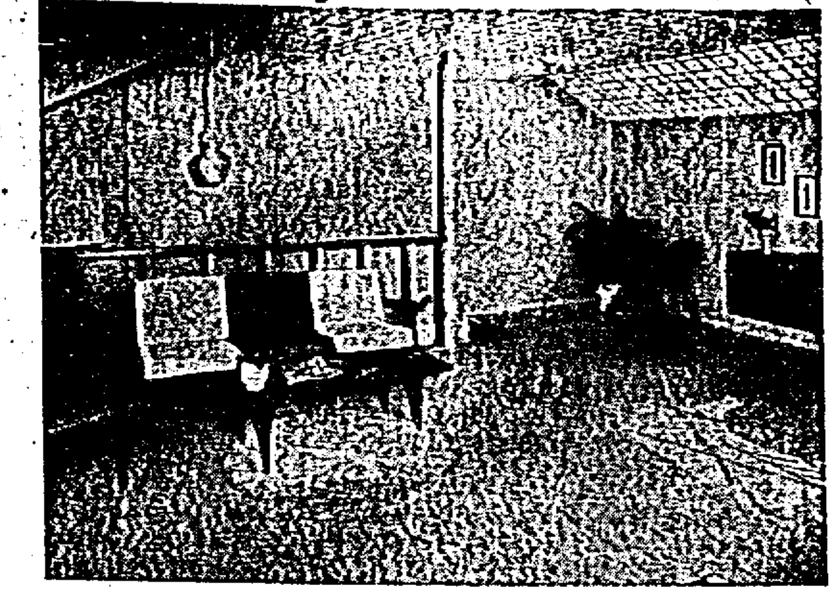
Westmont's Tenth Unit Is Now Open for Sales



BONUS ROOM OVER GARAGE

Spacious over-the-garage "bonus room," ideal for play area, rumpus room or as extra bedrooms is just one of the features at the new Westmont unit near Long Beach where wall, landscaping and sprinklers are offered to early buyers in the new section. Prices start at $21,500.

A new unit, hailed as Westmont's lucky tenth is now open at the Huntington Beach area community last week with four big bonus offers to buyers.

The premiums listed by the builders, George M. Holstein and Sons, include the over-the-garage bonus room," block wall at back and side of lot, carpet, and front landscaping and sprinklers. These are additions to the usual Westmont package that has and the 7200-square-foot deeded lot, the developers assured.

The new unit will offer a choice selection of three and four bedroom homes with a new floor plan featuring a oversized family room added to the list of the popular Westmont choices.

• • • •

ALL PLANS, including the popular breezway home are again available in the new unit with prices starting at $24,500. Easy bank financing is available to buyers in all units as well as FHA and Veteran terms, the Westmont builders declared.

The new unit has been opened almost 60 days ahead of plans due to the demand for the big "bonus room" homes, sales head Ray Haffdual explained. The bonus room, a Holstein exclusive, is ideal for rumpus room, den, bedroom, the sales chief stressed.

To reach Westmont from Long Beach, take Seventh St. east to Hiwy. 39. Turn right, and stay on Hiwy. 39 to Warner—about three miles. Then turn left and stay on Warner about one mile to the model homes.

WHERE PROJECTS BEGIN

The Bidding Center

By BOB BAUGHEY

Little known to the public but nevertheless a valuable asset to builder and client alike is the Orange County Builders Association, which operates a sort of clearinghouse for construction projects.

Founded in 1938 by a group of Orange County contractors, the nonprofit association provides a plans channeling service for the hundreds of area contractors, subcontractors and allied tradesmen who are meeting the county's record-smashing construction demands.

The formula of this service is simple but effective.

• • • •

BUILDING PLANS and specifications are brought to the association's headquarters at 941 Santiago St., Santa Ana, where they are given a file number and listed by project type on a bulletin board, together with competitive bid closing dates.

Contractors or their representatives then are permitted to withdraw sets of plans and retire to one of the three plans rooms for study and note-taking.

Users of the association's facilities are enjoined to abide by a code of "bidding" ethics. Architects and owners, it says, should "select for bidding only responsible contractors in whom they have confidence." Bids are to be kept confidential until after opening times, and each business transaction should be based upon "what is morally right, rather than that which may be legally enforceable."

Intentional violations of bidding ethics are dealt with by the association's Ethics and Grievances Committee, which may recommend action to be taken by the board of directors.

During 1962 the association handled a total of 496 sets of construction plans involving one or more building industry trades. In the first nine months of this year the total had reached nearly 500.

• • • •

THE ASSOCIATION is affiliated with the California State Builders Exchange, along with 35 other exchanges and trade associations throughout California. Through its manager, the OCBA also holds membership in the International Builders Exchange Executives, a function of which is the exchange of ideas and service program plans.

Present membership of the association now numbers in excess of 200 firms, 600 individuals in the construction industry—a rise of approximately 40 per cent during the last two years.

Start Country Club at Corona Project

Ground-breaking for the new Pepper Tree Country Club was held last week. Attending the ceremonies were the following members of the city government of Corona: Mayor J. Harold Harris, City Manager R. D. Pfiffner, and Planning Director H. E. Stottlemyer.

Located in the southwest section of the City of Corona at River Road and Rincon St., the new club will feature a 6,700-yard, 18-hole championship golf course with three lakes. According to the designer, Larry Hughes, the new course will be as interesting and picturesque as any his firm has designed.

• • • •

THE COURSE is part of the development of Royal Coachline Homes by Marjan Development, Inc. of Anaheim. The development embodies 1,030 acres and the golf course eventually will be surrounded by 572 homes, with an additional 2,000 homes to be built in the future.

According to Mark Pitman, president of Marjan, two schools will be built on the property in addition to two park sites. Also planned are several commercial shopping areas and special locations have been set aside for churches.

One of the features of the development will be areas for riding stables and bridle paths. The name of "Pepper Tree" was selected for the new club because of the numerous beautiful pepper trees found on the property.

Reports Surplus of Executives

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The economy ax in the business management ranks is apparently slowing demand for new executives. Management recruiter E. R. Hergenrather says 20 per cent more executives contacted his firm for job placements in September than a year ago, but the number of companies looking for executive talent dropped 50 per cent.

CONSTRUCTION STARTS

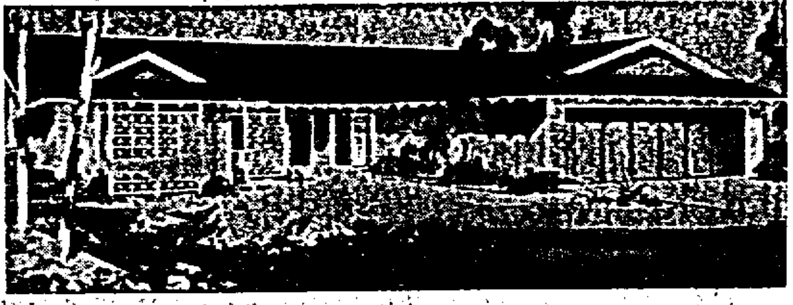
Need Only $100 Cash To Buy Pacifica Home



PRICED FROM $17,495

Large homes like this are offered in the Pacifica Series of Springdale South home development in Huntington Beach, with prices starting at $17,495. Only $100 cash is needed by the buyer.

The Pacifica Series, third and newest of the Springdale South home development in Huntington Beach, is very similar to its predecessors.

"The main similarity," notes Sy Bram, executive director of the Sunkist Plaza Building firm, lies in the speed of sales." Bram's reference was to the fact that the Pacifica Series was opened less than one month ago and already construction schedules have been speeded up in order to accomodate demand.

Pacifica Series, which follows the now-sold Diamond Head Series, offers occupancy on a no-down-payment basis for everyone with only $100 costs.

Springdale South, Pacifica, whose models are at the corner of Bolsa Avenue and Edwards Street in Huntington Beach, features an array of four three-and four-bedroom floor plans with a variety of exterior designs. Prices start at $17,495.

• • • •

BRAM ATTRIBUTES the fast sales of the previews unit to the extra value included in these homes. "This is possible, he explained, "because of the mass buying power we have accumulated through the years enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Sunkist Plaza Builders have constructed thousands of quality residences in various locations throughout Southern California.

The homes feature kitchens that are equipped with an array of quality built-ins. Waste King Universal appliances. They include built-in range and oven in color; waste disposer; Modern-aire range hood and fan in matching colors; natural ash cabinets and separate utility rooms.

• • • •

ALL HOMES have Custom-Aire forced air heating systems, sliding glass doors, vinyl asbestos floor tile and decorator designed lighting fixtures. The sparkling bathrooms feature spacious stall showers, vinyl asbestos floor tile, luxury Pullmans with Formica counters and deluxe medicine cabinets.

As a bonus feature, the large rear yards are fully fenced with approximately 130 lineal feet of Redwood Fencing plus gate.

To reach the development go east on Garden Grove Ave. to Golden West; right (south) on Golden West to Bolsa; right on Bolsa to Edwards and models.

Industrial Building Is Given Permit

A construction permit for a 17,600-square-foot industrial structure has been issued by the Garden Grove building department.

Valued at $76,560, the building will be erected at 13882-13902 West St. in the city's Westminster-Harbor industrial district. The permit was issued to The Harry Hancredi Co., 1104 E. 17th St., Santa Ana.

Also during the past week, unusual twin permits for a total of 1¼ miles of 6-foot block walls were issued to S & S Construction Co. of Beverly Hills. The permits had a combined value of $23,328, for 3,210 feet of wall in the vicinity of the 12200 block of Blackmere St., and 3,270 feet of wall in the vicinity of the 5500 block of Huntley St.

National Auto Glass Co. was given a permit for a $27,500 glass installation business building at 13041 Belfast Dr.

Other major permits of $1,000 or more valuation were issued during the week to the following:

Dennis Boyd, 6511 Santa Barbara St., addition and patio roof, $1,500; Robert Paul McDaniel, 12282 Jerome St., residence addition, $1,150; Farrow Development Co., block wall, vicinity 13400 block Heather Circle, $1,764.

Manca Development Co., Anaheim, block wall, vicinity 11100 block Dine Circle, $2,788; C. Robert and Ethel Cummins, 11851 Lampson Ave., garage, $1,100; Darre De Angelis, 11602 Desmond St., bedroom-bath addition, $2,800.

Permits for swimming pools were issued to Emery Aldridge, 14371 Ward St., $1,800; Lawrence Willis, 12712 Partridge St., $3,000; Paul Boblette, 12292 El Ranchero St., $2,700; Richard Kester, 11732 Timmy Lane, $2,800; Robert Cooper, 11722 Faund Lane, $1,000; Salvatore Macchetta, 4641 Chapman Ave., $2,500; Benjamin Fiora, 12682 Cadet Ave., $2,200.

New Mobile Home Park

Civic and community leaders joined in groundbreaking ceremonies for Paramount's newest commercial development, "Americana Mobile Home Park."

Located at 16600 Downey Ave. the 16-acre parcel will be developed into 170 oversize spaces to accommodate the largest type of quality mobile homes including the expandos and double width models. Each space provides for two off-street automobile parking spaces as well as a spacious individual patio area.

Other special features of this park are the air-conditioned clubhouse, featuring an auditorium, library and lounge. Outside the clubhouse will be a swimming pool, shuffleboard courts, and putting greens.

According to the Americana representative who is present daily at the park, it was developed with convenience and easy living in mind for adults only.

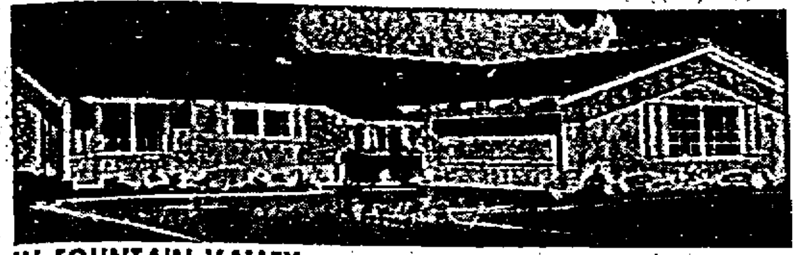
Lark Village Opening Third Unit Of Homes



IN FOUNTAIN VALLEY

Homes like this will be offered when the third unit of Lark Village opens for sale today. The homes in Fountain Valley are being developed by Charles W. Hester and are priced from $20,950 to $25,900.

Grand Opening of the third unit of Lark Village will be held today, it was announced by Charles W. Hester, developer of the popular Fountain Valley community. According to Hester the first two units sold out in record-breaking time and it is anticipated that the Third Unit will prove equally attractive to buyers.

Lark Village has one and two-story homes of three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms and two full baths. The homes are priced from $20,950 to $25,900 and can be purchased for as little as $195 down, plus costs.

• • • •

AMONG THE interesting innovations in Lark Village is a "future" room in the 2-story models. This mammoth 19'x26' room can be used as a rumpus room and as the family grows it can be converted into two bedrooms, or two smaller bedrooms and a playroom. This area has a bath plumbed for future use.

Lark Village lists among its outstanding features block wall fencing for the rear and side yards, underground sprinkler in the front, built-in Westinghouse range and oven, wall-to-wall carpeting, sunken living room, massive wood-burning fireplaces, mantle over fireplace and distinctive ash paneling. There is a wide variety of floor plans and exteriors.

Lark Village can be easily reached from Long Beach by going out Seventh St. to Brookhurst, right on Brookhurst to Edinger, then left to models.

Report Fast Sales in Enderle Gardens

The first unit of Enderle Gardens, the newest concept of individually owned homes in a 20-acre park in Tustin, is selling fast, according to the builders and developers, Nelson & Nelson.

The $2½ million dollar development of quality homes for adults and adults with older children has been four years in the planning stages and is the brainchild of J. A. Nelson, president of the development firm.

Enderle Gardens will consist of 62 homes when completed, set in a beautiful park with lagoon and with common greens surrounding the homes.

Winding streets and underground utilities are part of the beautification plan of the project. Hundreds of flowering trees, shrubs and plantings in the park, greens and around all the private patio have already been installed in the first unit of 16 homes.

Nelson pointed out that every one of the first 16 homes have entirely different floor plans and with many different types of stylings.

Extensive glass areas and sliding glass doors will open onto patios, and focus on the views and vistas of common greens and the park. Desired privacy of the covered patio with each home is being achieved with decorator stone walls and plantings.

Completely landscaped and maintained the year around, Enderle Gardens boasts of over 225,000 square feet or 5 acres of lawns and park alone under sprinklers. Over $80,000 will be spent on land- greens and in installing plant- scaping of the park, the ings around each home, the Nelsons stated.

The exclusive community is located south of 17th St. on Yorba Ave. within the city limits of Tustin.

IN PARK SETTING

An Enderle Gardens home is shown here viewed through a fountain in the central park area. Enderle Gardens consists of individually planned homes in a 20-acre, completely landscaped park in Tustin.

Big Royal Home On Low Terms

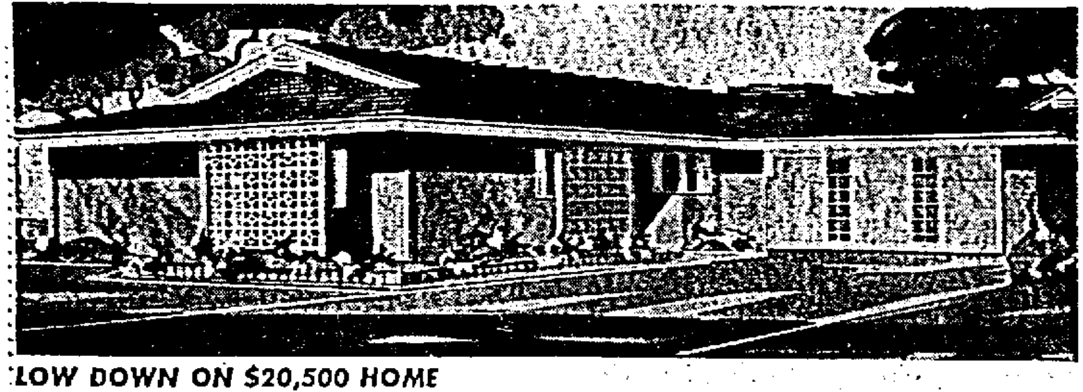
Excellent response to the new financing terms has been noted at Royal Homes, states Robert Rodman of the developing firm. According to Rodman buyers may purchase with as little as $295 down plus costs and pay no taxes or insurance premiums until January 1965.

Royal Homes, according to Rodman, offer the home buyer a "complete package." Buyers moving in find that the purchase price of their home includes such things as built-in range and oven, fence around rear yard with gate, dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpet, front lawns and shrubs.

THE LOCATION of Royal Homes is excellent, Rodman states, being the closest community to the beach in the new City of Fountain Valley.

The homes are three and four bedrooms with family room and two baths. The lots are extra large and will easily accommodate pools. The homes are priced from $20,500 and are available to qualified buyers with very low down payments.

Royal Homes are at Garfield and Cannery. From Los Angeles take the Santa Ana Freeway to Highway 39, south of Garfield and east to Cannery.



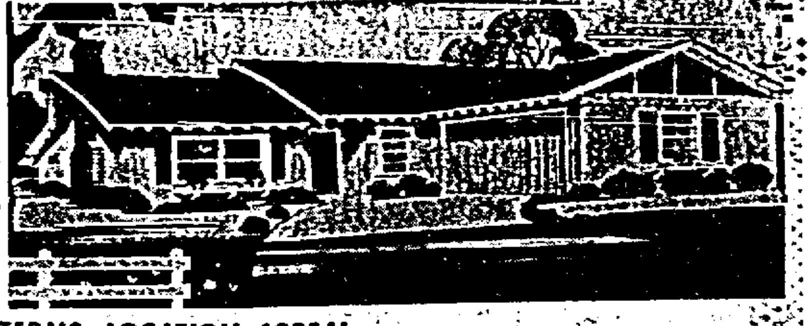
LOW DOWN ON $20,500 HOME
Royal Homes like this are offered in Fountain Valley at prices starting at $20,500 with low down payments. Carpeting, fencing and front lawns are included in the purchase price.

Will Offer Real Estate School Free

Kickoff meeting for a tuition-free real estate school will be Monday, 7:30 p.m., at 8307 Garden Grove Blvd.

The school, sponsored by the Moore Relaty Co., will be held Mondays and Wednesdays in Garden Grove from Nov. 11, and Tuesday and Thursdays in Fullerton, from Nov. 12. A staff of three instructors, headed by Jack Krueger, general manager of the firm will conduct the free classes.

E. Tennyson Moore, president of the company, said the free school, second offered by the company, is designed to train prospective salespeople to serve the real estate industry's growing business in Orange County.



TERMS, LOCATION APPEAL
The terms, which call for only $150 cash, and the location in Huntington Beach have been big factors in the rapid sale of the Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes. Here is one of the models offered.

Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes Nearing Sell Out

The sellout point at the Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes in Huntington Beach is approaching after only a few weeks since grand opening, according to Sy Bram, executive director of the Sunkist Plaza Builders, the developing firm.

"A survey by our sales personnel indicates that the leading factors in this rapid pace have been the terms, which allow for no down payment and only $150 costs to move in, and the prized location in Huntington Beach," Bram revealed.

High on the list of features has been the inclusion of Waste King Universal built-in appliances in the kitchen. This includes gas range and oven in color, disposal, range hood and fan in matching color.

• • • •

"THIS IS an example of the extra value found in our homes," commented Bram. "This is possible only through our mass buying power which we have accumulated through the years, enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Three basic floor plans can be incorporated in a choice of 25 exteriors that cover nearly every motif available.

"This is one of the reasons why, all things considered, it is one of the best home values in Huntington Beach," added Bram.

• • • •

THE DEVELOPMENT is only eight miles from California's finest beach and is "next door" to the various excellent recreation facilities offered by the city.

The quality residences also include a separate utility room, genuine Formica counters, natural ash cabinets, forced air heating with thermostat control, brick fireplaces, aluminum and glass shower doors, sliding wardrobe closets and shades and aluminum screens.

In addition, the homes are on 6000 square foot lots and are on wide paved streets. They feature all brass hardware and weather stripped exterior doors.

To reach models drive east on Garden Grove Blvd. to Golden West; right (south) to Bolsa; right (west) to Springdale; left (south) and follow signs to furnished models.

Everett Davis Buys Land in Capistrano

Everett Davis Sr., president of Everett Davis & Sons and Associates of Corona del Mar, has announced acquisition of 411 acres of land in San Juan Capistrano.

Al Simmons, a partner in the firm, said the decision to buy the property was based on the potential growth of the San Juan Capistrano Valley, the ready availability of water, sewers, utilities and the natural migration of a percentage of the million persons in Orange County who have a desire to live by the sea.

Access to the San Diego Freeway and Highway 101 links the property to metropolitan centers.

The land was purchased from the owners of the Capistrano Saddle Club. The property overlooks two golf courses, hills and the ocean.

L.B. Chaplain's Son on Board of Union Carbide

Dr. James M. Hester, president of New York University and son of a retired Long Beach Navy chaplain, has been elected a director of Union Carbide Corp., it was announced by Birny Mason Jr., president of the corporation.

DR. HESTER

Dr. Hester, who at 39 has been cited as one of the country's outstanding young educators, becomes the first representative from the academic world on Union Carbide's board of directors. His professional interests have included international affairs, management consulting and advertising research.

Dr. Hester, a graduate of Wilson High School, is the son of Chaplain James M. Hester.

Gumbiner Heads New Division of Ellis-Schrader

Creation of a new property investment and development division of Ellis-Schrader, Inc., Realtors, and appointment of Mark T. Gumbiner as its manager has been announced by J. Tyson Ellis, president of the firm.

Gumbiner, a native of Gard, Indiana, received his B. A. degree from the university and took his post-graduate work in the field of anthropology at the Universities of Washington and Chicago. He and his wife lived and worked among various Indian groups for several years in Mexican mountain villages. His work in anthropology was sponsored by the Universities of Washington and Chicago and by the National Indian Institute of Mexico.

GUMBINER

Gumbiner lectured for 10 years on anthropological subjects, and became a real estate specialist about two years ago.

Resales Draw Most Mortgages

NEW YORK (UPI) — Almost three times as many residential mortgages are issued in the United States as new houses started, the U. S. Savings & Loan League reports. The league says re-sale and re-financing mortgages thus are much the larger share of the business.

Rodgers Named L.B. Manager of Connecticut Life

Jack N. Rodgers, CLU, has been appointed manager of the Long Beach branch office of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., Thomas C. Simons, CLU, agency vice president, has announced.

Rodgers will direct the office's services personal and in all types of business insurance on an individual and group basis. He succeeds Dale W. Harding, CLU, who was recently appointed manager of the company's new Santa Ana branch office.

RODGERS

Rodgers joined the company in 1955 as a sales management trainee at the Houston branch office, and prior to his appointment here he was assistant manager of the Detroit branch office.

He and his wife, Patricia, a daughter and eight sons, make their home in Westminster.

First Unit of Showcase Home Development Sells Out Fast

PLAN UNIT TWO
Frank McFarland of McFarland & Mattocks, sales agents for Showcase Homes, and William Krueger, builder of the homes, contemplate the success of their sell-out of Unit 1 before the 101 homes were even completed for occupancy in Westminster. They are holding plans for Unit 2 of these homes which have an exclusive "growing room."

"The entire first unit of 101 Showcase homes was sold out 0 days before they were finished and ready for occupancy. People are willing to wait for this quality-value home even though many homes in the Westminster-Garden Grove area are available for immediate occupancy," stated Frank McFarland of McFarland & Mattocks, sales agents for the homes.

"People who have shopped the market for homes in this area," McFarland continued, "I feel a Showcase home is worth waiting for. We have already begun construction for unit two of these spacious homes. Furnished models can be seen at Hazard just east of Highway 39. rices begin at $19,935.

• • • •

ONE OF the outstanding features of Showcase homes is a large "growing room" in the second story of the split-level designs. By using one of the three plans provided by the builder, William Krueger, a home buyer can finish his home as a six-bedroom, three-bathroom luxury home or install two extra-large bedrooms and a bath to suit his family's needs. He can also utilize the extra-large "growing room" for a spacious family activity center. Krueger also offers the home-buyer the option of buying his home completely finished.

These homes offer 18 widely varied elevations. Exteriors are enhanced with stone, used brick or colonial brick. Entry halls are slate and roofs are wood shake and shingle. All tile in kitchens and bathroom is ceramic. In addition, there are marble pullmans in baths and oversized linen closets.

Electric kitchens feature built-in ranges, wide ovens, garbage disposers. Fireplaces are architecturally designed. Only wall-to-wall carpeting is used. A feature of each home is a completely fenced rear yard and a professionally landscaped front yard.

Who made it possible for Security Title to cut title fee costs?

You did.

Passing savings on to the customer is one of the best old traditions in American business.

Security Title believes in it. So we want to thank you who buy title insurance for helping us bring this idea to our own business in the form of reduced title fees.

Because of you, 1963 has been by far the most successful year in the company's history.

Our constantly rising volume, together with the nation's most modern and efficient title plant, made it possible to pass substantial title savings on to you.

Our new low title fees are available in Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties.

Reduced title fees have surprised some people. But the response among those who buy titles hasn't been surprising at all. We see it expressed every day in still more new orders.

With assets of $19,000,000 and a staff of over 1700 experienced employees, Security Title still isn't the biggest title insurance company. But we do try to be the best.

She Shoots Her Own Fur Coats

by Mary Ellis Carlton

BEAUTY AND THE BEASTS—Mrs. W. G. Krieger wears zebra weskit, is surrounded by animals shot on safari. Weskit (also coat on page W-5) were designed by Phil Surfas, local furrier, who also processed skins.

Red-haired Mrs. W. G. Krieger is a well-packaged bundle of dynamite who explodes all theories that modern-day women have gone soft.

This Park Avenue style Annie Oakley, a beautiful grandmother surrounded by every luxury modern push-button living has to offer, is a do-it-yourselfer when it comes to fur coats.

She shoots her own.

Of course, they're harder to find that way—but it's all part of the Big Game.

For this beauty walks and stalks the beasts in the wildest of lairs. She's come face to face with lions, tigers, zebras, elephants, rhinos and cape buffalo ("cape buffalo have killed more hunters in Africa than any other type jungle beast").

Many of the furocious animals she met in Africa—on three safaris with her avid-hunter husband, Woody—are now very much at home as throw rugs, chair covers, wall hangings and what-have-you in the couple's plush Lido Isle home overlooking fashionable Balboa Bay.

AT THE DROP of a travel folder, Thelma and Woody Krieger (he's past president of Douglas Oil Co., now chairman of the board) are off to trudge through jungles, ford streams, sleep in tents, travel thousands of miles in land rovers (African style jeeps), fight off mosquitoes, undergo hardships and suffer the ravages of long rains and humid weather.

Their favorite hunting ground is Kenya in lower East Africa, where diversified terrain offers up a variety of wild game.

They jet away to it all in space-age speed and luxury . . . four hours to New York, six hours to Rome, six more to Kenya's safari headquarters—Nairobi.

That's when their way of life changes. But drastically!

THE FIRST three days are spent getting acclimated, buying hunting licenses (one for each type animal to be pursued —an elephant license costs $250), studying maps, doing some target practice and getting outfitted with the proper shoes and supplies for the six-weeks' safari into the interior.

"You can take your wallet and buy most of the personal items you need right in Nairobi," said Mrs. Krieger. "If you're going, though, I recommend you take your own pants. The only styles available there for women are men's trousers cut short."

About the safari procedure: "The area —or areas—you will hunt are blocked out ahead of time, maybe a year ahead," explained Mrs. Krieger. "When you're assigned to an area—it's yours, all yours . . . there will be no other hunters within the block, which sometimes measures 50 miles. That way, you're not likely to get shot everytime you rustle a bush or hide behind a tree."

Each party must have a white hunter for each two shooters, also a crew of Africans (25 to 30) to set up camp, tote supplies, track and skin animals, cook meals and perform camp duties.

ALTHOUGH SAFARI life in Africa is rigorous, there are certain conveniences, Mrs. Krieger noted. Each outfit has a gas refrigerator and tents with zippers closings. Baths are taken nightly in folding canvas bathtubs filled with hot water heated in five-gallon drums ("the water may be swimming with leaves, but it's a bath.")

Delicious meals are prepared by the natives over a trench of hot coals (even hot loaves of bread) . . . and laundry is done daily (ironed, too) by the camp crew.

IN CAMP, nights take on eerie sounds —tigers growling, lions grunting, elephant's trumpeting, fish eagles giving forth with blood-curdling screams, hyenas laughing, bush babies wailing, the wind whistling through the big thorn trees.

Days are filled with the serious business of finding tracks (and recognizing them), stalking down the animals, and knowing what to do when you meet one face to face.

Mrs. Krieger has taken all in her stride. In one letter home she commented: "I'm getting to be a whiz at tracking! I can even recognize Woody's foot-

Exotic Cambodia Moves West

. . . College Going Dad Says No to Nhu, Yes to U.S.

By MARY NETH

Sie Chhorn of State College is at swords points with rapier tongued Madame Nhu.

A quiet young Cambodian, friendly, but reticent in expressing personal views, Chhorn grows almost voluble at mention of Viet Nam's "Dragon Lady." Her talkative tour of the U.S. isn't pleasing him at all.

In fact, Chhorn, who follows the Buddhist faith as do 98 percent of his countrymen, wonders seriously if neighboring South Viet Nam has a chance to win the war against the Communists as long as the brash beauty reigns at the palace.

He believes that while the South Vietnamese hate Communism, they aren't fond of her brother Diem's rule, either.

• • • •

CHHORN, here with wife and tiny daughter, Bophar, is one of 28 Cambodians studying at Long Beach State College under auspices of a unique U.S. program. The program, which aims to staff a complete school at Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, hinges on efforts to secure our position on the strategic Malay Peninsula.

In 1965 Chhorn will return to his homeland to teach at the school now being constructed by the United States. The entire faculty will be made up of Long Beach and Los Angeles State alums, whose impressions of the U.S. are bound to be passed on to the 1,800 member student body.

What those impressions are could be important for right down the street the Russians are wasting no time in staffing an industrial school of their own.

This interview took place before the revolution took place in Viet Nam where the political situation is constantly changing.

• • • •

BUT, NONE of this is in Chhorn's hands. Though he keeps track of world events (he's an avid reader of Time Magazine), and greatly admires Henry Cabot Lodge, his main interest centers, quite naturally, on his own little family and in doing well in his studies.

"I had never seen Bophar until last June when my parents made it possible for my wife to join me," he says. "The baby was born after I left home."

Chhorn first studied in Canada for a year before enrolling at Long Beach State in 1961. "It was easier that way," he explains. "I speak fluent French, the time in Canada gave me a chance to get adjusted—work on my English a little longer."

While Chhorn was away, his wife, Neang Sokhom, stayed with her parents and worked as nurse. "It was lonely for both of us," he says.

The U.S. government pays the bills for Chhorn's living expenses here, but not his wife's. His parents art footing the bill for that. With this in mind, the young couple watch their pennies carefully.

• • • •

"WE PREFER our own Cambodian dishes with perhaps an occasional hamburger thrown in," says Chhorn. "We aren't tempted by frozen foods and canned goods but even at that, we're finding the food bill runs high."

The Cambodian menu, according to Chhorn, leans heavily to rice — is similar to Japanese cooking. "Sometimes we have a little trouble finding the right spices," he says.

Right now their expeditions to the supermarket are a real family affair. Neang is taking English classes, but as yet, hasn't progressed far enough to venture out on her own. In fact, were it not for the companionship of two other Cambodian wives, she would be living a very isolated existence.

• • • •

"THERE'S ONE thing I do wish," says Chhorn, "that Bophar had someone to play with. There is no yard here. She has to stay inside unless her mama takes her for a walk."

Along these lines Chhorn has checked into nursery schools but as yet found none close by that he can afford. He thinks it would be good for his little daughter to meet some other children for an hour or so a week—learn some English.

"My wife is looking forward to the day when she can speak the language and when we can take some trips and see more of this big country."

So far, they have both observed that "life moves very fast here." Cambodia, by contrast, is a quiet country. Their pictures show it to be a land of much natural beauty, decorated with shrines and beautiful temples. One city, Angkor, is noted for the ruins of great stone monuments built at the height of the medieval empire.

The country, run as a constitution-

Local Scores--from Opera to Golf

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

THERE WAS a lot more than high class vocal tra la la-ing going on Friday night when San Francisco Opera opened its local run at the Shrine Auditorium. There were gala throngs of tra la la ensembled localites present, through the efforts of the L.B. Auxiliary to L.A. Philharmonic, which helps bring the opera to So. Cal.

All set for opening night at the opera.

Pictured above, to prove the point, are participants Vera and George Kerns and Helen and Wesley Grisinger. Of the 90 people from L.B. in the opening night crowd, about 70 tickets were sold by Vera alone.

Except for a few individuals, the operaites went up in two chartered buses—one leaving from Florence and Orville Cole's and the other from the Petroleum Club. Florence and Orville entertained for about 60 persons at a pre-opera buffet, a kudo affair for those who worked on the auxiliary's Wine and Roses party in early Fall.

Bet those were the gussiest busses in the bus business buzzing the freeways Friday night. What did the gang see? Pardon. Puccini's "Tosca."

ALTHOUGH delighted grandparents have been busy blanketing the town with phone calls, some still must not be aware that cute Gail and Phil Clock have welcomed their second baby, another girl, born Monday at Memorial. She was a "big" little gal, weighed 8 pounds and 13 ounces. The delighted grandmeres et grandperes are Clara and Andy Andrews and Frances and Henry Clock. Most excited of all is great grandmother, Maude (Mrs. Ralph) Clock.

WHILST on the track of well-known grandparents, add Emily and John Cottrell. Their daughter and son-in-law, Janet and John Hancock "presented" them with a baby girl back there in New York City where they make their home. The Hancocks' other child is John Cottrell Hancock, now a lively handful of a 2-year-old. The baby's name is Lauren. Emily, due home in a few days or even any minute now, has been back with Janet and John since early October.

LONG BEACH turned "best dressed" in a variety of locations Monday. One spot was around the Assistance League's House when members wore best bib and tuckers to annual Founder's Day. Founder Winifred Campbell was there and beaming, despite the fact she recently had a set-to with hospital life.

Seen here and there—Emily Persons quietly accepting congrats for her new job editing league's "hello" newsletter—Loraine Miller arriving, but not able to stay long, with Clare Hossum, Norma Trammell and Vivian Davis.

With a kind of motherly interest, past presidents, smiling those everything-in-order smiles, noted were Ann Exley, Marian Ritner, Ann Yunker and Mildred Wing. And OF COURSE Tess Heusel was casting her infectious enthusiasm all around for our now in full swing Diamond Jubilee celebration.

GETTING Halloween scare crows off the ground early Thursday at League House were co-hostesses Alice Sievers, Hazel Robinson and Flo Newton who entertained at a brunch-bridge for about 120. Bridge prizes, the lucky, gals, were bottles of perfume purchased by Hazel in France during here just completed trek to Europe.

STEALING THIS one, lock, stock, barrel, trigger and buckshot, too, from Junior League's most recent issue of "High Tidings," is the pix and info below. The Debutante Committee Ball announced that Dr. Art Buell will act as master of ceremonies for the Dec. 28th high society affair.

Art is shown surrounded by, left, Pat Johnson and Marjory Clarke. Encompassed by smiles like that what could the poor guy say, "No?" Of course not. It will be no easy chore to be debonair in the glare of the bright lights but Art is long used to league ways and helpfulness since wife, Sue, went active in 1948.

Picture of man being coerced into doing a job.

Among Country Clubettes who were on the ball!

HAIL the winners—who certainly proved they were hale on the golf course—of the annual Dick Browning sponsored women's golf tourney at Virginia Country Club. Pictured above three of the top non-bogeyers (if such a term you please permit) are, from left, partners Marge (Mrs. Bob) Sprague and "T.D." (Mrs. Bob) Mahannah with Judy (Mrs. Milo) Ellik, whose partner, not pixed, was Ruth Easley. They shared winners honors with 210 net scores for the 54 hole play, first couple, 211 for next.

Other winners who were feted at a post-play celebration Friday at the club (luncheon and the awarding of Steuben glass prizes) were Daphne Munzer and Rose Northrup, 213; Ruth Drum, Marge Middleton, 214, to take second places. Third prizes went to Kay Smith and Tressa Slosson, 215; Edna Abrams and Pat Settles, 216.

Nine hole players winning were Mary Lou Collins and Virginia Owen, with a sizzling 211 (these gals should be in the 18 hole group), Lorita Oliver and Dora Hill, second place, with a net 230.

WHEREAS the scroll type invitations were dreamed up one night, a la an official document, while one hostess, Dorothy Wiltse, was reading the Congressional Record (get her) then, whereas and subsequently, the guests had a glorious time. The occasions were two brunches and beautifully, socially legislated by co-hostesses Betty Buffum and Betty Godwin at the Buffum's home in Park Estates last Monday and Tuesday.

The assisting list reads like a who's who in Long Beach for both days. To give you but a sprinkling—Jane Rhorer, Jean Burdge, Sallie DeGolia, Betsy Taubman, Lois Wright, Jane Kresl, Helene Drown, Lorain Lungren, Lee Ellis and ever so many more. Guest lists read likewise.

Ruffridge Anniversary to Be Celebrated Here

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruffridge will be honored at an open house today in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

The event will take place in their home, 735 Freeman Ave., from 2 to 5 this afternoon and is being given by their daughters and granddaughter.

The Ruffridges are now home following a second honeymoon during which they visited Iowa and 16 other states.

In Iowa, they were honored at a party given by the Andrew Carneys of Charles City. On Oct. 27, 50 relatives joined them in celebration at a dinner in the California Room of Clifton's Cafeteria.

THE COUPLE married Sept. 24, 1913, at the bride's home near Marble Rock, Iowa. They came to California in 1952.

He was a farmer and also a truck driver for a livestock company until retirement. He is now president of the Iowa Association here and manager of the Coast Federal Saving Baseball team in the City League.

Mrs. Ruffridge became a life member of the P-T.A. after coming to California and works on numerous fund-raising campaigns.

They have two daughters, Erma Ruffridge and Mrs. John Donlon, both of Long Beach and one granddaughter, Ruth Donlon, also of this city.

Pioneer Families Joined

Diane Michele London and Walter Melvin Killingsworth Jr., members of prominent Long Beach pioneer familis, were married in an afternoon wedding at California Heights Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. Walter Melvin Killingsworth and Charles P. London.

The bride wore a formal gown with a re-embroidered Chantilly lace bodice, satin skirt and chapel train. Her petal veil fell in four tiers from a crown of seed pearls and crystal.

Lanette Killingsworth attended the bride as maid of honor. The bridegroom chose Dennis Babb to serve as best man.

OTHER MEMBERS of the bridal party included Terry, Christy and Stephen London, Gail and Trudy Chilcote, William Peake, James Denny, Steven Dalton and Richard Schmidt and Douglas Farmer.

Mrs. Edward Killingsworth, aunt of the bridegroom, was soloist.

A champagne reception followed the ceremony at Virginia Country Club.

The new Mrs. Killingsworth attended Anoakia and Progress School. Her husband is a graduate of Polytechnic High School.

The couple is honeymooning at an undisclosed destination.

Party Games Are Not Always Fun for All Participants

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

At a Halloween party last week my little son of 9 had a terrible experience.

The mother of the little host had taken it upon herself to supervise the games. After the cake and ice cream, she said: "Let's play hide and seek in the dark." My little son always has been frightened of the dark and he begged her not to turn the lights off.

But she laughed and patted him on the shoulder, and the other children called him "coward." So the lights went off, the tip-toeing of little feet began, and there was breathing and tittering and moaning sounds. Finally one of the youngsters felt my son crouching under the stairs and he cried: "I'm a ghost and I'm going to carry you away."

When the lights came on my son had fainted dead away, and it took a long time and a doctor to bring him out of his trance. Ever since then he has been in a terrible emotional state. His fears have been multiplied. He jumps at every sound and insists on sleeping with lights on. The psychiatrist says it may take a long time to bring him out of this state.

I am writing this, Mrs. Mayfield, in the hope that mothers who are giving such parties not be tempted to indulge in practical-joke types of games. How cruel such games are!

—DISTRAUGHT.

DEAR DISTRAUGHT:

You could not be more right. The fine English author, Graham Greene, wrote a short story, "End of the Party," very much like the episode you have told, except that the lad died as the lights came up.

When I was young I went to such a children's party. We bobbed for apples—in the dark. Who thought up this crazy idea, I'm not sure. But one little boy was almost drowned when a bigger lad held his head under water. If someone hadn't turned the lights on, I'm sure he would be dead today.

In giving a children's party, it's always good to ask yourself: How will the party end?—M. M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

We have several sets of "wind bells" hung from the limbs of trees in our garden. When the breezes blow they render the loveliest music.

But we have mean, nasty neighbors who are constantly complaining that the bells "drive us crazy," or asking us if we can't stop "the infernal racket." They complain that they can't sleep because of our bells or that the bells wake them up.

How can people be deaf to such soft, lovely sounds? I feel that I am right in this and see no reason to remove bells that sound so softly and melodiously. Am I not right?—AGNES.

DEAR AGNES:

I, too, am very fond of wind bells, but I do feel strongly that one set at a time sounds vastly better than many sets mingling together.

I can well imagine your neighbors writing the following letter: "Dear Mrs. Mayfield: We have neighbors who have quite a few wind bells in their garden, and while we would not object to one set, we do find several make more "music" than we can possibly appreciate. Don't you think we have a right to complain?"

Agnes, I'm afraid my answer to them would be "Most certainly."—M. M.

'Magic in Motion' Thursday

Long Beach alumnae will attend Alpha Chi Omega's seventh annual "Magic in Motion" fashion luncheon benefit Thursday in the International Ballroom of Beverly Hilton Hotel.

New interest in the event has been aroused by recent announcement by the National Society for Crippled Children that the 19th District ranked first in the United States and Canada in 1962 in funds raised and service hours donated to the handicapped. Southern California executive board, sponsor of the coming benefit, was responsible for the greatest amount of financial assistance in the district.

• • • •

ALUMNAE from 14 Southern California areas will attend the benefit. Hundreds of white feathered birds escaping from white bird cages on green tablecloths and from a large aviary on stage will convey the thought that to a crippled child there is "Magic in Motion."

After luncheon, Georgia Bullock will present her latest Fall and Barefoot Collection. A fortunate guest will receive one of Miss Bullock's designs at the close of the showing, when many valuable door prizes will be awarded.

• • • •

AMONG HONORED guests will be Mrs. George Stevens (Ivy Baker Priest, former Treasurer of the United States and past honorary chairman of the National Easter Seal Campaign), and Alfred T. Alden, president of the Crippled Children's Society of Los Angeles County.

Mrs. John S. Nash and Mrs. Richard L. Oblinger are benefit co-chairmen.

• • • •

LONG BEACH members on the benefit committee include Mmes. Joseph D. Dennis Jr., Roy K. Andriesse, William S. Flower, Franklin D. Rider, Joseph J. Risinger and George Moore.

In addition to supporting the annual benefit, Long Beach alumnae contribute funds and volunteer hours to the Long Beach Regional Center of Crippled Children's Society.

An annual harbor cruise is sponsored for handicapped children and young adults and the purchase of wheelchairs and speech therapy equipment is made possible through the efforts of the local group.

Members serve as volunteer interviewers for the summer camp program, address Easter Seal envelopes, and beginning this fall will furnish volunteer help in the center's office one day a week.

75th Year Fete for Tri Delts

Founded in Boston in 1888, Delta Delta Delta, a national fraternity for women, is celebrating a 75th anniversary this year.

Tri Delt Alumnae of Southern California will meet with collegiate members from UCLA, USC and Long Beach Panhellenic Monday at 7 p.m. in the Viennese Room of the Huntington Sheraton Hotel in Pasadena to observe the event.

Mrs. Pierre J. Laustaunou, president of the Southern California Alumnae Council, is chairman. Speaker will be Mrs. Edward Natesteen, past national president.

Delta Delta Delta now has 108 collegiate chapters and 313 alumnae chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

• • • •

SOUTHERN California Tri Delts also support the research of hematology at Los Angeles Children's Hospital and have endowed a seat at Los Angeles Music Center.

Among those attending from Long Beach will be Dianne Corbitt and Mmes. Charles Smith, associate Tri Delta director; Marlene Johnson, Carl Frear, Kenneth Gaines, Aubrey Dean Williams and Joseph Reed.

Dance Studio Featured at Program

Gladora Dance Studio of Inglewood will present "A Salute to Football Heroes" at the Community Program sponsored by the Long Beach Recreation Department Monday in the Exhibit Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

The cast of 30 ranges in age from 3 to 20. The ballet group will dance 'An American in Paris, "featuring the Gladorettes in "That's Entertainment."

Carl H. Robertson will open the program at 7:30 p.m. leading the community singing, with Regenia Beam as accompanist.

The Tyo Orchestra will play for old time and square dancing following the show. Joe Marshall will be the caller.

The public is invited to this free civic program.

'New Model You' Series

Lost, 25 Pounds; Found, Glamor

Dear Fashion Editor: Five years ago, my husband bought me a fur cape — and I promised to lose 10 pounds. The next year he gave me a beautiful grey suit (a bribe to lose the original 10 and five more pounds gained in the interim). Last year — with 25 pounds added since the fur cape episode — he just shook his head. At 44 and 5-feet-1, my 149 pounds make people look twice these days — but NOT admiringly. Anyway you figure, I need help.

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
I, P-T Fashion Editor

What promised to become vegetation has —presto!—turned into vitality for Mrs. Katherine Cougle, our latest candidate for the I, P-T's "New Model You" series.

Viewing the mirrored reflection of her 125-pound figure, her more flattering coiffure (here a wig) and her wake-up with makeup, she commented enthusiastically:

"It's true . . . really true! Feeling you look attractive is the better part of security. I can now say, from experience, that knowing you look your best self gives renewed confidence . . . you work better, feel better, think better."

And we think no truer words were ever spoken.

MRS. COUGLE'S transformation started months before, when she wrote to the I, P-T asking if she could be one of our makeovers:

"At 44 AND 5-feet-1, 149 pounds makes people look twice at Yours Truly sometimes," she wrote, "but NOT for the same reason they looked around six years ago when I was 30 pounds lighter."

When we asked why she wanted to be made over, it was her husband, Ralph, she mentioned: "I'm really not much of an inspiration for keeping my husband a 'Middle Years Sweetheart'—particularly when my Better Half, who wears the same size he did at 22, is beginning to despair of what type dress to buy for his Mrs. 5x5."

OUR SUBJECT'S tranformation started —as all good transformations should—with a figure analysis. Chanting words like "I haven't gone anywhere for three years" . . . "I feel lik a blimp" . . . I roll instead of walk," she checked in at Pat Walker's Stauffer salon in Lakewood.

She tipped the scales at 149. Her dimensions: 42-34-42—a pretty broad outlook for her short stature. Diagnosis: at least 25 to 30 pounds had to go.

They have. After persistently following the passive exercise routine for a few months at the reducing salon, Mrs. Cougle has pared off 25 pounds and is still losing. With new 38-28-37 proportions, she's gone from a size 18 to size 12 dress, with size 10 the goal.

WHAT REMAINED to be done? She needed a sleeker, more well-defined look—a more flattering hair style, tips on makeup.

Next to her weight loss, the most startling change was her hair. In her after pictures, she's wearing a copper-toned wig that matches her own too-thin tresses. The wig-do was accomplished by a stylist at du Barry Glamor Tops, 250 Long Beach Blvd., who designed a brush-up coif with a whisp of bangs to give added height and soften her features.

Her own hair (which she had been wearing yards too long "because it's so thin") was restyled by Mr. Stanley at the Vogue Modeling Agency salon. Cropped shorter, it turned out to have a buoyant, fuller, more natural look. Her hair style was chosen on the same principles as her fashions were—it's simple, it's soft, it's youthful.

FOR HER wake-up with make-up, done by Elda Barry, owner-operator of the Vogue Agency, we gave her fake brown lashes (mink), a pale foundation and lighter lipstick. A darker foundation was used on the tip of the nose to give it less prominence. Rouge was blended high on the cheeks ("every woman should wear rouge—to give a more finished, a more youthful look," says Mrs. Barry).

Brows were raised with hair strokes drawn with an auburn-colored eyebrow pencil. The finishing touch: a water-base eyeliner, powder eye shadow.

All makeup was applied subtly—with restraint. Over-all result: a more youthful, natural look.

TO SHOW OFF her thinner figure and highlight her hair color, we chose an after-five dress of vibrant brown with simple lines.

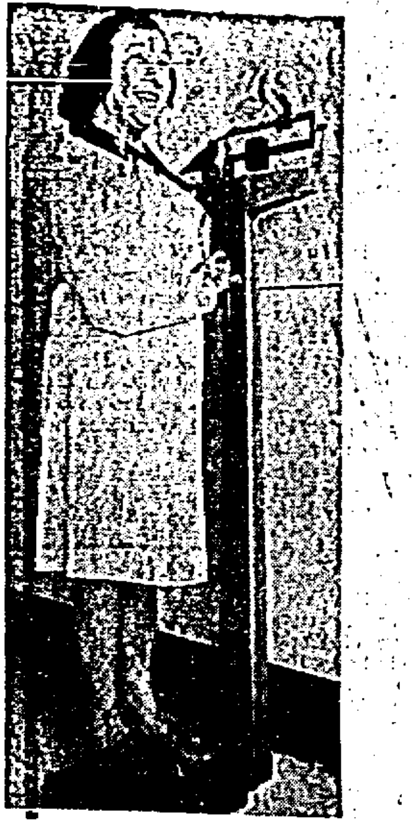
And we gave these if-you-are-short rules for her daytime wardrobe: Think "tall" and wear vertical lines with the emphasis high —a broad white collar, a bright scarf. High hats and heels are good buildups. Slim skirts, single color outfits, accessories scaled to your size, short jackets and rather short skirts are good. Best if your belt matches—and keep it narrow.

AND, REMEMBER, a makeover begins when you decide to take the time to find your particular inimitable best looks.

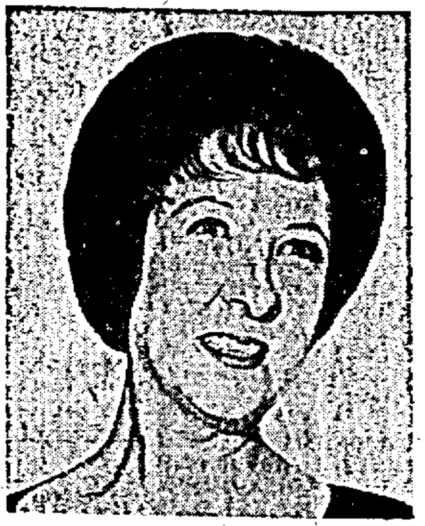
What you're searching for is your own feeling about YOU, expressed in clothes, in make-up, in the way you wear your hair. When you've found it, it will be as personal and as consistent as your signature . . . and the way to find it is to experiment—there are few instantaneous revelations.

The foundation for it all: a well-proportioned figure. So check your scales and your dimensions first. Then go from there.

As Mrs. Cougle put it: "When I started getting my figure back, I got my personality back, too."



BEFORE—Katherine Cougle in May, when figure analysis at Stauffer System salon started her on road to new-found glamor. Hair, worn too long, flat on top shortens height.



AFTER—A wig, to match her own auburn hair, gives buoyant, more youthful look. Wig was designed especially for Mrs. Cougle by stylist at du Barry Glamor Tops.

—Staff Photos by Joe Risinger

SHOWING OFF new size 12 figure (she formerly wore size 18), Mrs. Cougle's after-five dress from Vinson's, 4500 Atlantic Ave., has simple lines, is vibrant brown (to complement hair color). Mrs. Cougle lost 25 pounds, plans to lose more.

Shoots Her Own Fur Coats

prints. His basketball shoes make a little monkey-face track. I can now tell a rhino from an elephant, a dik-dik from a buffalo. Lions have big kitty-tracks. Hyenas really fool me; their toenails leave a funny mark.

ONCE SHE'S tracked down her prey, she gets him. With dead-eye proficiency, she's bagged what big game hunters call the Big Five—an elephant, rhino, lion, leopard and cape buffalo. And each with ONE shot—something of a record among females OR males, according to her African white hunter, Eric Rundgren.

How many others has she to her credit? She's lost count.

But she pooh-poohs her prowess with a rifle.

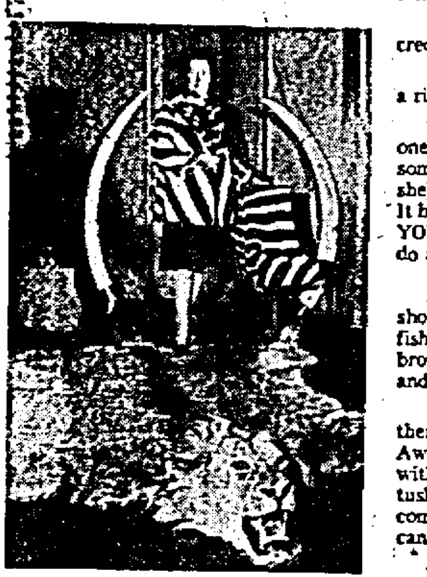
"Anyone can do it," says she, "anyone who can walk, see, shoot a gun, find something to rest it on . . . and if he (or she) knows the animal's vulnerable spot. It helps, too, if the animal holds still, and YOU don't fall apart," she laughed. "I do all my shaking afterwards."

MRS. KRIEGER isn't the only crack shot in her family. Her husband, an avid fisherman and animal tracker, has brought home enough skins, horns, heads and hooves to fill a museum.

And the couple's oldest son, Dennis, then 19, won the Air France Trophy Award on the family's first safari (1960) with his 114 and 123-pound elephant tusks. Their other son, Steven, also accompanied the couple on their first African trip.

Although the boys were not on the second and third African trips, they'll be on the fourth—next August. It'll be the most exciting of all—into Southern Africa's barren Kalahari Desert, hunting ground of the savage Bushmen, who still live as they did in the Stone Age.

It's the first year safaris have been organized for this almost virgin territory. As Mrs. Krieger put it: "This should be quite a challenge."



MORE TROPHIES from Africa . . . zebra jacket, styled by Phil Surfas, Long Beach furrier . . . zebra covered chairs (she has set of four), elephant tusks, polished and gold-tipped . . . elephant-hoof wastebasket . . . lion rug.

Gourmet Cookery Class Set

Gourmets on a budget should give the latest workshop offered by Long Beach City College General Adult Division top billing.

The workshop, a four-week foreign cookery project, will present ideas, recipes and typical menus for thrifty but exotic international style meals.

The weekly three-hour sessions (beginning Tuesday at 7 p.m.) are sponsored by heh Home and Family Living Deparment of the college and offered the public free of charge. The classes will meet in Room 431, Millikan High.

SPECIAL topics to be covered will be a "Gathering of the Clan" dinner Tuesday, a "South of the Border" buffet supper Nov. 12, a "Dutch Breakfast Party" Nov. 19 and a "Viennese Candlelight Dinner" Nov. 26.

Theme of Benefit Dance

"Pumpkin Promenade" is the theme which will be developed for the benefit dance to be sponsored by Saint Matthew's Parish Council on Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Toast Room of the Elks Club.

The Hi Tones will provide music for dancing and there will be door awards and games. The public is invited.

Mrs. Donald Jones is chairman. Assisting her are Mmes. Charles Magee, Raymond Murray, Albert Michels, Norman Leslie and Lawrence Sauter. For ticket information contact Mrs. Charles Magee, 675 Stanley Ave.

"Strange Bedfellows," period comedy by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, will have its formal opening Friday and an informal showing Saturday at Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St.

The play will run Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays through Dec. 7 and will reopen Jan. 2.

An invitational showing for civic leaders associated with Long Beach Diamond Jubilee will be given this Thursday at 8 p.m. and will be a formal night.

• • • •

THE COMEDY, set in San Francisco in 1896, was selected as the Jubilee presentation because its theme centers around the fight for women's suffrage and other features of life in California during the period.

Claudene Atkinson and Patrick B. Phelan play newlyweds who have come to San Francisco to make their home with the bridegroom's parents, pioneer residents. To the horror of the oldtimers, the bride is a vigilant exponent of women's rights.

• • • •

KATHERYN OFFILL is cast as the mother, a salty character, and Gil Davis is the father, a blustering senator who trumpets his beliefs as truth without argument.

Darlene Chaffee and Ken Harkey have vivid roles as a daughter and son-in-law. Their two children are played by Mark Atkinson and Gayle Shadduck. Anne Reines is Tillie, manager of a Barbary Coast establishment.

Larry Johns is director. Costumes were created by Charlotte and Katheryn Shuman.

SHOCKING VIEWS
Claudine Atkinson and Patrick B. Phelan (left), as newlyweds, are being admonished sternly for their modern views by Kathryn Offill and Gil Davis, pioneer parents of the groom, in "Strange Bedfellows," which will open Friday at Community Playhouse. The period play is offered as a Jubilee special.

L.B. Artists' Display in Water Color Show

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Three Long Beach artists are represented in the 43rd annual National Exhibition of California Water Color Society which opens Thursday at Otis Art Institute, 2401 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles.

They are Fran Soldini, Robert Adams and Elsa Warner.

The exhibition of 96 paintings was selected from 772 entries by jurors Richard Haines, Emil Kosa Jr., Edward Reep, John Leeper and Delmer Yoakum. Seventeen prizes totaling $4,500 will be awarded.

Gallery hours are 12:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays; the gallery is closed Mondays. The show will continue through Dec. 22.

Mrs. Soldini's painting was chosen as one of 31 entries to go into a traveling show which will tour the United States next year.

California Water Color Society is a national organization, founded in 1921 with 11 members. Since then, it has grown to more than 300 members, many of national and international reputation.

Currently, the society has three shows on tour: the travel show of last year's annual exhibition, the Virginia Museum Traveling Exhibition and Travel '63, which was organized to meet the demand of local educational institutions and galleries. It will open Tuesday at Westside Jewish Community Center, 5870 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles, and includes 40 paintings.

• • • •

A ONE-MAN exhibit of paintings by Herb Griswold will open with a reception Saturday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Veltman Gallery, 5601 E. Second St. and will be on view through Nov. 23.

• • • •

WILLIAM Sanson writes, "I have just finished an oil painting, the most exciting painting I have ever done."

Titled "History of Man," it depicts man from his beginning to the present time.

The large work is on view in Sanson's studio window, 441 E. Broadway.

• • • •

THREE PROFESSIONAL artists will exhibit during the year at Purcell Art Gallery, Chapman College.

Paintings by Lorser Feitelson will be shown Nov. 11 to 22, sculpture by Henry Moore will be exhibited Feb. 3 to 14 and Bible illustrations by Marc Chagall will be displayed May 4 to 15.

• • • •

A NEW FEATURE will be added Monday to the continuing exhibit, "Treasures of India," at Lytton Center of the Visual Arts, 150 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood. Going on display and sale will be a collection of jewels, valued at more than $250,000, and donated by Indian citizens for the benefit of Prime Minister Nehru's India Relief Fund.

Exhibit highlights include 25 Indian color documentary motion pictures shown hourly; sale of thousands of India's finest handicrafts, rare embroidered textiles, saris, contemporary paintings, temple sculpture, metal work and puppets.

Admission is free. Hours are Mondays through Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Fridays, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

• • • •

PAINTINGS and prints by Lily Shuff will go on view in Pepperdine College's auditorium foyer Monday and will continue through Nov. 22.

In 1944, Miss Shuff's painting, "The Purple Heart," was cited by a New York Times critic as the most poignant picture of World War II that he had seen. Her paintings also reflect her avid interest in athletics.

• • • •

CALIFORNIA PAINTER George R. James will have a show during the month of November at the new Corot Gallery, 664 South Coast Highway, Laguna Beach.

James, who won first place purchase prize awards at the California State Fair and the annual Newport Show, will unveil his new seascapes.

The artist, now art chairman at Savanna High School in Anaheim, holds a master's degree from Long Beach State College and has studied at Chouinard's Art Institute and the San Francisco Academy of Advertising Art. He resides in Costa Mesa.

Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, including Saturdays and Sundays.

LBMA Exhibit Notes City Diamond Jubilee

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

The Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., is marking the City's Diamond Jubilee with a showing of artists who live or work in the Long Beach area. The exhibit runs through this month.

Thirty-four painters, six sculptors, two potters and a jeweler were invited to enter works. They included members of the Long Beach Art Association, artists in the Museum's last juried show and the faculties of Long Beach State College and Long Beach City College.

In the foyer are displayed a gossamer silver wire pendant necklace by Al Pine, a "magic-realism" pencil still life by Dr. Charles Thompson, a rampantly expressionistic oil landscape by Orval Dillingham and an aqueous harborscape by Fran Soldini.

• • • •

THE MOST remarkable work in the large West Gallery is Lucille Brown-Greene's "Talk Peace, Rattle Sabre." The horizontal painting is crossed with two long pieces of steel. The painting in strong areas of black, white and red, is textured, incised, studded with nailheads, and, in one area, adorned with gold leaf.

Another unusual work is a large portrait of a fashionable lady by Jack Van Eden, president of the art association. The bright orange and reds are balanced with soft green.

• • • •

AMONG THE sculptures are a haut relief marble mother and child by Ina de Can and the same theme in the full round in wood by the late Ed Rugels.

Tenold Peterson's oil is reminiscent but not referential to Archile Gorky in its resolving amorphous forms in high color.

Among the works in the East Gallery, Grace Dimmick's "River Overflows" is elegant in its use of only a deep green-blue and a yellow; its simplicity suggests enormous complexity. Three sculptors are here: Ken Glenn's rather alarming "Executive," Ralph Tarzian's "Bull from Altimira," and Bob Jablonsky's small bronze lovers.

• • • •

A GORGEOUS pedestal pot by Ward Youry supports a wealth of incised and applied design with the strength of its basic form.

An historical note is struck by the inclusion of a swimmer in a marine wonderland by Florence Gendron, one of the charter members of the art association.

• • • •

THE DIVERSITY of style, theme, and content among these artists reflects the Long Beach community with an absence of static homogeneity. It is interesting to contrast the sunset-on-the-desert landscape by Geoffrey Holt with the fauvist color and expressionistic brushwork of a nearby industrial landscape with palm trees by John Martin. Or, for that matter, to contrast the illusionistic seascape of James Peter Cost with Fran Soldini's very personal vision of water.

Opera in L.A.

San Francisco Opera Company, which opened its 27th Los Angeles season Friday, will run through Nov. 24 with 20 performances of 14 works.

Kurt Herbert Adler, general director, asks that audiences arrive in time for the curtain, since late comers will not be seated until the first intermission.

On Stage---

CHAPEL THEATER, 4164 Pacific Coast Hwy., Torrance, "Thieves' Carnival," 8:30 p.m., Friday, Saturday, Sunday, through Nov. 24.

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Strange Bedfellows," 7:45 p.m. Thursday, 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MAGNOLIA THEATER, 2405 Magnolia Ave., "Come Blow Your Horn," 8 p.m. Thursday and Sunday, 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, through Nov. 24.

MORGAN HALL PLAYHOUSE, 835 Locust Ave., "[illegible]," 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Sunday, through Nov. 17.

OFF-BROADWAY THEATER, 377 Long Ave., "Orpheus Descending," 8:30 p.m., Friday, Saturday, closing Saturday.

Luka Roki, Talented Basso

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

Major and Minor Notes

A few years ago I wrote in glowing terms about a superb basso I heard sing in a performance of "The Messiah" in the Municipal Auditorium under the direction of Rolla Alford. The voice was so magnificent and the interpretation so heartfelt that I never forgot it, so I was very pleased when the singer came to see me recently.

Luka Roki was born on the Island of Vis in Yugoslavia. Yugo, he explained, means south.

A happy homeland it was, with much music everywhere. He entered the conservatory for four years study and at the age of 19 made his debut in opera in the city of Split, a beautiful place on the Adriatic. At 21 he joined the Navy for two years compulsory service.

After the war, Roki and his family sought other homelands. The parents, brother and sister went to Sydney, Australia, while Luka came to the United States, where he is now a naturalized American citizen.

ROKI TOURED the country with the San Carlos Opera Company, singing principal roles and finally reached Los Angeles. Three years ago he and his pretty young wife, an American girl and also a singer, visited his family in Australia—whom he had not seen since 1938.

"I loved Australia," said Roki. "In Sydney there is a magnificent opera house, right on the water front, where opera is produced the year round."

"How is it that there is so little opera in a country as rich as America?" he asked.

I could not answer him, but I deplored the fact as deeply as did he.

• • • •

SINCE COMING to California, he has appeared in opera performances with the Los Angeles Opera Company and the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, singing such roles as Count Monterone in "Rigoletto," Mephistopheles in "Faust" with Marilyn Niska, and Colline in "La Boheme."

Luka Roki loves church music and oratorio. A resident of San Pedro, he sings regularly as soloist in the First Methodist Church there. This tall, handsome man has a gentle manner and his unusually beautiful, rich voice bespeaks a heart. He moved the Long Beach audience profoundly when he sang in "The Messiah." With such a rare talent in our midst, it is to be fervently hoped that we will hear more of Luka Roki.

• • • •

HALF NOTE: It is heartwarming to note that my prediction in a review of Mary Costa has come true. In a recent issue of the San Francisco Chronicle, columnist Herb Caen writes: "Mary Costa, the darlin' of the San Francisco Opera has just been engaged to sing at the Metropolitan in "La Traviata," the role that made her famous on the West Coast.

Willis Butler

Travel to Austria Via Film

Willis Butler's "Austria in Four Seasons" will be presented at five high school auditoriums this week as the second program of the 1963-64 International Film Series, sponsored by Long Beach City College General Adult Division.

Showings are scheduled at 8 p.m. Monday in the Wilson High auditorium, Tuesday at Jordan, Wednesday at Lakewood, Thursday at Poly and Friday at Millikan. Both single-event and season tickets will be available at the box office.

• • • •

BUTLER, the photographer and narrator for the all-color documentary, has been making educational motion pictures since 1940 and has produced a number of films for television. He was previously on the faculty of Northwestern University, where he managed the FM radio station and developed the university's first course in TV film production.

• • • •

"AUSTRIA IN Four Seasons" reflects the gay charm of the tourists' Austria from Vienna to the Alps, its cultural heritage and imperial past, and its present situation as an outpost of the free world bordered on three sides by Communist countries.

Audition Albums for Gift Ideas

"Music for the Feast of Christmas" with the Choristers of Ely Cathedral and the Renaissance Singers, and "The Wonderful Night of Greccio," a story of St. Francis, are two Christmas albums recently added to the phonograph record section at the Main Library. Now is the time to audition recordings for Christmas programs and gift ideas.

"The Poetry of Dryden" is read by Paul Scofield. "Scenes from American Novels" include selections from "Moby Dick," "Ethan Frome," and "Two Years Before the Mast." Jose Ferrer reads the Spanish version of "Pedro Y El Lobo" by Prokofiev.

• • • •

FINLAND'S famous male singers, Lauhu-Miehet, a choir of 85, are heard in "Finnish Folk Songs." For the student of the flute, Mozart's "Quartets for Flute" have been recorded with the solo part missing. "Golden Years of the Boston Symphony" includes outstanding selections conducted by Karl Muck, Pierre Monteux, Serge Koussevitzky and Charles Munch.

Phonograph records may be borrowed from the Main Library for two weeks. There is a rental fee.

Melodyland to Present 'Drum Song'

"Flower Drum Song," one of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein's great Broadway hits, will open at Melodyland Theater in Anaheim Tuesday for a two-week run. Production is the last of Melodyland Theater's summer-fall musical series. "The Music Man," current occupant of the theater-in-the round, closes tonight.

Starring in the role of Wang Ta, will be Hawaiian-born singer, James Shigeta, while a perky young beauty, Lulu Porter, surprise winner of the 1963 International Song Festival in Poland last September, will play Linda Low. Tim Herbert and lovely Yau Shan Tung, both of the original London production of "Flower Drum Song," will portray the parts of Sammy Fong and Mei Li.

• • • •

RODGERS and Hammerstein have contributed some of their loveliest songs to "Flower Drum Song," which was first presented on Broadway in 1958. These include "I Enjoy Being a Girl," originally introduced and made popular by dynamic Pat Suzuki, and "Don't Marry Me," first sung by Miyoshi Umeki. Other significant musical numbers are "You Are Beautiful," "Love Look Away," and "The Other Generation."

"Flower Drum Song" is the last of 10 stage productions presented at Melodyland Theatre on the 1963 schedule, which opened July 2. Next on the agenda will be the joint appearance of Dinah Shore and Bob Newhart, set to open for a week's run on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

MTA Continues Festival Support

All persons interested in the 1964 Southwestern Youth Music Festival are invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the Halle Studio, 2106 E. Fourth St.

At its October meeting, Long Beach Branch of Music Teachers Association announced it would continue to sponsor the festival. The second annual festival, held for three days in August, attracted 600 entries from 45 cities. More than 90 music schools and studios were represented.

The event was supported locally by individuals, educators, business firms and professional people.

'Antigone' on LBFS Bill Today

"Antigone," directed by George Tzavellas, will be shown by Long Beach Film Society today at 5 and 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater at Long Beach State College.

Irene Pappas, as Antigone, has been lauded as "a magnificent figure, since her acting preserves the strength and nobility of a character which is driven by instinct and passion."

• • • •

ANTIGONE, daughter of Oedipus, defies the kingly authority of her uncle, Creon, when his orders outrage her feelings and sense of justice and obligation. The film is cited by critics for its faithfulness to the original plot and text of Sophocles' time-honored drama.

"An Oscar for Mr. Rossi," cartoon satirizing amateur movie-makers, is the accompanying film short.

National Secretaries

Queen Beach Chapter, National Secretaries Association, will have its November dinner meeting at the Reef Restaurant Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., according to Vicki Stewart, program chairman. The meeting is open to any secretary in the area interested in the group.

Speaker will be Robert L. Webb, editor-publisher of the Paraplegia News, official publisher of the National Paralyzed Foundation and Paralyzed Veterans of America.

Also honored on the program will be Marguerite Moreaux, president of Long Beach Naval Shipyard Toastmistress Club, who will discuss, "Communication or Fail."

Reservations should be made with Edna Ley at Salesdrivers Union, 1239 Locust Ave.

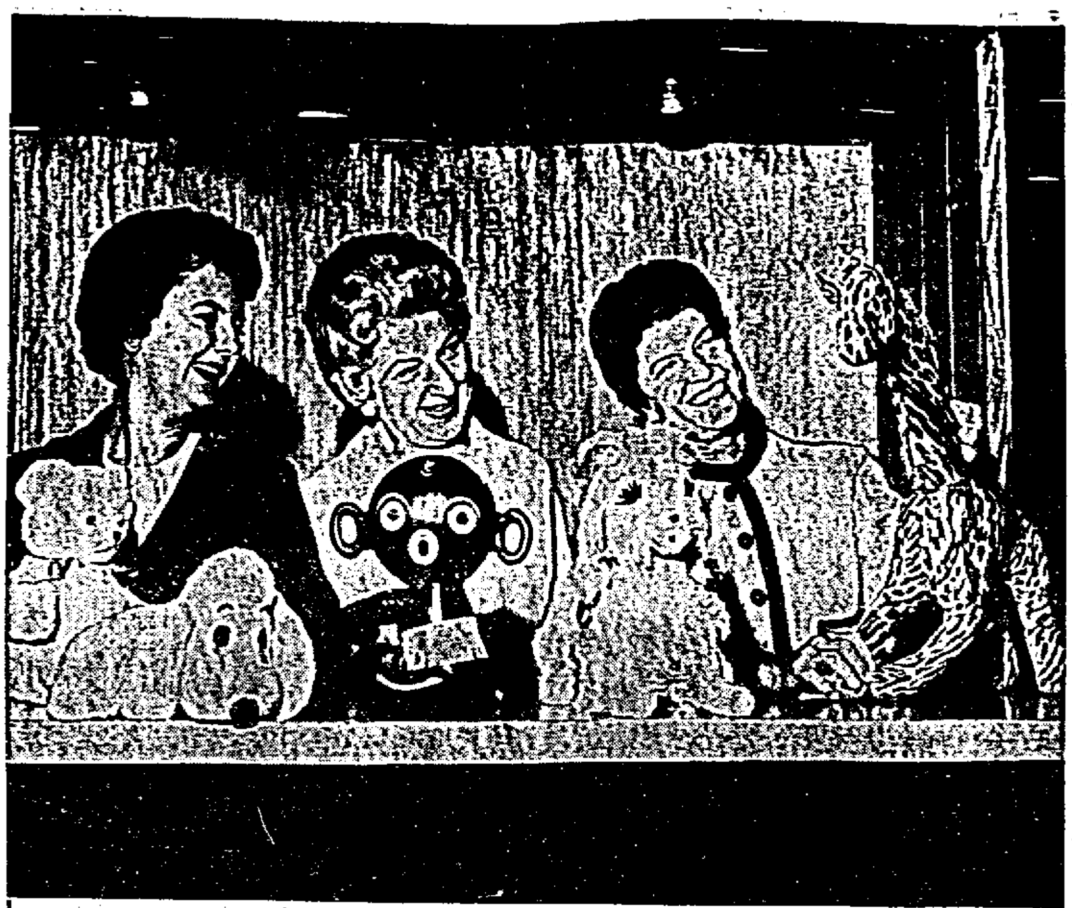
Insurance Women

November promises to be busy one for Insurance Women of Long Beach. In keeping with city's Diamond Jubilee celebrations, now in progress, they will have George J. Nagel of the Long Beach Diamond Appraisers as guest speaker at 7 p.m. dinner meeting Thursday at Lulu's Chuck Wagon.

Members have been invited to join Orange County insurance women for a style show and dinner on Wednesday and on Nov. 19 to join Los Angeles club as they honor bosses at annual dinner meeting. On Nov. 23 they will join with San Gabriel Insurance Women as that club hosts sub-regional meeting during luncheon at Pasadena Huntington Hotel. Pauline Kincaid of Long Beach, regional director, will be honored guest.

Physical Therapists

California Physical Therapists Association, Chapter 11, will meet Tuesday in the Garden Room, Third Street and Alamitos Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Michael P. Mueller will discuss the second phase of his lecture on ultra sound in orthopedic and industrial therapy and the techniques used in clinical practice. Members are invited to bring guests.



Twenties Theme For Guild Party

Members of Las Madrinas Guild will entertain at their annual Roaring Twenties Party Saturday at Lakewood Country Club. Looking over a few of the hundreds of door prizes for the event are (from left) Mmes. Don Watt, George Pross and Archie King.

Dinner, dancing and games will be features of the gala evening. Tickets will be available at the door or may be obtained from Mrs. H. Ed Tanne, 3407 Warwood Road, Lakewood.

The party is the major fund raising event for Las Madrinas. Proceeds benefit the patient library at Memorial Hospital, maintained and operated by members.

Last year 4,730 volunteer hours were given by members of the guild.

Medical Auxiliary Slates Public Affairs Luncheon

Elected representatives and civic leaders will be among special guests when District Three of the Woman's Auxiliary to Los Angeles County Medical Association has its annual Public Affairs Day luncheon Friday noon at the Elks Club, 4101 E. Willow St.

Among those invited to meet with the group are Congressman Craig Hosmer, Assemblyman Joseph Kennick and George Deukmejian, John Mansell, William Kummer, James Hayes and Mrs. Gail C. Hudson. Husbands of auxiliary members also will be guests.

Dr. Harold Fishman, TV commentator, will speak following luncheon on the topic, "Analysis of Current Events." He will be presented by Mrs. Sam Woolington. Mrs. Eugene E. Cahill will preside.

• • • •

OF SPECIAL interest will be an exhibit arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Brown, welfare chairman, displaying handmade layette items, stuffed animals and clothes for older children to be donated by the auxiliary for use by Long Beach Juvenile Bureau.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Arthur Buell, Chester Laubscher, Gilbert Lapid, Robert Godwin, Edward Platz, Arthur Beland.

Romantic Date on Romantic Day

Valentines Day, 1964, has been selected as wedding date by Paula Jeanne Benner and H. Bruce Driscoll whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Benner, Long Beach.

The bride-to-be was graduated from Brethren High School and her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Driscoll, Long Beach, from Polytechnic High School. Both were graduated from Long Beach City College.

WHY GROW OLD?

Flat Abdomen Adds to a Youthful Appearance

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It might not be happy for every woman to see herself as others see her. The woman who had a pad of fat on her abdomen or hips which protrude or are weighted with fatty deposits often fails to realize how she looks.

When she takes a look at herself in the mirror she just naturally pulls her tummy in, tucks her hips under and straightens her spine. BUT, when she leaves the mirror she may relax into her old habits of posture. She may not be conscious of how she looks to others because she is not in front of the mirror when she lets go.

• • • •

AS A WOMAN grows older it takes more effort to keep her girlish figure. She must exercise more faithfully and watch her food intake more carefully. A flat abdomen adds greatly to a youthful appearance and it is also a health booster. Lack of exercise, child bearing and overweight, predispose a woman to weakened lax abdominal muscles. This in turn may cause internal organs to slump. Some of the results are fatigue, backache and constipation. Sometimes this condition occurs when a woman is so underweight that she does not have enough fat on the abdomen to help support her internal organs.

I think that the average woman is better off wearing a girdle except in early youth, and sometimes even then. Few women have strong enough abdominal muscles to give proper support. If your girdle is right for you it will be possible for you to pull your abdomen in and hold it in whenever you can remember to think about it. At other times your girdle will take over for you. Be sure that your girdle supports from below, pushing up instead of mashing down. Many very thin women have backaches because of a fallen stomach and would profit by the use of an abdominal support.

THE FOLLOWING exercise is wonderful for the thighs and hips and also gives the waist a good twist.

Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, straight out from your shoulder pits, palms facing the floor. Bend your left knee up. Cross the knee over the right leg and touch the floor on the right side of your body with your left knee. Return left leg to starting position. This time cross your right knee over your left leg, touch the floor on the side of your body and return leg to place. Continue, alternating left and right.

If you would like to have my tested hip slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 3 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Party-Pleasers

Whole pitted fresh California dates make festive party nibbling.

Fill fresh dates with a mixture of softened cream cheese, crumbled blue cheese and chopped onion for a piquant taste innovation on your hors d'oeuvre table.

Give a new twist to an old favorite by filling fresh dates with a Cheddar cheese strip; heat until cheese melts.

As a sweet version, fill fresh California dates with hard sauce flavored with instant coffee powder.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Down With Drop-In Visits

DEAR ABBY: Since most of our friends are very close, we've made it a habit to drop in on each other at any old time, and overlook the surroundings. As a result of this casual attitude, I'm afraid I have become a very poor hostess. The fact was realized when my doctor's wife called on me two days ago with a small gift for my new baby. Of all times for company to come! The weather was damp, so I kept all five children inside, and my living room was utter chaos. My daughter was ill, and I had pillows piled up at one end of the couch. The other end was piled high with clean laundry to be folded. The chairs were stacked with diapers to be folded. The carpet was out of sight under magazines, newspapers and toys. If I had beeen in the midst of straightening up the mess, it wouldn't have been so bad. But I was cutting out costumes for the children's Thanksgiving play as if I had nothing else to do. I was so embarrassed when this woman appeared at my door that I didn't even offer her a chair. I thanked for the gift and also wrote her a thank-you note. Should I call and apologize? I can't forget how rude I must have appeared to her. I got up at five o'clock this morning worrying about what she must have thought of me. What should I do?—SO ASHAMED

ABBY

DEAR ASHAMED: Here we go again! Your home is your palace, and if you want to stack your laundry to the ceiling in your living room, it's your privilege. A caller who could have thrown you into such a tizzy is not "close" enough for a drop-in visit. She was thoughtless not to have given you at least an hour's notice. Call her when your house is in order some afternoon and invite her for coffee.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When I invite my relatives for dinner, they ask, "What's the celebration?" Or, "Who else is coming?" They seem to expect me to sell them on the idea of coming, or perhaps they want guaranteed entertainment. Why can't relatives be as gracious as friends in accepting invitations?—MOLLY

DEAR MOLLY: Some are. You can't pick your relatives, but you CAN pick your dinner guests.

DEAR ABBY: I am 39 years old and the mother of three children. My husband and I have been happily married for 12 years. This summer while my husband was away on business I became interested in my best friend's husband. Should we break up two homes involving five children and two innocent grown-ups to gain happiness for ourselves? Or should be sacrifice this love of ours for the sake of our families?—BIG DECISION

DEAR BIG: Sacrifice your "love." Happiness can never be built on the heartbreak of others.

Couples Honeymoon in California

Mrs. Michael O'Neil

Mrs. Harold Slick

Mrs. Jon Snyder

O'Neil-Thomas

A bridal gown of silk bombazine with a three-tiered skirt and Chantilly lace bodice was chosen by Beverly Jean Thomas for her marriage to Michael Donald O'Neil in a candlelight ceremony at Westminster Community Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Opal O'Neil, Donald O'Neil and Mr. and Mrs. Percival E. Thomas.

Lana Bryson attended the bride as maid of honor. Charles O'Neil served his brother as best man.

Other members of the bridal party included Kathy Foster, Cathy O'Neil, Roger Goldblatt, William Vas and Messrs. and Mmes. Richard Thomas and William Sickendick.

The couple attended Long Beach City College. The new Mrs. O'Neil is a graduate of Banning High School.

Palm Springs was chosen for the honeymoon destination.

Slick-Pope

Four hundred guests witnessed the evening wedding of Anita Carol Pope to Harold Conrad Slick at Truett Memorial Southern Baptist Church.

The couple's parents are Messrs. and Mmes. Wilfred L. Slick of Los Angeles and Paul H. Pope of Lakewood.

The bride wore a formal gown of taffeta with a bell skirt and appliques of venise lace. She was attended by Glenda Cooper as maid of honor. Norman W. Slick served his brother as best man.

Other members of the wedding party included Karen Harris, Belva Lee Clarke, Meredyth Slick, Teri Balentine, Dennis Willahan, Dan Clifford, Richard Davis and Glenn Balentine Jr.

The new Mrs. Slick graduated from Lakewood High School and LBCC. Her husband graduated from Harbor Junior College and Northrop College.

The couple is honeymooning in Northern California, in the Sierras and at Las Vegas. On their return, they will make their home in Lakewood.

Snyder-Weaver

Linda Marie Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Weaver of Lakewood, married Jon Brent Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Crozier of San Francisco in a morning ceremony at Parkcrest Church of Christ.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a Chantilly overskirt for her wedding. Her maid of honor was Diana Lynn Valley. Robert J. Weaver, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man.

Other attendants were Cathy Bernice Morgan and Roger Minniear.

The new Mrs. Snyder is a graduate of Lakewood High School. Her husband graduated from Polytechnic High School.

The couple will reside in Long Beach on their return from a honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead.

And, what about the status of women? Chhorn reports that the old ways are changing. It used to be that marriages were arranged by the parents, but it's not always true, now.

"That wasn't for me," he says. "Neang and I chose each other. I courted her American-style. We went to the movies on dates—I asked her for her hand first before speaking to her parents.

By this attitude, Chhorn shows himself to be all for the emancipation of women—if it doesn't go too far.

When it comes to Madame Nhu, he has his doubts. He gives her credit for a certain type of courage and admires her charm, but he thinks her country would be a lot better off if she confined herself to running the palace and not the country — and above all didn't talk so much.

Answer Is: Play Works

A letter from Wyoming reads: "Did I bid too much? Or did my partner? Anyway, we were the only pair to reach six hearts and I was the only person to make six. Actually, I made seven because after West dropped the jack of trumps under dummy's king, I finessed against East's queen. My opponents say that I went against percentage, but I seem to have read somewhere that I had made the correct mathematical play. Did I?"

The answer to all his questions is "yes." He bid too much and so did his partner, but he played the hand correctly.

This type of play is discussed at length in "Jacoby on Gambling" and while the principle involved is well known in expert circles it is not known too generally.

When West dropped the jack under dummy's king it was apparent that he had started with the singleton jack or the doubleton queen-jack.

Now we come to the question of selection. If West had started with the singleton jack, he would have had to play it; if he had started with doubleton queen-jack he might well have played the queen instead of the jack. Thus it was far more likely that the jack had been a singleton and the finesse against the queen was correct from the mathematical standpoint. Besides it worked this time.

Miss Grundy Is New Bride

Fifteen members of the families and friends attended the wedding of Suzanne Grundy and Don Wilson Jr. at First Methodist Church in Las Vegas.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. Jess W. Grundy of Long Beach and Don Wilson of Palos Verdes Estates.

The bride wore an aqua silk dress with a veil held by a satin bow. Melinda Grundy was her maid of honor. Richard Wilson served the bridegroom as best man.

The couple graduated from Chadwick School in Rolling Hills and attended the University of Southern California. The new Mrs. Wilson affiliated with Alpha Phi, her husband with Phi Delta Theta.

On their return from a Honolulu honeymoon, a champagne reception honoring the newlyweds will be held at the Elks Club, Nov. 17.

Mrs. Don Wilson Jr.

Methodist Setting for Wedding

California Heights Methodist Church was setting for the marriage Saturday evening of Adrianne L. Armor and Gary L. Petersen. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Armor, Long Beach, wore a floor-length gown of silk organza appliqued with lace and carried a bouquet of stephanotis and roses centered with a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Gary Petersen

She was attended by Marilyn K. Armor as maid of honor and Malvina Antonitz, Annalee Rutter, Lois Petersen and Pinky White, bridesmaids.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Petersen, also of this city, chose Terry Moore as best man. James Armor, Robert Holland, Charles Shackelton, Jerry Boswell and Robert Brown were ushers.

• • • •

THE NEW Mrs. Petersen and her husband are alumni of Poly High. She was graduated from Long Beach State College where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta, Spurs, Califias, Little Sisters of Minerva and Adrianne. She also was chosen Little Sister of the Year in 1962 and served as secretary for Pi Omega Pi.

The bridegroom attended Long Beach and San Jose State Colleges and was graduated from Los Angeles Police Academy.

While at Long Beach State he was affiliated with Statesman and Sigma Alpha Epsilon and served as president of the freshman class.

Following a honeymoon in San Francisco, the newlyweds will make their home in Costa Mesa.

Beat Grime

Delinquent in storing outdoor furniture? Wash wood or metal furniture thoroughly and when dry, spray the pieces with a clear shellac. Store. Next spring, it will be easier to wash away the accumulation of wintry grime.

Disguise Them

Leftover mashed potatoes can easily be turned into elegant "Almond Logs." Simply beat in an egg, shape silvered almonds and cook gently in butter until golden. So good you may want to make mashed potatoes for "Almond Logs" alone!

Chef of the Week

What's in a name? Well, in this case, MORE real estate offices. Today's Chef of the Week, E. Tennyson (Tenny) Moore, has nine of them. They're distributed throughout Long Beach, Lakewood and Orange County.

It took him a BA degree from UCLA in Business Administration, a masters in English from USC, several years of teaching in Long Beach public schools, and a world war, to get "hep" to California real estate possibilities. His first teaching assignment was at Washington Junior High School in 1938. He later transferred to Jordan High.

E. Tennyson Moore

• • • •

BORN AT Cambridge, on the eastern shores of Maryland, Moore attended elementary school at St. Michaels, which is located on the Miles River, the scene of the famous sailing regattas. Wesley Collegiate Institute, a boy's prep school, at Dover, Del., preceded his arrival in Long Beach.

World War II found him serving as an industrial engineer with Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp. in Downey and in Allentown, Pa., and at the close of the war, at San Diego.

He taught night classes at Penn State, USC and at UCLA, during the war, also.

Returning to Long Beach, Moore opened his own real estate firm at 363 E. First St. Then, in 1947, the partnership of Moore-Reynolds at Lakewood and Carson, became a real estate reality.

• • • •

COMING from a long line of teachers and ministers, he has never entirely departed from that vocation. He has taught in the Long Beach Business & Technological Division, and is currently teaching a morning class in Commercial and Investment Properties.

Active in both Long Beach and Lakewood Chambers of Commerce, Moore has served as president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, and as a past director of Aetna Savings & Loan.

Recently elected to the presidency of the Los Angeles Chapter, Institute of Real Estate Management, he is a director of the California Real Estate Association.

• • • •

MOORE "gets up with the chickens" and arrives at the office about 7 a.m., complete with several notations he's written to himself during the night.

He and his wife, Jeanne, have two daughters, Mary, a graduate of University of Redlands, now teaching in San Carlos; and Gay, a freshman at USC.

Members of the Virginia Country Club, as a family they enjoy golf, fishing and sailing.

Our "chef's" recipe today, Chicken a la Eastern Shores, stems from his early background. It's native to Maryland.

CHICKEN A LA EASTERN SHORE

1. Stew a 4 lb. fowl, cut in pieces for serving. (To stew, cover with boiling water, add a few stalks of celery and cook slowly until tender. Add salt and pepper when fowl is half-cooked.)

LAST ONE-HALF HOUR OF STEWING, add 4 to 5 small new peeled potatoes. SAVE STOCK.

SOUTHERN CRUST

2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 tblsp. shortening
1 egg

Mix as for biscuits, roll out, and cut in squares. Place in baking dish with ¼ inch between squares. JUST cover with juices in which chicken was cooked. Bake in 425° oven until chicken stock has been absorbed.

Make a gravy from remaining stock, thickening with flour and enough cold water. ADD LOTS OF CHOPPED PARSLEY.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of Nov. 4-8:

MONDAY: Hot dog, whole kernel corn, fruit gelatin, coconut cookie and milk.

TUESDAY: Creole noodles, garden peas, fresh apple slices, peanut butter, sandwich and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, chocolate pudding, raisin bread square and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza, garden salad, autumn fruit cup, shortbread cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish, au gratin potatoes, Spanish coleslaw, sliced peaches, hot buttered French bread and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch, 30c.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

MONDAY: Barbecued pork on bun, creamy coleslaw, sliced peaches, coconut cookie and milk.

TUESDAY: Lasagne, buttered green beans, autumn fruit cup, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Hot meat loaf sandwich, mashed potatoes with gravy, tossed green salad, fruit kabob and milk.

THURSDAY: Neapolitan macaroni, buttered peas, fresh apple slices, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

FRIDAY: Cheese enchilada or beef-rice casserole, buttered spinach, fruit gelatin, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

TV and Radio Editor

The boy was seven years old and had never heard of mike fright.

Why should a microphone be afraid of him?

They introduced him as the "Little Buckaroo" and he yodeled like a Swiss mountainer with two-ton lungs.

It was 1937 and the boy, Billy Strange, made his radio debut on Long Beach station KFOX.

Singing came naturally for he was the son of George Strange, "The Yodeling Cowboy," and the latter's wife, Billie, "The Ranch Boss."

The pair, alternating between KFOX and KGER, kept the radio waves humming with western music in Long Beach for more than 10 years.

And the "Little Buckaroo" hummed and yodeled right along with his parents.

• • • •

HE'S A "Big Buckaroo" now, 6-feet, 3-inches tall, and, for the most part, he's stopped yodeling.

But he's still singing and playing a guitar almost daily on "The Tennessee Ernie Ford Show," noon, channel 7.

"When I was a kid in Long Beach," he said, "I never figured I would become a professional musician.

"I had only one ambition. I just wanted to be a cowboy."

It was a normal ambition for a 7-year-old boy, but Billy didn't outgrow it until he was 17.

At that time he was playing his guitar at dances around the Long Beach area—"anywhere they didn't serve liquor"—and was living in Bellflower.

"They used to have little rodeos all the time in the Long Beach Mounted Guard Arena," said Billy,

"My folks didn't know about it, but I used to go out there all the time to rope calves and ride bucking horses."

• • • •

ALL THE TIME, that is, until he met a big, yellow buckskin.

"He throwed me," said Billy, "and I got a foot hung in a fence. Then that horse proceeded to walk on me."

Right then, with four broken ribs helping him make up his mind, Billy decided to stick to his guitar.

It was a decision that led to his signing as a guitar player with Spade Cooley, then Tex Williams and Cliffie Stone.

It was on Cliffie Stone's "Hometown Jamboree" television show that Billy first worked with Ernie Ford. It was that association that led to his signing with Ernie for the current daily program.

In between times, the Jefferson Junior High School graduate appeared in dramatic roles on television, did vocal backgrounds for animated cartoons, made his own records and wrote songs for such entertainers as Tommy Sands, Rusty Draper and Chubby Checkers.

HE'S JUST released a new six-string guitar instrumental album, "Crescendo."

While he no longer wants to

BING CROSBY welcomes guitarist-singer Caterina Valente to his hour-long special 9 p. m. Thursday on channel 2. "The Young Americans," a teen-age choral group, Buddy Ebsen and Andre Previn also are guests. The variety show will include a medley of international hits.

Singers Seek Foreign Tour

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A group of Southern California students who call themselves "The Young Americans" are hoping that their appearance on a nationwide television program this week will be a stepping stone to a musical goodwill mission abroad next summer.

The 36-member choral group — whose members range in age from 15 to 20—make their first nationwide appearance on Bing Crosby's hour-long CBS-TV special 9 p.m. Thursday, channel 2.

MILTON C. ANDERSON, a Los Angeles school teacher and organizer and choral director of "The Young Americans," explained that the group meets each Saturday on a voluntary basis to rehearse their numbers as well as study foreign languages and customs.

TV Doctors Exchange Patients

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television has come up with a new idea that could change the whole industry. Video doctors are starting to refer patients to each other.

They could shoot the villain in westerns or detective shows and patch him up on a doctor series.

Something similar happened recently when "Dr. Kildare" decided he couldn't help a patient. He referred him to "The Eleventh Hour" psychiatry show, assuming the patient needed some clinical skull sessions.

"Ben Casey" did the same thing for ABC. He recommended his patient to "Breaking Point" on the assumption that was what the person was on the verge of.

* * * *

THINK OF the possibilities that such casting opens up. Television needs diversification in it's programming, but eventually it could take care of a person's whole life span.

It might start by casting a kid in "Ding Dong School," later putting him in "My Three Sons" until he's through college.

After that, the young man could be given social problems that would qualify him for other, more adult, shows.

He starts out by stealing cars, gets caught and ends up in "Arrest and Trial." From there the young fellow could be assigned to social and psychiatry series.

* * * *

RIGHT HERE television needs a religious show which may be called "Young Rev. Jones," a title that might be changed to Father or Rabbi, depending on individual persuasion.

Once the young offender has been thoroughly checked in mind and spirit, he's hauled before a judge on "Day In Court."

That's one way in which television can handle somebody's life all the way from childhood to the complexities that come as an adult.

There are other methods by which television could take advantage of other shows.

Video doctors could prescribe therapy for their patients, "McHale's Navy" for those who need a sea voyage, "Route 66" for others who might benefit from a road trip, "Sing Along With Mitch" for introverts.

To treat those who should be more aggressive, television's psychiatrist can always recommend ABC-TV's "Fight of the Week."

'Zorro' on 'Bonanza'

Guy Williams, the former "Zorro" of television, will start a continuing role on "Bonanza" later in the season.

He will play Lorne Greene's younger brother.

The program is easing Pernell Roberts out of the script at the actor's own request.

SPORTS SPECTACULAR, 5 p.m., ch. 2, offers Jack Whitaker with the story of Overtrick, new wonder horse of harness racing, and his quest of the Triple Crown of pacing. He won the Cane Pace, finished second to Meadow Shipper at the Little Brown Jug, and took on the third leg Sat. (Nov. 2) at Roosevelt Raceway.

SPECIAL

NBC CHILDREN'S THEATRE — Premiere. First in four special full-hour color orignials, aimed at youngsters in the early grades of school, stars folk singer Win Stracke supported by a cast of puppets in a musical fantasy based on a James Thurber story. "Quillow and the Giant," at 6 p.m., ch. 4, is really a parable against violence, as an easy-going toy-maker uses his wit instead of force to end a giant's selfish demands on his village. Other shows due in the series include an animated musical based on the Wizard of Oz, a trio of one-act plays, and a story told by an illustrator and a symphony orchestra.

JUDY GARLAN — Zina Bethune trades the starched uniform of student nurse Gail Lucas for the leotard of a ballerina (which she was before switching to acting) to join Judy and Vic Damone ni a special medley of songs. Miss Bethune had to be written out of a segment of "The Nurses" to cross the network line for this appearance. Judy's "trunk spot" songs are "What'll I Do?" and "Rock-a-bye Your Baby."

TV CRITIC PREFERS OLD MOVIES

Describes Video Situation Comedies as 'Empty Flatness'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A lady writes to ask what I would voluntarily watch on television if I were not in bondage to tune in the sewage of network entertainment nightly in order to feed my loved ones.

The answer is easy: Old movies, public events of great importance and an occasional documentary or news show. I would generally skip the prime-time hours on the networks.

You will notice that the old movies are the only entertainment mentioned, and why not?

Who wouldn't rather watch an old Fred Astaire musical, or one with Gene Kelly and Frank Sinatra, than the weak tea of an Andy Williams or the comparative ordinary quality of the Garry Moore Show or even the sleepy professionalism of Perry Como? Who doesn't prefer verve to almost unfeeling casuality?

WHO WOULDN'T rather view the wonderful sophisticated Hollywood comedies of the 1930s and early 1940s—Cary Grant, Jimmy Stewart, Katharine Hepburn, Jean Arthur—than the empty flatness of almost every situation show on video today, from Andy Griffith to Donna Reed? I must have seen "The Philadelphia Story" 15 times, and yet I never think of it as a rerun.

Is it possible that there are people who actually think that the turgid folksiness of "The Beverly Hillbillies" is even on the same planet with the marvelous earthiness of a Wallace Beery or Marjorie Main epic? I cannot imagine it.

And what of the bland, hollow-seeming personalities who populate most of our detective programs on television—the pasty-faces and the punks? Can it be that video has so thoroughly demolished taste that we have forgotten William Powell as "The Thin Man," or Humphrey Bogart in "The Maltese Falcon," or even Lloyd Nolan in low-budget pleasures?

The toughest of the tough guys—Bogart, Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney, John Garfield—all were more sympathetic as villains than the majority of soft, whining, unhumorous heroes that television offers.

ALMOST EVERY TIME I watch an old movie, I realize something: I liked us better then. Times are always tough, and people always have insurmountable problems—but there was a sense of fun, if not always humor, in so many of the old films. I mean fun simply for fun's sake—and not because it will serve a therapeutic purpose, or solve a problem or deliver a message. Gaiety is what it was—and I defy you to show me that once in a blue moon in prime-time, or even in most modern movies.

ALTHOUGH she loves him, Piper Laurie refuses Richard Basehart's marriage proposal during "Ben Casey" at 9 p. m. Wednesday, channel 7. In the drama, Miss Laurie has the role of a nurse. She knows that the man she loves is suffering from a terminal disease. Basehart portrays a ship captain with a zest for living.

'YOUNG HOLLYWOOD' QUEEN BEE WEDS

Will Connie Stevens' Teen-Age Fans Accept Mrs. Instead of Bachelor-Girl-Image Miss?

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Young Hollywood" is a term applied to youthful performers who have gained a foothold on the bottom rung of the ladder to stardom.

These are the youngsters whom your teenagers will know, but whose names are foreign to most citizens older than 30.

Well, the queen bee of Young Hollywood was married last month and it was only fitting that her contemporaries turn out in force for the wedding and reception.

The bride, of course, was Connie Stevens. She's the darling of Young Hollywood for the very good reason that she gets more fan mail—6,500 letters a week—than any of the others. She's also under contract to Warner Bros., has starred in a television series (Hawaiian Eye) and co-starred in a handful of motion pictures.

• • • •

HER LEADING man on the screen has been Troy Donahue, another teen-age idol. Their relationship (platonic) kept the ponytail set aquiver with romantic speculation.

Off-screen Connie dated a series of handsome young guys, and even talked once of marrying Glenn Ford.

It came as something of an anti-climax, then, when the little blonde empress of the young crowd became Mrs. James Stacey. The bridegroom is a former stunt man and stand-in who recently has restricted himself to acting.

With his marriage he becomes something of a prince consort.

He gained limited fame during his six-month courtship of Connie, at least in Hollywood circles.

• • • •

IN THE OLD days a wedding involving a cutie like Connie, might have drawn the great names of movies—the Tracys, Gables, Colberts and Bogarts. Today most of the old established stars haven't the slightest notion as to the identity of the newlyweds.

CONNIE STEVENS AND HUSBAND JAMES STACEY

The guest list did include Nick Adams, Grant Williams, Van Williams, Ricky Nelson, Robert Vaughn, Stephanie Powers, James MacArthur, Anthony Eisley and a score of others. The champagne went fast under the pressure of some 70 guests at the reception.

Now, while the bride and groom are honeymooning, Connie's future is being debated by the scientists who weight the meaning of fan mail. The big question is: 'Will marriage destroy the bachelor girl image?'

THERE ARE precedents for catastrophic fan reaction to marriage.

Edd (Kookie) Byrnes was the most popular kid in town until he married Asa Maynor two years ago. He plummeted from the top of the fan mail heap to the horse latitudes of near anonymity.

But at the moment both Connie and Jim Stacey literally have made names for themselves. If they had used their real names things might have been a little tougher.

Connie was born Concetta Ingolia. Jim's real monicker is Maurice Elias.

Award News 'Golden Mikes'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Southern California television station KNXT (channel 2) heads a list of winners in the Radio and Television News Assn. of Southern California's 14th annual "Golden Mike" awards.

KNXT was awarded five of the nine awards in the television field.

The "Golden Mike" awards are made each year for outstanding achievements in the gathering, writing and presentation of radio and television news and special events.

Leading the radio category were Los Angeles station KNX (1070) and San Diego's KOGO with four each.

The awards were presented by Barney Miller, KNX news director, the association's newly-elected president, and George Lewin of KTLA (channel 5), outgoing president.

King Comedy Rules Ratings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There is too much discourtesy in the world, so today we will give the first major television ratings of the season their due listings without stressing the fact that Halloween has just passed.

These ratings are television news because they are taken as near-Gospel on Madison Avenue, where the decision-makers decide what shows to keep or cut. And they are especially news since Congress investigated the ratings firms in the spring, forcing them to make not-yet-final corrections in the extraordinary loopholes exposed.

Here, then, are some of the claims of the ratings:

The top 10 shows in popularity are "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Bonanza," Dick Van Dyke, Lucille Ball, Andy Griffith, "Petticoat Junction," Danny Thomas, Red Skelton, "Perry Mason" — and Donna Reed and "I've Got a Secret" tied for 10th.

• • • •

NOT ONE of the top 40 programs airs on Fridays, a notoriously bad viewing night that apparently has replaced Saturday once and for all as the big go-out evening for the mass audience.

Rounding out the top 20 shows are Patty Duke, "Candid Camera," "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey," Jack Benny, "Hazel," "The Virginian," "Gunsmoke" and "Grindl." Actually, the next major rating, in several weeks, is considered more definitive, but here are more of the initial claims:

ON SUNDAYS, "Lassie" topped Bill Dana, and "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" did badly against Walt Disney, "My Favorite Martian" and Ed Sullivan. Disney and Sullivan held their own. And "Bonanza" trounced "Arrest and Trial" and Judy Garland, who finished a poor third.

ON MONDAYS, the NBC-TV movie finished third against the combined efforts of "To Tell the Truth," "I've Got a Secret," Lucille Ball, Danny Thomas, "The Outer Limits" and "Wagon Train" —but the movie ratings may depend on the specific film shown. Andy Griffith and "Wagon Train" walloped "Hollywood and the Stars." "Breaking Point" topped "Sing Along With Mitch" and "East Side/West Side," which battled it out.

TUESDAYS, "Combat" beat "Mr. Novak," and so did Red Skelton. "Redigo" was clobbered by Skelton and "McHale's Navy." Jack Benny and "Petticoat Junction" won over "The Greatest Show on Earth" and the Richard Boone anthology. Garry Moore edged "The Fugitive."

WEDNESDAYS, "Glynis" came in last to "The Virginian" and "The Price Is Right." The half hours of "The Beverly Hillbillies" and Dick Van Dyke won over "Ben Casey" and "Espionage." And Danny Kaye topped "The Eleventh Hour" and "Channing," with none of them getting a big rating.

THURSDAYS, "The Nurses" beat "Suspense Theatre," with the alternating shows of Sid Caesar and Edie Adams a poor last. Jimmy Dean was socked by "Perry Mason," "Dr. Kildare" and "Hazel."

FRIDAYS, it was "International Showtime" over "The Great Adventure" and "77 Sunset Strip"; "Burke's Law" over "Route 66" and the Bob Hope anthology; and "The Twilight Zone" over "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Harry's Girls."

SATURDAYS, Jerry Lewis finished way out of the money behind "Gunsmoke" and the NBC-TV movie. Lawrence Welk beat Joey Bishop and Phil Silvers. And Jackie Gleason won over "The Lieutenant" and "Hootenanny."

Of note is that most of the variety shows and reasonably serious anthologies and dramas finished out of the top 40—Danny Kaye, Judy Garland, Jerry Lewis, Sid Caesar, Edie Adams, Jimmy Dean, Jack Parr, the Richard Boone anthology, Bob Hope anthology, "Suspense Theatre," "Espionage," "East Side/West Side" and "The Defenders."

DANNY THOMAS AND ANDY GRIFFITH (right), kings of comedy, are getting the royal treatment again this season from television viewers. Andy's show is No. 5 and Danny is No. 7 in the Big 10 on the ratings slide rule. King Danny's show has been on 11 seasons while King Andy is in the third year of his reign.

DICK POWELL—The highly-lauded "Price of Tomatoes" has its first off-network showing at 8 p.m., ch. 13, as a produce truck driver gives up his race to beat a rival to the market to help a pregnant refugee determined to bear her child on American soil. Peter Falk won an Emmy for this role, with both the show and co-star Inger Stevens receiving bids.

BING CROSBY—For his first of 4 specials this season, Bing hosts Buddy Ebsen who'll sing, dance and crack jokes; Caterina Valente, who'll sing with Crosby in 7 languages; pianist Andre Previn, and a singing group of 36 Southland high school and college kids called the Young Americans. It's at 8 p.m., ch. 2. (Crosby's next special, Feb. 15, will feature Bob Hope, Kathryn Grant Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Rosemary Clooney, Peter Gennaro.)

PERFORMING ARTS—Distinguished British stars Cyril Ritchard and Hermione Baddeley join in a two-act revue of songs and sketches at 9 p.m., ch. 13. Included is a tongue-in-cheek spoof of the earlier Paul Scofield-Joy Parker program.

MAD (4) WORLD—Milton Berle, Phil Silvers, Army Archerd and Bill Welsh are at the new geodesic-domed Cinerama Theatre on Sunset Blvd. at 9:30 p.m., ch. 11, to interview celebrities arriving for the benefit premiere of the Stanley Kramer comedy. (via 2-hour delay tape).

TELL ME NOT in Mournful Numbers—Veronica Cartwright stars with Frank Gerstle, Natalie Core and Sibyl Collier at 10 p.m., ch. 2, in a documentary based on the actual case of a 12-year-with the only "numbers syndrome" in psychiatric records. The disturbed child thinks, talks and draws numbers for a period of 18 months.

THE FATHER (ROBERT RYAN) knows that his daughter, Katharine Ross, was in a car with three other college students when the vehicle struck and killed a pedestrian. The four college students have agreed not to disclose who was driving. What can the father do to make the daughter understand the vital necessity of the truth? How can the daughter make the father undertsand that she must keep silent? "Suspense Theater," 10 p.m. Thursday, channel 4. COLOR.

Pan and Fan Mail

Normally we enjoy the Tonight show but, in our opinion, some of the recent topics haven't exactly been drawing room conversational pieces.

Such as the comedienne (?) demonstrating how she takes out and puts back her contact lenses, the little actress giving the world a running account of her pregnancy, and the glib talker explaining the mechanics of his artificial leg.

J. Paul Gleason,
Long Beach

Maybe you're just in the wrong drawing room.

• • • •

We, my wife and I, enjoy the "Arrest and Trial" program very much. But why do they put so many commercials on the last part of the story?

Mr. & Mrs. Lowell Harvey
Long Beach

The commercials are evenly spaced, claims ABC. Some just seem longer and more frequent.

Will Tom Duggan be a daily commentator on the channel 5 news at 6:30 p.m. and where does his background lie that he feels himself an authority?

Mrs. June Smith,
Long Beach

Yes; Duggan will be on daily. As for his background, Tom Duggan is Tom Duggan and that's enough authority for thousands of viewers to clamor for the return of his opinions everytime he's bounced off his own show.

• • • •

I have always thought Lucille Ball a great comedienne but for you to recommend her show as "top viewing" is utterly ridiculous.

I think you have been watching too many kiddy programs and no longer have an adult taste.

Mrs. L. E. Orrick, Jr.,
Long Beach.

I resent that. I gave up "The Mickey Mouse Club" two days ago.

The Week's Television Movie Tips

SUNDAY

SITTING PRETTY — 3:30 p.m., ch. 9. Clifton Webb, Robert Young, Maureen O'Hara (1948). First of the Mr. Belvedere series, as scientific baby sitter thinks he really knows how to handle kids.

DR. JEKYLL & MR. HYDE —4:30 p.m., ch. 11. Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman, Lana Turner (1941). Stevenson's classic horror story of a respected doctor turned uncontrollable killer.

SEA WIFE—7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 9. Richard Burton, Joan Collins, Basil Sydney (1957). First run. Survivor of ship sinking falls in love with fellow passenger, not knowing she's a nun whose habit was lost in the sinking.

MONDAY

WHITE FEATHER — 7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. Robert Wagner, Debra Paget, Jeffrey Hunter, John Lund, Hugh O'Brian (1955). First run. While helping avert an Indian war, frontier surveyor is attracted to the chief's daughter.

PARIS HOLIDAY—8 p.m., in color, ch. 9 (also Tues. thru Fri., same time). Bob Hope, Fernandel, Anita Ekberg, Martha Hyer (1958). Typical Hope comedy about a group of international counterfeiters.

FRIDAY

NOTORIOUS GENTLEMAN—10 a.m., ch. 5. Rex Harrison, Lilli Palmer (1946). Ironic comedy of charming playboy who goes through life without purpose until love redeems him.

SMOKY—5 p.m. ch. 2. Fred MacMurray, Anne Baxter, Burl Ives (1946). Sentimental story of a man's love for his horses. Fine for the youngsters.

STARS & STRIPES FOREVER—8 p.m., ch. 11. Clifton Webb, Debra Paget, Robert Wagner, Ruth Hussey (1953). Tuneful biopic of John Philip Sousa, who yearned to write ballads instead of marches.

SATURDAY

SPIRAL STAIRCASE—8:30 p.m., ch. 5. Dorothy McGuire, George Brent, Ethel Barrymore (1946). Mute servant girl spends five fear-packed hours in an old country house with a cunning killer.

GIFT OF LOVE—8:30 p.m., in color, ch. 9. Robert Stack, Lauren Bacall, Evelyn Rudie (1958). First run. Dying woman adopts an orphan so her devoted husband will not be lonely after her death. But instead the girl only reminds him of his loss.

DIARY OF ANNE FRANK —9 p.m., ch. 4. Millie Perkins, Shelley Winters, Joseph Schildkraut, Richard Beymer, Ed Wynn, Gusti Huber (1959). First run. Story of a 13-year-old Jewess, who kept a diary of the events while hiding from the Nazis over an Amsterdam factory.

ABOVE & BEYOND — 11 p.m., ch. 11. Robert Taylor, Eleanor Parker, James Whitmore (1953). Moving story of the man who piloted the plane which dropped the atom bomb on Hiroshima.

SO PROUDLY WE HAIL— 11:15 p.m., ch. 2. Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard, Veronica Lake (1943). First run. Bravery of our Army nurses on Bataan.

LIFE OF EMILE ZOLA— 11:45 p.m., ch. 13. Paul Muni, Gale Sondergaard, Donald Crisp (1937). Story of Zola and the famous Dreyfus case are graphically and sensitively told, with Muni magnificent.

THE DARK PAST — 12:30 a.m., ch. 4. William Holden, Lee J. Cobb, Nina Foch (1949). Psychiatrist breaks down the resistance of desperate killer holding him captive.

MARILYN MONROE and Jane Russell co-star in the 1953 movie "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" on channel 5 at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in COLOR.

1. FREE EXAMINATION by a Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. HI-FREQUENCY THERAPY provides short rays to kill bacteria, increases scalp metabolism.

3. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRIC-THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research. Results are FAST!

4. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas, laboratory produced, another step on the road to a strong, healthy hairline.

NO OTHER TREATMENT

is quite like the one you get in your Turoff treatment. You recline in comfort in a private booth; you close your eyes and relax . . . your operator first applies pleasant, stimulating hi-frequency therapy. She then continues with laboratory produced chemicals for your particular condition. Her rapid, skillful fingers work them in with manipulations, both by hand and machine massage. Finally, unique Turoff electrical therapy is applied while you continue to relax.

It's Taken Many Years

and over 1 million treatments to bring this unique Turoff treatment to its present perfection. If you have excessive hairfall, itchy scalp, excessive dandruff, thinning areas, we suggest you come in quickly for a FREE HAIR AND SCALP EXAMINATION. There is no obligation!

STOP HAIR LOSS

TUROFF GUARANTEE

Stop Hair Loss: If, within four treatments the Turoff System has not stopped your excessive fall, removed dandruff scales, relieved scalp itch and made your scalp feel better than it has in years, YOUR MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED IN FULL!

NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically, with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro-therapy. Turoff Clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results, we have given over one million successful treatments. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

WITH JUST ONE TREATMENT

Dead epidermis, foreign matter and dandruff scales will be removed from your scalp. It will no longer feel itchy and lifeless . . . but will be pleasantly invigorated and alive again. Yes, in just one treatment your hair will start to take on a healthy look with MORE BODY and TEXTURE. Your VERY FIRST Turoff Treatment will enthuse you. See it, feel it, you will be convinced as other hundreds of thousands have been convinced.

PROVEN RESULTS

Thousands of enthusiastic comments and testimonials are received yearly. Why don't you start these treatments today and see what improvements they make in your hair and how much more invigorated your hair and scalp feel. Don't put off giving your hair the care it needs . . . the penalty of delay may be baldness.

HOPELESS CASES NOT ACCEPTED

If you are accepted for Turoff treatment, the cause of your unhealthy scalp will be removed, we will save and thicken your hair. The free examination will reveal just how much thicker you can expect it to be. Your hair will improve wonderfully and you will see it do so quickly. Furthermore, we will teach you to maintain a head of hair permanently! The cost of treatment is very reasonable. Remember, we cater to working people—Mr. and Mrs. Average Person.

FREE EXAMINATION

If you have a hair or scalp problem, we invite you to come in for a free examination. There is no obligation or cost. We accept for treatment only those people we sincerely feel we can help.

BERT'S EYE VIEW . . .

'Little Buckaroo' Big on TV

be a cowboy, he hasn't yet outlived his fondness for horses—those that don't buck.

He owns three race horses that he runs at Caliente.

When he expresses his views on music, he's prepared to run as fast as his horses.

For Billy likes rock-and-roll.

"On the day that rock-and-roll was born, people said it would be gone in a month," said Billy.

"That was 10 or 12 years ago. If rock-and-roll is a fad, I'm happy to be part of it."

* * * *

BILLY FEELS rock-and-roll is stronger than ever and will go on being that way.

He likes its infectious beat and is critical of those who think it is loud and musically bad.

"It gives the kids something about which they can say, 'This is ours.'

"And kids need something that is their's alone. It is their dance, not the old folks 'Harvest Moon'."

Billy doesn't play or sing much rock-and-roll on "The Tennessee Ernie Ford Show." He generally sticks with folk music.

That's fine with him.

"FOLK MUSIC, with the exception of rock-and-roll, is the only true American music there is," he said.

"The stories that are told are the stories of America, not Ireland or Sweden.

Someday Billy may do a folk song about airplane traveling, a subject about which he's rapidly becoming an expert.

That's because the Ernie Ford show is taped in San Francisco three times a week for five-time airing nationwide.

Billy lives with his wife, Betty, their sons, Jerry, 9, and Rusty, 8, and his parents in the San Fernando Valley.

Every week he flies to San Francisco, then back home to Southern California.

"The "Little Buckaroo," alas, has swapped the hoofs of his beloved horses for the wings of a flying stagecoach.

OUR COVER

Before the end of this decade, three Americans will leave the earth on one of the most important and challenging missions in history—a journey to the moon. Our cover dramatically pictures one of the steps which will send the Apollo spacecraft on its historic journey, separation of the S-11 second stage, its job done, while the third stage engine has ignited to propel the vehicle into a parking orbit around the earth at 17,500 miles per hour. With power shut down, the coasting spacecraft—built at North American Aviation's Downey plant—will make several orbits before thrusting out into space for the 70-hour voyage to the moon. For more about the moon shot, see Page 7.

Piece from a Prehistoric Puzzle

By Kay Dunn

CHANCES of discovering the fossilized remains of a giant Imperial mammoth in the American Southwest might be compared to searching for and finding a rowboat in the midst of the Pacific Ocean. So remote are the chances that Gordon Pond, a professor at Compton College, could scarcely believe his eyes when he saw a piece of fossilized tusk protruding from the banks of an arroyo in New Mexico. The prize was so rare that he battled a swiftly rising stream for eight hours in order to rescue it.

Twenty thousand years ago great herds of mammoths roamed the plains of the Southwest. As they died off, earthquakes, ash from volcanoes, storms and wind gradually caused the skeletons of those mighty monarchs to become buried deep within the earth. Little evidence now remains, however, because the climate, fluctuating from hot to cold and wet to dry, disintegrated the bones.

EACH NEW FIND is scientifically valuable and helps the paleonthologists piece together another chapter from the jigsaw of prehistoric times.

It was a message from Carl Rainwater, on whose ranch near Scholle, N. M., the discovery occurred, that brought Pond scurrying from California to see the "unusual piece of material" that had been sighted protruding from the banks of an arroyo.

An additional reward was rescued a few feet downstream—the mammoth's molar—which was just about to be washed away by the gushing stream.

THE PRIZE was to excite scientists as it was used to reconstruct the scene as it might have been when the mighty monarchs roamed across the tundras of the Southwest feeding off the rich grasses and vegetation.

THE ICE AGE was gradually coming to a close and it is believed that early Indians lived in settlements clustered around half-frozen waterholes and streams. The icy winds that had forced the mammoths to migrate to southern ground compelled the Indians to seek shelter in caves and huts. Hunters emerged only long enough to secure food then would re-

Try Over-Planting

You can enhance the beauty of a spring bulb bed by over-planting it with colorful annuals. The bulbs push up through this cover and the two bloom together.

Then when the bulbs fade and their foliage is ripening off, the annuals continue to bloom. Try pansies and violas, alyssum, linaria and nemophila for bulb bed covers. The California Association of Nurserymen says all of the latter three may be planted simply by sowing seed.

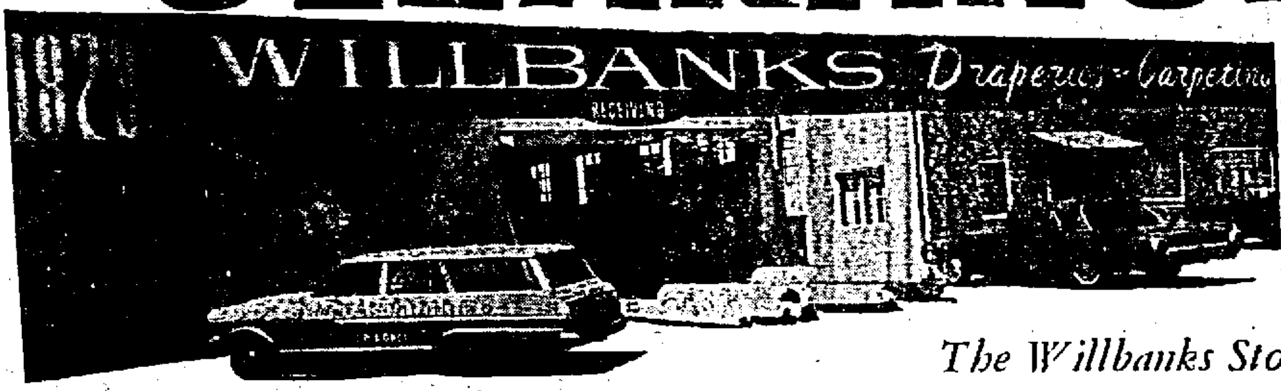
SELLS QUALITY CARPET FOR LESS



WILLBANK'S HUGE WAREHOUSE STORE. Truckloads of carpeting arrive daily, bringing you this area's largest selection of fine carpet. Large quantity purchasing enables you to get the best carpeting at realistic prices.

The Willbanks Story

The Willbanks Carpet Co. is a departure from the usual carpet specialty shop. It was founded on the premise that quality carpet, backed by expert installation, could be sold at a minimum mark-up in sufficient volume to be profitable. The extension of this premise was to operate without frills and costly fixtures from a low rent and thus low overhead location in a factory warehouse on a side street in Signal Hill. By eliminating high rent and other cost-raising features, the company decided it could afford to pass on to its customers the substantial savings by giving more carpet at less cost.

A SPECIAL BUY FROM MOHAWK

Here is an outstanding value. A carpet by Mohawk using Acrylic Fibers. A smart, practical carpet that you will be proud of. Being a special buy, there is only a limited supply in stock. There are 3 good decorator colors to choose from: Frost Beige, Gold, Sandalwood.

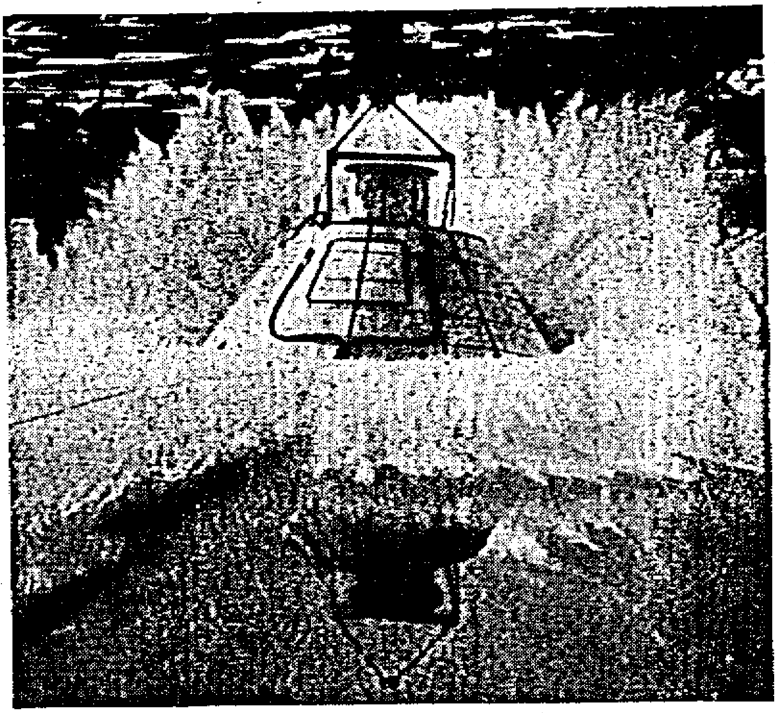
Southland plant building odd craft for Americans'

First Flight to the Moon



Swung in pendulum fashion and then dropped, the Apollo vehicle being made ready for manned space flight to the moon, is hurled into a tank of water.

By Lee Craig

A STRANGE, bug-shaped craft hovers over barren, craggy terrain, then eases down gingerly for a landing on its four spindly legs. A hatch opens and a man emerges, wearing a silvery suit and a plastic helmet and with a pack strapped to his back. He is the first American to land on the moon.

This dream of mankind for timeless ages will become a reality in a few more short years . . . by the end of this decade, if America's space program continues along its scheduled path.

The capsule to carry three astronauts on their historic space ride is now under construction at North American Aviation's Space and Information Systems Division at Downey, after exhaustive tests to determine its fitness for the role.

At Edwards Air Force Base, the world's biggest rocket engine, developed by NAA's Rocketdyne Division, Canoga Park, as the Apollo spacecraft's first-stage booster, is testing its power.

THE TASK ASSIGNED to Saturn V, the Apollo vehicle, is tremendous.

The 372-foot Saturn V, as high as a 30-story building, will weigh 3,000 tons, as much as a nuclear submarine or two dozen jetliners loaded with passengers, cargo and crews.

To lift this tremendous weight beyond the pull of the earth's gravity demands awesome power. Five of Rocketdyne's huge F-1 liquid-fuel engines will be clustered to provide the 7.5 million pounds of thrust needed to launch the huge spaceship to an altitude of 30 miles, where the second stage will take over.

On the way to that height, the equivalent power of 85 Hoover Dams will have been generated by the volcanic force of the five F-1s, gulping kerosene and liquid oxygen at 1,000 gallons per second which has been fed to them by turbopumps — equal in power to 30 diesel locomotives working together.

AFTER JETTISON of the first stage, the 1,000,000-pound thrust of the Saturn S-II stage drives the astronauts to about 99 miles, where a final push by the Saturn S-IVB stage will put the spacecraft into an orbit around the earth at 17,500 miles an hour.

At the proper moment, the S-IV's engines will be fired again to speed the Apollo to escape velocity of 25,000 miles an hour and send it on an accurate course to the moon.

Apollo must move toward where the moon will be 70 hours later. During its translunar flight, the spacecraft constantly changes speed under the influence of gravity, but averages about 5,500 miles an hour. Accuracy and timing are critical.

The vehicle speeding toward the moon consists of the command module, the service module and the lunar excursion module, or "bug."

ON THE WAY to the moon, the astronauts will move around within the tight confines of their quarters. They will communicate with earth, eat freeze-dehydrated foods and sleep in a shirt-sleeve environment.

About 80 miles above the moon's surface, the service module engine will send the spacecraft into a lunar orbit and two astronauts will transfer to the lunar excursion module for the landing, probably near the Sea of Tranquility.

Only one of them will leave the Bug at one time to make scientific observations, gather soil

"Boilerplate" models of NASA's three-man Apollo spacecraft command module are seen in production at North American Aviation's Space and Information Systems Division at Downey. These are engineering test vehicles made chiefly of aluminum alloy for pre-development tests. They duplicate external size and shape, structural soundness and center of gravity of later craft. At right, a space-suited engineer stands beside an Apollo mockup, built to study the configuration of later models that will carry men on flight to moon.

When the Team Travels . . .

. . . It's Eat, Study and Sleep

"Five minutes to load players, hour to load food. USC fullback Rich McMahon shows why.

Paul Johnson, Troy sophomore center, combines grid experience and sightseeing on trips.

Every Friday during the autumn, footballs fly across America—and so do college football players.

Thousands of young men are herded into hundreds of planes and headed for The Big Game. Once in the air, they eat, study, relax and sleep.

When football was in its infancy, the coach hitched up the wagon and drove his players to the game. Then came the era of the week-long train trip. USC and Loyola and Santa Clara teams would head East on Monday or Tuesday, stop in Albuquerque, Amarillo and New Orleans for workouts.

But today a team leaves on Friday, plays Saturday afternoon and rushes for the airport right afterward. The boys are back from a cross-country trip in time to have a late dinner at home.

When the threat of a pilots' strike arose last month, college officials were worried. "We'd have to cancel the football season," fretted one. "No, siree," said the pilot at 19,000 feet headed eastward. "We'd have to cancel the strike."

When the Theater Came to Long Beach

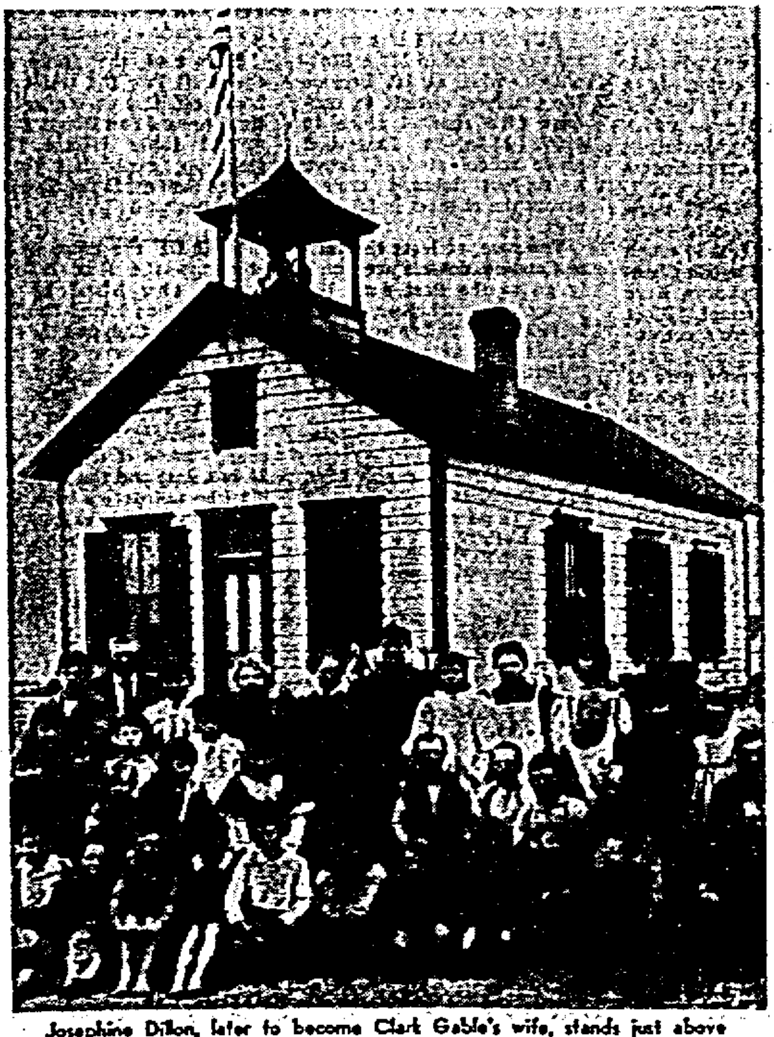
Theatricals presented by family and friends of the Judge Dillons in the Dillon home (above) on Signal Hill probably pioneered the "little theater" movement in Long Beach. The home later was destroyed by fire.

By Maymie R. Krythe

SINCE Long Beach is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, it's interesting to recall what was going on in the way of "theater" during the community's early decades. When Long Beach started as a seaside resort, its chief summer entertainment was sessions of the Assembly (similar to Chautauqua), presented at the Tabernacle (finished in 1887), located among eucalyptus trees in the block bordered by Locust Avenue, Third and Fourth Streets and Long Beach Boulevard.



Josephine Dillon, later to become Clark Gable's wife, stands just above fourth boy on left, front row, her brother James. Girl in dark dress, first on right, back row, is Ada Dillon. Photo shows original Burnett School.

Besides daily lectures, there were varied musical programs in the evenings; however, Long Beach had little in the way of professional drama. From time to time a traveling stock company would perform at the Tabernacle until that structure was torn down in 1915.

SOME SOURCES say the first "little theater" productions occurred in the commodious basement of the Judge Dillon home, on the south side of Signal Hill. Fire later destroyed the home. Dillon was a lawyer and his wife was the second president of the Ebell Club. With their six children, they formed a talented and important pioneer family.

(Later the son became a lawyer, three of the sisters were musicians and studied abroad, and Josephine Dillon, a graduate of Stanford University, and a dramatic coach, was the first wife of Clark Gable.)

The Dillon youngsters and several friends often staged shows, and delighted in dramatizing scenes from such books as "Little Women," "Little Men," and others. As they grew older, they developed their acting and musical abilities, and would stage benefits. Often a tallyho from down town brought a number of guests to see the productions, which included light plays, heavy dramas, vaudeville acts, and even grand opera. These events raised funds for the Literary Society, library and other projects. The Dillons often gave dramatic performances at Christmas, Fourth of July, and other holidays. So, it's no doubt true that the local "theater" did start at the Dillon home.

During the 1890s some young people, who lived near Signal Hill, got together to promote their own entertainment. Frank Butler, who had a nursery nearby, let them use his warehouse; and in his honor they called it "Butler's Opera House."

THE BOYS built a stage, installed a curtain, and used lanterns for lights. During their productions here, the young people gave variety acts, plays, and musicals. In one play, "The Elevator," the leading man and lady got "stuck" for a time in the lift. Since the feminine star was pretty, there was rivalry among the boys for the male part; when one fellow got it, another offered him $5 for the role.

In 1903, some amateur groups, including Company H of the National Guard, staged plays, as did members of the Ebell Club. At the Lyceum, in addition to moving pictures, one-act plays were produced each week. Also that year Bernard Daly and his company reached Long Beach with the play, "Kerry Gaw," in which there were exciting horse races and a flock of carrier pigeons.

An important theatrical event was reported in the Long Beach Press of April 10, 1908:

"Next Tuesday, April 14, will mark another epoch in the amusement history of Long Beach. On the night of that day, the Bentley Grand Theater will be thrown open to the public. This beautiful playhouse, which has been rushed to completion as fast as unlimited capital and brains could command, is the peer of any theater built, except for size. It is a miniature "Grand" in every respect, cozy, compact, modern, in every appointment and detail, and absolutely fireproof. An asbestos curtain hung on steel ropes and sheaves separate the 22x28 stage from the beautiful auditorium, with sunken orchestra, parquette, proscenium boxes and orchestra and balcony loges. There are nine exits on the ground floor, which will empty the entire house in 40 seconds. Every modern stage accessory has been added to make life pleasant even behind the footlights, and to produce thrilling scenic effects.

"THE BENTLEY GRAND will be devoted to refined vaudeville and the very best acts are promised by Walter Reed, the efficient stage manager. But the crowds that will attend the Bentley Grand will find a theater of which every Long Beach man, woman and child need not be ashamed." (This new theater—later called the "swanky home of the spoken drama"—was located near Cedar Way, on the Pike, not far from the Virginia Hotel.)

One of the wacky ways—at least, in a modern sense—of crossing Catalina Channel was by Hawaiians in outrigger canoe, seagoing craft of the ancient Polynesians.

Catalina, the Wacky Way

By Lou Jobst

CATALINA Islanders may be out of the main stream of things, but when it comes to kooky ocean-hoppers they've seen just about everything.

Visitors have cruised to Avalon's sunny shores, crossed from there to the mainland, or both in kayaks, bicycle-driven pontoons, on water skis and surfboards, in outriggers, canoes, rubber inner tube rafts and—most recently and dramatically—in a 1914 Santa Fe railroad parlor car aboard a barge.

They've also buzzed the island in World War I fighters and zoomed past White's Point in hydrofoils and hydroplanes.

The Catalina the bard(y) way cult are not all exhibitionists and water-soaked wits. To many athletes and sportsmen, the 18-mile wide channel with its tricky currents and often unpredictable and deadly behavior, is a challenge—a sort of "because it is there" thing — which seems to afflict marathon swimmers and mountaineers alike.

Since World War II, nearly a score of swimmers, ranging from housewives to tough veterans of the English Channel and the Bosphorus, have made the attempt. Most failed. A few were spectacular successes, but none more than Greta Andersen, wife of a San Pedro high school coach, who overcame a serious physical disability to become the world's premier distance swimmer.

GRETA, who admits that sharks frighten her, has set so many records on the channel that one wag suggested it be renamed "Greta's Gulf."

In one daring swim, in 1958, she swam the channel both ways, covering nearly 50 miles in less than 27 hours with only a 17 minute breather ashore.

What Greta is to the swimmers, 23-year-old Chuck Stearns of Bellflower is to the skiers. Stearns, repeatedly U. S. national water skiing champion, has six times won the annual 58-mile water ski race between the island and the mainland. This year he made the two-way crossing in 1 hour, 39 minutes. In 1958 Stearns, still in high school, crossed the channel on one ski in 21 minutes, 50 seconds.

BUT STEARNS was an old man compared to Mike Brakensiek, who, at 10, became the youngest person to conquer the channel alone in 1957. Mike, a Lakewood grade school student, drove a six-foot inboard cruiser across the channel in 58 minutes.

The race, at least the race to Catalina, doesn't necessarily go to the fleet and the young. Channel champs have included a number of graybeards such as a 75-year-old Fullerton real estate broker and former lawyer, Vincent Smith, who has made three kayak trips to Catalina, the last earlier this year.

He also made canoe trips in 1950 and 1952 and says, "I expect to go canoeing on my 100th birthday."

OCTEGENARIAN Fred Ashbridge celebrated his 80th birthday by water skiing to the island from Marineland, a 38-mile crossing which was his fifth on skis. He made it in 1 hour, 22 minutes and would have arrived sooner "if I hadn't had a couple of spills." To prove he wasn't getting too old he also skied back to the mainland.

Teamwork has played a role in channel conquests such as the perfectly matched efforts of a man-wife team, James and Diana Loomis. The Loomis couple rowed to Long Beach from Avalon in a 15-foot skiff. The trip lasted 5½ hours.

Most hilarious of the ill-fated channel attempts occurred in 1954 when a group of young marine enlisted men tried to make the trip on a raft made of innertubes.

Each time the group put their raft into the water the heavy offshore current swept them toward San Diego. After several futile efforts they gave up, explaining they'd "more than made the distance sideways."

TWO OF the most recent crossings—the first railroad trip to the island by the wacky Balboa Island Sculling and Punting Club and the successful June swim of a 214-pound San Francisco father of four, Ike Papke—point out the wide divergence in channel challengers — the serious (Papke made it in 12 hours, 21 minutes) and the improbable (the railroaders took two days, about 40 passengers, but issued 1,000 tickets).

Water skis are another means of channel crossings. Fred Ashbridge, 80 (above) has made five crossings in this manner.

Vincent Smith (right) made it first in a canoe. He and Gus Emerson (left) crossed again; gave up round trip plan.

Joanie's "Crowning Glory"

By Vera Williams

When Joanie Jaye goes into her act, her hair is a No. 1 "prop." Can you guess the impersonations? See article.

JOANIE JAYE has sparkling eyes, a "pop" voice, and a trim figure divided 34-23-34.

AND a head of lustrous brown hair that never has been cut and swings to her waist.

For years she has sung and danced in Southern California, and before that, in the east. Most of her appearances have been with groups.

Not long ago her husband, Mel Rudell, suggested:

"If we think of some way to capitalize on your long hair, you're good enough for an act of your own."

THE UPSHOT was that Joanie worked out a snappy act of songs, patter and impersonations — and her only "prop" is her hair.

She pulls a wide strand of hair across her forehead, and she is an Indian. She circles her mouth with a thinner strand of hair and she's Al Jolson. She wraps hair under her chin and she's Tom Dooley. She makes a "coonskin" cap of hair, and she's Davy Crockett.

As a climax, she pushes her hair forward on each side, sticks out her tongue, and she's a panting long-eared cocker spaniel.

The act is slated for Las Vegas soon.

SINCE COMING to Long Beach six years ago, she has appeared with the Paul King, Frankie Gould, Reed Williams, Paul Buzard, Roger Bacon, Mort Faber, Eddie Thornberry and Herb Gifford bands. Her appearances have included Disneyland, Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe, Christian's Hut and Jamaica Inn at Corona del Mar, the Black Bull in San Fernando Valley, the White Sands in Riverside, the Biltmore Bowl and local hotels, restaurants and clubs.

Her husband and his brother, Russell (both Poly graduates) have a variety act, which they call "The Rudells."

The couple live at 2742 Elm Ave.

Joanie's relaxed moments reveal a charming personality.

Rich appointments and spacious comfort are evident in this living room view, taken from the stairway, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barr. Black, hand-carved beams, white walls, floral carpet are of interest.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

Its Mood Is Mediterranean

By Stella George

THIRTY YEARS fail to dim the sturdy beauty of a well-constructed home, as Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barr, 3000 Chestnut Ave., have proved since purchasing their Spanish style, two-story residence three years ago.

The house is set on a tree-shaded corner lot and a curved walk leads to the front entrance. Mosaic tile frames the door bell, a tiny clue to the rich interior beyond.

There is a small entry, with a stained glass window at one side, views the beautifully appointed living room, with a stairway at the far end. Carpeting (including the stairway) is of a rose floral pattern. Carpeting plays an important part in the whole decorating scheme.

With the assistance of interior designer, Aurora Fournier, Mrs. Barr has combined French and Italian furniture for the decor of her home, selecting each item with infinite care. Twin white sofas or love seats face a marble-topped coffee table before a large picture window at the front of the home.

Much more than interior beauty is evident, too, in Barr home. Above, patio corner with fountain, pond.

Stairway rises and turns, forming a corner for a conversation grouping, console table, handsome mirror.

A LILAC occasional chair is across the way, near a white fireplace. In another corner, just under the stairway, is a conversation grouping of two chairs, small table, low commode—with a handsome mirror on the nearby wall. Accessories include a lilac toned bouquet on the coffee table, a bunch of glass grapes, fine lamps.

All walls in the home (except the kitchen) are white. Black beams in the high ceiling are hand carved.

In the dining room, a step above the living room, there is a round table with four chairs, an Italian cabinet with grillwork doors and a serving table. A large picture window in this room views the homes across the way. An Italian chandelier sparkles above the table. The centerpiece on the table is interesting: a silver colored soup tureen (or large casserole) with a cover or lid shaped like a huge flower.

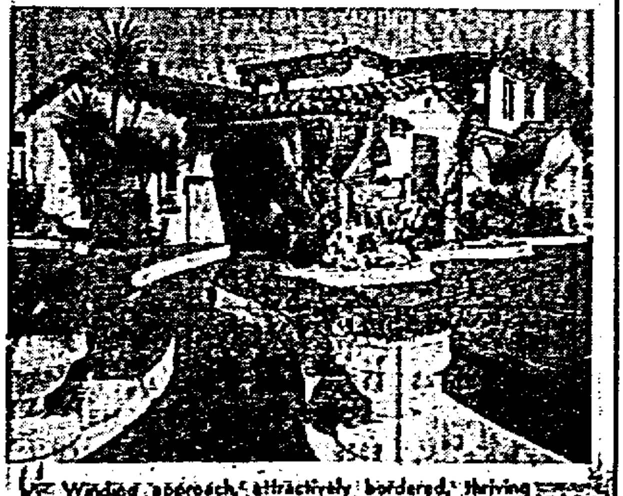
In every respect the kitchen is a masterpiece of design and planning. There is a built-in table that serves as a dining table, a bar, a game table, or a buffet as required. Built-in units at the far end include cupboards and shelves—open shelves to display knick-knacks and family treasures.

BEYOND the living room is a large curved hallway which doubles as a tiny den with a desk and chair. A powder room in the area is hung with gold paper.

In the back of the home is the TV room. Here, Mrs. Barr chose walnut rattan furniture.

Barr built a high white wall around the patio of the home, and placed mosaic wall decorations here and there. In the far end of the patio is a pond with a mosaic border and a fountain in the center. Colored lights play on the scene in the evening.

The master bedroom is spacious, typical of homes built years ago. The king sized bed, headboard, lamps and chests of drawers are 1963, however, as elegant as the furnishings downstairs. The guest room has two maple beds with built on headboards (that even include a tiny drawer)—and a door (obviously not to the closet) up a step from the room that always brings forth the question, "Where does it lead to?" It does, in fact, lead to a tiny balcony—found only in a home of this type.



Winding approach, attractively bordered, thriving landscaping add charm to Spanish-style residence.

MEDICINE AND YOU

How to Make a Hospital Visit

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

VISITS to hospital patients should not be longer than 30 minutes, a British physician says.

And rarely should more than one person visit at one time with a patient, says Dr. Somerville Hastings. Conversation can prove tiring, he points out.

The object of visiting is to soothe and to encourage, Dr. Hastings says. So bad news should be withheld. The visitor should do most of the talking, he says in British Medical Journal.

Visitors are especially important in the lives of the chronically ill, he notes.

Says Dr. Hastings: "The chronic sick feel that if they but rarely have visitors their colleagues in the ward will think there is something lacking in them personally. It is therefore a real act of mercy for well-disposed people to visit them regularly."

A NEW DRUG that combines the tranquilizer propthipendyl and the barbiturate cyclobarbital has proved effective in relieving insomnia and in treating DTs.

The combination medication is known as Itridal.

The compound, made in West Germany, can induce deeper and longer sleep than each single component prescribed in double amount, three German researchers report.

In trials on 220 patients with various sleep disturbances, Itridal tablets enabled subjects to sleep an average of six hours, according to a report in Diseases of the Nervous System.

A single shot of the injectable form of the drug relieved agitation in delirium tremens.

A PNEUMATIC splint made of clear plastic has been shown to be worth while in the management of hand injuries.

The splint, which can be applied rapidly by anyone with a little training, is inflated either by hand-operated bulb or by mouth. It can be applied over an open wound, two Detroit researchers report in Archives of Environmental Health.

A NEW experimental drug mentioned here some months ago appears to be proving out as a valuable adjunct in the treatment of hemochromatosis, a serious condition in which excess iron is deposited in body tissues.

The drug is desferrioxamine-B. It has been given the trade name Desferal.

Two Swiss scientists, reporting in New England Journal of Medicine, say the compound effectively and safely removes excessive quantities of iron from the body.

THE MONOTONOUS bland diet usually prescribed for the peptic ulcer victim is abhorent to the patient who has been a gourmet.

But here's how to get a treat with a treatment, says a book reviewer in American Journal of the Medical Sciences. Read the new book entitled "The Ulcer Diet Cook Book," by Harold Rubin.

This book, says the journal, represents the "creative revolt" of an amateur chef and gourmet who was faced with a tasteless diet when he developed an ulcer.

More than 200 recipes are listed, including everything from soup to nuts—the nuts are lightly salted cold cereals.

The author has been careful to differentiate between recipes that may be used early and late in the dietary management of an ulcer.

The book, which costs $4.95, is published by M. Evans and Co. and distributed in association with J. B. Lippincott Co. of Philadelphia.

CAPSULES: Use of aluminum cooking utensils is in no way injurious to health, reports the American Medical Association. . . . Sailors have long known that yellow tatoos may swell when exposed to light. But why? It's the cadmium sulfide in the yellow dye, a Swedish physician reports in Archives of Dermatology. . . . The new "death ray"—the laser—can burn a hole through steel in seconds and turn a diamond into powder, but it doesn't appear to harm human skin, researchers report in Nature.

Fossil

turn to the warmth of their shelters.

Larger by far than the elephant, his distant cousin, the mammoth towered to a height of 14 feet or more. He fed on grasses and vegetation and if they grew scarce, with his great strength, he could fell a tree and strip it of leaves. He made good eating and the Indians had reason for rejoicing when they killed a mammoth for its great body, weighing from 2 to 4 tons, would supply a whole village with food for many weeks.

A RECENT discovery, near Clovis, N. M., discloses a man-made spear embedded in the foreleg of a mammoth, proving that the early Indians killed the great beasts with weapons. They may also have used the pitfall, a method similar to that used today in trapping jungle animals.

LITTLE IS KNOWN about why the mammoth became extinct but some geological catastrophe must have occurred, maybe famine or flood, to cause him to lose the fight for his life. Or, as some scientists believe, great herds may have perished when trapped on ice-flows drifting out to sea, or they may have become prey to predatory wolves. Whatever the cause, he has disappeared from the face of the earth. He was a giant among giants but neither his size nor his strength saved his life.

Each new discovery of fossilized remains brings his story back into the light and opens up a new page of history. Few others may be as lucky as Gordon Pond but who knows what a sharp eye may detect along the banks of an arroyo, or on the beaches along the ocean? Recently the lower molar from a prehistoric bison was found on the beach at Oceanside, California, so these prizes are still coming to light and are helping to solve the mysteries of prehistoric times.

You don't HAVE to go outdoors to enjoy a Skillet Beef Barbecue, but it's more fun—and fall days in the Southland still permit many happy patio hours. However, the family room or kitchen will do just as well for this fun-dining.

Skillet Beef Barbecue

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

NO LONGER does the "come to a barbecue" invitation mean that you need head-for-the-woods, nor does it have to be in the dead of summer . . . Barbecues in California are year-around affairs.

Casual but festive, a barbecue can be prepared in your family room, patio, or in your own kitchen. A Skillet Beef Barbecue is an innovation of do-ahead and enjoy your guests, as well as being a good way to make a small roast feed many. A boned rump roast or sirloin tip is cooked the day before your party. The super barbecue sauce is prepared, roast put into bun-size slices, cheese added, and heating and serving are done at the last moment.

Onion-crested baked beans are especially good with the beef barbecue, and beet cole slaw adds crispness and color contrast to the menu.

There are several suggestions for the dessert tray. You might arrange assorted fruits, cookies and miniature chocolate candy bars on a large tray. This would provide nibbling for the rest of the evening. Another time you might have an arrangement of tarts. The ready-prepared canned fruit pie fillings make it easy to serve several different kinds. Or a big bowl of chilled canned fruits for salad with gaily frosted cup cakes around it would be good.

Onion-Crested Baked Beans

4 cans (1 lb. each) pork and beans, OR baked beans
2 cans (3½ oz. each) French fried onions

Put beans in skillet; heat. Just before serving sprinkle with French fried onions. Twelve servings.

Skillet Beef Barbecue

3 lb. boned beef rump or sirloin tip (pot roasted day before)
2 cloves garlic
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup salad oil
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup brown sugar (firmly packed
½ teaspoon oregano
1 tablespoon thick meat sauce
½ teaspoon barbecue spice (optional)
2½ teaspoons salt
1 pkg. (8 oz.) sharp cheddar cheese

Cook minced garlic and onion in oil until tender but not brown. Add remaining ingredients except meat and cheese. Cook uncovered over low heat for an hour, stirring frequently. Cut the meat into slices about the size of hamburger buns and add to the sauce; heat about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. When ready to serve, stir in grated cheese. Serve meat with some of the sauce on hard rolls or hamburger buns. Twelve hearty servings.

Beet Cole Slaw

1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ teaspoon celery salt
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup grated onion
½ cup salad oil
½ cup vinegar
1 can (1 lb.) sliced OR diced beets
5 cups finely chopped green cabbage

Combine seasonings, sugar, onion, oil and vinegar; mix well. Add drained beets and chill 1 to 2 hours. Add cabbage and toss lightly until mixed. Twelve servings.

Wide publicity of the nativity scene pictured above has led to its being offered repeatedly over a period of years. It is easily assembled from a set of pictures and plywood, is weatherproof and usable year after year. See article for further details.

Home Workshop

By Steve Ellingson

IT IS difficult to conceive a more appropriate and appealing outdoor Christmas display than a nativity scene, whose characters authentically depict the story of the birth of Christ.

The beautiful and colorful display pictured at the left has appeared throughout the world during the last nine years. Its popularity constantly increases as more people and groups join the Interdenominational "CHRIST in CHRISTmas Committee" in its campaign to keep Christ in Christmas. Again, we have been asked to support this worthwhile objective.

THE SCENE has appeared in stores, parks, prisons, military installations, hospitals and aboard ships. It has been erected in countries on every continent—even those behind the Iron Curtain. Countless persons who have used this nativity in their front yards have won first place in their local Christmas decoration contests. It's a project that the entire family, especially the youngsters, can help construct. It is perhaps the most effective way to dramatize this important event in Christian history. A reminder, for those who build the display and those who view it, of the true Christmas story and its impact upon man through the ages.

The scene pictured is something anyone can make in a few hours. It's two-thirds life size (camels are over five feet tall). The figures come to you printed in many bright and beautiful colors. All you need do is glue the pictures on plywood, then saw them out. After that they are ready to go on display. Complete instructions are included. The pictures are waterproof (like billboards) and may be used year after year.

TO OBTAIN the complete set of nativity scene pictures number C-7 shown here, send $5 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

Sleek Wall Design

By Bill Meyerriecks

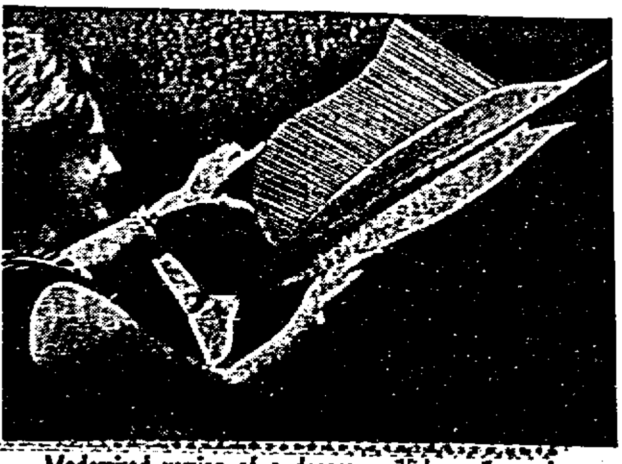
SKETCHBOOK'S change of pace design this week is a modern, sleek sailfish that will spark up any wall in the home, especially den or playroom areas.

The decorative sailfish plaque is a quick, fun project. It is a smart design as seen in the photo. Anyone can make it since it is impossible to miss catching the sweeping lines and graceful look when you follow the full size patterns and detailed steps of the Sketchbook S-132 plan. The cost of materials is very modest.

Construction is simple. Fashion the wood body to the patterns shown in the plan. The fish's underside is cut by scissors from easily obtainable textured aluminum. For the sail fin, an ordinary coat hanger sufficies for the frame. You notch it with a file, bend it to a given shape and wind colored cotton thread from notches to hidden brads driven in back of the body wood. All steps in the plan are detailed and easily understandable to help you along.

For those with a decorative, imaginative flair, variations in the materials can make the project cost almost nil. For instance, the suggested hardwood body could be cut from weathered, attractive driftwood or scrap. You could do a bit of sculpturing to add depth to the body of the fish. Colored, contrasting burlap or linen over stiff cardboard could replace the aluminum underside. Add an attractive trinket or button as an eye, and you'll want to give prominence to such a modern trophy.

TO OBTAIN pattern, specify Sketchbook Plan S-132 and send 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.



Modernized version of a deepsea sailfish, easily made from a full-size pattern, makes a neat wall ornament.

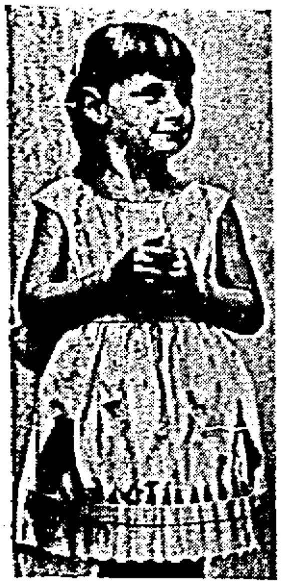
An Apron for the Budding Artist

By Elsa DeBra



Coloring apron with its row of crayons is worn proudly by a pre-school girl and is a work-saver for her mother.

WHEN THE coloring crew gets busy at your house, and crayons get out of hand, then's the time to equip each budding artist with a work-apron.

Less than a yard of 36-inch material will do it — ties and all. Use denim, unbleached muslin, sail-cloth, gingham, or any kind of fabric that is the same on both sides. Little girls like their aprons gathered and tied around the waist with a perky bow. Boys prefer theirs plain like a chef's apron, with a noose-neck and string ties.

For the unbleached muslin apron modeled here, cut a 15-inch length (shorter, if desired) of 36-inch fabric. Machine stitch a one-inch hem along the bottom. Now turn up this bottom edge to front side to a depth of 3 inches, all the way across. Machine stitch slots about 1¼ inches apart, across front of apron, for the single nesting of a dozen crayons. This will leave a generous pocket on each side for holding crayons in readiness for those wild, competitive strokes of genius.

IF YOU ARE using jumbo crayons, make slots wider. If you have two dozen crayons, make another row, right above the first one, by sewing on a hemmed 3 inch strip of material.

Now finish the skirt part of the apron with gathers at the top to fit into a 12-inch double belt. Leave selvage edge at sides or finish with a narrow hem, if desired. Cut ties 5 inches wide, about 24 inches long. Hem with narrow hem.

Decorate these work-aprons any way desired. Girls like rickrack, boys like felt cutout animal motifs. Shown are two green felt trees (cookie-cutter pattern) stitched invisibly by hand, and growing right out of the pockets.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

This slim guide is the reason new Kotams tampon can give more protection, more comfort

New Kotams is designed with a slim guide that places the tampon exactly where needed to give you the most complete protection possible.

Old-style ways of inserting a tampon can be very haphazard with bulky applicators—or no inserter at all. Protection is often incomplete!

But with new Kotams it's virtually impossible to position this tampon incorrectly. The guide stem has a tapered grip that makes you hold it just the right way for perfect placement. The tampon is angled correctly, directed smoothly to the most comfortable and protective position. The stem then releases.

Deftly compressed, a Kotams tampon expands in use to 4 times its size. Try Regular or Super absorbency ... soon.

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

Try Crash Program

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: "My son, in high school, signed up for a math class but was sick the first 10 days of school, and he's never caught up and feels that he can't. What should we do about it?"

ANSWER: If the teacher agrees that the youngster has missed too much and can't catch up, it makes little sense to keep him in this class. He should be saved the humiliating and discouraging experience of going day after day to a class in which he is failing.

Usually, though, such a case is not really as hopeless as it might first appear. An intensive, organized program of review may pull the fat from the fire.

Talk the situation over with student and teacher, determine whether a salvaging operation is worth trying.

If it is, give math top priority on the homework schedule. Undertake a crash program. Go back to the very first and cover the lessons at twice or three times the speed at which the class is currently moving. The idea, of course, is to bring your son abreast and enable him to move along with the class.

If this is the route to be followed, make the decision now and get the crash program started.

QUESTION: Do rewards promote learning?

ANSWER: Yes.

The reward of food has a marked effect on the performance of an animal finding his way through a maze. Experiments have shown that the unrewarded animal is the poorest learner.

Awards—or incentives—to human beings must be more subtle and refined than those offered a rat in a maze, of course. Praise and the assurance of happiness and success in life are among the most effective incentives to human learning.

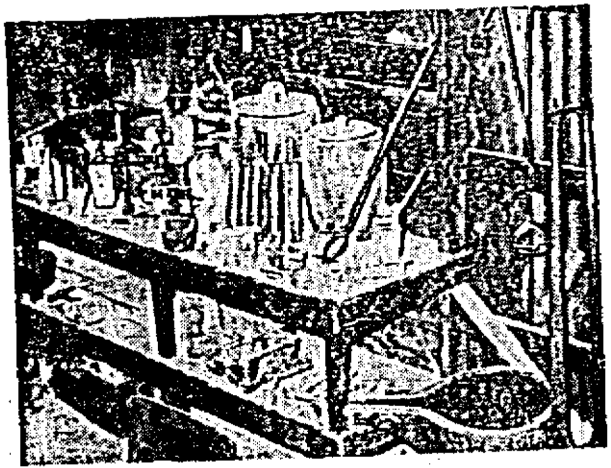
Bonanzas Have Turned to Bygones

Visitor stands by idle 900-foot shaft of Tropico gold mine near Rosamond. Mine is open to public in winter.

By Betty Hardesty

GOLD STILL glitters in jewelry but it no longer exemplifies fortune and fame. Few prospectors search hills for bonanzas, few mines are in operation. The glamour era of the yellow metal has gone a-glimmering. Only the curiosity of tourists keeps a few gold mines in the Southwest open for inspection.



Sampling bench at an old gold mine shows equipment for testing of ores, a clutter of items long unused.

George I. Holmes, who 30 years ago discovered the Silver Queen Mine, latest of a long line of California gold bonanzas, says, "It may be the last." It was his strike that launched the Mojave gold rush. "Gold is still in the ground as much as ever but nobody is looking anymore. Very few men have the know-how, and in another 20 years all of them will be dead."

Holmes, now 60, may be the last of the gold discoverers who stretch back to John Marshall and the gold glamour of the days of '49.

HOLMES BEGAN mining at age 16 and worked in most of the glory holes of the West before he found the "Queen." He dug $6,000,000 worth of ore out of it before selling out for more than $3 million plus royalties in January 1935. The buyer was Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa, founded by Cecil Rhodes. The company took out a million tons of ore worth $13 to $15 million from the flank of Soledad mountain in the seven years before gold mining in U.S. was halted as a war measure.

Holmes explains the economics that makes gold mining unprofitable now: The government set the price of gold in 1934 at $35 an ounce. It is still at that price. But at that time miners' wages were about $7 a day, mine timbering about $40 for 1,000 board feet and dynamite was $8 a case.

NOW WAGES are $25 and up, timber around $200 a thousand and powder $18. The price per ounce would have to just about double to restore things as they were, he believes. He also thinks the price would double on a free market, with dozens of mines reopening and thousands of miners going down the shafts to follow the veins.

"A whole industry would revive," he says, "but gold miners don't look for that to happen, the gold era is gone!"

The Mystery of Flight 967

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

IN THE EARLY morning hours of Nov. 16, 1959, a Coastguardsmen on duty in a high lookout tower at Pilot Town, La., observed a strange sky phenomenon.

As he gazed out over the Gulf of Mexico, the distant horizon lit up with a brilliant flash unlike anything he had ever seen before, yellow-red, "about as big around as the sun from the earth." Then the yellow disappeared, and the color in the night sky became a deep red, more like a sunset red. This color lasted but a few seconds before it disappeared, to be replaced by a violent white flaring light that was more like a chalk line being drawn on a blackboard with one hand and erased with another. The white flaring line went "straight down" from a point about 15 degrees above the "horizon."

At the same time, men monitoring a radar screen at nearby Houma, La., tracking the passage of a Tampa-to-New Orleans passenger Flight 967, suddenly saw the blip that was the plane veer sharply to the right approximately 70 degrees and disappear.

These minutes, says Brad Williams in his newest book "FLIGHT 967" (Morrow, $3.95), were the minutes of death for 42 persons. And they were also the minutes of birth of one of the most baffling mysteries in the history of commercial aviation in the United States. And Williams, a former newspaperman and now public relations director in Los Angeles for an airline, documents the strange story like the master of mystery that he proved himself to be in previous books.

Thread by thread, Williams attempts to weave a rope of circumstantial evidence that Dr. Robert V. Spears, a career swindler formerly of San Pedro, is guilty of mass murder in the alleged bombing of the DC7 which is presumed to have gone down about 120 miles southeast of New Orleans.

Spears is now serving a prison term on another charge. Until it is established that there is a corpus delicti, which in this case is the criminal agency that the plane was in fact bombed, Spears is legally innocent of the crime.

Nevertheless, Williams' skill in telling the story, in which one bizarre development after another arises, makes "Flight 967" one of the journalistic classics of the year, certain to be sought after by aviation and mystery fans alike.

ISOLATED Tillamook Bay of the Oregon Territory in the 1850s is the setting of Don Berry's dramatic tale of a hardy band of young bachelors whose dream of riches in the wilderness collapses with the death of the captain of the only ship which trades with them.

Rather than quit the bay, they decide "TO BUILD A SHIP" (Viking, $3.95) with their strength and the savvy of a gnomish hermit shipwright, Sam Howard. They love Her—their ship—but unfortunately, Sam goes wild over a local squaw and demands cooperation of the crew in his conspiracy to hang the squaw's husband for a triple murder he didn't commit. This is Sam's price to complete the ship.

BRAD WILLIAMS

The men go along, reluctantly, but the Indian tribes in the area don't, because the real killer, also an Indian, already had confessed, had been given a trial after a fashion and lynched. Thus the author of "Trask" and "Moontrap" builds up another exciting situation.

SINCE MANOHAR Malgonkar is himself the grandson of the prime minister of one of India's princely states, he is well versed in life and the lore of those anachronistic parts of India. His novel, "THE PRINCES" (Viking, $4.95) pictures a ruling family, accustomed to command and to being obeyed unquestioningly, watching progress wither away their heritage.

The grand old maharajah, benevolent despot but determined to maintain feudalism, cannot accept the inevitable—that modern, free India will swallow up his kingdom.

Despite its background of medieval court ritual, with its tiger hunts, the novel nevertheless goes deep into the modern world's problems. The maharajah's son, Abhay, teller of the tale, struggles to free himself of the old man's domination, so that he can live as he wants and love whom he wants.

CROWN PRINCE Frederick II of Prussia, a sensitive intellectual, suffered contempt, punishment and heartbreaking despair under the severe discipline of his father, King Frederick I, thus firing an ambition which forced a profound change in the history and destiny of Europe.

"THE MAKING OF FREDERICK THE GREAT" (Little, Brown, $6.50) is the first volume of a two part biography by Edith Simon of the brilliant emperor who, after ascending the throne in 1740, turned Prussia from an insignificant principality into a militaristic world power. Two world wars, two centuries later, had their beginnings in that military tradition.

Miss Simon's account of how Frederick the Great became master of the politics and intrigues of the Holy Roman Empire in which, as a youth, he had been a pawn, reflects thorough research.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Souhtland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: My husband named BICHO is from the Azores Islands.—Mrs. F.B., Lomita.

F.B.: BICHO is an impressive Portuguese surname which centuries ago referred to an ancestral inn sign portraying a wild tiger or lion as the inn-owner's trademark. This spectacular sign, picturing a "bicho," meaning "wild animal," led to usage of this word as the innkeeper's surname. The Azores Islands where your husband was born have belonged to Portugal since 1431.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we learn about the German surname MOST? — M.M., H.M., Long Beach. M.M., H.M.: MOST had several origins, blended together in medieval philology. It began as the nickname "Most" shortened from the given-name Mansuetus, a Latin word for "good-natured." Most is also a shortening of Weinmost, for "unfermented grape juice," from the occupation of wine making. Most is also a Slavic, central European term for "bridge," given to the ancestral operator of a drawbridge or his residence nearby.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on ARMIJO.—L.A., Long Beach.

L.A.: ARMIJO had two early Spanish sources. It describes "bearer of arms," or as a shortening of Almijarero, portrayed "keeper of an oil tank in a mine." Jose Armijo is recorded as owner of a Mexican Rancho in Solano County, central California in 1842.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give history on VAN VELSON —E.V., Compton.

E.V.: VAN VELSON is from Holland. This Dutch farm origin surname refers to the family land, for the source phrase of "Velson" was "Veld-stenen" meaning "stony field." The Van Velson and Van Velsen shield is gold, decorated with three black wild-boar heads.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the Gaelic background and shield for KENNEDY—A.K., Long Beach.

A.K.: KENNEDY had its inception in both Scotland and Ireland. The ancient Gaelic meaning is disputed, either from Cinneide meaning "helmeted head," or from "Ceann-Eidigh" for "helmeted-chief." Scotch Kennedys descended from Roland Kennedy of Ayrshire who in 1250 was declared "sole head of his progeny." Twenty-four generations of Kennedy have lived on the family estate at Carrick, Ayshire. The clan shield is silver, emblazoned with three black crosses and a red chevron. Irish Kennedys were formerly the Clann O'Cinneide of County Clare, descendants of Cinneidig, nephew of King Brian Boru who died in 1014. The Irish O'Kennedy shield has three silver helmets on a black background.

Moon Flight

samples and perform experiments.

When their time is up—probably after several hours—the astronauts will launch themselves from the moon by firing the Bug's ascent engine, leaving behind the other engine, its empty fuel tanks, and spider legs, using them as a launch platform.

AFTER rendezvous with the command module, the Bug will be jettisoned and the return journey begun.

The spacecraft will use the friction of the atmosphere, which starts at about 400,000 feet above the earth, to slow down. After the service module is dropped, the command module's blunt heat shield will be turned forward to absorb the fiery, 5,000-degree heat generated during re-entry.

The pilot will use the command module's aerodynamic lift qualities to maneuver his craft to stay in the narrow re-entry corridor and select his landing point within a 5,000-mile radius.

At 25,000 feet, Apollo's drogue parachutes will open, deploying the three main chutes at 15,000 feet to lower the spacecraft gently to sea or ground to end the greatest adventure in mankind's history.

PET PARADE

A Little Bit Special

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF YOU OWN a coursing hound such as Saluki, Borzoi, greyhound or other, you may know that training him requires special patience and consideration, especially when it comes to the sitting position which is not a natural one for this dog. Yet when he once has mastered the lessons, he becomes an enthusiastic and reliable performer.

In order to help these dogs, the Southern California Sight Hounds Obedience Training Club has been formed. Information may be obtained from the club president, Dick Guthrie, 5306 Yarmouth Ave., Encino.

Pictured with this article is a very special Saluki, Jen Araby Siva of Srinagar, owned by Winafred B. Lucas, Ph. D., of Los Angeles. Siva will be seen playing the role of a royal dog of Egypt in George Stevens' film, The Greatest Story Ever Told." For the film the dog was trained by Pat LaCoss.

Jen Araby Siva of Srinagar . . . a little bit special, too.

ACCORDING to historical records, the Saluki is the ancestor of other sight hounds and may well be the oldest breed of dog in the world. There are pictures of them on the tombs of the Pharaohs. Arabs valued them on a par with their horses and considerably above wives! Salukis are fleet runners and have reached 45 miles per hour.

As a pet and companion, the Saluki is very satisfying, being hardy, clean, elegant, warm-hearted, intelligent, fine with children. His appearance is lean, but this does not mean he is being underfed.

I would like to add that a toy dog also should be given special patience and consideration in his training. However, if he will be competing with larger dogs in obedience, it seems wise to train him in regular classes.

MAKING A NAME for himself obedience-wise is the little toy Japanese spaniel, Ch. Turner's Fukuro, owned by Mrs. H. A. Brown, 849 Ronan St., Wilmington. He is being trained in Marty Lier's class in Peck's Park, Western and Summerland streets, San Pedro, because Marty Lier seems to understand toy dogs, and there absolutely is no cruelty whatsoever. Classes are held Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon. Some pet shops sponsor obedience classes, too. Go out and observe the training. Somewhere there is just the right one for your dog, toy or otherwise.

And I think you would like the book, Natural Method of Dog Training, by Leon F. Whitney, DVM., distributed by Lippincott, $3.95. His is a quiet, easy sort of training using the dog's natural reflexes and reinforcing them with food to encourage proper behavior. The idea is not really new. Look at the "trained" pets in Old McDonald's Farm at Knott's Berry Farm, and you will see that conditioned reflex training makes pets eager to please if the end results have the reinforcement of food. Dr. Whitney makes this method very adaptable to dogs.

You Ask We Answer

By Heslin

Q. In what years did the U.S. flag have 15 stripes? T.N.

A. The 15-stripe, 15-star flag was the official U.S. flag from 1795 to 1818. The 14th and 15th stripes (and stars) represented the states of Vermont and Kentucky, which were admitted to the Union in 1791 and 1792. By 1818, five more states had been admitted, but no stars were added to the flag, and the number of stripes remained at 15. On April 4, 1818, Congress reduced the number of stripes to the original 13, added stars for the 5 states, and provided that thenceforth a star be added for each new state but that the number of stripes remain unchanged. A 15-stripe flag was flying during the War of 1812, when Francis Scott Key was inspired to write "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Q. Has the maximum insurance always been $10,000 on each account in banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation? C.N.

A. No. This Insurance was started on Jan. 1, 1934, with a maximum of $2,500 on each account. On July 1, 1934, the maximum was moved up to $5,000, and on Sept. 21, 1950, the maximum insurance was raised to $10,000 for each account.

Q. How was the Iwo Jima Memorial statue transported to Arlington, Va.? L. A.

A. The 100-ton statue, cast in Brooklyn, N. Y., was transported in sections by three huge flatbed trucks; two smaller trucks carried loads of parts. The journey took more than 20 hours, because of the roundabout route necessary to avoid underpasses and overhead wires. Insurance on the shipment totaled $1.5 million, but the cargo was so carefully guarded during transit that not even one scratch was suffered by the protruding sections of bronze arms and legs.

Q. What countries other than the United States have won the Olympic basketball championship? H. N.

A. The United States has won every Olympic basketball title since the sport was introduced at the 1936 games in Berlin. The Soviet Union, displaying surprising strength in this sport in recent Olympics, placed second in 1960.

Recipe of the Week

SLAW is always popular in Southland menus, and a variation wins this week's recipe prize of $5 for Mrs. Ruth Gerathewohl, 100 Atlantic Ave., Apt. 809, Long Beach 2. The recipe:

Sweet Sauerkraut Slaw

- 1 large can sauerkraut
- ½ cup onion
- ½ cup green pepper
- ½ cup celery
- ½ cup carrots or red pepper
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup vinegar

Drain the sauerkraut. Dice the onion, green pepper, celery and carrots or red peppers. Dissolve the sugar in the vinegar and heat just to the boiling point, but do not boil it. Pour hot over above ingredients and mix well, then refrigerate overnight if possible.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in his space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Camera Contests

Long Beach Camera Guild will enter slides and stereo material in a November contest at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in Los Altos Library.

Visits Southland

Commandant Georges Croisile, who has crossed the Atlantic Ocean almost 700 times, is a visitor in the Southland.

Original captain of the super liner SS France, Croisile has been with the French Lines for 31 years, during which time he also served on all the other big passenger ships of the line—SS Liberte, SS Flander and SS Normandy. He recently reached retirement age and is now serving with the public relations department of French Lines to promote travel in the "Visit U.S." program.

The Commandant was met in the Southland by Fred Siden of the French Lines office in Beverly Hills.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Where should we go with one month in England. I am particularly inerested in Royal homes, stately homes, the bigger and older the better."

BRITISH Travel and Holidays (the official tourist office) sells a booklet on these homes—something very minor like 50 cents. You write them at 64 St. James's St., London, S. W. 1.

"And I would like to find out about family history of my English family who date to 1523 in the county of Devon. . . ."

SAME ORGANIZATION has some books on looking for your ancestors. "Searching for Your Ancestors" is a good book, published by University of Minnesota Press, Minneapolis. $3.95.

You should also contact the Church of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) in London. They do the most extensive work on genealogy and have a great fund of microfilmed records.

"Coming from Florida by auto, where should I enter Mexico? Is a visa necessary? Do we need shots?"

YOU CAN ENTER at Brownsville, Tex., and pick up Pan American Highway I to Mexico City. This was the first highway—maybe a little narrower than later highways but perfectly all right. From Brownsville to Mexico City is three easy days.

No visa needed. You get a tourist card for [illegible] at the border and an auto permit. You should get Mexican car insurance at the border. Your U. S. insurance does not cover you.

You need a smallpox vaccination certificate dated within the last three years. I get typhoid and tetanus shots as well. And I get a prescription for a once-a-week, one tablet malaria preventive. When you get in mosquito country, take it.

"I am going around the world with my daughter, now 11. It will be the only one I'll ever make and I want it to be a good and thorough one and not expensive. I do not want to travel with a group. Where do I start? With travel agents?"

IF YOU WANT to go it alone, it will cost a lot for a travel agent to set you up individually. Better start by making a list of places you want to stop over. Airline fare will be about $1,400 each. You can make all kinds of stops and any length of time.

A good travel agent can advise you how to get more routing out of your ticket. For example, a ticket to Bangkok gives you the right to be routed on through Moscow at no extra change—one of those airline regulations.

The agent gets a commission from the airline on your tickets and this makes it worthwhile for him. And no cost to you.

However, if he has to write ahead and make a lot of arrangements for local tours in cities, this costs him time and you money. And you could buy these tours when you get there.

"Can you send me information on where to lease a villa? Perhaps in Spain or the island of Majorca."

There are several agencies in Spain and in London. Direcion General del Turismo, Madrid will send you a list. However, I looked these lists over and I think the prices (through agencies) are marked up far too much. I would go to Barcelona and get a hotel room and start working through local agencies.

"For winter vacations, do you like Guatemala?"

I ALWAYS had a good time there but didn't see as much back country as I would have like to—particularly the trip down to the Atlantic side on the Rio Dulce. Herb Cerwin who knows this country well is taking a small group on this kind of trip in December. Write him at 442 Post St., San Francisco.

Oldtimers Gather in Death Valley

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

STARTING with the 14th annual Death Valley Encampment this week in Death Valley National Monument, November offers more than a little to Southland gadabouts.

No less than a score of events highlight the calendar for the month, ending with the 23rd All-Western Band Review at noon Nov. 30 in Long Beach.

The Death Valley Encampment starts Thursday and the program, which continues through No. 11, includes the dedication of two historical monuments—both in Panamint Valley — reminiscences of Death Valley oldtimers around campfires; artists, authors' and photographers' breakfast, naturalist talks, dancing, conducted tours, burro flapjack sweepstakes and chuck wagon lunch. Protestant and Catholic church services will be held next Sunday.

(Hotel and motel accommodations may be hard to come for a possible reservation. Many Encampment visitors bring their trailer or car with tent. Visitors are urged to bring their own duffel, as well as wood, if you camp out; and plenty of bedding for the nights are cool.)

WHILE IN THAT section of the state, it might be a good idea to drive on to Owens Valley where, according to late reports, scattered areas are now showing Autumn's brilliant yellows. The upper canyon areas (above 6,000 feet) are still beautifully colored. Light snowfalls have left traces of snowpack at elevations of over 10,000 feet.

Other events of interest to gadabouts:

Beginning Monday, and continuing through next Sunday, the Imperial Valley Rodeo and Brawley Cattle Call at Brawley. Program includes top rodeo events and a parade next Saturday featuring more than $3 million in rider's silver mountings.

The "World's lowest down boat race, the 3rd annual 500-miler for motorboats, will be held Nov. 8-10 on the Salton Sea.

Twentynine Palms holds its 21st annual Weed Show on Nov. 9-10, with exhibits of plants from the nearby desert area in intricate arrangements.

THE NAVY'S daredevil parachutists, the "Chuting Stars," and precision flying team, the "Blue Angels," will perform twice daily during Point Mugu's Space Fair Nov. 9-11.

Long Beach will hold a mammoth Veterans Day Parade at 1 p.m. Nov. 11.

Lake Elsinore Valley will hold a "Nutty Yacht Race" during its Diamond Jubilee Celebration Nov. 15-17 with sailboats mounted on wheels racing on the dry bed of the lake, which is soon to be filled with piped-in water.

The 38th annual Great Western Exposition and Livestock Show will be held Nov. 20-26 at the Great Western Exhibit Center, Santa Ana Freeway and Atlantic Blvd.

EL CAJON, near San Diego, ushers in the Christmas season with its famous Mother Goose parade Nov. 24.

Hollywood Santa Claus Lane Parade of Stars, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 27 along Hollywood Blvd.

And, among other communities ushering in the Yule season, will be El Centro where Santa will arrive Nov. 29 in a stagecoach used 100 years ago on the Butterfield run.

BIG THINGS happen to the Matson liner Matsonia in December.

The big, white liner, fresh from a San Francisco shipyard refurbishment and overhaul, will be rechristened the SS Lurline on Dec. 6.

Two days later she will sail from San Francisco, and from Los Angeles Harbor Dec. 9, on her first Hawaiian cruise as the newly named Lurline.

Highlights of the special cruise will be a "first voyage" champagne ball for passengers, each of whom will receive a special Lurline certificate and commemorative gift.

The pre-Christmas cruise also will permit passengers to stop over in Honolulu to await the Lurline's next arrival on Matson's annual Christmas cruise. Returning passengers, leaving Honolulu Dec. 27 aboard the liner, will enjoy unprecedented cruise calls at three Neighbor Islands—Kauai, Maui and Hawaii.

The Matsonia will be the fourth in the Pacific trade to be named the Lurline. The third Matson liner to carry the name was sold earlier this year.

GENE HALE, born and educated in Long Beach, who now owns and operates the Mt. Tom Motel in Bishop, has been elected to his second term as Region No. 2 Director of Congress Motor Hotels, Inc., one of the nation's large motel chains.

How To Grow Brilliant 'Birds'

Brilliant Bird of Paradise is a joy to behold in the gardens of the Southland. Plants need proper care.

By Joe Littlefield

BIRD OF PARADISE is a joy to the gardener who likes bright color, and the blooms start in late fall or in the winter season. In fact, the plants rest very little.

There are no true miniature "birds," but there is a variation in sizes of mature plants. The size variation is due to plants being grown from seeds. Length of leaf stalk from the base of leaf on down to a little nubbin on the upper side of the leaf stalk is a good indicator as to ultimate height of a plant. A long leaf stalk means 3½ feet or more stalk. A short leaf stalk means a lower growing plant, ideal for planting in front of low picture windows, as specimen tub plants, or in outdoor planter boxes.

The rest of the leaf stalk from nubbin on down to the base of the plant actually is a fold. Within the fold may be a new leaf stalk or an embryo flower stalk. That is why you should be careful how far down you cut old leaves. Unless you're certain there is no new leaf stalk or a new flower stalk within that fold, better cut off the old leaf just above the nubbin.

YOU'LL IMPROVE the looks of the plant by cutting off old poor looking leaves. And, you'll be wiser too, when buying Bird of Paradise plants, to select those with flower spikes. If you choose a small plant, you may have to wait a number of years before they'll produce flowers.

Dick Vreeken, who has been growing these plants for 23 years, has developed a new strain by selective breeding. The plants not only bloom at an earlier stage, but are more profilic in number of blooms. Some two- and three-year-old plants bloomed in gallon cans!

He believes in feeding Bird of Paradise a balanced plant food three times a year, because they barely rest.

He observed that the spoon-type (wide leaves) plants have shorter leaf stalks, and over-all are lower growing, whereas long narrow leaves have longer leaf stems, therefore grow taller.

He believes "birds" will grow in any type of soil, but will do best in heavy soils, or adobe. Organic material worked into the soil encourages better plant growth. The plants like full sun, or part shade, need lots of moisture but not water standing around the roots. Provide drainage if soil is heavy and water stands for any length of time.

Flower Show

Belmont Heights Garden Club members will have a fall flower show and will view travel slides shown by Mrs. Ellen Garver at a meeting at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Ave. Visitors are welcome. Mrs. Josephine Woods will preside and tea hostesses will be Mmes. Edythe Grinnell, Nina Goodspeed, Milly Allen, Sadie McCutcheon, Louise Wieding and Blanche Ashby.

Garden Talk

"Gardening in General" will be the topic of Joe Taylor of Redondo, past president of the National Fuchsia Society and a former park superintendent, at a meeting of Garden Grove Branch of the society at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the cafetorium of Sun Garden School, Trask and Newland Streets, Garden Grove. Taylor is also a director of the South Coast Botanical Gardens and specializes in growing ephphyllums and bromiliads.

A plant table and refreshments will be provided and the public in invited.

Orchid Display

Dividing and potting cypripediums will be demonstrated by John Hanes of San Gabriel, an expert on orchids, at a meeting of the Long Beach Amateur Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Monday in Silverado Park clubhouse, 31st Street and Santa Fe Avenue. Many flowering orchids will be on display. The public is invited.

DOROTHY DIGS in the garden

By Dorothy Jonson

Most nurseries and garden shops now have a good supply of bulbs in stock. Some of the bulbs should be planted earlier than others and directions should be followed as nearly as possible when planting.

The depth of plantings vary according to the variety and size of the bulbs. Most nurseries will give you free planting charts.

If you are planting bulbs taken from your own garden be sure that they are free of insects and mildew. The careful gardener will treat the bulbs when they are dug up and stored away. This is done by putting them in a container and adding a granular powder containing dieldrin, copper zinc chromate and DDT. Shake the bulbs up in the granules and store away until planting time.

Bone meal should be added to the soil when planting the bulbs. This helps the bulbs to better maturity for the next season as bulbs are known to store their food a year in advance.

When the Theater Came to Long Beach

formance of "Pinafore" was given in April 1909 at the Bentley, with Dr. Harriman Jones as "the ruler of the King's Navee"; F. A. Knight as Captain of the Pinafore; Mrs. Knight played Josephine, Lucille Saunders, Little Buttercup, and A. L. Parmley (who had played the role professionally) was Ralph Rackstraw.

During its heyday, some who played the Bentley were Josephine Dillon, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, whose wedding to Minta Durfee took place one evening on the Bentley stage; Virginia Brissac, Marjorie Rambeau, John Griffith Wray and Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," later a great hit in New York.

ONE OF the most important appearances at the Bentley was that of the noted actress, May Robson, Jan. 13, 1913, in "A Night Out," after a long run at the Mason in Los Angeles.

In 1915, Otis Hoyt reached Long Beach and operated several movie houses. At one of them, the Hoyt (later the Strand), occasional productions were given by national touring companies.

Since Los Angeles early had several good playhouses, many Long Beach drama lovers thought nothing of boarding the "big red cars" of the Pacific Electric and taking in performances in the "city" by New York companies. Also for some time, certain stock companies operated here, including the Hart Players (in a tent on Anaheim Street), and the Charles King Players at the Tracy on the Pike. Therefore, such productions fostered a love for "live theater," which is so evident in Long Beach today.

ANDY GASSAWAY

Theme From the Bible

FOR MONTHS, intriguing changes have been occurring at 643½ Pine Ave. Andy's Hotcake House, a landmark there since 1950, has acquired a larger, attractive front and additional seating space which will eventually make it one of the largest restaurants in Long Beach.

When the ambitious project is completed next March, Andy Gassaway, the restaurant's conscientious, hard-working owner-chef, will reveal a spacious new dining area, seating 85 more persons, and a second immaculate, glassed serving counter which will give faster service to Andy's hundreds of friends and patrons. The addition will increase Andy's total seating capacity to 425.

The changes are Andy's thoughtful contribution to the plans downtown merchants have for beautifying Pine Avenue. When his broad entranceway is finished, it will be enhanced with a distinctive mosaic tile mural. The painting, by Mrs. Hartley Gurrey, an interior designer, will have a "good land" theme which will be carried out in other artistic touches throughout the restaurant. The theme is from Chapter 8, Verse 10 of the book of Deuteronomy in the Bible which states: "When thou has eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee."

Andy's Hotcake House, which is closed Sundays, is open daily from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Saturday's until 2 p.m. Andy buys the highest quality foods obtainable and cooks them with a master's touch. His roast beef dinner has been 97 cents since 1950—and it is still one of the finest, tastiest dinners ever created.

Q. Is it true, as I have read recently, that Dr. Edward Teller is not really "the father of the hydrogen bomb," that much of the credit should go to Dr. Stanislaw Ulam? — H. Dana, Chicago, Ill.

A. There is no truth whatever to that allegation, which has never been made by Ulam himself. Dr. Edward Teller created in his own mind the basic theoretical concept which led to the hydrogen bomb. His deputy, Dr. Fred De Hoffmann., now of General Dynamics in La Jolla, made the mathematical calculation which proved out the feasibility of the project. Major contributions were also made by Dr. John Wheeler of Princeton and Dr. Stan Ulam of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and others. But the primary contribution was Teller's—not that he ever sought credit or fame for it. Any review of Teller's scientific papers proves conclusively that he's a modest man and most generous in attributing credit and acknowledgement to his fellow scientists. Many years ago, for example, he wrote a paper on the hydrogen bomb and entitled it "The Work of Many."

Q. I understand that James Mason's wife, Pamela, has fallen in love with her voice instructor, Carlo Menotti. Why have the columnists avoided this item? —Frieda Walden, Atlantic City, N.J.

A. Largely because it's untrue. Carlo Menotti is not Mrs. Mason's voice instructor, has occasionally been her escort at the theater in New York.

Q. What is a "najeeb halaby"? I've heard about it in connection with the guessing game, Animal, Mineral or Vegetable.—K. T., Knoxville, Tenn.

A. One Najeeb Halaby is the administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency and adviser on aviation to President Kennedy.

Q. Was Stephen Ward of Christine Keeler fame a Communist?—Ronald Murphy, Portland, Ore.

A. No, but he was definitely a Communist sympathizer.

Q. Is the film Cleopatra really cleaning up at the box office, or is that just publicity?—Bernadine Duran, Aguilar, Colo.

A. It will be no easy matter earning back the $30 to $40 million the film cost, although approximately $13 million has been earned back as of this writing.

Q. Can you tell me how much stock Henry Ford II owns in the Ford Motor Company? — Vic Newell, Detroit, Mich.

A. Ford owns 1,427,168 shares of Class B stock, worth approximately $77 million, and 148,421 shares of common, worth about $8 million.

Q. I understand that many years ago when Frank Sinatra wanted to get out of his contract with the late Tommy Dorsey, several underworld figures threatened to apply muscle to Dorsey, and Sinatra was given out. I understand that Sinatra has been grateful to the mob ever since. Please comment on this.— N. O., Hoboken, N.J.

A. Sinatra's connection with various underworld figures has been publicized for years.

Q. Martin Bormann, deputy to Adolf Hitler in the Nazi hierarchy, had a son, Martin Jr. Does anyone know what ever happened to that boy?—Gisela Hertzlich, Amsterdam, N.Y.

A. Yes, he is now a 33-year-old Roman Catholic priest somewhere in the Belgian Congo. Young Bormann escaped from Germany after World War II, fled to Austria where he was taken in by a devout Catholic family. In 1958 he was ordained a priest in Vienna, later assigned to a monastery near Munich, then sent out to Africa.

Q. How old is Jack Benny, and what is the truth about his switch from CBS to NBC next year? And how much money does he earn a week? — Robert Elson, St. Paul, Minn.

A. Benny is 69. CBS did not pick up his option. He is paid approximately $75,000 for each of his telecasts; out of that sum his J and M Production Company must pay the rest of the cast.

Q. Is it true that 93 per cent of all American women have had at least one husband by age 40?—Paula Jacobs, Lincoln, Neb.

A. True.

Q. Who said: "Every absurdity has a champion to defend it"?—Jack Hancock, Ogden, Utah.

A. Oliver Goldsmith, British poet, playwright and novelist (1728-1774).

Q. Did President Kennedy go to Harvard or Princeton?—Bertha Richardson, Sea Girt, N.J.

A. He enrolled at Princeton, then at Harvard, from which institution he was graduated.

Q. How old is Burt Lancaster, and does he wear glasses, and what sort of husband is he?—Charlotte Kappel, Pittsburgh, Pa.

A. Lancaster was born in New York City on November 2, 1913. He wears glasses. His wife, Norma, has declined to reveal publicly the private life of her husband.

Q. Is Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain under the National Health plan when she gives birth to a baby? I mean, does she or doesn't she have to pay? — Liz Minelli, New York, N.Y.

A. The doctors who treat and deliver the Queen bill her as a private patient.

A NEW LIFE FOR PRINCESS ANNE

by LLOYD SHEARER

LONDON.

One evening 6 weeks ago, a tall-for-13 girl, blue-eyed and lovely with fine blond hair and flawless, ruddy complexion, was driven to Benenden, a girls' boarding school (tuition—$1,500 a year) outside London.

Like any other new student, Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise Windsor was accompanied by her mother.

This was the first school the girl had ever attended, and she was understandably nervous as she met the headmistress and shook hands with another 13-year-old, Elizabeth Somershield, who was to serve as her "big sister" for the first two weeks.

The newcomer, dressed in the sedate blue uniform of Benenden with the orange band of her dormitory, Guildford House, around her hat, was shy and hesitant although by nature she is high-spirited, friendly and extroverted.

This teenager was Princess Anne, second child of Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain and her husband, Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Princess Anne is the first daughter of any British monarch to attend a boarding school. Her older brother, Prince Charles, heir to the throne, was the first child of a British sovereign to be sent off to school.

All previous children of all previous British monarchs have been tutored at home in seclusion, the traditional supposition holding that there are no suitable schools in the world for future kings, that preparation for the royal life calls for a special curriculum that can be taught only in the palace environment, that the offspring of kings and queens are and should remain different from the children they will eventually rule.

PHILIP'S PHILOSOPHY

One man who has steadfastly refused to buy this hoary concept is Philip, the Greek prince who married his distant cousin, Elizabeth, in 1947, and thereby brought a much-needed infusion of fresh and modern blood into the royal British family.

Royal children like Prince Charles and Princess Anne cannot give up their lives to music or painting or architecture. They are taught at an early age that they must live their lives in the public service. Their country and their people come first—their own talents, ambitions and predilections second. This calls for disicipline, self-sacrifice, and dedication unknown to the ordinary child. The royal child can't even take a marriage partner of his or her own choosing unless the choice is in accord with the Royal Marriage Act, which requires parental consent. Almost from the moment of birth, royal children live in the fierce light of publicity. They are not permitted the peccadilloes and infractions allowed other children.

Thanks to his father's wisdom, Prince Charles has been going to school with other boys since he was 8. In 1956, Prince Philip decided that his son's education should take place outside his home, away from tutors Katherine Peebles, known as "Mispy," Hilda Bor and Miss Vacani, who respectively taught him the three Rs, piano and dancing. The boy was enrolled in a private day school in the Knightsbridge section of London. A year later the Prince became a boarder at Cheam and now attends Gordonstoun, the school once attended by his father.

MISSES HER SCHOOLMATE

The child, accustomed to taking lessons with her brother, was saddened by his departure, and her schoolwork flagged, particularly her arithmetic. (Like her mother, she has no sense of mathematics and no great skill in science.)

One day she went to the Queen and said plaintively: "I'm so lonely, now that Charles is gone."

A few weeks later two girls of her own age came to Buckingham Palace to join Anne in classes. One was Susan Baibington-Smith, whose father is a London banker. The other was Caroline Smith, a delightful freckle-faced little girl. The trio were inseparable until Anne left for Benenden in September.

Until then, Princess Anne had been known as the "Tomboy Princess." She plays tennis and cricket, rides and jumps horses far better than Charles. Coached by her dad, she's an excellent swimmer. She loves to sail with her father or groom his polo ponies between chukkers. She has never particularly cared for clothes—any old sweater and a pair of levis will do—and is essentially an outdoor girl.

She is not much of a scholar—scholarship is no strong point with female members of the British royal family; they excel at handling horses—but she does speak a passable French, the diplomatic language, thanks to "Granny

Royal," her grandmother. She is good at history and geography, but when it comes to sewing she says frankly, "I loathe it."

By nature she is lively, gay, funny, smiling and vivacious, generates none of her mother's stolidness. She is, according to people who know her best, "her father's girl," like him tall and fair with light blue eyes, handsome, cheerful, and on the impulsive, adventurous side.

As a little girl, for example, she used to lead her brother onto the roof at Balmoral Castle, taunt him to follow her in a series of dangerous balancing acts along the narrow parapets, many of them more than 100 feet from the ground. When the Queen found out about this, she ordered all doors and windows leading to the roof securely closed.

As a teenager, Anne is no less adventurous. This past August when she became 13 she decided to spend her birthday sailing with her father in rough seas. Previously, at the wedding of her cousin, Princess Alexandra, to Angus Ogilvy, she had worn her blond hair upswept for the first time and looked like a sophisticated young woman. "She's growing up," was the remark most frequently heard about her at the ball the Queen held at Windsor Castle to celebrate Alexandra's wedding.

Most of Anne's clothes are bought ready-made from London department stores. Her dress clothes and gowns, designed by Norman Hartnell, Hardy Amies and other top couturiers, are hand-me-downs from her thrifty mother.

Princess Anne (left), on her first Sunday at Benenden School, walks with other pupils to attend morning services at St. George's Church.

On her first Sunday at Benenden, Anne, along with 139 of her schoolmates, was ordered to walk one mile to church and one mile back, to her an entirely new adventure. So, too, was the sermon given by the Vicar of St. George in Benenden, the Rev. Jessop Price.

To his young charges the 58-year-old vicar gave a sermon on the rat race.

"Some of you," he said, "may find yourselves working in a big office, and you will find it an awful rat race—someone always trying to push to the top even if it means pushing someone down to do it." He warned against "keeping up with the Joneses" and "always scrambling for values that truly don't matter, such as money, prestige, position."

When the services were finished and the Princess was walking back to school, a schoolmate asked her how she liked the sermon. Princess Anne smiled. "Never heard one like that before," she replied.

At 13, a new life has truly begun for Princess Anne. She has been given a membership in the society of her own people.

a different diet idea

NO FOOD

Here's one man's story of controlled

Editor's note: The newest development in dieting is actually one of the oldest and most obvious ways to lose weight: starvation. Men have long realized that if they don't eat, they won't gain. But few have tried it because of the potential danger to health. Now doctors are using controlled, supervised starvation to help people who are unable to lose weight otherwise. Most patients are hospitalized so that they can be watched closely and their environment controlled. But some doctors are also trying the technique with selected outpatients. (In no case should the diet be tried without medical supervision.) Here is a first-hand account of the physical and emotional adjustments involved, by a starvation-dieter:

My experience with a 7-day absolute fast has a double significance. In 7 days I lost 18 pounds. At the same time, I learned how to stretch one week of a vacation into an eternity. I recommend the experience to anyone who wants to lose weight and who feels time is going by too fast.

I was launched on this project by my doctor when I took my annual physical. After he got through poking me, listening to my heart and taking my blood pressure he told me I was in good shape. I was prepared for his next comment, which went something like this: "I guess I don't have to tell you, but you're overweight."

In spite of diet pills, calorie-counting and going without lunch since my last physical, I had gone up 12 pounds, to 204. I am 5-feet-11, with an average frame, and at that weight I was fat—and didn't like it.

The doctor and I discussed my attempts to lose weight during the year, and finally he put a proposition to me. He said, "We have been experimenting with a no-calorie diet which lasts 7 days. It has been followed successfully in the hospital under controlled conditions, and we are now trying to see if it can be done in the home."

The doctor said I'd lose at least 15 pounds, but warned that the principal ingredient of the diet was just plain will power. He said I was in good physical shape and that absolutely no physical harm would be done by such a diet. After the second day the hunger disappears, because chemical changes in the body, which result from taking no calories, tend to eliminate the hunger. [Because these chemical changes are violent ones, not everyone can undertake the starvation diet. For the many who are unable to withstand this diet, there are popular, effective liquid diets and other dietary food on the market. These include Metrecal, Liquical, Sego, Diet Aid, Ready Diet and Carnation Skimmed Milk.]

The doctor warned me, however, that some of the people who had tried the diet had reported being nauseated at times, had suffered depression and were extremely nervous and irritable. I asked him for something to get me through the nights, and he said that he would prescribe sleeping pills and tranquilizers.

While on the diet you can drink No-Cal, tea without lemon or sugar, black coffee, and water. But one crust of bread or one piece of candy will upset the chemical balance established during the first two days and probably spoil the whole effect. The doctor told me to keep in touch with him regularly throughout the diet period if I decided to go ahead with it.

I decided to try it during the first week of my vacation. I discussed the project at great length with my friends, and I don't know whether that was good or bad. I realized that if I quit in the middle of my ordeal I would just be notifying everyone I didn't have the stuff to go through with it. This knowledge turned out to be an incentive to keep going, and believe me, every little bit of incentive helped.

My last day of work was Tuesday. People I lunched with insisted that I have an extra martini and a big steak, for they would be the last for 7 days. At home that evening I found a delegation of neighbors all ready to launch me on my project with more martinis and more steak.

Tuesday night I had dreams about being on a desert island without anything to eat. I woke up Wednesday morning tired and mildly hung-over. The scales showed 205 pounds. Slipping breakfast was not too bad. I had a large glass of No-Cal Orange.

My first hunger set in about one o'clock. I gloomily watched my son munch his way through three hot dogs and a gigantic plate of pork and beans, and decided there and then that the first meal I would have when I got off the diet would be hot dogs and beans.

By 5 o'clock I was ravenous. I made the mistake of going in and out of the kitchen while dinner was being prepared. I poured down No-Cal and iced tea and they helped somewhat. The time between 6 and 8 seemed endless. I decided to go to bed and watch television at 8. I took two nonprescription sleeping pills, and used this kind throughout the ordeal, although the doctor indicated he would give me prescription pills if I wanted them.

restless nights

During the day I had spent several hours working on the patio, so I was physically tired. I thought the combination of work and sleeping pills would have me asleep in short order, but I didn't even feel drowsy for two hours and slept miserably that night, as I did every night of the ordeal. I realize now I probably should have gotten prescription sleeping pills.

I watched TV before I finally dozed off and was astonished at the number of food commercials. My sympathetic young daughter finally learned to switch off the food commercials during the ensuing week, and that was a help.

As for hunger, the second day was the worst. All I could think about was food. I had a slight headache and there seemed to be actual physical pain in my stomach. It drove me wild to see the kids walking around eating sandwiches and popsicles. I had a lot of energy, however, and felt like working a couple of hours on the patio, although I took it pretty easy. All I could think of was the doctor's prediction that at the end of two days the hunger pains would disappear.

My youngest daughter walked into the living room about 5 o'clock eating the biggest, most delicious-looking hamburger I have ever seen in my whole life. I determined then and there that a big, juicy hamburger would be my first meal.

True to prediction, my hunger had, by the end of the second day, abated considerably. However, it was still unpleasant to watch food commercials on TV. The next five days, as far as sheer hunger goes, were not so bad as the first two, but time went incredibly slowly and each day seemed to drag more than the day before. This was the worst part of the whole effort. The best part came the third day, when I had lost 8 pounds.

I tried on a suit which had been very tight the last time I wore it and was delighted to find it was comfortable. Every day during the remainder of the fast, I spent at least two hours trying on suits that I hadn't worn for years because I was so fat.

About the fourth day my paunch had disappeared. Friends said my face was losing its fleshy look. The astonishing loss of weight was obviously the greatest incentive to continue the diet. The first day I was down 4 pounds, the second 6 pounds and the third day 8. The fourth day 11, the fifth day 13, the sixth day 15 and the seventh 18.

The doctor warned me that about the fourth day I'd be climbing the walls with nervousness, and he was right. I was terribly tense. I found myself shaking as I held the newspaper. At this time I started taking the tranquilizers the doctor had prescribed.

They helped a great deal, but I was politely informed later that the family had gone through a considerable ordeal, too. I was sarcastic and extremely short tempered. I was quickly given a wide berth by all the kids. A new poodle puppy drove me wild.

On the fourth night, when I was in bed watching TV, my son made a batch of do-it-yourself pizza, and the odor drifting up to my bedroom drove me crazy. I decided then and there that the first thing I would eat would be pizza.

'murder,' he says

Although hunger was less omnipresent after the first two days, the time from about 5 until 8—normal dinner time—was murderous. I conjured up magnificent dinners and at the same time watched the agonizingly slow movement of the clock. I came up with a trick which helped solve this problem. I took a tranquilizer and sleeping pill around 4 each day and slept until 8. I stayed in bed watching TV until 10 or 11 and then took 2 more sleeping pills, which permitted me to sleep fitfully until 8 or 9 the next morning.

The last few days I actually felt fairly good. I was getting weaker, but I had expected this. Although I thought my conduct was pretty normal, neighbors who visited me told me that I was wild-eyed and tense.

The last three or four days the family was extremely solicitous—careful not to mention food or eat in front of me. But even the rattle of dishes in the kitchen set me thinking about food. About the fifth day I saw some kids walk by eating popsicles and at that time I decided that the first thing I would eat would be a dozen popsicles.

Reading was a great help in passing time, but I made the mistake of starting Herman Wouk's Youngblood Hawke. He must have been on a pretty rigid diet himself when he was writing this book, for it seemed to me that every other page described in great detail the fancy lunches and dinners the hero was consuming.

The last three days I found it hard to concentrate on anything. I had to read sentences over to understand them. I even found it hard to read the newspaper.

As for my physical and mental condition, the seventh day was the worst. I ached, my mind was fuzzy, I found it difficult to move about, and the only thing that kept me going was the knowledge that that night it would be all over.

One thing was interesting to me in retrospect. The doctor had said no alcohol, and as far as I was concerned, that was needless advice. I didn't have the slightest urge for a drink during the entire time.

At the end of the seventh day I was down 18 pounds. At 8 P.M. that day I decided that I had had it. The last food I had touched was exactly seven days before—at 8 P.M. At 8:15 I had a cup of bouillon. I can safely say it was the finest cup of bouillon I have ever had in my life. I drank it slowly and savored every drop. It is amazing how satisfying it was. After the bouillon I had a hamburger patty, which actually left me feeling bloated. The next morning I was not hungry and felt amazingly good. I waited until around 11 o'clock and had a poached egg.

Since then I have kept on a diet of something under 1,000 calories a day. The doctor wants me to lose another 10 pounds. It was astonishing how little food I needed during the next week to keep satisfied. My strength and energy returned completely to normal.

For persons like myself who have tried every new diet fad in the book, this 7-day diet may be the most successful. As of this writing, I, at least, consider it so because my eating habits appear to be completely changed. I can miss a meal without any discomfort. And I have the feeling that I can lose the next 10 pounds with little or no strain. ■ how successful is starvation?

Dr. Garfield G. Duncan of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, who pioneered the starvation diet, recently reported on it at the American Medical Association convention. Dr. Duncan said 40 patients had tried the diet for 4 to 10 weeks with spectacular results. One 300-pounder lost 26 pounds in 10 days. A 16-year-old girl dropped from 172 to 159 in a week. According to Dr. Duncan, his patients lose an average of 2½ pounds a day.

POPULAR IODINE. There's been a run on iodine in California and other swimming pool states ever since a team of Stanford University researchers recently announced that iodine is superior to, safer and more effective than chlorine as a swimming pool disinfectant. Its major advantage: less eye discomfort and irritation to swimmers.

HOW TO CHOOSE. Generally, personnel managers choose new employees on the basis of personality, sociability, vocabulary, looks and skill. If a man is "a good guy," pleasant and outgoing, he's hired and given an opportunity. Research shows, however, that the most efficient employees are usually unimpressive in appearance, frequently shy, anemic, generate few desirable social traits. They are successful in their work because they are persistent, reliable, mature and positive in attitude.

LESS JAPANESE CANCER. Why is there less breast cancer among Japanese than among American women? Why is it that Japanese women who develop breast cancer have a much higher survival rate than American women? Is there something in the genetic and environmental background of the Japanese woman which gives her a special measure of protection? In 1958, for example, the age-adjusted death rate among American women with breast cancer was 26.7%. For Japanese women it was 3.6%. One suggested explanation from a Sloan-Kettering cancer specialist: "There is some endocrine difference [endocrines are glands whose hormones regulate body chemistry] between American and Japanese women which not only decreases the risk of Japanese women developing breast cancer but also increases their chances of survival once the disease has developed." Some scientists feel the basic difference lies in the Japanese diet, which influences the endocrine pattern.

WOOD MOLASSES. The Masonite Corp. has perfected a method of manufacturing nutritive molasses from wood. The product, called Masonex, is being marketed in Nebraska, where it is fed to animals at about one half the current price of feed molasses extracted from beet, corn and cane sugar.

KEY NUMBERS. Policemen in Chicago have been given the names, addresses and car-license numbers of 143 suspected gangsters and told to watch for them. The numbers were obtained from autos driven by the mobsters to gangland weddings and funerals.

TAHITIAN DENTAL PROBLEM. The girls of Tahiti have long been famed for their beauty. Most of them, however, lose their teeth in their early 20s. Their favorite food then becomes canned beef, which can be eaten without teeth. In all of the Tahitian Islands there are only 13 dentists. To help the Tahitians keep their teeth, a call for help has gone out to the United Nations. To study the problem and recommend a solution, the World Health Organization has just flown Swiss dental professor Joseph Baume to the islands. When MGM filmed Mutiny on the Bounty in Tahiti, its prop man distributed 250 pairs of false teeth to the extras.

RABIES IN ROME. Tourists have been warned to stay away from the Catacombs surrounding the Italian capital because of a rabies scare. A few weeks ago Celia Hall, a 12-year-old English ballet student, died after being bitten by a rabid dog. Two days later an Alsatian attacked the driver of a motor scooter. The dog died of rabies. News of these two attacks started a panic in Rome. Hundreds of dogs have been abandoned by their owners outside the city. Others have been shot. The Rome authorities have opened 32 centers where dogs can be inoculated. Dog-owners have been warned that anyone walking a dog without a muzzle will be fined.

FACIAL EXERCISERS. Women will do anything -- well, almost anything -- to remain young and beautiful. Mindful of this, the electronics industry has come up with a muscle activator which firms subcutaneous tissue, helps remove fine lines and wrinkles, tightens and smooths the skin. The Ziegler Electronics Company of Gardena, Calif., one of the pioneer producers of electronic facial exercisers, now reports that an increasing number of men past 50 are buying their machines, usually under the guise: "I want one for my wife."

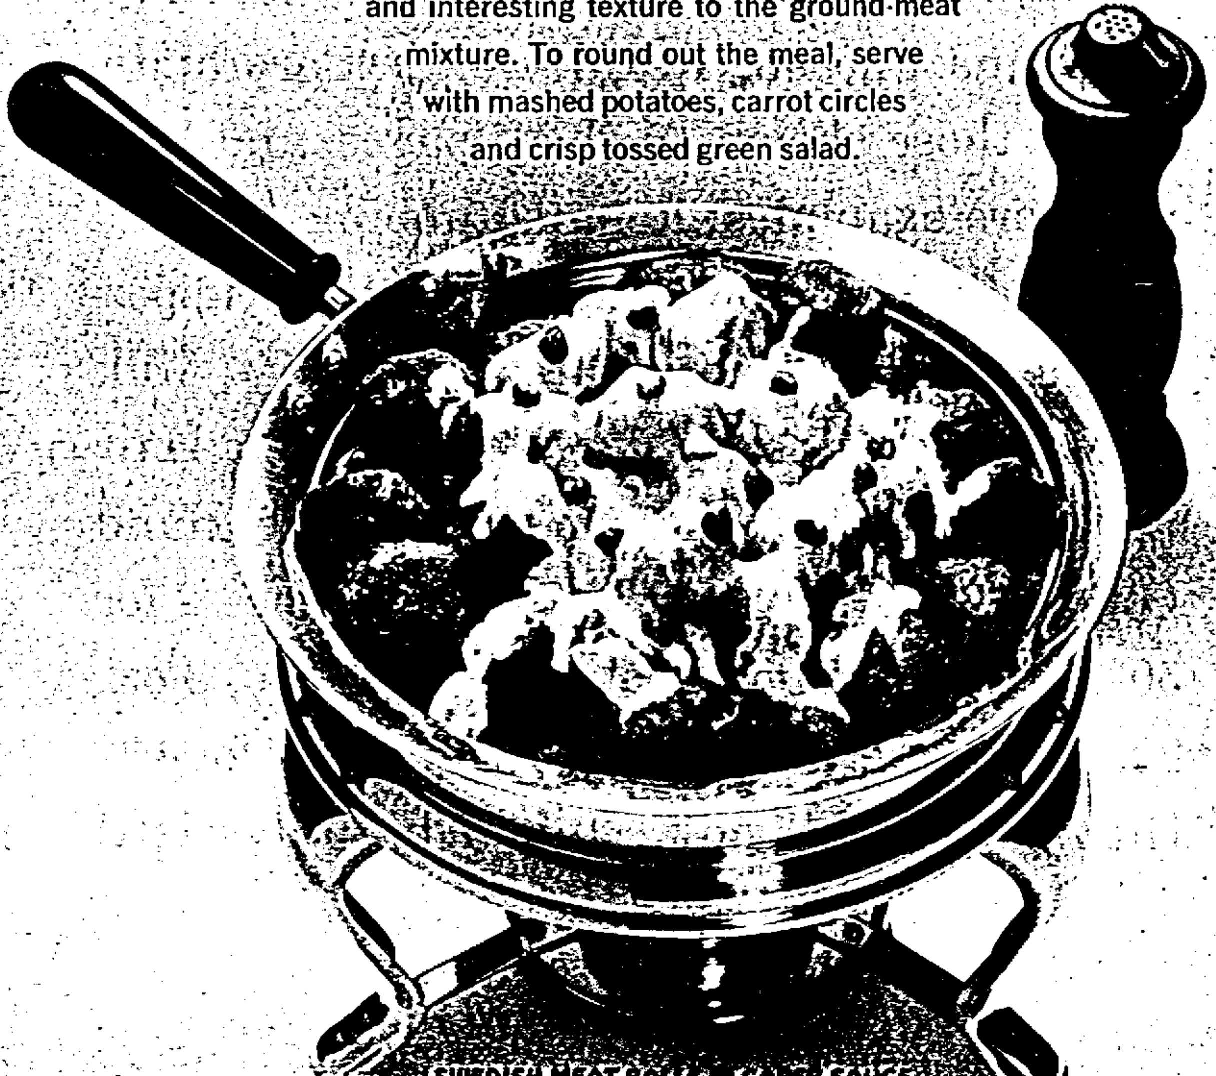
SAUCY MEAT BALLS

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Swedish meat balls take on new and delightfully piquant flavor when served in a savory caper sauce. The meat balls themselves contain wheat germ flakes instead of the usual bread crumbs, imparting a special nut-like flavor and interesting texture to the ground-meat mixture. To round out the meal, serve with mashed potatoes, carrot circles and crisp tossed green salad.



SWEDISH MEAT BALLS IN CAPER SAUCE

1 lb. lean beef, ground
¼ cup wheat germ flakes
¼ cup minced onion
1 egg
1½ tsp. salt, divided
Dash pepper
1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce
1¼ cups milk, divided
2 tbs. vegetable oil
2 tbs. flour
1 cup half-and-half (milk and cream)
2 tbs. drained capers

Combine beef, wheat germ, onion, egg, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and ¼ cup milk; mix well. Shape into 36 small balls (1 rounded tablespoon for each ball). Brown meat balls in hot oil, turning to brown all sides; remove from pan. Stir flour into pan drippings. Add remaining milk and salt, half-and-half and capers. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until thickened. Return meat balls to sauce. Cover; simmer about 10 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THEIR PROBLEMS GO UP IN SMOKE

by E. D. FALES, JR.

ATLANTA, GA.

In one of America's big churches here next month 1,000 people will "burn away" their anxieties.

While hymns are sung and the Rev. Cecil Myers preaches, they will write down their hates, fears and mistakes—as many as they can remember—for '63. Then they will jot down their hopes and aims for '64. Finally, as the service ends, they will approach the altar and cast what they have written into six blazing urns.

Then they will pray and go home. Says O. C. Bonner, a two-fisted Atlanta contractor: "It's wonderful. It leaves you knowing you have a fine year ahead."

AN END TO HATRED

Comments a pretty blonde teenager: "I can't explain it. Something really happens." And a young man: "I was learning to hate. Someone had spread bad rumors about me. They weren't true and I knew who started them, and my hate grew. Then I wrote out 'fear' and 'hate'—and threw the paper in the fire. As it blazed I knew I could overcome the rumors. I learned in that moment, too, not to hate."

The New Year "burning service" at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church was born a few years ago at a teenage religious conference in a Georgia forest. There the Rev. Dr. Charles Allen, now of Houston, Tex., saw a boy approach a bonfire and cast in a pine cone as a symbol of repentance and hope. Soon more boys and girls cast in their cones, and the fire flamed high.

Dr. Allen brought the idea back to Grace Church for the last Sunday night service of the year. Dr. Myers, now pastor, has continued it.

At the service last December a psychiatrist saw a young woman approach the altar, paper in hand. "She was terribly tense," he reported later. But as the woman burned her paper and prayed, a change came over her. The psychiatrist watched until she returned to her pew.

"She looked like a new person," he told Dr. Myers. "If I could do for her in six hours what happened to her in six minutes, I'd be famous."

Dr. Myers remembers a young couple who separated after a fight last year. "I tried counseling," he says, "but I just couldn't get through to them." Matters grew worse. A child was to be born. The wife filed for divorce. Another broken home was in the making.

"As last New Year's Day approached," Dr. Myers says, "the young husband asked his wife to join him and they came to the burning service together."

During the sermon both wrote busily. Then they approached the altar, knelt to pray, then suddenly tossed their papers into the same urn. When they walked back up the aisle, Dr. Myers noted, they were holding hands. Whatever had been written on those slips had been forgiven. Today that marriage is coming along well—and their child is happy.

In another case, two businessmen, old friends, fought over a deal, stopped speaking. At the burning service, quite by accident, the two enemies found themselves kneeling at the altar side by side, each with a note.

"I saw one man stare in surprise at his neighbor," says Dr. Myers. Abruptly, he took a pencil from his pocket and wrote an added note. The other man wrote nothing. Then on impulse both threw their papers into the fire.

As they burned to ashes the enemies prayed. Then they stood up, faced each other and shook hands. The flames had consumed their hate. Today, they're fast friends once more.

At special New Year service, people note down fears and hates, then burn them.

The burning service, always held the last Sunday in December, draws even people who have no church. When they enter, each is given a small slip of paper. In spite of the fact that no one will ever see these notes, some admit they are nervous. "I cover the paper with my hand," says one mother. "I can't get over the feeling that the person sitting next to me would like to see the awful things I must be writing."

During the ceremony, lights are dimmed, the choir stops singing and quiet music is played. "We don't overdo it," says Dr. Myers. "We never want emotion to substitute for reason." Nevertheless emotion runs strong. "I've seen some pretty tough men come away with tears in their eyes," says one clergyman.

In approaching the urns, some carry their papers openly; others fold them into tight wads and a few actually tear them into small bits.

No one has ever seen one of the papers, but some people are frank to say what they write.

"I began thinking of things two weeks early," says a teenage boy. "When I got to church last year I had so many things on my mind that I filled up three sheets."

PARENTS GAIN RESPECT

Teenage girls are often concerned about parental troubles. "I'd been thinking my parents were old fogies," said one teenager. "Not until I wrote that down did I realize that I had begun to think I was a lot smarter than I really am. So I wrote that I wanted to treat my parents this year with more respect. It's worked out that way, too—and they respect me more."

Besides parent-trouble, teenage jealousies and slights get much attention. Girls say they write frankly about the anguish that comes when boy friends suddenly appear in public with other girls. They also consign to flames the heartbreaks they suffer when they hear they've been criticized.

Adult worries, sins, regrets and prayers for the New Year involve a broader spectrum. One man had been an alcoholic. "When I attended my first burning service," he says, "they gave me a piece of paper, but I thought: 'I'm no dope. I'm not going to write anything.'"

But that man did. He wrote that he prayed to be cured of alcoholism. In the next year he achieved the cure. Today he is happy and respected. "At last year's service," he says, "when I tried to write my worries I found I just didn't have any. I have a fine wife and children and a good life. So I wrote, 'God, I think I get your message. I'm very lucky. I'm rich, and I hadn't even noticed it!'"

One participant in last year's ceremony was a 6-year-old boy. Crouched in his pew, he scrawled something on his paper. Then he marched down the aisle, dropped it in an urn, bent his head on his small arms and prayed earnestly.

"I'd give a year of my life to know what Johnny was worrying about," says his father. "But I never will!"

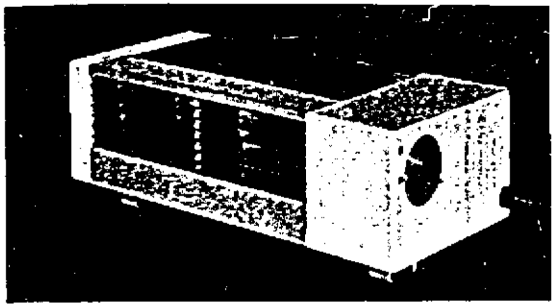
Make life easier—take a look at these new ideas for your home and family ■ BY PETER DRYDEN



Thermo blower: About the size of a box of facial tissues, this heater-ventilator can fit anywhere, even hang on a wall—to fan air for summer cooling, pour out warmth in winter. It's thermostatically controlled, has 3-stage heating (375, 750, 1,500 watts), can provide up to 5,180 BTU an hour, is said to raise temperature in a 12' x 18' room 10 degrees in 36 minutes. Two-tone gray housing. Weight: 5½ lb. $39.95. Gay, Dept. PP, 430 Teaneck Rd., Ridgefield Park, N.J.

Table-top billiards: Here's a table-top-size pocket billiards set—regulation equipment in scaled miniature—designed to let you play in living room, game room, almost anywhere. The 23" x 12½" wooden table has a smooth flocked playing surface, deep pockets, and no-mar feet. Also included: 16 miniature balls (regulation colors and numbers) and 2 balanced 21-inch hardwood cues. Complete set: $4.98. Spencer Gifts, Dept. PP, Spencer Building, Atlantic City, N.J.

Power manicure: Quick new way to manicure your nails is with this compact electric manicure "salon." It has 5 attachments—cuticle brush, nail sharpener, fine file, buffer, cuticle loosener—that go on a flexible power cable stored in lid. Other features: removable tray for water, built-in storage compartment for polish and remover, special vent to speed nail drying. Plugs in any AC outlet. 9¼" x 5¼" x 4". $16.95. Dominion Electric Co., Dept. PP, Mansfield, Ohio.

Finally a dandruff shampoo that really works!

NEW FROM PROCTER & GAMBLE

Now just regular shampooing gives really effective dandruff control for millions. Now you can stop nursing dandruff along...can do more than merely wash away the flakes for a few days. After ten years of research Procter & Gamble presents Head & Shoulders... It is both the most effective and most convenient dandruff control you can buy. No other shampoo or rinse can match it.

Yet this is no unpleasant medicinal treatment, but a fragrant, rich-lathering shampoo. And no other shampoo leaves hair easier to manage.

If you or anyone in your family has dandruff, get Head & Shoulders. It really works!

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by Peter Rich

EDITOR'S NOTE: Peter Rich began his show-business career as a teenage ventriloquist in Hagerstown, Md. He earned enough money as an amateur to attend Western Maryland College, in Westminster. After Peter left college, he spent four years of World War II in the China-Burma-India area. Peter has been working as a show-business pro since 1946, but he was not satisfied with his original standard type act. With the coming of the space age, he created "Zingo," the dummy with a light bulb in his head and phone in his chest. Rich makes his home in Hagerstown, where he lives with his wife, Maisie, and his 16-year-old son, Stephen. He spends all his spare time with his family, practicing judo with his son and rehearsing new routines with his wife. Over the years he has worked at such hotels and clubs as the Casino Royale, Washington, D. C.; Three Rivers, Syracuse; Glen Park Casino, Buffalo; and The Playboy Clubs in New Orleans and Chicago. Herewith his favorite funnies:

The owner of a large business concern bought a number of signs reading DO IT NOW and had them hung around the office, hoping to inspire his people with promptness and energy in their work. One day soon afterward, a friend asked him how the scheme affected the staff.

"Well, not just the way I thought," he answered. "The cashier skipped with $30,000, the head bookkeeper eloped with the private secretary and three clerks asked for a raise!"

The question of the correct plural of the word "mongoose" was solved recently by a gentleman who wanted to buy a pair of those affectionate creatures for his only daughter.

He first wrote to the pet shop owner: "Sir, please send me two mongeese."

But not liking the look of this, he tore up the paper and started again: "Sir, please send me two mongooses."

This version didn't seem any better so it went into the basket also, and he finally wrote: "Sir, please send me a mongoose—and, by the way, send me another."

A dinner invitation had been sent to the new doctor in town, and in reply the hostess received an absolutely illegible letter.

"I must know if he accepts or declines," she told her husband, and he suggested she take it to the druggist. He felt that a pharmacist could always read a doctor's handwriting.

The pharmacist looked at the sheet of paper which she handed him and, without waiting for her explanation, went into his dispensary. He returned a few minutes later with a bottle, which he handed over the counter to the woman.

"There's your prescription, madam," he said. "That will be one dollar and fifty cents."

A woman went into a butcher shop one evening to buy some meat. A strange man followed her into the store and stood around nonchalantly while she was at the counter. Suddenly she screamed. The man turned and ran out of the store right into the arms of a policeman. The fellow was found to be armed and later was identified as a man wanted by the FBI.

"Mrs. Jones," exclaimed the butcher, "if you hadn't screamed, I would have been robbed. But how did you know he was a bandit?"

"I didn't know," she replied. "I screamed when you told me what the roast would cost!"

Attending a church service one Sunday morning was a young bride whose husband was an usher. Becoming terribly worried about having left a turkey in the oven, she wrote a note to her husband and sent it to him by another usher. The latter, thinking it was meant for the pastor, hurried down the aisle and laid it on the pulpit. Stopping abruptly in the middle of his sermon to glance at the note, the astonished pastor was confronted with the following message: "Please go home and turn off the gas."

The owner of a store was passing through the packing room and saw a boy lounging against a box whistling cheerfully. Thinking of all his money being wasted on this kind of labor, the employer asked gruffly: "How much do you get a week?"

"Ten dollars," replied the boy.

"Here's your pay for the week," said the man. "Now get out."

On his way back to the office, the owner ran into the foreman and asked him: "When did we hire that boy, and who is responsible?"

"We never hired him," said the foreman. "He was just delivering a package from another firm."

"This house has one or two drawbacks which I feel I must mention," said the real estate agent to his prospective buyer. "It's bounded on the north by the gasworks, on the south by a rubber factory, on the east by a vinegar distillery and on the west by a glue factory."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the woman. "Imagine showing such a place. What a neighborhood!"

"Yes," soothed the agent, "but don't forget the advantages. The rent is cheap and you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

Now! False Teeth Fit Beautifully!

—Amazing dental discovery, 'Cushion Grip'® ends sore spots—refits loose dentures to hold snug as a dentist's mold! Tasteless! Nothing to mix! 1 application lasts months!

After years of research, modern science has developed a remarkable new way to make false teeth fit beautifully—stop looseness, slipping, clicking, relieve sore spots—without messy, old-fashioned pastes, powders and pads! It's CUSHION GRIP—amazing new soft, pliable plastic that holds false teeth snug as a dentist's mold, through soothing suction—makes loose dentures fit properly again. Result is, you can talk, laugh, eat anything without discomfort or embarrassment!

CUSHION GRIP is easy to use—nothing to mix or measure! Simply squeeze out of tube onto dentures, then insert false teeth into mouth and bite down. Instantly, CUSHION GRIP molds to contours of mouth and gums—provides beautiful fit—holds dentures firmly in place with suction. Looseness, slipping, clicking disappear. Sore spots are quickly relieved. One application lasts for months, despite nightly cleaning, yet CUSHION GRIP is easily removed when desired. What's more, CUSHION GRIP actually re-fits, relines worn dentures, lets you save over $100 on costly relining work. Get new tasteless, odorless CUSHION GRIP today.

RIBS IN A CAN

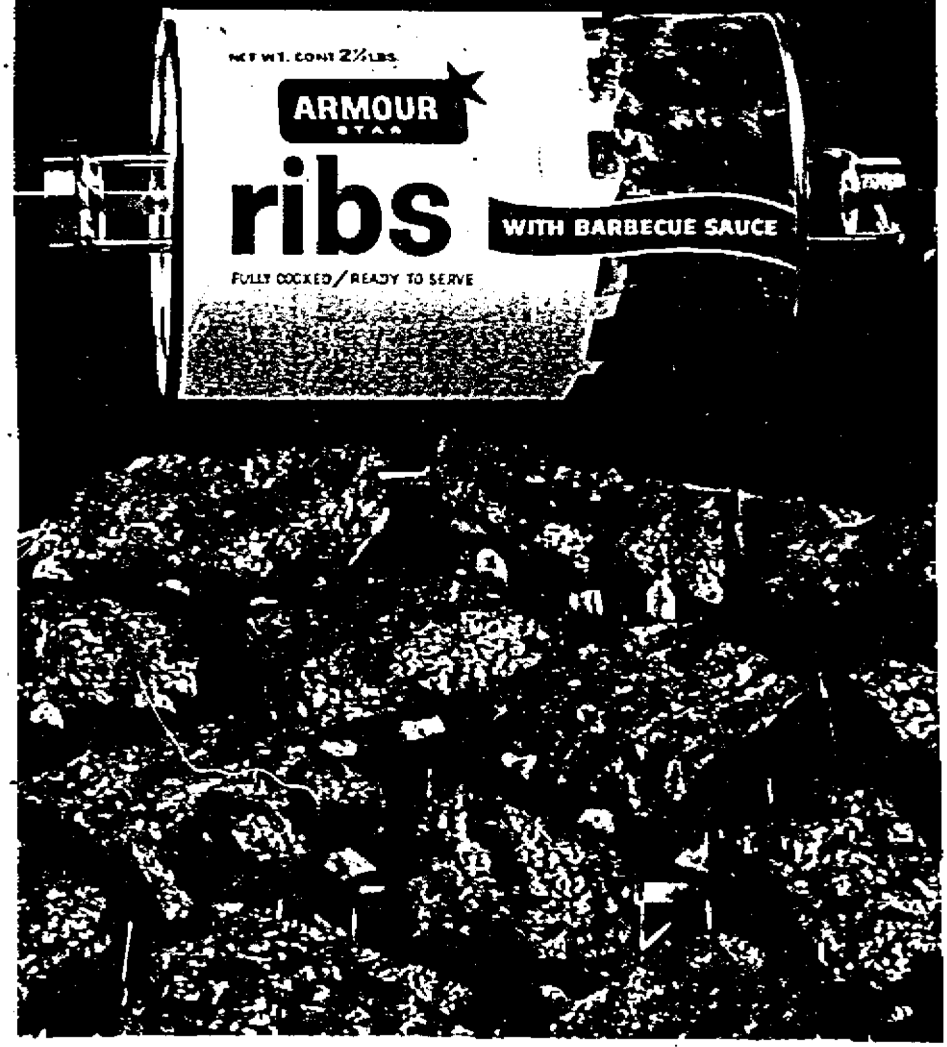
2½ POUNDS...
ALL SMOKED, SAUCED AND COOKED!

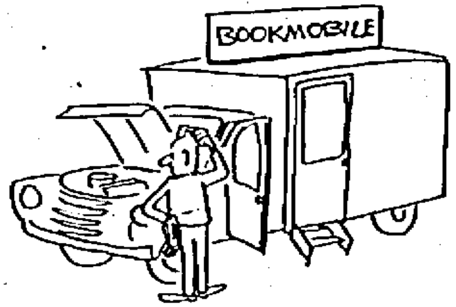
A big 2½ pound can of royally good ribs. No ordinary spareribs—but ribs specially selected, specially cut. Slim in bone—heavy on the good, rich meat.

ALL SMOKED. For meat this good only the best will do. So we use sweet hickory smoke. A mellow drift.

ALL SAUCED: And this Barbecue Sauce never saw the inside of any bottle. Nine special ingredients in it—six worldly spices.

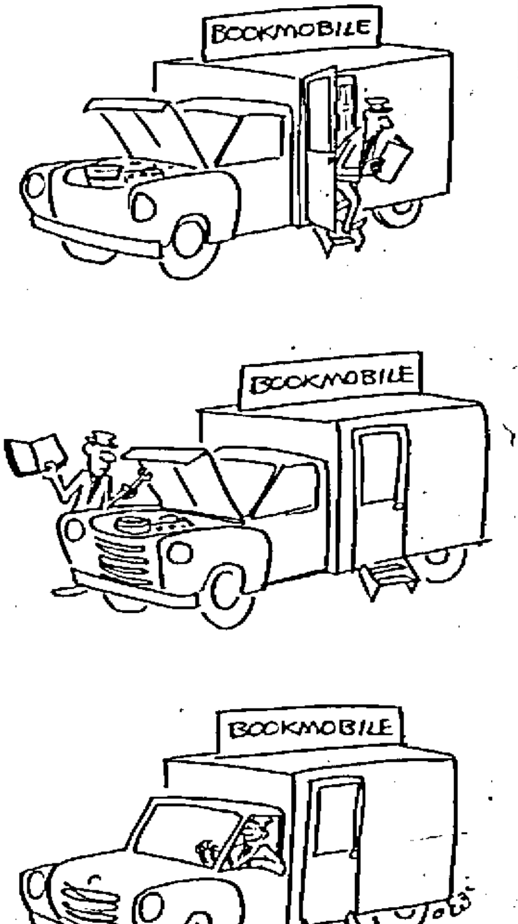
ALL COOKED. Nothing for you to do but heat. The big 2½ pound can serves 3 to 4. If you're looking for the cheapest ribs, forget ours. If you are hungry for the meatiest, come a-running!





INSIDE STORY

by James Whiting



ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ An absent-minded professor at U.C.L.A. came across a woman in his bedroom. "Madam," he said surprised, "what are you doing here in my bed?" Said the lady, equally surprised, "I like this bed. I like this room. I like this house. I like this neighborhood and besides I'm your wife." ■

a hole is to crawl through

■ What do you mean I look foolish? I was walking along the fence rail looking for wild catnip when I saw this hole. You know how curious cats are, and to get a good look inside I had to crawl through—almost. Besides—your eyes aren't sharp enough—from where I lie I can see a Great Spangled Fritillary (that's a butterfly). Which isn't catnip but it passes the time. I think there's a nest of field mice hidden in these weeds somewhere. The fat old tortoise shell who lives next door was sitting on the porch last night and said she smelled them. She'd give anything to be in my position, but she wouldn't fit. I've been here for five minutes now dreaming about when I'll be big enough to catch a rat. I'm not a tiger cat for nothing.

LESLIE BLANCHARD WITH INGER STEVENS, STAR OF "THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER," CLAIROL'S NEW FRIDAY-EVENING SERIES ON ABC-TV

A famous haircoloring artist tells why you should use a special colorfast shampoo if you color or lighten your hair

"The more beautiful your haircoloring, the more important it is to keep it beautiful," says Leslie Blanchard of New York, Color Director for Antoine Salon, Saks Fifth Avenue, and originator of many exciting haircoloring effects. "We use color to achieve the utmost in flattery for a woman—to play up her best features, and add life and elegance to the simplest styling.

"With haircoloring so important, naturally I like it to stay the way I designed it, clear and fresh looking. I don't want to see it turn cloudy or change after a shampoo or two."

When asked how he handles this important shampoo problem, Mr. Blanchard explained, "Now we have a very special answer in new Clairol Shampoo. It's special because it's colorfast—that is, it won't change hair color."

Very different from other leading shampoos, new colorfast shampoo by Clairol was specifically created for women who color or lighten their hair. In two unique formulas: Clairol Blue for all light delicate blonde shades of lightened and toned hair. Clairol Green for all red, brown and black shades of tints and lasting rinses. So you see, however you color your hair, one of these two is exactly right for you! Used by leading beauty salons everywhere. Now available at fine cosmetic counters.

AND IT'S ANOTHER DRAMATIC PERFORMANCE FOR CHAMPION DAN GURNEY IN HIS FORD POWERED "COBRA!" A VETERAN OF EVERY GREAT COMPETITION FROM INDIANAPOLIS AND RIVERSIDE TO EUROPE'S GRAND PRIX CIRCUIT, THE YOUNG CALIFORNIAN ALREADY RANKS AMONG THE WORLD'S ALL-TIME GREAT PROFESSIONAL DRIVERS!
YOU AND FORD HAVE REALLY FIRED UP THE FANS THIS YEAR, DAN! CONGRATULATIONS!
THANKS! BUT DON'T GET THE IDEA THAT COMPETITION DRIVING IS JUST THRILLS... IT TAKES A LOT OF THOUGHT, TOO... AND A LOT OF COMMON SENSE!
... THE SAME KIND OF COMMON SENSE THAT PAYS OFF IN EVERYDAY DRIVING. C'MON, LET'S TAKE THIS NEW FAIRLANE AND I'LL SHOW YOU!
LIKE ALL FORDS, THIS ONE'S BUILT FOR TOTAL PERFORMANCE! MATTER OF FACT, IT'S GOT THE SAME BASIC CHALLENGER V-8 THAT'S IN MY COBRA! IT'S EVEN THE SAME DESIGN THAT WAS ADAPTED FOR THE INDIANAPOLIS 500!
NOW HERE'S A COMMON DRIVING PROBLEM... ENTERING A HIGH SPEED EXPRESSWAY!
THE AVERAGE [illegible] TO THE ENTRANCE [illegible] WAITS FOR A HOLE IN THE TRAFFIC [illegible]
WHAT SHOULD HE DO?
THE GOOD DRIVER PLANS HIS ENTRY INTO THE TRAFFIC FLOW!
HE DOES HIS [illegible] AS FAR AS POSSIBLE BEFORE HE GETS TO THE EXPRESSWAY [illegible]
[illegible] THE OTHER CARS, BEFORE HE [illegible] INTO THE TRAFFIC STREAM SMOOTHLY!
SAY! THAT WAS SMOOTH!
RIGHT! WHEN YOU PUT A LITTLE EXTRA THOUGHT INTO IT... AND LEARN HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR SKILLS... DRIVING BECOMES MORE REWARDING, SAFER... AND MORE FUN!

WHAT DAN GURNEY SAYS ABOUT TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

"I've worked closely with Ford in many competitive events, and one blistering afternoon of competition driving can tell us more about a car's Total Performance than might be revealed in thousands of miles of test track driving. The lessons we learn in competition will help Ford build Total Performance passenger cars that last longer, handle better, and offer far greater safety!"

TRICK OR TREAT, MR. NESBIT! TRICK OR TREAT!
WELL, WELL! YOU BOYS ARE A LITTLE LATE, AREN'T YOU?
YES, SIR!
HOWEVER, I JUST HAPPEN TO HAVE A TREAT FOR TWO YOUNG HOBGOBLINS! COME ON!
ALL RIGHT, DENNIS... HOLD OUT YOUR BAG!
...AND HERE'S A BEAUTIFUL KITTEN FOR YOU, TOMMY!
WELL, SOMEBODY FINALLY GAVE US SOMETHIN'!
YEAH! I ALWAYS SAID MR. NESBIT WAS A NICE GUY!

THE BERRYS
by CARL GRUBERT
HI, BOB! HOW'S IT GOING?
FAST! WE HAVEN'T BEEN ABLE TO SAVE A DIME AND WITH THE HOLIDAYS COMING UP IT LOOKS LIKE THE POOR HOUSE!
WE'RE ALL IN THE SAME BOAT, PAL!
I TRIED TO FIGURE OUT A BUDGET WITH MY WIFE LAST NIGHT, BUT I GAVE UP!
YEAH, THEY NEVER WORK!
I'VE COME TO ONE CONCLUSION
WOMEN DON'T THINK LIKE MEN!
THAT'S BECAUSE THEY'RE WOMEN!
AS WE WERE GOING OVER THE BILLS TOGETHER, I TRIED TO SHOW HER HOW WE COULD ECONOMIZE....
OH! OH!
WOMEN HATE THAT WORD!
I SAID IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO SAVE, IF WE SPENT EVERYTHING THAT CAME IN!
AFTER THINKING FOR A MINUTE, SHE SAID... THERE ARE TWO SIDES TO EVERYTHING.
YOU SAY I SHOULD SPEND LESS SO WE COULD SAVE MORE...
BUT DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU WE COULD SAVE MORE IF YOU EARNED MORE?
YOU CAN'T WIN!

WELL, KIDS, IT'S FAIRLY OBVIOUS BY NOW, WE'RE IN A REAL BIND HERE, WHAT WITH THIS RIDICULOUS CURRICULUM, AND ALL...
TRUE, BUT WHAT, IF ANYTHING, CAN WE DO TO ALTER THE SITUATION?
NOTHING, AND FRANKLY, I RESENT IT DEEPLY!
ME, TOO!
(SIGH!) BEAR IN MIND, THOUGH, THAT WE DO IT NOT SO MUCH FOR OURSELVES AS FOR THEM!
HEAR! HEAR!
IXNAY! HERE COMES THE TEACHER AND SOME BIG KIDS!
HEWWO, YOU WITTLE DARLIN'S! AND HOW ARE OO-UMS, TODAY?
OOGA WA WA!
PWAYING NICE!
GOOBA, GOBBA!
CWAYONS!
GLEEP!

THANKS FOR THE DANDY PAINT SET AND THE CANVASES, DADDY!
DON'T MENTION IT, DEAR!
HOW ABOUT PAINTING A NICE STILL LIFE, LIKE THIS BOWL OF FLOWERS?
I'D RATHER PAINT OUTSIDE!
A NICE LANDSCAPE, EH? MAYBE YOU CAN DO A BACK-YARD SCENE! YOU MIGHT EVEN PAINT OUR HOUSE! —OR THE CAR!
I'LL TRY THE CAR!
BRATINELLA'S AWFULLY QUIET OUT THERE!
GOOD! THAT SHOWS SHE'S CONCENTRATING!
I FINISHED MY PAINTING, DADDY!
WONDERFUL, DEAR!
WELL, LET'S SEE THE PICTURE!
Y--YOU DIDN'T SAY ANYTHING ABOUT A PICTURE!

OF COURSE, WE COULD BORROW SOME MAJOR CRIME CASES FROM THE FEDS… BUT I PREFER HOME-GROWN CORRUPTION, BURGLARY AND LARCENY.
I ADMIRES YOUR JUDGEMENT AN' I GOT SOMETHIN' HERE TO BACK IT UP, CHIEF!
SECRET CACHE
LET'S GO TO WORK.
MYSTERIOUS GANG
NOW THAT I'M IN CHARGE, I THINK WE'LL SWIPE ALL THE BIG HOLES IN THE WORLD, BREAK 'EM UP INTO SMALL ONES AN' SELL 'EM TO THE SWISS CHEESE CARTEL…
THAT'S MY IDEA!
AS I WAS SAYING, WE'LL CONFISCATE ALL THE HOLES IN THE WORLD… PERHAPS EVEN THE CRATERS ON THE MOON… YOU TWO CAN SET TO WORK CARVING THEM INTO SMALL HOLES AROUND WHICH…
THAT'S WHAT I BEEN SAYING!
…AROUND WHICH THE SWISS CHEESE ARTISANS CAN BUILD THEIR CHEESES… AT OUR PRICE!
MOLE'S SPECIAL
MEAN-WHILE—
TROUBLE WITH THIS DEPARTMENT, WE LOOKS LIKE POLICE… WE PREVENT TOO MUCH CRIME… NIP IT IN THE BUD, BEFORE IT'S BIG ENOUGH TO WIN US PROMOTIONS… HERE, TRY THIS ON, CHIEFIE…
EH, SARGE?
THAT'S IT! NOW, TRY TO LOOK LIKE THIS PICTURE! PERFECT! YOU ARE TRICK DACEY!
DON'T LOOK LIKE A POLICEMAN NOW, HUH?
OUCH… DRAT IT… NOW, IF SWISS CHEESE RETAILS AT TWO BUCKS A POUND, HOW MUCH OF THAT WEIGHT IS IN HOLES?
OH, I'D SAY 'BOUT A HALF.
EVEN MEANER WHILE—
AN' HOW MANY LITTLE CHEESE HOLES WOULD YOU SAY WE'D GET OUT OF, SAY, THE GRAND CANYON?
What's going on, you chaps?
WELL, LESSEE. GOT A PENCIL?

YOUR FIRST LESSON, READERS, WILL BE ABOUT ME…
YOUR FRIENDLY POUNDMAN!!
YOUR POUNDMAN IS CUNNING AND BRAVE, DEDICATED AND SPUNKY!
BLESS MY BONES! IT'S PRISCILLA AND HER DOG, OLIVER!
AND HIM WITHOUT A LICENSE, TOO!
NOW, BOYS AND GIRLS, YOU WILL SEE YOUR POUNDMAN AT WORK!
I MUST INSIST ON COMPLETE SILENCE! NOT EVEN A WHISPER!
RUN, OLIVER!
LOOK OUT!
BEAT IT, OLIVER!
IT'S THE POUND-MAN!
HE'S AFTER YOU!
YOU FAILED YOUR LESSON!
ALL OF YOU!
